A NEW WITNESS HAS APPEARED IN GOSDEN CASE

Making Prince Rupert The Centre Of Northern Fur Trade

Canada Has Now The Balance Of Trade With England

Fur Emporium That Has Been Established Here Will Centralize Trade

The old Bank of Montreal Building on Fourth Street has been taken by the Prince Rupert Hide & Fur Company. The controlling interest in the business is W. Goldbloom, who has for the past year or two been doing such an extensive business in the line of furs, with headquarters in Prince Rupert.

The place will be made a storehouse for furs from now on, and all comers will be able to bring them to the store and either sell or store them. This line of business will undoubtedly lead to the centring of a very large share of the fur trade in Prince Rupert.

Other firms will be attracted here, as they have already been and Prince Rupert should become one of the best fur markets in the country. At present Indians and white trappers and dealers have come to recognize this market as one of the best. Last year the trappers who brought their stocks to this city were well pleased with the treatment accorded them.

The business is an important one to Prince Rupert. The traders that bring their furs in deal in the city, and in consequence spend practically all that is realized from the furs. An instance of this occurred yesterday where an Indian trapper brought in about $400 worth of furs and disposed of them to the Hide & Fur Company. Before the Indian finished his purchases in Prince Rupert he had spent all but about $35.

When the season is at its height many traders and dealers will market here from $1,000 to several thousand dollars' worth of furs. Thus, there will be circulated in the city no inconsiderable amount of money.

It is safe to promise that the opening up in business of Mr. Goldbloom in the fur line will be followed by others in this business. It is the intention of the new company to make its house a general clearing place for furs, where either buyers or sellers may have their wants looked after. For the present at least there will be no manufacturing of furs on the ground. Mr. Goldbloom will ship his stocks to the bigger centres in their raw condition.

CASES AGAINST HOTEL PRINCE RUPERT DISMISSED

Judgment Was Reserved On The Charge Laid Against The Savoy.

In the police court yesterday Stipendiary Magistrate McMullin heard evidence in two charges laid against the Hotel Prince Rupert and one against the Savoy Hotel. In the case of the Hotel Prince Rupert it was alleged in both informations that liquor had been sold during prohibited hours. In the case of the Savoy, the offence alleged was selling liquor to a prostitute.

The cases in which the Hotel Prince Rupert figured were both dismissed. One charge was that liquor was sold just after closing time. The weight of evidence was that it was not yet 10 o'clock when the liquor was handed out.

Another charge of selling a bottle to a guest of the hotel at an early hour in the morning was denied by the management of the hotel and the employees.

Both charges were dismissed.

In the case of the Savoy Hotel, the porter who answered a bell from the parlor found a man and woman there, and taking the order served the liquor. He did not know the woman and did not know she was a prostitute.

The magistrate reserved judgment in this case.

MUNITION WORK WILL BE KEPT ON

CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS ARE SUPPLYING MORE PARTS NOW

Plentiful Supplies Of Steel Were Purchased Earlier In The Year.

Canada's munition work appears to be well in hand and the facilities that exist for carrying the work out are all that could be desired.

According to a statement made by the Imperial Munition Board, the Canadian manufacturing concerns which are at work on munitions will be kept busy on the basis of present orders on hand until the 30 of June next.

Some orders expire on 31 of December, 1916, and others on the 31 of March, 1917. Firms which make the best record in the matter of deliveries are likely to receive the biggest share of the renewal orders.

All necessary raw materials to maintain the deliveries required are contracted for well ahead and the board is in a good position in regard

New Evidence In The Gosden Political Case At Victoria

The Gosden trial at Victoria has been proceeding very much along the same lines as at the previous hearing, when witnesses testified to seeing M. A. Macdonald on the street or at the post office on the evening in question, which Mr. Macdonald denied. A new feature has come into the case with the appearance of another witness to his having been at the post office. The defence, which is near its close, sprang a surprise by introducing a new witness, Morton Dennis Billings of Kamloops. This witness was not heard of either in the Legislative inquiry or at the former trial of the accused.

