ALLIES REPULSE ENEMY COUNTER ATTACKS

Dresden Arsenal Was Blown Up, 1000 Reported Killed

Patriotic Appeal For Recruits Was Theme Of Address

Lieut. Gordon Appealed To Prince Rupert Men To Join The Army

The inclement weather somewhat interfered with the patriotic concert in the Empress Theatre last evening. However, there was quite a number present and an enjoyable evening was spent.

The Rev. Canon Rix presided. In referring to the Irish Fusiliers, before calling on Lieut. Gordon for an address, he said that quite a large detachment had been sent from the city and numbers of them had won distinguished honor on the battlefields. They were just ordinary men like ourselves. They had done and were doing their duty. There should be some of the same spirit in us that was in these men. We should not get the idea that the war was over, or that the Germans were beaten. There are some startling things ahead. The Germans will have to change their tactics on the western front if they expect to hold out. There is internal trouble in Germany, but the fight is not over. Germany was being supplied from neutral countries around her. According to reports carloads of gold were being sent from Germany to Denmark for food and supplies. We do not agree with Wilson when he says we must have peace without victory. There must be a decided victory. There should be a conscription of the wealth of the country as well as of the manhood. He cited the hugh profits being made by those manufacturing munitions. No man should be getting rich at the expense of his country. Every man that is able should go, and the men that cannot go should give until they were not able to give any more.

Lieut. Gordon, who is in the city on a recruiting campaign for the Irish Fusiliers, said that he was delighted to have the privilege of addressing them on the war. He regretted that conditions had gone against them in having to get along without the picture machine, which was out of commission. It reminded him of guns built by the Germans

Prince Rupert Pioneer Died Suddenly Yesterday ---Came To City In 1908

There died at the General Hospital yesterday evening W. J. Sandeles, a pioneer of British Columbia. He was a native of Ireland, coming to this country in the early days.

Mr. Sandeles death came very suddenly, and was a shock to his many friends and acquaintances in the city and district. He was striken with a paralytic stroke while at his office, with the firm of Kelly, Douglas. He was hurried to the hospital but never regained consciousness, and passed away about 9:30 last evening.

Mr. Sandeles came to British Columbia in the pioneering days, many an old-timer, both in Prince Rupert and in the north being well acquainted with him. He was held in high esteem by all those who knew him. In the Yukon in the early days he was connected with the firm of Kelly, Douglas, as their traveller. Later he came to Prince Rupert, in the year 1908. While in the city at that time he opened up a branch for the firm. From Prince Rupert he went to Victoria and Vancouver, in which cities he also opened branch houses for the firm for which he was employed. After having completed the organization work in the southern cities he returned to Prince Rupert and took over the management of the local branch, which position he occupied up to the time of his death.

During the early part of the day Mr. Sandeles was in his usual health, going to his office in the morning and returning to the Saints'

BRITAIN HUMS WITH WAR-WORK

CIVIL MOBILIZATION MEASURES ARE PUSHED FORWARD WITH VIM

Country Divided Into Six Districts Under Scheme Of Neville Chamberlain.

New York, Jan. 31.—The New York Sun this morning publishes the following special cable from London:

The first steps toward civil mobilization indicating Great Britain's adamantine determination to fight to a finish and to victory, have crowded any discussion of the attitude of the United States toward distant peace league schemes.

Labor's support, expressed at the Manchester convention, has greatly gratified the Government and will pave the way for Neville Chamberlain's fast-maturing plans for mobilizing all industries and cutting down the number of men working in non-essential trades to the minimum and increasing to the maximum of efficiency of all the vital trades.

LIEUT.-MAJ. MATIER ADDRESSED THE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Interesting Information Given On The Origin Of Egyptian Hieroglyphics.

On an invitation from Principal Brady of the Prince Rupert High School, Lieut.-Major Matier, who is in the city on a recruiting campaign, gave an interesting and instructive address on the origin of Egyptian hieroglyphics. The class took the deepest interest in the address, asking questions which Mr. Matier took great pains to explain.

The Lieutenant has done a great deal of travelling in one capacity or another, and has had an opportunity for study under a number of very learned men. He was with Prof. Maspero, Director-General of the Egyptian Antiquities Expedition, organized by the British Government, which went into Egypt for research purposes.

Mr. Brady has invited Lieut. Matier to give a couple more lectures on different subjects before leaving the city.

RETURNED SOLDIERS HONOR COMRADES

ARE COMPILING ROLL OF HONOR OF ALL THOSE WHO HAVE PAID SUPREME SACRIFICE

Appeal To Public To Assist Them In Getting The Names And Information.

The Returned Soldiers' Association, at a recent meeting, passed the following resolutions:

That, at every meeting of the Association, before the transaction of any business whatsoever, the chairman shall call the members to rise and stand in reverent silence, to the memory of their comrades who have made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives for the preservation of the freedom of the world.

It is our intention to make this resolution known throughout the world, so that the memory of those who can never return may be kept alive as long as there are any men left, who have served, or who may serve, in the war.

That every family be asked to spare a few moments daily or weekly in united thoughts of pride and respect for the fallen, and sympathy for those who are left to mourn their loss.

That an immediate start be made to compile a Roll of Honor to include the names of all the fallen men belonging to Prince Rupert or who have joined the units in this city.

