THE GERMANS HAVE MISSED THEIR OPPORTUNITIES

CAPTURE OF BAPAUME WILL DELIGHT THE FRENCH

Allied Forces Steadily Moving Forward Against Enemy

SENTIMENT IN TAKING BAPAUME

FRENCH PEOPLE HAVE STRONG REASONS FOR SEEKING FORTRESS

The Capture Of Bapaume And Peronne Will Be A Great Satisfaction.

The French people have strong sentimental reasons for eagerly awaiting the capture by the Franco-British forces of Bapaume and Peronne, which is the logical sequence to the capture of Combles and Thiepval.

When Bapaume and Peronne have fallen into Entente hands the French army will have avenged the defeats suffered at the hands of the Prussians at these centres in 1871. It was at Bapaume, 12 miles south of Arras, that the French army of the north on January 2 and 3, 1871, met and suffered defeat by the Prussian army of observation after one of the most sanguinary battles of that war.

A few days later Peronne, which had been battered almost to fragments by Prussian artillery, was compelled to capitulate. It was invested on December 28 to January 9, 1871, when an epidemic of smallpox contributed to the difficulties of the garrison and forced it to surrender.

CANADIAN BANKS ADVANCE SUM TO CREDIT LONDON

Following the meeting with the Canadian bankers, which was entirely satisfactory Sir Thomas White the Minister of Finance cabled the Chancellor of the Exchequer that the Dominion government would make an advance of fifty million dollars here to the Imperial government to be availed of in the payment for munitions and supplies purchased in Canada.

The Minister of Finance also at today's meeting enlisted the co-operation of the bankers' association in promoting a thrift campaign throughout the Dominion and in considering a class of security which will attract the savings of those of slender means who may be willing to offer quick savings to the Government for the purpose of war expenditure. Upon the request of the minister a committee of the association will be appointed to advise with him in the matter.

ZEPPELIN RAID ON ENGLISH COAST DID LITTLE HARM

London, Oct. 3.—Ten Zeppelins took part in Sunday night's raid on the southeast coast of England. One man was killed and one woman injured. The damage done to property was insignificant, most of the bombs dropping in open spaces where they could do no harm. One dirigible was incinerated and the crew destroyed.

The British People Are Very Optimistic Over Recent Victories

London, Oct. 3.—Never since the opening of the war has the spirit of England been as optimistic as at present. As the dust of battle is cleared away it becomes more appreciated here how striking the British successes have been. Indeed, the spirits of England today are very high, for not only on the Somme has the enemy received another heavy blow, but giant Zeppelins lie in England's field, a bitter notice to Germany that there is initiative, daring and excellence of administration in Britain which are more than a match for the 40 years' preparation, that careful consideration of the aerial possibilities of those giant machines which were to lay England in ruins, have proved unavailable. Two Zeppelins lie in ruins themselves.

There is a British trench gun more deadly than anything invented by the Germans; British "tanks" have brought terror to the enemy; Britain's flying service dominates on the wetsern front; the British infantry is more than the equal of the famous German regiments; our artillery is better munitioned than the foe's. In almost every branch of military endeavor British supremacy is now marked. No wonder England rejoices.

GERMANY MISSED CHANCE TO WIN

NEW YORK TRIBUNE DEALT WITH THE SITUATION IN EUROPE AND THE END

It Is Held That There Can Be No Doubt About The Results Now.

The New York Tribune recently in a leading editorial under the caption "Defeated Germany," says:

"As we approach the end of the third campaigning period of the great war, one fact stands out clear beyond all cavil. There is no longer any question in the minds of any but the most pronounced of Germany's sympathizers as to the ultimate outcome of the conflict. It is patent to the least trained military eye that Germany is beaten. What the military men of the world are now debating is the length of time that will be required to make absolute a decision that is no longer a subject of debate.

"If one goes back over the history of the tremendous struggle it now becomes perfectly clear that we have lived through two distinct and completed phases, that we are living in the midst of a third, which is marked by very clear and unmistakable circumstances.