His testimony is regarded as most important, especially as his evidence on one point shows that he appears only because of a breach of confidence on the part of his associate and against his wishes. Witness asserts positively, having been well and personally acquainted with Mr. Macdonald, that he passed the latter outside the post office on the night of the 25 of April. Subsequently, when reading the accounts of Macdonald's testimony, witness said to a business associate: "Mac is lying. I saw him at the post office that night."

This remark and other similar statements, according to witness, are responsible for his appearance in the case at this late hour.

Questioned closely, under a gruelling cross-examination by Crown Prosecutor Moresby, witness said that his reluctance to appear as a witness was due to the fact that he left Cranbrook, where he was acquainted with Macdonald "under a cloud," owing to financial difficulties.

Witness said he has married since, and returned to this Province to make good. This, he said, together with the desire to escape notoriety, made him keep silent throughout the former hearings.

Witness was positive that it was Macdonald he saw at the post office, on the night when Gosden claims he was handed $50 by Macdonald. He said he passed into the post office within eight feet of Macdonald, who had crossed the street by the time he emerged from the building. He said Macdonald did not recognize him, his eyes being turned in another direction, and witness thought perhaps Macdonald did not intend to recognize him because of the fact that he left Cranbrook under peculiar circumstances. "I came back to make good if I could," stated witness, "and if the people who know me wanted to recognize me, all well and good, if not, I did not want to force my friendship on anybody."

His demeanor upon the stand was quiet and earnest. He testified that he was a former partner with Mr. Simpson in the publication of The Victorian, and is now a printer with the Kamloops Press Publishing Company.

He traced his own movements from the time he entered the St. George Hotel barber shop on the night of the 25 of April at 2:20 until he reached home at 9:05, and told his wife he had seen Macdonald. He said he had known Macdonald personally prior to that night, having lived in Cranbrook and engaged in campaign printing work and office work for him. He had met and spoken to Macdonald upon many occasions.

Mr. A. Dunbar Taylor, K. C., for the defence—As you entered the post office did you see anybody you

Canada The Borrower Has Become Canada The Lender In London

Right Hon. Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presiding at a luncheon given in the House of Commons to Sir Thomas White, Canada's Finance Minister, a few days ago, said in his address that Britain owed more than could well be expressed to the Dominion's Minister of Finance.

"Through his financial leadership Canada the borrower, has become Canada the lender," said Mr. McKenna. "The balance of trade, which year by year was against Canada, has now become hugely in Canada's favor."

Sir Thomas, in replying, paid tribute to the assistance rendered him in negotiations with the Imperial Government by Sir George Perley, through whom the Dominion and Imperial Governments had been able to transact business, not merely as if in adjoining offices but compartments of the same office.

"Canada's only aim now," said Sir Thomas, "is the prosecution of the war. Among the matters to be regarded later will be the conservation of those resources vitally necessary in defence of the Empire."

Sir Thomas also spoke of emigration, referring especially to the value of British stock in time of emergency as has developed in the present world relations.

IN VOLHYNIA RUSSIANS HAVE BEEN BEATEN

Petrograd, Nov. 11.—The Russian line in Volhynia has been badly dented by seven furious onslaughts by the Austro-Germans, and the Russians have been compelled to fall back upon their second line of trenches.

The assaults were made with startling suddenness and the enemy have gained three miles of first line Russian trenches. Our troops have been obliged to release the captured heights at Dorna Watra, which they took the other day.

REPUBLICAN PAPER IN UNITED STATES CITES PRINCE RUPERT IN TARIFF DISCUSSION

Tacoma Ledger Advocated Protective Policy For The Republic.

The Tacoma Ledger, one of the best papers on the Pacific coast, dealing with the Presidential campaign before it closed, had the following editorial:

"Wisely it has been said that the best wage law workingmen of the United States ever had is a protective tariff. There must be a demand for labor as a foundation. Such a demand opens the way for increase in wages and enactment of measures especially desired by labor. The protective tariff keeps our own industries going because it checks the importation of foreign goods made by labor that does not receive the American scale. It's an old argument, but it's just as true today as in the past.

