PIONEER OF COAST DIED YESTERDAY

CAPT. WILLIAM F. MADDEN PASSED AWAY IN THIS CITY

He Has Been Living At Lorne Creek Since Quitting Sailing.

There passed away yesterday in this city one of the pioneer navigators of this coast, in the person of Capt. William F. Madden. The deceased had reached the advanced age of 81 years and 11 months. His death took place at the home of his son-in-law in this city, Mr. Christian. The funeral arrangements are being carried out by the B. C. Undertakers.

Capt. Madden, while not so familiar to the new-comers on this coast, was a familiar figure in the earlier days of the settlements along this northern coast. He made Port Essington his headquarters for some time, being engaged in later days, before he quit sailing, in running one of the river steamers on the Skeena.

When he left navigating he retired

Busy With Herring To Meet Demand For Bait --Small Halibut Catches

Interest in fishing circles is for the present diverted somewhat from the halibut to herring, consequent upon the arrival in the waters off here of plentiful supplies of the herring. For the present attention is being given to the securing of a sufficient supply to carry the fishing boats over the summer in the line of bait. There has been next to no herring yet in the harbor here, and there are fears that they may not come in, although it is generally expected that there will be a run of them into this port. Those interested are taking no chances in this matter, however, after the experience of last year, and are accordingly going out to where the herring is now to be found. This is in the direction of Port Simpson, and the supply seems to be very plentiful.

COL. WARDEN IS ON INSPECTION

COMMANDING OFFICER OF THE 102ND BATTALION ARRIVED HERE

He Has Gone On To Prince George To Make Inspection There.

There arrived in the city on Sunday night Col. Warden, the officer commanding the 102nd Northern British Columbia Battalion. He did not spend long in Prince Rupert on this visit, but went on yesterday by train to Prince George to make an inspection there. Returning, he will spend a day or too here.

He made an inspection of the local company yesterday before leaving, and complimented the officers and men on their fine appearance. Of all the men recruited for the battalion, he said there were none to excel those he saw in Prince Rupert.

On his return to the city he will make a much closer inspection of all the details here.

Russia Is Succeeding In Crushing Turkish Armies In Armenia And Forcing A General Flight of Remnants

Rome, Feb. 21.—The Russian line in Armenia is already from thirty to sixty miles from Erzerum. The Turkish rout surpasses all imagination. No unit remains intact. The remnant of the army which is in flight is being massacred by the insurgent population.

The Russian Embassy has received advices that the Russians are advancing by forced marches to the conquest of Trebizond. The same authority states that the Turkish army in Armenia is isolated and unable to receive succor. The Russians are driving the Turk rear guard steadily before them.

One of the Russian armies is approaching Diarbekorn-Tirgris, which is only fifty miles from the Constantinople-Bagdad Railway, which is the only means of communication with Mesopotamia.

Russian Successes.

The Russians have now occupied the entire Lake Van district. The Turks are retiring southward, even evacuating Bitlis.

Took Whole Division.

Petrograd, Feb. 21.—The entire thirty-fourth Ottoman Division, which was marching to reinforce the Turkish army holding Erzerum, has been surrounded and captured with thirteen guns.

Turkish losses during the last two weeks amount to one hundred thousand men.

One Russian corps in the assault upon Erzerum captured 240 cannon.

Fleet Is Co-operating.

A new Russian army is landing at Trebizond on the Black Sea, the Russian fleet is co-operating in the attack.

Kaiser Desperate.

The Kaiser has sent a message to Von Der Goltz, who is in charge of the Turkish forces, commanding that the Russian advance be checked at any cost.

Important Move.

A synopsis of the operations which resulted in the taking of Erzerum shows what a sweeping victory has been gained. The fall of Erzerum, the most important Turkish stronghold in Asia Minor, and for a long time considered impregnable, offers the unprecedented spectacle of a first-class fortress, built on a steep mountain ridge nearly a mile above sea level yielding to bayonet attack after only 36 hours' bombardment. The operations were conducted under the most severe weather conditions, the snow being deep and the thermometer registering at times more than 30 degrees below zero fahrenheit.

Taken By Surprise.

The Turkish army defending Erzerum, taken by surprise under the methods adopted by the Russians, is now said to be in disorderly flight on the roads leading to Sivas. As the garrison apparently scattered in all directions it is assumed here that large numbers of men were taken prisoners although official figures are still lacking.

