LORD DERBY'S RECRUITING SCHEME IS A SUCCESS

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP SOUTHERN PACIFIC BRIDGE

Henry Ford's Party Is Not Very Acceptable In Holland

United States Will Take Steps To Enforce Neutrality

Attempt To Blow Up Railway Bridge In California

Oakland, Dec. 11.—Six sticks of dynamite equipped with caps and fuse were found under the Southern Pacific bridge over Aljambra Creek today. Over this bridge pass the trains carrying the output of the Hercules Powder Company and the Standard Oil Company to the east.

It is believed the work was that of the enemies of the Allies.

To Enforce Neutrality.

Washington, Dec. 11.—A central organization for gathering evidence of offenses against the United States has been created. This is the first step in a determination to stringently enforce neutrality.

GREECE MUST MEET DEMANDS OF ALLIES OR ELSE SUFFER

London, Dec. 11.—The attitude of Greece is the object of comment and suspicion. The refusal by Greece of the demands of the Allies means war. The Greek nation is torn at the prospect of the Bulgarian menace.

Must Act Quickly.

Athens, Dec. 11.—The Greek Government has arranged to demobilize the army, and it is expected that a decree to this effect will be issued shortly.

The French minister is in conference with King Constantine today. The ministers of the Entente Powers have urged immediate action on the part of Greece with regard to the facilities demanded by the Allies at Saloniki.

Recruits Crowd Enlisting Offices In Motherland

London, Dec. 11.—The enrollment of recruits, which under Lord Derby's scheme was to end today, is uncompleted. This is on account of the numbers crowding the enlistment offices throughout the Kingdom.

The war office announces an extension of the time until midnight Sunday, with a possible further extension until midnight on Wednesday.

Saturday was to have been the last day for recruiting under Lord Derby's voluntary scheme.

The system actually in vogue during the past month has been moral compulsion. On November 2 the Prime Minister pledged not only himself, but his Government, that if young men did not under the stress of national duty come forward voluntarily, other and compulsory means would be taken before the married men were called upon to fulfil their engagement to service.

On November 11 Lord Derby was further authorized to state definitely that "if young men medically fit and not indispensable to any business of national importance, or to any business conducted for the general good of the community, do not come forward voluntarily before November 30, the Government will, after that date, take the necessary steps to redeem the pledge made on November 2."

It was added that it must be clearly understood that no marriage contracted after registration day (August 15) will entitle any man to be relegated to the married groups; that whether a man is indispensable or not to his business will be decided, not by the man or his employer, but by competent authorities and tribunals which are being set up to consider such cases, and that the instructions which will be issued to the local tribunals will make adequate provision for dealing with special or exceptional cases.

Under Lord Derby's scheme the servicable population was divided into groups, indicating the order in which they will be called up. These groups were set out in glaring posters as follows:

First group, single men of 18; second group, single men of 19, and so on to the 23rd group, single men of 39.

Twenty-fourth group, married men of 18; 25th group, married men of 19, and so on to the 46th group, married men of 39.

Under Lord Derby's scheme a man who found it inconvenient to go to the front at once, could enlist for one day and then return to his home and civil work until his particular group was called up. Meantime he got an armlet, and in any case he will get a fortnight's notice to arrange his affairs, and in special circumstances may appeal to go in a later group.

CHARLES HAMID FOUND GUILTY

LAST OF CRIMINAL CASES DISPOSED OF IN ASSIZE COURT YESTERDAY

Sentence In Sedition Case Will Be Passed On Monday Morning.

In the Assize Court yesterday the sedition trial was held and concluded. The jury, after a few minutes consideration of the evidence, brought in a verdict of guilty. The accused, Charles Hamid, will be brought before Mr. Justice Macdonald on Monday morning for sentence.

The case is the one that was heard a week ago, but in which the jury disagreed, necessitating a new trial. The accused, who is a Musselman, a native of Assyria, was charged with uttering words derogatory to the British flag while in a boat with three others who were Christian Assyrians. Among other things he was alleged to have said that if the Germans licked the British, it would not be long before the German flag was flying all over Canada, and he would be glad to see it.

The jury selected was as follows: E. J. Large (foreman), J. G. Johns, Geo. Smith, Wm. Beveridge, G. M. Shirley, M. McLeod, A. J. Galland, H S. Nickerson, V. A. Cole, J. G. Moody, F. E. Clapp, Alex. Finnie.

The accused was defended by L. W. Patmore, while W. E. Fisher represented the Crown in the prosecution of the case. The evidence was practically the same as at the first trial.

HON. DR. YOUNG EXPLAINS WHAT HE KNEW OF COAL STOCK

Victoria, Dec. 11.—Hon. Dr. Young, the final witness in the Pacific Coast Coal case, said in evidence that he met Arbuthnot in 1883. In 1906, Mr. Arbuthnot promised to give him a share in his next good thing, as an act of friendship.

In 1911, Arbuthnot called upon him with the present of $105,000 worth of bonds as a voluntary gift. He returned the bonds and asked Mr. Arbuthnot to act as trustee.

