Government Prepared To Defer Election During War Times

GOVERNMENT MAKES HOSPITAL GRANT

SUM OF $2,000 SECURED FOR THE LOCAL INSTITUTION

Hon. William Manson Has Been Aiding Board In The Matter.

Yesterday the Secretary of the Prince Rupert Hospital Board received from Victoria a cheque for $2,000, being a special grant made by the Government to the local institution. This will materially assist the Board in the carrying out of its obligations.

For the whole year there has been a steady effort on the part of the Board to secure recognition in this manner, to meet special demands that have been put upon the institution here. Advantage of the visits of Hon. Dr. Young to the city was taken by the member of the Board to try to induce him to grant the requests. The good will of Hon. Dr. Young has always been extended to the hospital and he promised to do what he could.

In William Manson, M. P. P., for the district, the hospital has likewise had a very warm friend, and he was readily prevailed upon to use his influence in the direction of the grant. On his latest visit the Finance Committee of the Hospital here took occasion before he left to make themselves felt in informing the member that his life would not be very happy if he came back without the grant.

He has been actively engaged on it, and a few days before the cheque came, word was received from him that he had persuaded Hon. Dr. Young to make this grant which has now come along.

An Ottawa despatch referring to the fact that Parliament will open January 12, says it can be stated authoritatively that the Government will introduce this coming session a bill for the extension of Parliament for one year from October 7th next, when the term runs out. The bill will be identical with the measure which has been introduced in the British Parliament. This same proposal has already been made to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by Sir Robert Borden, but the Liberal leader has so far refused to commit himself as to his attitude. It can also be stated definitely that this will be the last bill which will be introduced and no other business will be dispatched until the measure is disposed of.

Would Avoid Election.

The Government feels that in view of the feeling in the country an election during the war should be averted. For this reason it is felt the question of an extension of Parliament should be settled at once and as soon as the House meets. It is the only way to quell political turmoil and to make certain that there will be no contest. If the Liberals are honest and sincere in their protestation, the bill will be passed without much discussion. If the Liberals are not they will oppose the bill. There will then be but one thing for the Government to do, dissolve the House and appeal to the people. The sole responsibility for a far time election will be on the shoulders of the Liberals. An appeal under such circumstances will be made without hesitation and with every confidence that the policies of the Government will be approved by an overwhelming majority.

Only War Measures.

If the bill to extend Parliament is agreed to, the session will then be utilized for the ordinary business of Parliament. The Government, it can be stated, authoritatively, will introduce no measures except those relating to the war or rendered necessary by war conditions.

There will be no railway subsidies and no bond guarantees nor will there be any serious controversial domestic legislation. This proposal has already been made to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by Sir Robert Borden.

If the Liberals assent, and the bill for extension of Parliament passes the Senate, then Parliament will proceed to pass necessary war measures. There will be no restriction on debates into war supplies and war estimates and every facility will be given for investigation as done last session. If the bill is rejected then there will be a war-time election.

Bulgaria Says She Will Respect Greek Neutrality

London, Dec. 16.—The Bulgarian Legation at Athens has authorized the declaration that Bulgaria will postpone operations against the Entente Allies.

"Our desire, says the declaration, is to respect Greek neutrality."

Reported Invasion.

The Hague, Dec. 16.—An unconfirmed report says Bulgarian cavalry has crossed the Greek frontier west of Giegveli. The report reached here from Saloniki.

Formal Protest Made.

Paris, Dec. 16.—A despatch to the Temps from Saloniki says the General commanding the Fifth Greek Army Corps, which has been occupying Saloniki, has protested to General Sarrail, the French comander, before the Greek evacuation of the city. He has written a protest against the fortification work begun at Saloniki.

The protest, says the despatch, is purely formal, resembling that presented in October against the Allied troops upon their landing.

Quiet On Dardanelles.

London, Dec. 16.—From the army of the east comes a despatch saying quiet prevails all along the whole front of the Dardanelles. The Turkish artillery displayed less activity on December 15.

An enemy's aeroplane which attempted to make a flight over our lines was pursued by our machines and was compelled to flee.

Our heavy artillery has continued to bombard the batteries along the coast of Asia.

