PREMIER HOTEL TO START MONDAY

Arrangements Are Now Complete And Manager Of Work Has Arrived To Start Active Building Operations---To Be Five Storeys High

The Premier Hotel that has been delayed in the construction for some weeks pending the settlement of the question of the lease to the property at the corner of Second Avenue and Sixth Street, is now to be pushed along without further delay. The superintendent of the work arrived in the city yesterday from the south and he will put workmen on duty tomorrow on actual construction of the building. The structure is to be an up-to-date one and be built in a most substantial manner.

The work is to be carried out under S. Williamson, and in view of the fact that there has been considerable valuable time lost in the beginning of the work there will be an attempt made to make up for the lost time and to crowd the work without further delay. It is estimated that the construction will take about six or seven months at the very least.

The inside walls will be of reinforced concrete and the street walls will be of wooden frame with brick veneer. The brick that will be used will be made on the spot of cement. They will be constructed under a new process and will be of hard finish, giving a very pretty effect.

The building will be five storeys in height above the street level. There will be a basement in addition to this. For the convenience of the guests there will be an elevator put in the structure and the work will all be of the most approved style. It is the design of the company that is connected with the proposition to provide the very best classes of material in all respects and make the hotel a popular one.

Opened Store.

The Criterion Tobacco Store opened up for business yesterday in the Westholme Block in the premises formerly occupied by Rochester & Munro, who have moved to the Haskamp Block, on Second Avenue. The Criterion is under the proprietorship of Youngman & Vaughan, both of whom are well known in the city.

UNARMED TO CHURCH.

Cadets and Militia Units of the Dominion Must Not Carry Weapons.

The carrying of arms by militia units and cadets in Sunday church parades is to be discontinued. This is the result of an order just issued from the department of militia and defence.

This regulation has been in force for some time, but it is understood that it has been frequently transgressed by cadet corps in recent years.

The growth of the Boy Scouts and Cadet movements have made the absolute enforcing of the regulations necessary. It is also understood that the rule has several times been broken by a semi-regular military organization in Montreal. The danger of accidents will be considerably eliminated by the enforcemnt of the order.

REFUGEES QUITTING MEXICAN TOWNS

SMALLPOX IS RAGING AT GUAYMAS IT IS REPORTED—FOOD PRICES PROHIBITIVE.

Christian Science Meetings.

There has arrived in the city Mrs. Bliss, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who is a practitioner in the Christian Science Church. She is assisting those in this city who are interested in that line of thought and will spend a few weeks here. There are meetings held every Sunday evening in the Hays Block at 8 o'clock.

NOTICE!

CASH ONLY

On and after July 1, 1913, I have decided to place my business upon a Cash basis, and desire your assistance.

I appreciate the business you have given me in the past, either for cash or on credit, but there are so many who have abused the confidence I have extended to them that I am compelled to take this action.

The loss of money and the trouble and time in looking after these numerous small accounts is more than the profit on this kind of business.

Thanking you for the business you have given me and trusting that my action will in no way inconvenience you and that I will still continue to have the benefit of your business and assistance.

ACCIDENTS TO RAILWAY TRAINS

INTENSE HEAT CAUSED RAILS TO SPREAD IN INDIANA—NONE WERE KILLED.

Defective Rail Caused Another Accident Between St. Louis and San Francisco Yesterday.

Peru, Ind., June 28.—The intense heat, which caused the rails to spread, resulted in the wreck of the Chesapeake-Ohio passenger train, the fast flying Virginian, today. Twenty-five passengers were injured in the accident, which happened 20 miles northwest of here. Two sleepers and a diner were turned completely over. None were killed.

TO AVOID FIRES.

Non-combustible Crops Are Recommended Along the Line of Railways.

Much of the loss to crops, buildings and other improvements, caused by railway fires in cultivated sections of the Prairie Provinces could be avoided if farmers would raise some non-combustible crop on a strip of land adjacent to railway rights of way. Alfalfa is suggested in this connection, since this crop would form a thoroughly efficient fire-guard.

Where clover can be grown successfully it will answer equally well. The growing of potatoes, beets or other root crops will serve the same purpose, where local market conditions will permit. This would also be a step in the much-to-be-desired direction of diversified farming.

EXHIBITION IS WELL IN HAND

DIRECTORS MET LAST NIGHT AND DISCUSSED ARRANGEMENTS FOR FAIR.

Advisory Directors in Various Parts of the District Are Taking Deep Interest.

