PRINCE RUPERT'S MEN SAW VERY HEAVY FIGHTING

Enemy Is Now Giving Way Before Attacks On All Fronts

British Are Again Taking Very Active Part In The War

Prince Rupert Soldiers Went Direct From Banquet To Hotly Fought Battle

Rev. Canon Rix has received a very interesting letter from Major C. W. Peck, who is in charge of the First Contingent from here, now at the front. Under the strict censorship which is exercised over Canadian papers as to publishing information relative to the front, The Journal is not able to publish all of the letter which deals with the dinner that was given on June 1. The letter tells of the local men proceeding at once after the banquet and taking part in the severe fighting there. In part the letter is as follows:

"My Dear Canon:—

"I am dropping you a line to let you know what was done with the money sent me by you about a year ago. The boys finally decided to have a dinner, as the old contingent was so rapidly fading away * * *

"We certainly had a most delightful dinner, and Percy Godenrath should have the greatest credit for handling the matter. He certainly is the best man possible for organizing things and I only wish he had more scope for his abilities.

"It was a memorable and pathetic sight to see there gathered together the remnant of that noble band whom I had the honor to lead from our great north country. The record of that band has been exceptional in every way, and they have covered themselves with glory in all the vicissitudes of warfare.

"You will see that the dinner was on the first of June. On the second we were called out and made a forced march to the front to defend the Canadian line which had been broken. We had a gruelling experience for some days, and finally on the 13th engaged in a terrible action against Mount Sorrel, in which the First Canadian Division retook all the trenches that had been lost.

"It was indeed a glorious day for Canada and I can never forget my enthusiasm as I saw those well formed lines of our 16th boys sweeping over that hill with the front line.

"I was immediately behind them, but could distinguish them in the darkness as they rushed forward.

"We held on during the day under terrific shell fire and the Canadians still hold the position. This action is perhaps the most sanguinary and hardly contested as well as the most successful that the Canadians have ever been in. Nothing could have exceeded their discipline, courage and grim determination."

A Typically Western Play Introduces A Very Relaistic Combat.

The Majestic Theatre drew a very large house last evening, when "On the Night Stage," with Robert Edeson and W. S. Hart in leading parts, were seen. The play is an exceptionally good one, and introduces what is said to be the most realistic fight that there is in the moving pictures.

So popular is the play that the management was forced yesterday to put on a morning "matinee". Those who had seen the play in Seattle were so enthusiastic over it that a demand from the travellers on the Prince George yesterday morning obliged the theatre to put on the pictures yesterday morning.

The play will be repeated this evening.

MAKING MUNITIONS.

British Inspectors Less Exacting Than Russians.

The Wall Street Journal says that munitions makers who have worked on contracts for Great Britain and Russia say that it is easier to make ten shells for England than one for Russia. The Russian inspectors are exceedingly hard to please and reject shells, rifles or other munitions for faults that are often imaginary, or which, in any event, do not affect the usefulness of the article. For instance, one concern which is making rifles for Rusisa has had trouble because the stain failed to take quite evenly on some of the wooden gun stocks.

A munitions expert attributes the difference between the demands of the inspectors of the two countries by suggesting that the British representatives are more highly trained men and are, therefore, allowed more leeway in using their judgment when there is any question of failure to meet specifications.

Sentenced To Six Months.

C. Anderson, who has been conducting a tobacco store at the corner of Second Avenue and Seventh Street, will go south to serve six months for selling liquor without a license. He has for a long time given the police trouble. The fact that he was blind aroused some sympathy for him. The selling of liquor was proved against him and he was sentenced to six months by Judge Young.

TWO-YEAR SENTENCE FOR BREAKING INTO CAR

Judge Young Found Joe Frye Guilty Of Serious Offense.

Joe Frye, who was found guilty by Judge Young of breaking into a car in the G. T. P. yards, containing Peterson & Fell's supplies, will have to spend two years in jail. The offense under the code is a very serious one and Judge Young handed out an adequate punishment.

The goods stolen included clothing, which the man was selling whenever he could. His version of the affair was a very entertaining one. He contended that he just happened to find the goods in the woods and that he was not the stealer at all.

Mr. Pender, of Juneau, formerly an assayer here, went south yesterday. He may return to Prince Rupert now that mining is occupying such an important place.

EXCELLENT CONCERT GIVEN FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

About $60 Was Raised For The Funds At Westholme Theatre.

The local concert given last evening in the Westholme Theatre during the progress of the programme of moving pictures was very much enjoyed. A share of the proceeds of the evening went to the funds of the Returned Soldiers' Club. About $60 was so raised for that cause.

Rev. Canon Rix presided and made a very strong appeal on behalf of the soldiers. The programme was given by the following:

Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, Miss Wright, Bailey Sisters, Miss Gladys Kemp; Messrs. J. E. Davey, G. Waddell, C. D. Jones, J. Sinclair, with Mrs. Armstrong and Messrs. W. Davies and Daugherty as accompanists.