UNITED STATES MAY BREAK RELATIONS WITH AUSTRIA

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Austrian reply to the American note relative to the sinking of the Ancona, declines to disavow the sinking of the liner, and refuses to punish the commander.

It states that if the commander had not destroyed the Ancona it would have been a dereliction of his duty.

Austria offers to exchange opinions with Washington as a legal maxim is involved.

The reply is considered unsatisfactory, and it is stated that President Wilson will decline to enter into any discussion on the subject. A break in diplomatic relations between Austria and the United States is anticipated.

THREAT HELD OUT OF INVASION OF EGYPTIAN SOIL

Rome, Dec. 16.—The threat of a Turko-German invasion of Egypt is regarded as grave. Three hundred thousand Ottoman troops are concentrated at Alessandretta and Aleppo.

German agents are urging the Sonousi to attack Egypt from the west and the Abyssinians to enter the Soudan.

The Allies may obtain the military co-operation of Abyssinia under a guarantee of independence as a counter stroke against the efforts of the Germans to foment a Mohammedan uprising.

Not Very Active Fighting On West Front Yesterday

Paris, Dec. 16.—An official report says that in the valley of the Aisne, southeast of Vailly, we successfully carried out a sudden stroke yesterday against a group of houses held by the enemy. We took about 1,500 prisoners without suffering loss.

On the left bank of the Aisne our heavy artillery destroyed several walls which have concealed the enemy's bomb throwers and sharp shooters.

On the heights of the Meuse our batteries severely damaged works and shelters of the enemy and caused several fires.

A Belgian official statement says the day has been calm. To the south of Dixmude our artillery took effective action against opposing batteries near Steinstraete. Our heavy guns silenced the mine throwers which had bombarded the French trenches.

Massett, Dec. 15.—Forestry Inspector Irwin has been on the Queen Charlotte Islands for a few days inspecting the timber possibilities and issuing licenses.

COMOX-ATLIN REGIMENT.

To the Editor,—An opportunity is offered the young men of the northern part of British Columbia to become members of a new contingent for active service at the front. It matters little whether the enlisted man wears an officer's uniform, or is in the plain clothes of one of the ranks. There is honor in serving the country of one's birth, or adoption, in any capacity. The British nation, of which Canada is an integral part, is on trial, and will it be said that we are not capable of following the example of those who fought and won under Wellington and other great soldiers? The British nation is on trail, and it all depends on us, individually and collectively, whether we shall be ruled by the autocrats of Germany, or remain free men. There is no avoiding the answer to the call to arms. On every man rests a responsibility that cannot be effaced. Scruples may be indulged in, to one's heart content; but there is no avoiding the supreme test of manhood, which is now going forth to every young man in the Dominion. The final answer must be given, and there is no disguising the fact that on it depends the fate of a nation at war. Thousands of our brave men have answered and gone to the front, and is there a man in this country more valuable than those who are struggling to uphold our honor and our homes? If there is an eligible man holding back, let him ask himself whether he is doing his whole duty, and he will enlist in the contingent now in course of formation.

ONE TOO OLD.

SHIPPING CANADIAN FISH TO OLD COUNTRY

Hope Of Establishing A Market For Canadian Fish.

Although the United Kingdom is the greatest fish producing country of the world, Canada is at the present time exporting fish to the old country, says Conservation, the publication of the Conservation Commission. This, of course, is owing to the war. So many trawlers have been taken by the Admiralty that the normal catch of fish has been greatly reduced—it is said as much as 60 per cent. Fish forms such a staple article of diet in Great Britain that this unwonted shortage is very serious. Under these circumstances, Mr. Bonar Law, the Colonial Secretary, appealed to Canada to come to the rescue, and a sample shipment has been sent over in the hope of developing a market for Canadian fish in London, at least for the duration of the war. Part of the shipment was fresh, frozen fish, but the greater portion was smoked and prepared. If the experiment proves a success, this consignment will no doubt be the fore-runner of many more and larger cargoes. It is even possible that a market may be thus established for certain kinds of high-grade fish which will remain after peace is concluded and become a permanent item in Canada's commerce with the Motherland.