The decision of Mr. Justice Clement is expected soon.

WANT TAXING FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

MEETING AT CITY HALL ON SATURDAY ASKES COUNCIL TO SEEK LEGISLATION

For Campaign Committees Have Been Selected To Act.

A meeting in the interests of the Partiotic Funds was held in the city hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the campaign that is to be carried out the beginning of the week in the raising of funds locally. The meeting was presided over by the Mayor. It was decided to divide the city into districts and committees to carry out the canvass in each were appointed. These gentlemen will carry out their canvass on Monday, or as soon as possible, after that, so that the money may be ralized as soon as possible.

The gentlemen named to make the collections were as follows: Cold Storage, Messrs Johnson and Thompson; Section 7 and 8, Mr. Jarvis McLeod; Section 6, Mr. H. F. McRae and Mr. Hal Peck; from McBride Street to Fourth Avenue, Mr. G. R. Naden and Mr. T. D. Pattullo; from Fourth to Sixth Streets, Mr. Thompson and Mr. G. W. Morrow; Sixth Street West to Section 2, Mr. Arthur Noble and Mr. Geo. Frizzell; Borden Street, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11th Aves., Rev. Canon Rix, Mr. G. Woodland and Chief Vickers; G. T. P., including Drydock, Mr. James Melville and Mr. H. S. Woods; Government wharf, Mr. John Beatty; City Hall, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Woods; Provincial and Dominion offices, Mr. Geo. Hull and Mr. Harry McLeod.

At the meeting the matter of what was felt to be a better plan for the raising of the funds, than the voluntary one now in vogue, was brought forward and a resolution passed dealing with it, asking that the Legislature be asked to amend the statute so that a levy might be made for the purpose. This course will not make it possible to do anything under it this year, but the aim is to have it available for next year's campaign.

The resolution dealing with this, which was moved by Mr. Morrow and seconded by Canon Rix, was as follows:

"Resolved that the Partiotic So-

Henry Ford's Party May Be Asked To Quit Netherlands

The Hague, Dec. 11.—Neither encouragement, recognition nor support in any shape or form will be offered the Henry Ford Peace party by the Netherlands Government. No opposition will be placed in the party's way, unless its activities become embarrassing, when they will be asked to transfer their headquarters to some other country.

The party on the steamship Oscar II appears to be discredited in the United States, whence they sailed, and to be undesired by any countries in Europe.

Complimented Jurymen.

Mr. Justice Macdonald, before dismissing the jurymen yesterday on the completion of their duties, complimented them upon their part in the Assizes. He referred to the fact that there had not been a single case of a juryman being absent when required.

POSTMASTER GENERAL HAS MADE NEW ARRANGEMENT IN MATTER

No Parcel Should Be Over Seven Pounds In Weight.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—The Postmaster-General has arranged that Canadian parcels for France or Flanders will be carried at the same rate as British parcels viz: up to 3 pounds 24 cents, over three pounds, but under seven pounds, 32 cents; over seven pounds, but under eleven pounds, 38 cents.

It must be remembered that under recent regulations, for the time being, no parcel will be accepted over seven pounds in weight.

Spruce Lumber Is In Great Demand At Present Time

The spruce lumber industry is very quickly developing in this district. Before long it is evident that the spruce of the north will be quite as valuable as the fir of the southern parts of the Province. Right at the present time there is a very active demand for the local spruce, which is excelled nowhere.

The demand has been ascribed to the need of the lumber for the manufacture of aeroplanes, consequent upon the war. While doubtless this has had its effect upon the trade, it is hardly to be believed that that would account entirely for the increased demand. It is reported that practically unlimited quantities of clear spruce can find a ready market in the old country.

In addition to the output of the Georgetown Sawmill, which is looked upon as a local concern, there is one mill running full time on Masset Inlet, at Port Clements. This is the mill operated by Mr. Dalton. There are three other mills getting ready to begin work, one at Masset, another one at Port Clements and a third at Sewall. This will mean a very considerable output.

Prices varying from $30 to $35 a thousand is being paid for clear spruce. Sufficient to keep the mills on Graham Island running, has been located and steady work is looked forward to for the winter. This will materially aid this part of the country.

FROM GENERAL FUNDS.

The proposition that has been made to have provision whereby the raising of funds for the Patriotic work might be done on a levy upon the people in the same manner as any other tax is raised, has much to commend it. The adoption of this course would not of necessity reach all who should contribute to a fund of this kind, but it would certainly reach a large number in a more equitable way than the present contribution system. There would of necessity be required to be made a canvass for funds from the general public, and more especially from the classes that are not reached by the taxation method. It would probably be found that a blending of all methods would work out to the best advantage.

THE FORD TRIP.

It is not at all unlikely that Henry Ford will have a little trouble to get a headquarters in Europe. At the same time we are inclined to think that he will accept the orders to move on from the different countries with satisfaction, in view of the advertising that he is getting, if not for himself alone, then for the Ford cars indirectly.

Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

MODERN METHODS FOR FISHERIES

HOW THE SITUATION IS VIEWED ON THE ATLANTIC COAST

Better Curing Of The Fish Is Advocated For The East.

The fishing industry of the Maritime Provinces may never again have an opportunity such as that which is now presented, writes a Halifax correspondent to the Toronto News.

With better organization and greater care in curing there is scarcely a limit to the possible development of this Canadian trade. Europe this year, and until the end of the war, at least, will want Canadian fish. The American market is capable of very great development by Canadian fishermen. A big trade could be secured between the Maritime Provinces and Quebec, Ontario and the west, a trade only just in its infancy.

During the season just closed the Lunenburg banking fleet caught 200,000 quintals or 22,440,000 pounds of fish, valued at $1,250,000. This catch is considerably more than it has been for several years and well above the average. The value of the catch is distributed among an actual fishing population of not more than 2,000 men. Counting 125 vessels in the fleet, costing $10,000 each, the season's catch represents a return of 100 per cent. on the investment. Considering it another way, each man earned $100 per month and found for the actual season. This shows at least that there is money to be made in the fishing business, even with the present organization.

Lobsters A Luxury?

Despite expectations of a year ago, to the contrary, the land fisheries have had a satisfactory year. Markets have continued good and the demand fairly steady. Lobsters were considered a luxury by Canadian bankers and in trade forecasts made twelve months ago disaster was predicted for the trade in canned lobsters. Prices, it is true, are something like 25 per cent. lower, but the situation is greatly better than was predicted.

Lack of efficient organization and the adoption of modern methods is proving a tremendous handicap to the Canadian fishing industry. Better curing alone is responsible for the difference between Canadian and Scottish herrings. The Scottish and Scandinavian fishermen clean their herrings thoroughly before curing them. Canadian fishermen rip out the entrails, clip the fish in a pail of water and make no effort to clean it as it should be cleaned. The result is shown in the difference in price. Canadian cured herring is worth $5 per barrel; Scottish cured is worth $15 per barrel. Yet there is no diference in the fish themselves; the herring which is caught today in Canadian waters a year ago may have been in the North Sea. The difference is solely in the method of handling.

The Case Of Mackerel.

Take anothere example. Canadian mackerel is worth $18 per barrel, while Irish mackerel brings $30 per barrel. More modern methods of curing are the only explanation of the superior value of the Irish product. So careless, indeed, are the Canadian fishermen that the United States market practically will not buy the Canadian product.

If better methods were adopted Canada would have an exceelingly valuable market in the United States for fish, and the Canadian fishermen could not supply enough fish to meet the demand from the best American trade. The comparative figures given above prove that adoption of the modern methods would be decidedly worth while.

There is some indication of a tendency to adopt more up-to-date organization. The Inspector of Fisheries stationed at Sydney told me that while a few years ago there was not a gasoline boat in the trade, now fishing operations are carried on almost altogether by gasoline boats. The fishermen, too, have been buying trap nets, and have found them to yield a very high return on the investment. A small capital outlay, it has been proved, will often be more than met by a greatly increased catch.

Are Still Backward.

But, despite these innovations, the Maritime fisheries today are conducted very much as they were fifty years ago. A vessel is owned jointly by four or six men, and they divide the proceeds after the season's operations. This is about the limit of co-operation among them. There is no attempt to develop the fishing industry by putting any very large amount of capital behind it. Canadian capitalists apparently shrink from the organization of a "Fish Trust," even though a big fishing company operating off the coast of Nova Scotia would seem to be assured of a very profitable trade.

A shortage of some 25,000 quintals (2,800,000 pounds) is reported in this season's catch by the fishermen of Labrador and Newfoundland. There will also be a large shortage in the catch on the other side of the Atlantic. The Canadian fishermen are at least sharp enough to appreciate what such a shortage means to them, and they are holding out for higher prices. It is conceded that they will get prices considerably higher than those prevailing a year ago, and, with the increased catch, the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces should find that they have had the best season in the history of the industry.

WANT TAXING.

have the Legislature of British Columbia at its first session add a clause to the Municipal Clauses Act of British Columbia, granting municipalities power to levy a rate for patriotic purposes during the war, and hereafter as long as funds for patriotic purposes, caused by the war, may be required."

Mr. Morrow and Mr. Rix boto spoke briefly in favor of the proposition. They defended the principle as the better one for the raising of the necessary funds for such purposes, instead of the present system of making voluntary contributions alone. It was pointed out that this system was in vogue in other provinces, including Ontario.

Mr. Morrow took the ground that as 70 per cent. of the property owners of the city, including the improved and the unimproved property resided outside of the place, the voluntary system as the sole method of raising the funds was not at all equitable.

Canon Rix and others supported this view.

Mr. Naden was not in favor of this plan. He agreed with the general support of the fund by the public, but favored this being national rather than applied to the community.

The Mayor favored the view of Mr. Naden.