Russian Drive Is Proving Grand Success Many Prisoners Taken

Petrograd, July 12.—General Brusiloff's big drive has resulted in the capturing of two hundred and seventy-one thousand, six hundred and twenty prisoners up to July 10th, along with seven hundred and seventy-eight guns.

Heavy Losses.

The forty-second attack by the famous body of German troops known as the "steel division" upon the Russian forces, which have been styled the "iron division," resulted in the remnants of the enemy withdrawing from the Vladimir-Volynski-Lutsk front for reorganization, after losing half their strength. The Russians also suffered heavy in the terrific fighting.

In the Russian smash against the German offensive at Lutsk the German casualties amounted to twenty-two thousand men.

Germans Returning.

Berne, Switzerland, July 12.—A hundred trains conveying 60,000 Austrians have been rushed to Transylvania to oppose the Russian advance in that region. It is reported that German officers who have been commanding Bulgarian regiments have been recalled to assist against the Russians.

Austria Cannot Resist.

Berlin, July 12.—An Austrian correspondent announces that the inexhaustible reservoir of European-Asiatic Russians render it absolutely impossible for the Austrians to set up a successful opposition to the Russian advance and that the opposition offered creates tremendous casualties in every engagement.

The same correspondent praises the undeniable daring of the Allied aeroplanists and admits that the excessive number of aircraft possessed by the French and British is responsible for many of the defeats in the fighting on the Somme front.

British Have Taken Eight Miles Of Trenches From The Germans

London, July 12.—In the vicinity of Trones Wood, where the Germans made a desperate effort to stem the British advance, very heavy fighting has proceeded for the past ten days. The engagement has resulted in the British capturing eight miles of German trenches.

The Cotton Trade.

Paris, July 12.—To prevent the Dutch exportation of cotton to Germany through Switzerland and Rumania, it is reported that Britain has requested Holland to discontinue shipments to neutral countries.

German's Downhearted.

Rotterdam, July 12.—The confidence of the German population in the security of their situation has changed to a feeling of the deepest anxiety and the newspapers are warning the people to be prepared for a furious and prolonged conflict and a terrible ordeal.

The Berlin press is publishing uncensored reports of the Allied victories and these reports, combined with the thousands of wounded soldiers who are continuously returning from the front and the immense numbers known to have been killed in the terrible fighting of the last few weeks is creating alarm.

FIGHTING STILL AROUND THE VERDUN BATTLE FRONT

Paris, July 12.—Intense fighting along the right bank of the Meuse has resulted in the Germans gaining a footing in the Damloop battery, while the enemy has also taken certain sections of the French line in the Fumin Wood.

AUSTRIA PRESSED HARD BY ITALY ON TRENTINO FRONT

Rome, July 12.—On account of the pressure being brought to bear by the Italians on the Trentino front the Austrians are recalling several divisions from elsewhere.

IN MEMORY OF LORD KITCHENER

A Neutral's Impression Of The Service Held At St. Paul's Cathedral.

(By Gordon Bruce, an American Writer.)

"Sorrow and determination—never have I seen the two commingled as they were at the memorial service for Lord Kitchener at St. Paul's Cathedral. Sorrow, because a great military leader has been lost to the nation. And determination to carry on the work he had so well begun, until the possibility of German domination in Europe is entirely eliminated. England bowed here head Bowed her head in tribute, not only to Lord Kitchener the man, but also to the ideals for which he stood. In the faces of all those gathered in the great church, from the royal family to the most humble citizen, one could read many things.

"As an American, a citizen of a neutral country, I went there to look on—to understand as far as I could, what the death of Lord Kitchener meant to England. I had seen similar services before, but in this one I found a new element. It was vague and hard to determine, but it was there.

"I think the predominant emotion written in those thousands of faces was awe. There could not help but be a touch of unreality to it all. It was hard to realize that Lord Kitchener, whose name and works have meant so much to England for many years, was gone.

A Nation Resolved.

"It was a thoughtful congregation. In the strained silence of the place each man was thinking. There was none of the uneasiness of subdued conversation which usually precedes the opening of such services.

"They were thinking of what he had done for his country. Of the millions of men who had rallied to the King's banner at his call. They felt that coming there to do homage to his memory was the least they could do. But behind it all in the set faces and compressed lips I could see the resolves that his work should not go for naught.

"There were the beating of drums and the sounding of bugles. To me they sounded superfluous. The music of the muffled instruments, and the soft strains of the organ were almost out of place. They had little to do with the mighty force which lived in the midst of those silent thousands intangible—yet real, so very real.

WITH FIGHTING CONTINGENT.

