ITALY ENDORSES THE PREMIER'S POLICY

FRENCH GOVERNMENT BACK TO PARIS

FIGHTING IN POLAND WITH A FIFTY MILE FRONT

Fearful Battle In Poland Continued At Lodz

Frequent Encounters Taking Place at Point Of Bayonet---Half-a-Million Men Are Engaged In the Conflict

MOVING CAPITAL TO PARIS.

Paris, Dec. 5.—The French Government is preparing to remove from Bordeaux to Paris. One minister has already left Bordeaux for the old capital. Others will follow within a day or two.

BRITISH CAPITAL IN U. S. IS ENORMOUS

United States Owes Britain No Less Than One Thousand Million Sterling.

As a result of reports of American correspondents of London newspapers that the statement of Mr. Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the effect that the United States owed Great Britain about one billion pounds (about $5,000,000,000) had caused surprise in the United States, Mr. Lloyd-George gave out the following statement:

"Judging from the comments which have appeared in the American press on the Chancellor of the Exchequer's statement in the House of Commons with regard to exchange between this country and the United States of America, this appears to have been incompletely reported in America.

"Mr. Lloyd-George's actual words as reported in the official report are:

"'America, I suppose, owes us nearly a thousand billion pounds in fixed and floating capital, but we could not buy. It was impossible to do any business. Why? The exchange had broken down. This paper machine had crumpled and somehow got out of order, and the result was that no business was possible.'

"This statement seems to have reached the United States in the form that America owed the United Kingdom a thousand million pounds without any explanatory words that this sum was owed in fixed and floating capital. These words, of course make it quite clear that Mr. Lloyd-George's statement referred to the total of British invested capital in America and in no way to America's indebtedness in respect of the current balance of trade between the two countries."

In the course of a statement concerning the financial condition in Great Britain, Mr. Lloyd-George told the House of Commons that the financial deadlock which followed the outbreak of the war was due to inability to collect outstanding debts abroad. He was quoted as it now appears incorrectly, as saying that the United States owed Great Britain five billion dollars and as adding "but we could do no business."

Petrograd, Dec. 5.—The Germans and the Russians are engaged in a mighty battle south of Lodz in Russian Poland, along a line from Gloumo to the Vistula River. The front of battle extends for forty or fifty miles. There are probably close on half a million men taking part.

Encounters are frequent which at some places have been at the point of the bayonet. The Siberian troops are showing wonderful aggressiveness, charging batteries and moving swiftly in hand-to-hand fighting.

The bloodiest and most pitiless fight of the war, it is said, is that which has occurred here. Heavy German forces had penetrated to Tuszinasre and were surrounded and obliged to fight their way back to the main body.

The Russians essayed counter attack after counter attack to prevent the junction, but the Germans cut a passage at the bayonet point for fifteen miles.

Ninety per cent. of the German officers were put out of action. Many regiments had less than a hundred men left. The fighting lasted for thirty-six hours. The Germans fell in rows but their comrades pushed on.

PROVINCE OF B. C. MAKES BIG SALE OF TIMBER

Government Sells 200,000,000 Feet of Timber to B. C. Sulphite Fibre Company.

Hon. W. R. Ross states 200,000,000 feet of timber has been sold to the B. C. Sulphite Fibre Company Limited, operating at Mill Creek Howe Sound.

The timber purchased from the government by the company consisted of eight parcels, located on Seymour Inlet, Ahnuhite River, Knight's Inlet, Big Creek, Johnstone Strait, Vancouver Island; Stafford River, Loughborough Inlet; Eden Island, Thurlow Island, and on Viscount Island.

For stumpage alone the total estimated revenue for the province from these sales is $88,869. The company also pays a ground rent which amounts to approximately $2,000 a year. The revenue from royalty will total $75,000.

"These purchases," said Mr. Ross, "furnish very gratifying evidence that the pulp industry is assuming considerable and promising proportions. The British Columbia Sulphite Fibre Company is at present making about 65 tons of sulphite daily, operating its plant day and night and giving employment, all told, to about 400 men. Their markets are Japan, South America, New York and the Northwestern States."

Allies Advancing In Alsace

Paris, Dec. 5.—In the western arena there is comparative quiet although the French report some progress between Dixmude and Ypres. Fighting also continues in Upper Alsace.

YOUNG MAN SHOT WHILE HUNTING

BODY OF FRANK McQUILLAM FOUND IN WOODS NEAR TYEE

Accidental Discharge of Gun Resulted in His Death Last Thursday.