As the time for the exhibition here approaches, the interest in the event increases, and the promises that the fair will far exceed the early anticipations of those concerned seem now assured. A meeting of the directors was held last evening, when many points connected with the proposition were considered. In this connection it is worthy of note that the advisory board appointed from the outside centres are rendering valuable assistance to the local board in the matter of suggestions. The advisory members of the committee as far as appointed up to the present are as follows:

Masset, Charles Hanson; Lawn Hill, Austin Richardson; Graham Centre, Walter Purkis; Queen Charlotte Island, South, Capt. J. B. Gillatt; Delkatlah, Chas. M. Wilson; Hazelton, Ed. Hicks-Beach; Stewart, Percy Godenrath; Bella Coola, D. H. Hoage; Terrace, James Turnbull; Kitsumkalum, Mrs. Scott; Lakelse, Robert Corlett; Arthur, David L. Hall.

At the meeting last evening a letter from Thomas Deasy, the Indian Agent at Masset, was read in which he reported that he was willing to bring his collection of Indian carvings to the fair provided there was a case provided in which they could be secured. They were liable to be broken otherwise. It was decided to provide a glass-fronted case for the exhibit.

The question of the accommodation of the Indians that are expected to be here was considered at some length. It was suggested that it might be better to approach the city and see if some suitable site for the arranging of an Indian encampment for the week might not be provided, so that they could be together and be provided with suitable accommodation. This will be considered at length later. It is expected that there will be about seven Indian bands present to take part in the competition and in addition to this there will be a large number of their friends present also.

In view of the fact that it is expected to arrange in connection with the fair for a general celebration in the city it was decided to ask local committees of the citizens to co-operate in this work under the general supervision of the board of the exhibition. Rev. W. H. McLeod will be asked to act as the chairman of the land sports, while the water sports will be turned over to the president of the boating club.

Several special prizes are to be offered for various competitions at the fair and the prospects are that there will be a decidedly successful event.

A NOTED PARTY GOING TO GRANBY

Several Of The Board Of Directors Of The Smelter Company Reached Here Yesterday---Proceeded To Mining Centre To Inspect Work

The Prince Rupert brought among her passengers yesterday from the south a distinguished party of officials of the Granby Smelting & Mining Company. They are on their way to Granby, on Observatory Inlet, to inspect the work that is in progress there in preparation for the handling of the ore from the immense mine that the company owns there—the Hidden Creek. The preparations for the smelter that is to be erected at the site will also be looked over by the party before they return to the south again.

The members of the party are J. P. Graves, vice-president of the company; W. H. Sylvester, general manager of the company's work; A. C. Flumerfelt, one of the directors of the company, and Mr. Wooster, the treasurer of the company. Mrs. Sylvester accompanies her husband. They left last night at midnight for Granby, where they will spend the next few days on inspection. Mr. Sylvester will remain at the works for a time, but the remainder of the party will return so as to catch the Prince George on Friday for the south.

All of the visitors were interested in Prince Rupert. It was the first visit of Mr. Flumerfelt to the place, but he knew considerable of it from the general interest he took in it from the very start. He was one of the men that early manifested a keen interest in this city and realized that it would be a place of the first importance on the Coast. He went over the city and is impressed, now that he has seen it, still more favorably than before. It will be a great city, he says, and the residents should feel well satisfied with the prospects. Mr. Flumerfelt is well known on the Coast, ranking as a financial man of the first rank. He was formerly general manager of the Granby Smelter in the interior and made a reputation as a business man in that position. He is a director at the present time of the company, and also a director of the Bank of Commerce. Besides this he is the head of the British American Trust Company, with headquarters in Victoria, and is identified with a number of companies engaged in coal mining and other lines of enterprise. Within recent years he was a member of the Royal Commission that was appointed by the Provincial Government to go into the question of taxation in the province and upon the report of that body the changes

CANADA BLAMED MORE THAN SHARE

SIR EDMUND WALKER, PRESIDENT BANK OF COMMERCE. ON THE SITUATION.

He Points Out Some of the Weak Points in Connection With Municipal Borrowing.

"Canada is credited with a considerably larger share of responsibility of the present state of affairs in the world's money markets than is hers by right. At the same time the requirements of the Dominion are a factor of considerable importance," said Sir Edmund Walker, C.V.O., president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to a Canadian Mail representative in London.

Regarding the situation in Canada at the present moment, Sir Edmund was of the opinion that the tightness of money was not interfering to any extent with the industries of the country, though naturally it prevented the promotion of new enterprises. It was also restricting the undertaking of new municipal works.