They are also making an appeal to the public that they will furnish them with any names or information of any of the boys who have so nobly paid the surpreme sacrifice, that it may assist the local organization in compiling a complete Roll of Honor.

A cold spell is hitting Victoria and Vancouver. In an attempt to explain away the disagreeable weather conditions that exist down there, they make the statement that it is reported from Prince Rupert that it is 10 below zero up here. This is false.

German Counter Attacks Repulsed By The Allies On Western Front

London, Jan. 31.—The British troops on the Somme front effectively bombarded German dugouts. In a series of air encounters, the British aviators destroyed three German aeroplanes and drove down three in a damaged condition. Comparative quietness prevails along the rest of the front.

French Report.

Paris, Jan. 31.—The German efforts to regain the lost positions on the Verdun front have been halted by the French. Severe weather conditions prevent any heavy fighting. Comparative calm continues to prevail on all fronts, from the Baltic to the Black Sea, with the exception of the southwestern end of the Riga front, where there is continued violent fighting.

The Germans tried to attack between Soissons and Rheims but all their efforts were repelled by the French. French aviators dropped bombs on the German billets and on a factory near Rheims.

COLLIDED WITH SUNKEN MINE

CAUSE GIVEN BY BRITISH ADMIRALTY FOR LOSS OF CRUISER LAURENTIC

Two Hundred And Sixty Lives Were Lost When Boat Went Down.

London, Jan. 31.—The Admiralty announces that a collision with a mine off the coast of Ireland was responsible for the sinking of the auxiliary cruiser Laurentic. Two hundred and sixty sailors lost their lives when the White Star liner went down.

News Of Explosion Of Dresden Arsenal Being Kept Secret

Paris, Jan. 31.—The Dresden arsenal has been blown up, and 1,000 women and young girls killed, according to a letter taken from a German soldier, dated December 30.

The letter was written from Dresden and the writer said that all the windows within a radius of twelve miles were broken by the explosion. He added that the authorities were keeping the news secret, and that no railroad tickets were being issued for Dresden except for urgent reasons.

LIEUT. GORDON.

for the Belgians. This was his first visit this far west. He congratulated the city and the motherhood for the hundreds of men they had already sent to the front. The city might have done all that it could, but it had not done all that it should. He thought that there was a great future for Prince Rupert. He was here to make an appeal to all men in Prince Rupert, who were able, to throw up their present occupations and enlist. 2,400 had already joined the Irish Fusiliers, it had the greatest record of any regiment in British Columbia. The officers were respected by all branches of the army.

He was glad to see that the Trades and Labor Council of the city had agreed to sign and send in the National Registration cards. We de not need to be afraid to send in our names and addresses. It is one method that the Government has of finding out the strength of the manhood of the country. Some say that it is a forerunner of conscription. He did not know, but he was not a great lover of that himself. It is not fair, however, for one family to be sending two or three members and others none. He had no use for the man who becomes a citizen simply for a good job. If Canada is worth living in, it is worth fighting for. Our fathers fought for their liberties and they died for them, and tonight we stand on the shoulders of the vanguard of the pioneers of civilization.

He cited the time of Greece, when Englishmen died to assist them. Greece, however, forgot that today. The same might be said of other countries. There are some born in this country who will not fight in England, but would fight in defense of Canada. The only difference that he saw, was that we are fighting the enemy on French soil instead of on Canadian. The reason was because of the British navy. It is home defense for the Canadians who are meeting the Germans in France. Are Englishmen, he asked, the only men who are in favor of freedom? Why leave it all to the Englishmen? Let us all fight for freedom. There are three tests. There were men required for agricultural purposes. Second, men required for basic industries, economic and industrial. Third, men were required for public services, naval and military. Men must arrange themselves.

The three test are: First, Does your refusal to enlist meet the highest demand of your highest principles and conscience?

Second, Does your refusal meet your highest demands, or does it meet the industrial and economic needs of the country?

Third, Will your refusal to fight for King and Country satisfy posterity?

Some can work, fight and pay. In Canada we are reaping the fruits of a false immigration policy. Foreigners were receiving $5 a day. We need quality not quantity in Canada.

He appealed to his audience for assistance. He did not accuse those who did not join as being "slackers," but asked them to look at it in the light of consciences. The blood of the boys who had fallen were calling to us and we must avenge their death. He asked for 25 men from Prince Rupert. It was not a square deal to have aliens in this country working for four or five dollars a day while Canadians were away fighting. They should be taxed to help support the wives and kiddies of those at the front.

Sergt.-Major Matier gave a short address, touching on his experiences in connection with work connected with the British and French Governments. He cited personal incidents in Egypt, India, Turkey, Greece, France and Britain. He at one time came to Canada in connection with the Vancouver Hindoo incident. He had been in hopes that the war would have been averted, but it had proved otherwise. He had been with the French army at Verdun. He told of the great work that the Canadians were doing on the battle fronts. They were in charge of the building of 1,500 miles of railroad in France. They were also in the air service, and gained the highest praise wherever they went.

The High School Glee Club rendered a number of choruses, which were well received. They sang the Marseillaise in French.

At the conclusion of the lecture Lieut. Gordon flashed, by means of a hand lantern, a number of views from the front and other scenes on the curtain.

MANY IN PRINCE RUPERT TRY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Many Prince Rupert people are surprised at the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. This simple remedy acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. A few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-i-ka is astonishing. C. H. Orme, Pioneer Druggist. g-s.