The letter that has been written to Canon Rix, of this city, by Major Peck from the front, parts of which appear in another column, is typical of the gallant commander of the contingent that went from here. In reading the letter, with the facts connected with the dinner and the fighting that immediately followed, one cannot help connecting these events with the historic scenes that were enacted not very far from the same spot when the British army under the Duke of Wellington crushed Napoleon in the battle of Waterloo. If our recollections of the historic events of that time are correct, the British officers practically left the ball room in Brussels to take their part in the battle of Waterloo. Our local soldiers, it would appear, left the reunion that commemorated their departure for the front and jumped immediately into the fight.

EFFECT OF TRADE.

The present war is exercising a healthy influence on our commercial life, says The London Telegraph. Scores of enemy businesses have been wound up; steps have been taken to break the power of the purse which our chief enemy had secured among us; our naturalization law has ceased to be quite as ridiculous and elusive as it was! no longer will subsidized German ships use our ports without fee. Now, according to the Mercantile Marince Service Association, measures are being taken to ensure that, if British merchant vessels are not in future to be exclusively manned by seamen of our own race, at any rate, "no aliens, whether naturalized or not, are to be in command of British steamers." That is said to be the decision of the Board of Trade.

IN MEMORY OF.

"And on the face of the King as he entered the cathedral and walked slowly forward, followed by the Queen, Queen Alexandra, and the other members of the royal party, was the same look that dwelt on the countenances of those whose eyes were turned upon him.

"The singers and the bearers of the golden cross passed. Then the lord mayor and sheriffs, escort to the King. The dean and canons, the archbishop of Canterbury, all fulfilled their appointed functions. The voice of the dean reading the lesson broke almost startlingly upon the stillness. There was a hasty fumbling of programmes, and the comforting words of "Abide With Me," sung in subdued but sincere tones, filled the church.

Spell Of The Service.

"Then the Paternoster and the words of the Antiphon, 'I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord, he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die.' The lesson was read, the prayers were chanted; the responses were made by the choir. But it seemed to me that the spell of unbroken thought was over all as it had been at the first. Never have I seen a more wonderful tribute to any man.

"The service drew to a close, and from the end of the cathedral came the clear notes of a bugle sounding the 'Last Post,' a fitting finale to the befitting tribute!

"And then it was that I saw the first outward evidence of emotion. Everywhere throughout the congregation was silent weeping. Handkerchiefs were applied to eyes. And what was most impressive, I saw more men than women overcome by their feelings. Young men and old wept unashamed.

"Then the band and voice burst forth into 'God Save the King!' and we filed out. But I had got a glimpse into the mind and soul of England. I had looked beneath the surface. And under the shadow of grief, under the mask of stolidity, I had seen the grim determination which assured the future of the country of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener of Khartoum!"

PRINCE RUPERT ASTONISHED BY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Prince Rupert people are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. ONE SPOONFUL removes such surprising foul matter it relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. Because Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. Orme's Limited. g-4.

Eye Troubles Corrected

Mr. Bulger has had over ten years experience in sight testing and fitting glasses, and last mid-summer took a post graduate course, which included the latest discoveries in the science of optometry or eye measuring. One of the most important is dynamic skiametry. The new method of Prof. A. J. Cross, of New York, in which the eye is measured by a beam of reflected light and any error is recorded.

But we do not simply rely on one method; each eye is tested separately, in three different ways, besides trying the muscular balance, together and the nervous acuteness.

We use the new drugless methods, no drops in the eye and no heavy frame resting on your face; ours swings from the wall by a bracket.

"The Reliable Plumber," Prince Rupert, B. C..

I have great pleasure in certifying to the excellent hot water and heating system that you installed in our parsonage, and that after six months of operation through the winter months it has given every satisfaction.

The system heats a thirty gallon tank of water to boiling temperature in one hour after the fire has been started; it in no way interferes with the oven for baking purposes. In addition to this, the wall radiator which you placed in dining-room and connected with the range boiler has given us splendid satisfaction, supplying us with ample heating throughout the winter, saving us the cost of a stove and fuel.

I most heartily testify to the satisfaction and efficiency of your system and gladly recommend it.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) (Rev.) J. F. DIMMICK.

Suggestions for Successful ADVERTISING

The Best Time To Use Advertising Space

While the successful advertiser makes all times his own, their must of necessity be occasions when there are special advantages in presenting live facts about your goods to the public.

Advantages In Strenuous Times

Did it ever occur to you that in times when money is specially "tight" that the average buyer, and especially the thrifty housewife makes it a point to buy where the best can be got for the money expended? Have you an advantage to offer? Your advertising it will give you far better results than when times are better.

Buying Values Are Investigated

The value of money is appreciated now. Values count and are investigated by the public. This is the time to get full results from those who have good values to offer the public in any line of consumption.