Under sad circumstances, Frank McQuillam, who has been working near Tyee, met with his death it is supposed last Thursday. The young man, who was but twenty years of age, is a nephew of Miss Pollard of this city.

The body was found yesterday at the foot of a tree a few miles from Tyee. The gun was by his side and from the position of it it was evident he had been shot in an accidental manner.

WHAT INVASION MEANS TO FRANCE

WRITER IN LONDON CHRONICLE PAINTS PICTURE OF WHAT FOLLOWS WAR.

How Great Britain Would Be Affected by Such a Movement.

PROVINCE'S NEW LIEUT. GOVERNOR

FRANK S. BARNARD WHO SUCCEEDS TO POST IS OLD-TIMER IN PROVINCE.

He Is a Member of One of the Early Families in British Columbia.

Mention was made in the despatches in The Journal yesterday that Frank S. Barnard, of Victoria had been named as Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia to succeed Hon. W. T. Paterson. Mr. Barnard, who is a brother of George H. Barnard, M.P., is an old-time resident of the province, his father being an early resident of the interior when the Cariboo was attracting attention. He was identified with the organization of the British Columbia Express Company which operated into the gold mines.

Frank Barnard was born in Toronto in 1856. He came to British Columbia in 1860, and after passing through the Victoria schools and Hellmuth College in London, Ont., he became a clerk in the offices of the British Columbia Express Company. In 1881 he became general manager of that company, and from 1882 to 1886 was its president.

Possessed of large means, he has been idenitfied with various companies operating on the coast, including the Victoria Transfer Company, the Hastings Sawmill Company, the B. C. Electric Company, Evans Coleman & Evans, Victoria-Phoenix

Italian Chamber Endorsed Policy Of Premier Salander

Rome, Dec. 5.—The Italian Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 413 to 49 passed a vote of confidence in the government following the pronouncement of Premier Salandra's policy, which was directed toward the maintaining of the army in watchful neutrality.

Premier Salandra said to the Chamber yesterday: "Italy must maintain neutrality but be watchful and armed," and emphasized the phrase, "Italy's just aspirations." The city has grown excited with a touch of war fever.

THE KING HAS RETURNED.

London, Dec. 5. — King George, who spent several days with the British expeditionary forces in France, has returned to Buckingham Palace.

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—The Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association has awarded the amateur championship of Canada to Vancouver. It has ordered a new trophy if the trustees insist that the Mann Cup be awarded to Calgary.

Rich Ore Being Mined At Kitselas

J. D. Wells Is Preparing To Ship High Class Copper Ore To Smelter---Carries Free Milling Gold--Near G.T.P.

J. D. Wells, of Kitselas, the pioneer prospector in that district, is now in the city. Mr. Wells for years has been exploiting that part of the country and has abounding faith in the mining future of it.

Mr. Wells has now under development at Kitselas Mountain, not far from Usk, what promises to develop into a very rich producer. The property is showing up well, and is fortunately, situated only about one thousand feet from the G.T.P. It is about four hundred feet above the level of the railway and so is most convenient for the handling of the ore. The ore that is now being taken out runs on an average about $60 a ton. In this value there is $40 in gold and the remainder in copper and silver.

Apart from this general run of ore, there are very rich parts in free milling gold. This carries very high values and will eventually be concentrated on the ground, it is expected.

The point where the trail from the mine meets the railway is about one mile from the station of Usk. It is proposed now to bring down several carloads and ship to the Granby smelter by way of Prince Rupert.

The property promises excellently for the future and Mr. Wells is feeling very well satisfied indeed with the outlook at the mine, which, with the completion of the railway, comes at once into value from the shipping standpoint.

ANGLICAN BAZAAR WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS

The Sale of Work Netted Over $300—Energetic Committees Worked Hard.

The Anglican bazaar, held in the church on Thursday afternoon and evening, was a very successful affair, the various booths presenting a very attractive appearance. The receipts amounted to a little over $300. One attractive feature was a splendid exhibit of South African relics under the charge of Mr. Fuller, who gave an interesting description of each one. The following is a list of ladies who worked hard to make the affair a success:

Fancy work—Mrs. Hart, convenor, assisted by Mrs. Shockley, Mrs. La Trace, Mrs. Homer and Miss Boston.

Home cooking—Miss West, convenor, assisted by Miss Davies, Mrs. Collison and Mrs. McCoskrie.

Candy—Girls' auxiliary under Miss Du Vernet and Mrs. Hemmel.

Flower stall—Mrs. Holland, convenor, assisted by Mrs. Bassett-Jones and Mrs. Riley.