"Municipalities borrow," said Sir Edmund, "in two distinct ways. They borrow from the banks to provide for ordinary work in order to overcome the difficulty of waiting until they have collected their taxes. This they are permitted by the Municipal Act to do, to the extent of 80 per cent. of the tax roll. They also borrow from the banks—or have done so in the past—in anticipation of the sale of bonds, in London or elsewhere, which may have been authorized for some particular municipal undertaking—water supply, sewers, pavements, etc.

"The latter practice grew up as a result of the ease with which Canadian municipal bonds were sold in England. It was simpler for a city to complete the particular piece of work it was authorized to undertake, and then issue its bonds, than to guess at the ultimate cost and delay starting work until it had the money in hand. And the banks were quite agreeable, in view of the fact that there was likely to be no trouble about raising the money eventually. Now that municipal bonds are not welcomed in London as they used to be the banks decline to lend on the old terms, and for the present at least, the municipalities have to submit to a curtailment of activity."

Approach Cuts for Heavy C.P.R. Work Is to Start Within Next Two Weeks.

Construction work in the way of new tracks and approach cuts preliminary to the driving of a C.P.R. double track tunnel over five miles long through Rogers' Pass at the summit of the Selkirk Range will be started within a fortnight by Foley, Welch & Stewart, railway contractors. Plant, including steam shovels and general supplies, is now being unloaded at the scene of the operations. The entire undertaking, which is estimated to cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, it is expected, will be completed in about three and a half years.

The work will be under the personal supervision of A. C. Dennis, manager of Foley, Welch & Stewart for the region between the Great Lakes and the Selkirks.

THE PACIFIC.

Prince Rupert is coming into existence at a psychological moment, it is evident. This port is springing up at a time when all those who should know the trend of events in a commercial and a transportation way agree that the Pacific Ocean is become the main theatre of the world for commercial enterprises. Not only do these men express the opinion that this is to be so, but by their actions they show that they are convinced of it, and are accordingly putting all kinds of money into transportation facilities for the Pacific. Prince Rupert will be building at the very time when this activity is marked and when the port will feel the greatest benefit from it. One of the latest to announce his connection with the activity of the Pacific is Sir William Whyte. Returning from Europe a few days ago, he said:

"It is my opinion that the great developments of this century will be in the Pacific, just as the great developments in the last century were in the Atlantic. What with the awakening of China, its great programme of railway development, its mineral wealth, its enormous and intelligent population, there seems little doubt that the country is destined to play an important part in the future.

"It has already sent out men to the United States to study methods of treatment of ore and the making of steel. Clearly, the Chinese mean to bring about great changes. All that they seem to lack at the moment is cohesion and homogeniety."

A NEW EMPIRE.

The presence in the city yesterday of men like the directors of the Granby Company who were on their way to the works that this great company has a few miles from here is a promise of great things for this port. The city of Prince Rupert will develop into a great city only as the whole of the territory that is contiguous to it is opened up. The cities that have been great are not those that depend upon one industry alone for their support. That, at least, is the general rule, and it is not likely that there will be any marked difference in the present case. Every dollar that is invested in this district is an assurance of greater things for Prince Rupert. There is no more promising feature of the development in the north than this smelter and mining proposition at Granby. Such a work means a steady payroll in the town. It is not at all likely that Granby will become a great and flourishing city. That is not the aim of the company. There has been a commendable desire on the part of the Granby company to discourage any wild-catting in connection with a townsite there. The directors have avoided the putting on the market of a townsite proposition with lurid promises as to the future of the place.

The plans of the company are the exact opposite of this policy. The directors, who embrace men of the highest standing and experience, aim to develop the mining and smelting business and allow the town that is to centre there to develop only as required. Mr. Sylvester, the general manager, speaking of the proposition last evening said that he did not expect to see the place made a large commercial centre. It would remain, he expected, a smelting and mining place, and in that capacity would support a fair-sized population.

It is the building up of centres like this where there will be a steady payroll and a constant demand for trade with this, the natural centre for it all, that will make this the important city that it is destined to become. The success of Granby and the many other towns that are being developed in this district within reach of this place will bring to Prince Rupert a large trade and make it the metropolis that we all expect it to become. Population in the outlying country and in the industrial centres that lie within the trading distance of the city, either by steamer or by rail, is the great demand at the present time. When that is accomplished and there are thriving centres trading with Prince Rupert the local city will become a rich and prosperous one, the combination of this trade with that which will be produced here building up business in all lines.