"A protective tariff makes for national self-sufficiency. It results in industrial preparedness and the European war has taught us the importance of that in times of national crisis.

"Just now the European war is serving as a protective measure, but it is clear that when the war is over we shall need a tariff to stay a flood

THE FUR TRADE.

Among the many industries that will play a part accessory to the great ones of shipping, mining and fishing, in building up this port, the fur trade promises to have a prominent part. The greatest area for fur production lies to the north of Prince Rupert. There is, therefore, no reason why the great north, both as far as the coast is concerned and also as to the interior, should not find Prince Rupert its natural market and shipping point. W. Goldbloom has set a worthy pace in this industry. When he announced last spring through The Journal that he regarded Prince Rupert as the centre of a great fur area, and was going to open up a big fur store for raw furs there were many that were skeptical about his doing so. He has now taken that step and his example will doubtless be followed by many other houses later. Last year thousands of dollars' worth of furs were handled through here. This year, thanks to the fact that the city's fur market became favorably known, there will be many times as many dollars' worth go through local hands.

GERMANY AND POLAND.

The assurances given by Germany and Austria that Poland shall be an independent country will not gain anything by the experience of Belgium, and the part played by Germany there, in what has now become a notorious incident of international bad faith, under the title of "A Scrap of Paper." Poland may well ask Germany to take its foot off her neck before talking independence for the latter.

of foreign goods. But even during the war we have seen Canada take our North Pacific fishing industry to Prince Rupert, and that country was able to do it because fish is on the free list. We have also seen that British Columbia shingle mills have been doing a thriving business during the war, because, as a British Columbia lumber journal says, shingles are admitted to the United States without the payment of duty.

"All the great European countries engaged in war are preparing to employ the system of protection to build up their industries and national efficiency after the war. At such a time it is idle in the extreme for President Wilson and the Democratic party to be urging the United States to depart from "provincialism," as the President calls the protective tariff system, and go out in the world to 'serve humanity.'

"Service for humanity, like charity, should begin at home."

to the necessary supply of steel. No uneasiness is caused by the reported shortage in the States, because the board made large purchases of steel during the spring and summer months. The policy adopted some time ago whereby Canadian manufacturers would supply fuses, primers, brass discs, cartridge caps and other component parts of shells, is now well established and smaller quantities of these supplies are being received from the United States.

Many of these parts will in the future be secured exclusively in Canada. The board states that the Canadian manufacturers are doing their best to carry out the manufacture of shells with the greatest possible expedition.

of Peter McLachlan, the late collector here.

Mr. MacDonald says it has come to the attention of the Inland Revenue Department that the War Tax Stamp Act is not being fully complied with by several of the Prince Rupert merchants. Care must be exercised to see that patent medicines, perfumes, wines, etc., are stamped with the proper denominational stamps before being sold to the consumer.

MANY IN PRINCE RUPERT TRY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Many Prince Rupert people are surprised at the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. This simple remedy acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. A few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-i-ka is astonishing. C. H. Orme, Pioneer Druggist. g-f.

PEACE TALK IS NOW HEARD IN GERMAN REICHSTAG

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—The German Chancellor has seriously declared his readiness to collaborate in any effort made to obtain international guarantees of a lasting peace. Von Bethmann-Hollwegg's latest speech in the Reichstag clearly indicates that Germany earnestly desires a cessation of hostilities, but that he wants the Entente Allies to commence the overtures.

A British View.

London, Nov. 11.—Lord French said today that the war is approaching its climax and that the end is bound to come in the spring, if not sooner.

Russian Opinion.

General Brusiloff, the Russian commander in Galicia, says that the war is won and that it is only a matter of how long it will take the Germans to realize that they are hopelessly beaten.

RUSSIANS AND RUMANIANS HAVE MADE ADVANCE

London, Nov. 11.—Von Mackenzen's army is still retreating and the Russians and Rumanians have now reached the Danube, after the most remarkable advance in the history of the war. The Allied armies have travelled with tremendous rapidity and have carried everything before them.

There is very heavy fighting raging in the neighborhood of Tchernavoda. The Germans and Bulgarians are desperately resisting the efforts of the Russians and Rumanians to gain the bridge across the Danube at this point.