A RECORD CATCH OF HALIBUT MADE BY NEW ENGLAND

The New England Fish Company's steamer New England is in with one of the biggest catches ever landed here, 250,000 pounds of fresh halibut, says the Vancouver World of Monday. The remainder of the company's fleet were left in the fishing waters by the New England. They are experiencing mixed weather and mixed luck. One good day may be followed by a bad one, because of rough weather. A special shipment of twelve cars of halibut will go east shortly as the result of the New England's catch.

DR. YOUNG HAS PROJECT IN VIEW FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

Dr. H. E. Young, Minister of Education, in his capacity as chairman of the Returned Soldiers' Relief Committee (B. C.), is interesting himself in a project which, if successful, promises much in the way of augmenting the resources at the disposal of this Province for the care of convalescent soldiers. This is to secure the Kuper Island Industrial School for the use of the hospitals commission, and already the matter has been laid before the Federal Government.

The Kuper Island Industrial School is said to be admirably adapted for the purposes of a convalescent home, and could be made to accommodate patients to the number of 300.

HALIBUT BOAT BROUGHT IN OVER TWENTY THOUSAND

The halibut boat Moregen, Capt. Wollason, arrived yesterday from the fishing banks with a catch of 22,000 pounds. The number of boats coming in has fallen off materially. Some of the craft are lying up for the Christmas holidays.

THE MINING PROSPECT.

When men of the repute of James Cronin will spend years opening up a prospect, as he is doing in the interior of the Province, it is practically an assurance that there is something of real worth behind it. The work which Mr. Cronin is doing in the Babines, back of Smithers, is one of the best omens for mining that there could be in this northern district. It is a promise for great things in the mining line. Mining has now come into its own again in British Columbia. In the Kootenays it is a flourishing industry. This district, rich in all kinds of ore, is now likely to come into prominence in this line just at a time and when money should be available.

LONDON DURING WAR.

B. B. Cooke, a well known Canadian journalist, writing his impression after returning from the war zone, says of Old London:

"Bleak, grey and grim, with a curt tongue and a cold eye, alert but inscruitably calm in the midst of embattled Christendom, sits the great city of the world—the capital of the Empire. Furiously busy, yet as serenely methodical as though there was nothing more to be done than to handle the coffee crop of Brazil, the cotton of India, the beef of Argentine, the wheat of America and the rubber of Peru, as in the old days. Besieged with engagements, yet as deliberate as though, instead of thousands of visitors, there was only one asking to borrow money or to collect it, buy goods or to sell them! On trial for her life, and the life of the civilization she gave the world, yet as coldly indifferent, as gloriously arrogant, as though the conflagration in Europe was a mere episode in a border raid in Beluchistan! Here squats old, ugly, much-loved London, with her shabby towers and her sullen river, with her dirty fog, like a ragged shawl on a match-woman's shoulders, and her black-hulled ships, that have trudged and totted and sweated and fought their ways from the ends of the farthest continents, swarming at her docks, heaping them high with the wealth of the Sphere! Here she huddles, cadaverous and crabbed, with none of the free airs of the West or the beguiling arts of the East or the South, but like an inexorable old woman summoning to her gates, though with never a word and never a motion of the hand, rivers of sons and grandsons, and grandsons' grandsons, who, though they may never have seen her, bear the mark of her making and obey. Her streets swarm with fighting men. The crash of the kettel drum and the scream of the pipes set loose the memories from her age-worn monuments. Scarlet go the banners through her squares. Silver flash the weapons in a beam of winter light. Here in this drab place sits she who was the mother of Gordon, Drake, Nelson, Clive, the mistress of Wellington, Cromwell and the Elder Pitt. Decayed? Senile? Softened by wealth? Enfeebled by too long a use of power? Not one tittle!

"Indomitable!"

The Ottawa Citizen says:

"In the best informed circles it is said that the approaching session of Parliament has been called for the purpose of avoiding, if possible, an election during the war. The Government has made a plain and direct proposal that there should be the same extension in Canada as in Great Britain, namely for one year. If this proposal is agreed to the session will be utilized for the ordinary business of Parliament. In that case the Government does not intend to introduce any measures except those relating to the war or rendered necessary by war conditions. There will be no railway subsidies and no bond guarantees."