CAPITAL SECURED FOR SALT WELLS

D. C. WHITEFORD HAS MADE ARRANGEMENTS TO GO ON WITH WORK.

The Main Boring Is Being Started Close to Rails and to Skeena River.

D. C. Whiteford, who is identified with the salt wells at Kwinitsa on the line of the G.T.P., is now preparing to sink the main boring for the taking out of the brine. He has secured the necessary capital to allow him to proceed with this work and will start at once.

The machinery for providing a plant that will produce fifty tons of salt a day is to be put in. This will be located close to the Skeena River, between the railway tracks of the G.T.P. and the stream. This will permit of shipping in and out by either routes. This will be of great advantage as it is proposed to carry the fuel in by the water route in some instances.

The production of salt is one for which there is a very great demand in the district. The fishing industry will tend to increase this as it is developed from now on.

Harry Mobley of this city has gone to the salt wells to assist in the carrying out of the installation there.

EVERY MAN A SOLDIER.

The Ottawa Free Press, touching on the situation that now exists says:

"Has the time not arrived when the government of Canada and the men of Canada should consider extending to its broadest limits the system, now in operation in a very limited way, of giving the rudiments of military training to all civilians? Has the war not reached that stage when precautions should be taken against the remotest eventualities and preparation be made to meet the most unlikely demands?

"The Free Press believes that time and that stage have been reached, and in believing so it is anything but pessimistic. We have not the shadow of a doubt that Britain will triumph, and triumph without calling upon her last resources. But that is no reason why our very last resources should not be in readiness in the event of their being required. A man does not go into the woods to hunt a bear taking only one or two cartridges with him on the assumption that he will not find the bear.

"The Free Press believes, and would urge that the Dominion Government so far as it is possible for it to do so, should provide the means for every able-bodied man in Canada to acquire a fundamental knowledge of military conduct. And it would urge upon every able-bodied man in Canada, if he has the opportunity, to secure such knowledge and such training. We think that if it is at all possible, every adult Canadian man who is not prevented by illness or other pressing reason, should prepare himself to do his share in this war, even if that preparation entails personal sacrifice.

"As Treitschke, the German, said, all selfishness must cease when the state is at war. We must not look upon this war as a series of battles in which our soldiers are engaged, won if our soldiers are victorious, but lost if they are beaten. Every one of us should look upon it as something in which we ourselves may yet be actually engaged. For even should all our trained armies be defeated, and put out of the fighting, we would not be beaten. We would fight on, we who have never fired a rifle or lifted a bayonet in our lives.

"And even if we see now not the remotest possibility of such a last call coming, why should we not be getting ready? Why should we not be able to pick up the rifle and the bayonet and use them effectively, even though the chances are we never shall have to.

"The Free Press is not one of those who believe that the only soldiers are on the battlefields. There are many good soldiers at home, who have never lifted a gun, fighting for the supremacy of Britain just as are the men in the trencnes on the Aisne or the Lys. But is there anything to prevent this soldier at home fitting himself to wage the war in another way if the time comes. The war is young. We don't know to what scattered fields the trained armies of Britain may yet be called. In case the fields become so wide that all our trained soldiers are required, we can at least, if we train in military conduct and the use of the rifle and the sword, take up the work of home defence. If circumstances are such that we cannot enlist now for overseas service, most of us can, and those who can should fit themselves to relieve those who are stationed here to defend our own shores.

Such training need entail no obligation. It will do no man any harm. And it will make Britain more invincible than she already is. It will also give to the men of Canada a more definite feeling that their selfish and individual interests are being subjected to the great need of the state."

Correspondence

A COURT EXPLANATION.

To the Editor of The Journal:

In reporting the remarks of Mr. Justice Clement to the grand jury I observe you have the following:

"The statement of a small girl who did not understand the nature of an oath had been taken before the police magistrate. This, to have effect under the code, should be substantiated by another witness."

These are not the words used. The words used were, must be "corroborated." But that is not the point. An impression was left that I erred in taking a statement not under oath. Sec. 1003 of Criminal Code provides that the evidence of any child of tender years who does not understand the nature of an oath may be received though not given on oath. The question of corroboration is one altogether of opinion. One material statement made by the child was admitted by accused. This to an ordinary mind would appear to be corroboration to some extent. The point, however, is that the justices on a preliminary hearing have no right to weigh the evidence and statements regarding their disposition of a case should be carefully made.

Yours truly,

ALFRED CARSS.

WHAT INVASION.

wars. But it is impossible, I am sure, for people safe at home in Britain in the peace of Old Country towns and the quietude of English villages, to understand, even dimly, the meaning of invasion by hostile armies writes Philip Gibbs in the London Chronicle.