POWELL MADE GOOD PLAY.

With Maurice E. McLoughlin, the American champion, out of the programme of the English Lawn Tennis Championship Tournament at Wimbledon, Eng., between R. Norris Williams, of Harvard, and R. F. Leseur, the South African Davis Cup player, was the main attraction last Thursday. While that match was being played Biddle of Philadelphia on another court beat F. H. Jarvis of England, by 6-1, 6-3, 7-5. The play was very one-sided until the third set, when Biddle had to do some smashing.

The Canadian Davis player, R. B. Powell, beat W. C. Crawley, of England, in three straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Wallace F. Johnstone, of Philadelphia, had a walkover as G. A. Caridia, of England, scratched.

PELKEY ACQUITTED.

Presiding Judge Gives Interpretation of What Constitutes a Prize Fight.

Arthur J. Pelkey, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Luther McCarty, was adjudged not guilty, the jury returning a verdict after an hour's deliberation. There was a ripple of applause in the court room when the verdict was announced.

The case was tried before Chief Justice Harvey and His Lordship defined for the first time what constituted a prize fight in the Dominion of Canada. He held that an encounter with fists, privately arranged for, was a prize fight, and was not permissible. His interpretaton of the statute, it it stands, puts an end to all boxing contests in the Dominion where the authorities are inclined to interfere. The verdict was to the effect that the contest was a prize fight, but the jury held against the belief that Pelkey had inflicted the blow which dislocated the neck of his antagonist. The jury by its verdict memorializes the Provincial Legislature of Alberta to pass a law defining specifically what constitutes a prize fight and prohibiting the staging of such contests in Alberta in the future.

His Lordship objected to the jury's recommendation, asserting that his definition of the law and the decision of the jury established a precedent and made further legislation unnecessary.

His Lordship also informed Pelkey that had the jury adjudged him guilty he would have imposed no sentence on him, as the case was to test the law rather than to fix the guilt of the defendant.

LIFE OF RAILWAY TIES.

With New Zinc Chloride Treatment, Inferior Woods Will Last As Long As Ordinary Cedar.

A growing interest in the subject of preserving timber against decay is being manifested by the users of railway ties. This is largely due to the rising price of woods such as cedar, which resist decay without any special treatment. A British firm has recently established a large plant, 28 acres in extent at Fort Frances, Ont., for preserving ties by means of zinc chloride with the addition of sulphate of alumina to prevent leaching. The prepared solution is forced at high pressure into thoroughly seasoned lumber, so that it permeates every part of the wood, and being aqueous, readily mixes with any slight moisture that may lurk in the inner pores. Wood treated in this manner has been reduced to sawdust, washed for over an hour, and yet still contained a large proportion of zinc chloride. This compound, has the further advantage, as compared with creosote, of cheapness, and of being colorless and odorless. Moreover, the preserved wood may be painted or polished.

The causes of destruction of railway ties, in order of importance, are decay, mechanical wear and insect pests. Treatment with zinc chloride or creosote will so overcome decay as to more than double the life of a tie, and will keep away the insect pests entirely. Mechanical wear may be reduced by the use of flat tie-plates of either metal or hardwood to lessen the cutting of the rail-base, and of screw-spikes to minimize the wear due to spike-pulling. Though at present such devices are not common outside of Europe, yet with the growing employment of soft woods such as jackpine and spruce, some such precautions will shortly need to be adopted in Canada, perhaps with the anomalous result of giving us a safer track.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC PLANTS.

Hghest Water Power Head Is in Switzerland and Largest Turbine Unit in Brazil.

The world's highest-head water-power plant is now nearing completion at Martigny, Canton Wallis, Switzerland. The fall utilized is 5400 feet, and the pipes conveying the water from the head of the fall to the power-house, a distance of three miles, are specially remarkable. The pressure gradually increases with the fall till the lowest part is reached, where the pipe, having to withstand 2500 pounds per square inch had to be made of special ingot-pressed steel. The turbines, which are of the Pelton type, have a total rating of 15,000 h.p. and it is of interest to note that, with the 5400-foot head, only about 30 cubic feet of water per second will be necessary to develop the full 15,000 h.p. output of the station.