After the taking of Niksala, it appeared that the Russian attack would be directed upon the Turkish right flank and by rapidly transferring troops the Turks made all plans to resist the main assault from this quarter. Apparently they had little fear of the success of this attack, because of the strong character of the fortifications in that direction, and less apprehension of danger from a frontal attack.

A Bayonet Charge.

Nevertheless, after the Russians took by storm the first line forts on February 2, there began a persistent bombardment of the Turkish centre, followed by a bayonet charge, the impetuosity of which swept the defenders off their feet. The highest tribute is paid to the bravery of the Caucasian troops, whose charge is considered likely to go down in history as one of the mast brilliant feats of the war.

It is recognized here that the success of the assault was due almost entirely to the bayonet work of the troops since the artillery preparation was insufficient in intensity and duration, according to military experts, to reduce even a strong field position.

DOMINION FISH DAY IS ANNOUNCED

All Provinces Of Canada Will Unite On Tuesday, February 29.

Fish day is the latest innovation. February 29 has been declared by the Canadian Wholesale Fish Dealers' Association as the day in question, and it will be observed by all provinces in the Dominion of Canada.

A meeting of the B. C. Wholesale Fish Dealers' Association was held to further the plans for the big day—to fish dealers the day of the year, for then all people will have an opportunity to testify to the quality of the fish dealers' wares.

The plan is being inaugurated in the hope of increasing the consumption of fish through Canada. Although as yet the Government has taken no part in the new order there is every likelihood that the plan will have its approval, as the Dominion Government has been carrying on a campaign along similar lines for many years.

In a country such as Canada, where the fishing industry holds such a prominent place among commercial pursuits the consumption of fish is said, by the Government, to be far less than it should be, in consideration of the lower price in comparison with meats, that fish can be obtained.

SHORT SITTING OF THE CITY COUNCIL

All The Business Was Over In About Fifteen Minutes Last Evening.

It was a very short sitting of the city council that was held last evening. In about a quarter of an hour the whole sitting was over and the members of the council had dispersed.

The bylaws fixing the indemnity of the Mayor and Aldermen, and one altering the amount of the sewer bylaw, near Lynch's store, were finally passed.

A report from the Reading Room Committee recommended that Cyril Orme be awarded the contract for providing the reading matter, being the lowest, was adopted.

PROMINENT GERMANS ARE NOW ANXIOUS TO SEE PEACE

London, Feb. 21.—Five hundred prominent merchants, bankers and ship owners of Hamburg, Lubeck and Bremen have petitioned the German Government to begin overtures for peace, with a view to ending the war in three months. These business men claim that unless peace is declared in that time the Hansabund will be ruined.

The Hansabund is a union of bankers, merchants and ship owners of the old Free States of Northern Germany which enjoyed special privileges at the hands of the Government from the olden days. The district is the stronghold of Germany's overseas commerce.

AIRSHIPS ARE IN FIGHTING AGAIN IN PROMINENT WAY

Paris, Feb. 21.—Aerial activity, both by the French and by the Germans, has marked the fighting on the western front.

German Taubes made attacks on Luneville, Dombastle and Nancy.

On the other hand, five French aeroplanes bombarded the enemy's ammunition depots.

SERBS CHARGED WTH EXPLODING POWDER IN STORE IN NISH

London, Feb. 21.—Three Bulgarian officers and forty soldiers have been killed and wounded by the explosion of the chief ammunition store in Nish. Fifty Serbian residents in the town have been arrested, charged with complicity.

SEA-PLANE RAIDS MADE BY GERMANS UPON ENGLAND

London, Feb. 21.—The Germans have made two sea-plane raids on Lowestoft and Dover. Two men and one boy were killed and one marine injured. The windows of a church were blown in, but fortunately none of the congregation was injured.

BUSY WITH HERRING.

The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company has the Fredelia out on this service. Yesterday it brought into port 60 tons, getting a ready market with the boats that were in port at the time. The boat is out again and there will be others added to the herring fleet, so that the supply may be put up without any chance of a shortage, as was the case last season.

Others are in the business, and it is expected that herring from now on will be very plentiful until the close of the season for them. The fish are moreover of good quality, which is very satisfactory.

There continues to be halibut boats arriving in port from the banks, but the catches are not as large as would be liked. The weather conditions do not yet seem to have improved sufficiently to ensure a good catch of the fish during the time that the vessels are on the grounds.