"The first phase of the war was the supreme export of a nation of 65,000,000 of people, having as an ally another nation of 50,000,000 to destroy the military establishments of three nations with a combined population of 215,000,000 in Europe alone, and with almost unlimited resources outside, before these nations could prepare as Germany was prepared. Choosing her own moment, choosing her own field of activity, having unrivalled artillery, unsuspected resources in the air and on the battlefield, Germany struck. Her great general staff expected to dispose of France, while Britain was still without any really formidable army. It was their view that Austria would hold Russia in check until France was disposed of.

"Two years ago, when Germany struck France, Britain had rather less than 150,000 available for service on the continent. Today she has ten times as many on the continent. French and British artillery have now a superiority over Germany and the supply of ammunition of the Allies is also superior in the west."

After a lengthly resume of the various campaigns during the two years of the war, The Tribune concludes:

"Germany has had her chance and she has not won. She did not succeed in crushing unprepared enemies possessing inferior numbers of trained troops when she chose to strike. Now numbers, preparation, everything has turned against her. Her enemies are bleeding her white and dividing the costs amongst superior numbers. These enemies no longer have the smallest doubt as to the outcome of the war. All the Allied armies feel themselves to be victorious at the present moment and count no sacrifice too great to contribute to the ultimate collapse of the enemy.

"No one expects to see a material change in the situation before the campaign of next summer. Few people now expect peace before 1918, but

PROMISING GROUP OF MINES NEAR SMITHERS

The Mamie Property Is Said To Be Looking Very Well.

A visit was paid last week to the Mamie Group owned by John Aldrich, situated on the east bank of Sloan Creek, on the south slope of the Hudson Bay range, where development work recently done has further proved the initial discovery, says The Interior News of Smithers. The main lead has been uncovered for a distance of about 300 feet showing the ore body to vary very little, averaging five feet in width.

The ore consists of zince-blende, arsenopyrite and chalcopyrite, with small amounts of galena, the main value being in zince, which should run over 30 per cent. and has the appearance of being of fine quality.

The lead as exposed runs slightly northeast up the hill, and as far as can be seen has little dip and is continuous for the distance uncovered. There has also been uncovered on this property to the west of the main lead a series of stringers of zinc-blende, but it is impossible as yet to define whether they belong to the main lead or are separate. These stringers are important for their quantity and the width they occupy.

NEWS RECEIVED FROM FORMER IRISH FUSILIERS

Lieut. Christie, Of Local Garrison, Has Heard From The Front.

Liuet. Christie, of the Irish Fusiliers, has had a welcome letter from Sergt. Burgess, who is at the front. The Sergt. was formerly with the force on duty here. He is now a member of the Field Ambulance.

In the course of the intersting letter he tells of having come across Corp. Fenton with a bad wound in the shoulder from a shell bursting. Fenton will be remembered as one of the best of the football players of the Fusiliers team. He also told of Hindhaugh, formerly of the garrison here, being wounded in the foot.

NEW DISCOVERY WILL GREATLY AID WOUNDED.

New Camera Invented Will Secure A Picture Of Any Organ In The Body.

Chicago, October 3.—A special Tribune cable from the London Times tells of a discovery which is of surpassing interest to the world at large which is now on trial in France.

The British Medical Journal says the discovery is quite as important as was the finding of X-rays. With X-rays in darkened chambers it is possible to obtain pictures only of bones and the more solid structures, but by means of this discovery it is possible in broad daylight to obtain detailed pictures of any organ of the body.

It is thus possible to see blood vessels of the brain and observe a blood clot in that organ and detect abscesses of the liver.

The next regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the Board Rooms, Second Avenue, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

BRITISH CLOSING IN ON BAPAUME

THE ATTACKING FORCE IS NOW WITHIN TWO MILES OF FORTRESS

The Cavalry Is Now Having Its Part In The Advances.