The two largest impulse turbines built to date, each capable of producing 20,000 h.p., have recently been installed in the Pirahy plant of the Rio Janeiro Light & Power Co. in Brazil. The wheels operate at a speed of 300 revolutions per minute under a head of 900 feet. These two units are an addition to the Pirahy plant, where six 9000-h.p. units have already been in operation, and will bring up its total capacity to 94,000 h.p.

A close second to this record is found in the White River plant of the Pacific Coast Power Company of Seattle. In this case, each turbine was designed to develop 18,000 h.p. at 360 revolutions per minute under a 440 foot head. However, in consideration of the lower head and the fact that these turbines can carry totally 20,800 h.p. they must undoubtedly be of greater bulk than the new units of the Rio de Janeiro Co's plant.

With the development of long-distance electric-power transmission, the line voltage has increased steadily in spite of difficulties which increase at the same time. When the first 110,000-volt transmission line was put in operation, a few years ago, many considered that the maximum commercial voltage had been reached. But last year, the first 140,000-volt line was put in operation in the State of Michigan, covering a distance of 125 miles, which was soon increased to 235. The line is in regular service and is reported to be gving entire seuccess. The energy is generated at the Cooke hydro-electric plant on the Au Sable River, which empties into Saginaw Bay, and is to be transmitted as far south as Battle Creek.

REFUSE DISPOSAL.

A Pamphlet That May Be Had by Municipal Authorities for Free Distribution.

While the civic authorities of every modern community recognize that it is their duty to provide for the efficient and sanitary removal of sewage, most Canadian towns lag sadly behind in the matter of providing for the clearing away of waste paper, bottles, tin cans, garbage, scraps of lumber, rusty iron, old clothes, mattresses, and a thousand and one other articles offensive to the nose or eye, which may be lumped together under the term "refuse."

This question of the disposal of refuse is dealt with in a vigorous and popular way in an illustrated pamphlet, now in course of publication by the Commission of Conservation. The Commission is asking the co-operation of the medical health officers in the various towns and cities throughout the country in distributing this pamphlet, and it is hoped the demand for it will be as large as the importance of the subject merits. Pamphlets may be secured gratis by all bodies or persons interested, by applying to the Secretary, Commission of Conservation, Ottawa, Ont.

Wine-making is getting to be of importance in the Argentina. In the Province of Mendoza alone its value last year was over $30,000,000.

in the laws of the province were made. He is specially interested in the question of the protection of the natural resources of the country and has devoted a good deal of time and expense to the spread of information along this line.

He is broad-minded in all things, and is one of the most progressive moneyed men of the province. From the early days of the Grand Trunk Pacific enterprise when Prince Rupert was decided upon as the terminal point of the railway he took an interest in the place and has followed more closely than the average resident of the Coast the progress of the place and the development of the district that is in touch with it. It was therefore a keen satisfaction to him to visit the city and see what was being done in the way of shaping it for the great part it is to play in the history of the Coast. His visit showed him that there was nothing lacking with regard to the stability of the city. His advice to the people of the city is to avoid losing heart as is sometimes done in times like the present. This city, he says, has no need to feel discouraged. Other places are all suffering the same relapse, but in most of cases the effects are more marked than they are here. The city looks well and the future will be a bright one.

The vice-president, Mr. Graves, has been in the city before and remarked upon the progress that was being made and the evidences of material importance. The city is assuming an air of stability that certainly is of importance.

Later in the year, about August, there will be a larger party of the directors of the company visit the north to inspect the work that is being done there. The present visit is one of inspection and is not intended to have any special significance.

IRISH HERRINGS.

Viscount Newry, Lord Kilmorey's heir, believes that the herring industry round the Irish Coast is capable of much greater development, and he is doing all he can to encourage the industry. He has bought two fishing boats fitted with motors, and he is taking an active part in the season's fishing. Lord Newry, who is not yet thrty years of age, has already gone out several times with his boats, stopping out all night, and living just like a fisherman, sharing the same food with his men.

ADVICE ON FISHERIES.

At the request of the Government of the Dominion of New Zealand, the Hon. J. D. Hazen, the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has delegated Prof. E. E. Prince, Commissioner of Fisheries, to advise that Government in the matter of organizing a system of conservation and reduction of fisheries.

A member of the New Zealand Cabinet, Col. Allen, Minister of Education and Defence, was in Ottawa a couple of months ago, and it is possible as a result of his observations of the Canadian organization that the request has been made for the services of a fisheries expert.

Prof. Prince will spend about three months in New Zealand investigating the fishery resources of the country, and will make a report upon the best methods of exploiting them as a public resource.