On the Transylvanian front the Germans have made one small gain.

NEW EVIDENCE IN GOSDEN POLITICAL CASE AT VICTORIA knew?

"I did sir."

"Whom did you see?"

"I saw Mr. Macdonald."

"How close were you to him when you saw him?"

"I was within eight or ten feet from him."

"Is there any doubt about it being Mr. Macdonald?"

"There is no doubt at all, sir."

"Will you please describe just how he was standing?"

"He was standing about eight or ten feet to my left as I entered the building."

"Did you see his face?"

"I did."

"Distinctly?"

"Yes, sir."

Witness then said that he went to the Victorian mail box and came out of the building, observing Macdonald upon the opposite side of the street, on the east side of Government Street. Three times, according to his testimony, he had talked of meeting Macdonald; once to his wife, on the night in question, once to Mr. Simpson of the Victorian, while reading of the trial of Gosden last June, and once to Freeman Harding, at Kamloops, about the time of the general elections.

That the prosecution was greatly surprised at the production of Billings' testimony was apparent in the nature of the cross-examination, which was severe and complete. He said he told Freeman Harding about it in confidence.

The Crown prosecutor—I suppose Mr. Harding abused the confidence?

"He did, sir."

"I suppose that is why you are here now?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know when Mr. Harding abused your confidence?"

"Monday evening of this week."

"You know, sir, that your evidence was of such a nature that if believed it would settle this whole thing. You knew that a man's liberty was in jeopardy and yet you remained silent. Is that your idea of citizenship?"

"No, sir."

"What explanation have you to offer?"

"Personal reasons, sir. I had no desire to become mixed up in it."

Witness then explained again that personal reasons were connected with the fact that he was short in accounts with his partner Simpson in the Victorian and had married and returned to the country where he got into trouble and was endeavoring to make good.

"Was your reticence with any idea of befriending Mr. Macdonald?"

"No, sir. It was from selfish motives, if you want to call them that. I wanted no notoriety on account of the circumstances."

"What did you fear?"

"Nothing, except that I did not want to be mixed in it. I wanted the Cranbrook business kept down."

Production and Thrift

"CANADA from her abundance can help supply the Empire's needs, and this must be a comforting thought for those upon whom the heavy burden of directing the Empire's affairs has been laid. Gain or no gain the course before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle. Stress and strain may yet be in store for us all before this tragic conflict is over, but not one of us doubts the issue, and Canadians will do their duty in the highest sense of that great word."—HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

"MODERN war is made by resources, by money, by foodstuffs, as well as by men and by munitions. While war is our first business, it is the imperative duty of every man in Canada to produce all that he can, to work doubly hard while our soldiers are in the trenches, in order that the resources of the country may not only be conserved, but increased, for the great struggle that lies before us. 'Work and Save' is a good motto for War-time."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

THE CALL OF EMPIRE COMES AGAIN IN 1916

TO CANADIAN FARMERS, DAIRYMEN, FRUIT GROWERS, GARDENERS

WHAT IS NEEDED? THESE IN PARTICULAR—

WHEAT, OATS, HAY,
BEEF, PORK, BACON,
CHEESE, EGGS, BUTTER, POULTRY,
CANNED FRUITS, FRUIT JAMS,
SUGAR, HONEY, WOOL, FLAX FIBRE,
BEANS, PEAS, DRIED VEGETABLES

We must feed ourselves, feed our soldiers, and help feed the Allies. The need is greater in 1916 than it was in 1915. The difficulties are greater, the task is heavier, the need is more urgent, the call to patriotism is louder—therefore be thrifty and produce to the limit.

"THE AGRICULTURAL WAR BOOK FOR 1916" is now in the press. To be had from The Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Last evening a meteor of unusual brightness shot across the sky above the harbor, going in the direction of Mount Morse. The head of the meteor appeared to the eye to be about the size of an arc lamp and the tail some hundred yards in length. The flash was so bright that a number of persons were under the impression that there had been a flash of lightning. It was seen about 6:15.