They understand it here in Northern France. They know the misery and the horror of it. It is a great fear which spreads like a plague though more swiftly and terribly, in advance of the enemy's troops. It makes the bravest men sick with cowardice when they think of the women and children. It makes the most callous man pitiful when he sees those women with their little ones and old people, whose place is by the hearthside, trudging along the highroads faint with hunger and weariness, or pleading for places in cattle-trucks already overpacked with fugitives, or wandering about unlighted towns at night for any kind of lodging, and then, finding none, sleeping on the doorsteps of shuttered houses and under the poor shelter of overhanging gables.

The Sad Long Lists.

At the present time in this part of France there are thousands of husbands who have lost their wives and children, thousands of families who have been divided hopelessly in the wild confusion of these retreats from a brutal soldiery. They have disappeared into the maelstrom of fugitives—wives, daughters, sisters, mothers, and old grandfathers and grandmothers, most of them without money and all of them dependent for their lives upon the hazard of luck. Every day in the French newspapers there are long lists of inquiries.

"M. Henri Planchet would be deeply grateful to anyone who can inform him of the whereabouts of his wife Suzanne, and of his two little girls, Berthe and Marthe, refugees from Aire-sur-Lys."

"Mme. Tardien would be profoundly grateful for information about her daughter, Mme. des Rochers, who fled from the destroyed town of Albert on October 10 with her four children.

Every day I read some of these lists with a pain in the heart, finding a tragedy in every line, and wondering whether any of these missing people are among those whom I have met in the guards-vans of troop-trains, huddled among their bundles, or on the wayside platforms, patient in their misery, or in the long columns of retreating inhabitants from a little town deep in a wooded valley below the hills where German guns are vomiting their shrieking shrapnel.

Imagine such a case in England. A man leaves his office in London and takes the train to Guildford where his wife and children are waiting supper for him. At Weybridge the train comes to a dead halt. The guard runs up to the engine-driver, and comes back to say that the tunnel has been blown up by the enemy. It is reported that Guildford and all the villages around have been invaded. Families flying from Guildford describe the bombardment of the town. A part of it is in flames. The Guildhall is destroyed. Many inhabitants have been killed. Most of the others have fled

The man who was going home to supper wants to set out to find his wife and children. His friends hold him back in spite of his struggles. "You are mad!" they shout. "Mad!" . . . He has no supper at home that night. His supper and his home have been burnt to cinders. For weeks he advertised in the papers for the whereabouts of his wife and babies. Nobody can tell him. He does not know whether they are dead or alive.

Everyday Tragedies.

There are thousands of such cases in France. I have seen this very tragedy only yesterday—a man weeping for his wife and children swallowed up into the unknown, after the destruction of Fives, near Lille. A newborn babe was expected. On the first day of life it would receive a baptism of fire. Who can tell this distracted man whether the mother or child lives?

There are many villages in France today around Lille and Armentieres St. Omer and Aire, Amiens and Arras, and over a wide stretch of coun-

THE METHODIST CHURCH

Parsonage: 632 6th Ave. W.; Church: 6th Ave. and Musgrave Place. British Columbia Conference; Rev. J. F. Dimmick, Pastor.

Prince Rupert, B.C., April 9, 1914.

MR. HARRY HANSON,
"The Reliable Plumber," Prince Rupert, B.C.:

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in certifying to the excellent hot water and heating system that you installed in our parsonage and that after six months of operation through the winter months it has given every satisfaction.

The system heats a thirty-gallon tank of water to boiling temperature in one hour after the fire has been started; it in no way interferes with the oven for baking purposes. In addition to this the wall radiator which you placed in dining room and connected with the range boiler has given us splendid satisfaction, supplying us with ample heating throughou the winter, saving us the cost of a stove and fuel. I most heartily testify to the satisfaction and efficiency of your system and gladly recommend it.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) (REV.) J. F. DIMMICK.

WHAT INVASION.

try in Artols and Picardy, where in spite of all weariness, women who lie down beside their sleeping babes can find no sleep for themselves. For who can say what the night will bring forth? Perhaps a patrol of Uhlans, who shoot peasants like rabbits as they run across the fields, and who demand wine, and more wine until in the madness of drink they begin to burn and destroy for mere lust of ruin. So it was at Senlis, at Crepy-en-Valois, and last week in many little villages in the region through which I have lately passed

It is never possible to tell the enemy's next move. His cavalry comes riding swiftly far from the main lines of the hostile troops, and owing to the reticence of official news, the inhabitants of a town or village find themselves engulfed in the tide of battle before they guess their danger. They are trapped by the sudden tearing up of railway lines and blowing up of bridges, as I was nearly trapped a day or two ago when the Germans cut a line a few hundred yards away from my train. If I had passed that few hundred yards ten minutes earlier I should have been caught in the trap like scores of poor people who are now without any way of escape.