London, Oct. 3.—The British army on the Somme front is now within two miles of the German fortress of Bapaume. In the latest advance, cavalry patrols are being used as the fighting is most taking place in open country where movement is much easier than in the closely entrenched regions just passed through.

Despite intense rains, the British have succeeded in improving their positions. Ferocious fighting is developing at close quarters around the Schwaben redoubt and the enemy is desperately endeavoring to prevent their right flank from being forced across the River Ancre. The Allies hold part of the Schwaben redoubt and they are likely to take full possession at any moment, when the British will control the entire plateau in the approach to Bapaume. The Germans are now getting a taste of the sort of thing the British and French had to withstand in the earlier stages of the war, when they had to face a terrific fire with little cover. The Germans are digging in deeply to escape the artillery fire, but they are being rooted out by the "tanks" and British cavalry attacks.

In the Gueridecourt region the British captured a large number of prisoners and amongst them were many sailors from the second German naval division who had been rushed to the Somme front to reinforce the exhausted regiments.

FRATERNAL ADVERTISING.

In an address before the N. F. C. of A., Miss Bina West, supreme commander of the Lady Maccabees, had a word to say in favor of display advertising in the newspapers by fraternities.

The newspapers have shown in the past, and show today very great consideration for every line of fraternal endeavor, and their columns are usually open to fraternal news as a matter of community interest and to announcements of fraternal helpfulness as a matter which directly benefits the community along humanitarian lines, the speaker said.

Therefore, when larger interests are at stake which affect vitally the future growth of these associations and where commercial interests are involved organizations should regard the matter from a commercial standpoint and treat the newspapers accordingly. They will get enough benefit from this in the friendly spirit which is engenders in their interest to more than repay the amount involved in newspaper or display advertising.

The newspaper is the greatest educational medium of the times.

We would advise using the columns of the daily newspaper for advertising because it goes directly into the homes of the people fraternal societies wish to reach. Organizations can centralize their publicity and cover territory to good advantage. To illustrate: If they wish to advertise in certain sections of the country they can concentrate work better through the daily press than through publications of less frequent issue, and by so doing get quicker action than they could through other mediums.

It was the opinion of the members of the Macabees' Committee that no better medium for carrying educational information relating to these institutions and what they are undertaking to do for the homes of the land can be secured than the public press.

The Interior News at Smithers has the following appreciation of the local here:

"Bulkleyites returning from Prince Rupert are loud in their praise of the big exhibition that was held there last week. It was a howling success ---three screaming days of fun, and everybody got their full money's worth with overflowing measure. There were splendid displays of exhibits in various lines of production, including agricultural, mineral, fisheries, industrial, etc., while the other attractions provided for the entertainment of visitors filled the bill to the letter. The Prince Rupert Fair Association have the right knack for doing things, in consequence of which the popularity of their fair has continued to spread with each succeeding year until now it is without rival in the north, and bids fair to become one of the greatest annual events on the Pacific coast."

She becomes the mistress of the son of the factory owner, later marries his brother and finally becomes the victim of her first master who, despairing of ever winning her love, becomes a dope fiend and takes a terrible revenge upon her. CLEO MADISON TO BE SEEN AT THE WESTHOLME

Famous Photoplay "Her Bitter Cup" To Be Presented This Evening.

Tonight and tomorrow night the Westholme Theatre has a splendid attraction. Nailed to a door by a dope fiend, the man who has ruined her, the heroine, Cleo Madison, in her latest five-reel feature production, "Her Bitter Cup," doing penance for her life of shame and finally falls, near death, into the arms of the husband who has married her in ignorance of her shame. Seldom has a more realistic allegorical picture been made than "Her Bitter Cup," in which Miss Cleo Madison plays the leading role.

The third phase has only begun, but the end of the third phase is revealed to all. We are looking at Germany in defeat, and the evidences of defeat mount daily."

Because it acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, ONE SPOONFUL Adler-i-ka relieves almost ANY CASE constipation sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. C. H. Orme, Pioneer Druggist.