Yet the terror is as great when no Germans are seen, and no shells heard. It is enough that they are coming. They have been reported—often falsely—across distant hills. So the exodus begins, and, with perambulators laden with bread and apples, in any kind of vehicle—even in a hearse—drawn by poor beasts to bad for army requisitions, ladies of quality leave their chateaux and drive in the throng with peasant women from white-washed cottages. Perhaps in a little while both the chateaux and the cottage will be buried in the same heap of ruins.

In the Track of the Invaders.

In a week or two perhaps the enemy is beaten back, and then the most hardy of the townsfolk return "home." I have seen some of them going home —at Senlis, at Crepy, and other places. They come back doubtful of what they will find, but soon they stand stupefied in front of some charred timbers which were once their house. They do not weep but just stare in a dazed way. They pick over the ashes and find burnt bits of former treasures—the baby's cot, the old grandfather's chair, the parlor clock. Or they go into houses still standing neat and perfect, and find that some insanity of rage has smashed up all their household, as though baboons had been at play or fighting through the rooms. The chest of drawers has been looted or its contents tumbled out upon the floor. Broken glasses, bottles, jugs, are mixed up with a shattered violin, the medals of a grandfather who fought in '70, the children's broken toys, clothes, foodstuff, and picture frames. I have seen such houses after the arriving and going of the German soldiers.

Ruin and death come with this invasion. In the war zone there is no safety. Sixty miles or more from the German lines hostile aeroplanes skim through the sky, dropping bombs over quiet villages. Yesterday, not far from where I write these words, a woman went out with her baby to speak with a neighbor. A moment later the mother and child were both lying dead in the roadway. A German aviator had passed in the clouds.

Not Ready for Peace.

Washington, Dec. 5. — Henry White, former ambassador to France and who recently returned from Germany, discussed the European situation with President Wilson.

"Europe is not ready for peace yet," said Mr. White.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

TAKE NOTICE that the partnership heretofore existing between Robert J. D. Smith and Alfred J. Mallett, carrying on business as plumbers and heating engineers under the firm name of "Smith & Mallett" in the city of Prince Rupert in the Province of British Columbia was this day mutually dissolved.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that the business shall be carried on by the said Robert J. D. Smith, who has assumed all the debts and liabilities of the said firm and to whom all accounts due to the said firm are payable.

Dated this nineteenth day of November, Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen.

Rexall TRADE MARK

The Rexall Stores of Canada

CONTRIBUTE TO

The Canadian Patriotic Fund

THE Rexall Stores of Canada, 400 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada have unanimously agreed to contribute to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, FIVE PER CENT. of their total purchases of all Rexall Toilet Goods, Rexall Remedies and other merchandise manufactured or sold by he United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, from October 15th o December 31st, 1914.

This action of the Rexall Drug Stores of Canada has been undertaken co-operatively, because as a co-operative organization, they realize how much more can be done unitedly than individually, and it has been taken for two reasons—to fulfill a humane duty in raising a fund for the relief work of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and a patriotic duty in an endeavor to keep a large staff of Canadian employees busy.

The 400 Rexall Stores of Canada make an appeal to your sympathy and support in their doubly worthy cause for increasing the funds of th Canadian Patriotic Organization and for the support o Canadian workmen because:—The fund that would be raised on the basis of last year's business can be tremendously increased if every man and woman in Canada will help a little by the simple process of purchasing Rexall Goods at the Rexall Stores.

No need to give space in this announcement to emphasize the high quality of Rexall Toilet and Medicinal goods. Sufficient to say that 7,000 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada, Great Britain, and the United States place their personal and collective reputations behind them; that the public in these countries endorse them to the extent of several million dollars worth of purchases a year.

Better goods are not made, and you take no risk in buying, for every Rexall Store will return you your money if any Rexall Product is not entirely satisfactory and do it, too, without the slightest objection.

There's a full list of Rexall products waiting for you at the Rexall Store in your town.

Ask for it—kindly pass he word along to your friends. It is the collective purchases of all that will make this Rexall Store Fund for the Canadian Patriotic Organization work a big one.

The Fund will be collecte from each Rexall Store in Canada by the United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, and will be paid by them direct to the officers of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and the amount so collected will be published in this paper when paid over.

REXALL GOODS ARE MADE IN CANADA and you can procure them in your town only from