The George E. Foster, of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company, arrived in port yesterday with 35,000 pounds, which is, of course, a rather small catch for her. Capt. Walters says the weather has not been really good.

Among the other boats that came into port were the Kodiak with 20,000 pounds; the Nellie, with 7,000; and the Roald Amundsen, with 6,000 pounds.

The boats are getting out to the banks now in large numbers, and with the fresh bait it is anticipated that the catches on the next run will be much larger than they have been this time.

CHASING SUBMARINES IS KING OF SPORTS

How The Work Of Potting The Under-water Boats Is Done.

The king of our sailors' outdoor sports just now is "chasing" submarines, says an Old Country magazine. The crews of the chasers are experts at the game, says the Montreal Mail.

Now, every submarine makes what the experts call a "surface wave." Even at 60 feet deep she leaves a distinct path, and 60 feet is pretty deep for any submarine to venture. Besides this plain track, there are also innumerable bubbles of air and globules of oil, continually escaping to the surface, plain indication to the observant eye of a submarine hovering below.

All right—the "chaser" catches the "surface wave." This spells the end for the submarine, unless a storm comes up or a fog falls. For it is merely the business of the speedier motor boat to keep above the wave, and the time has got to come when the submarine must bob up and get her bearings or see what she can see. It is all over in ten seconds.

Aeroplanes have a winning way with them, too. It is their custom to fly as slowly as possible over the shallow waters around the British coast and spy out German submarines resting on the bottom, a regular trick of theirs.

And here the aeroplane has shown its great usefulness. The shallow water that surrounds the coastlines makes it possible for the aviator to spy out the submarine as she lies, blind and immobile, on the bottom, even 100 feet deep. He notes the position and notifies the nearest patrol boat, which speed to the spot. Now it is only a case of waiting for the submarine to rise. You know the rest if you have read thus far.

Mines are anchored from the bottom at about the cruising distance of a submarine from the surface. One hit is enough. Nothing ever comes up to tell the tale. Months after, perhaps, in Germany another submarine is listed as missing—yes, missing until the sea shall give up its dead.

"Gumming the eye" is another sport. A tanker merely steams around in concentric circles at a spot on the sea frequented by submarines and the oil gets on the glass of the periscope and shuts out the view. Then the boat must open up and let a man out on deck to clean the periscope. If a "chaser" happens to be around the submarine doesn't get a chance to submerge—of its own accord.

RUSSIA IS SUCCEEDING.

Spoils Plans.

The wiping out of this Turkish base tends to disrupt the whole Caucasus campaign of the Turks, as it not only served as a base of the operations in the Caucasus, but also of those in Mesopotamia. Its fall leaves no strongly fortified point between Erzerum and Sivas, about 230 miles to the west, and brings more to the front consideration of an eventual attack upon Constantinople from the east.

An attempt to re-take Erzerum is anticipated, but there are enormous difficulties attending the bringing up of Turkish reinforcements, as it is assumed that Turkish forces in Mesopotamia cannot be spared. The alternative for the Turks seems to be to draw upon those at Constantinople, from which all possible routes toward Erzerum are long and arduous. The most practicable is by railway to Urfa, whence it would be necessary to march overland more than 200 miles.

The Black Sea route to Trebizond has become impracticable because of the Russian domination of the Black Sea littoral. Sivas is regarded as the next probable objective of the Russian armies.

The capture of Erzerum has had the effect of making more secure the Russian positions along the Black Sea.

BRITISH SELLING STEEL BONDS BACK TO UNITED STATES

The British Government has sold to the United States Steel Corporation $28,000,000 of the first mortgage five per cent. bonds of that corporation, it has been announced. The bonds were held in Carnegie Foundations in Scotland for trust purposes, and were sold by the foundations recently at the request of the British Government under its security mobilization plan.

WESTHOLME THEATRE AGAIN DREW LARGE CROWD

Excellent Turn-out Last Night To See "Diamond From The Sky."

"The Diamond from the Sky" was again screened before a crowded house at the Westholme last night. Intense interest circled about the pictures. The Diamond is still wandering from place to place until the auction sale has finally taken possession of it; while the Blair conspirators have double-crossed Luke Lovell and had him arrested. Marmaduke Smythe is still wandering about and trying to settle the Stanley estate.

The Gaumont Graphic this week is good. Among the pictures are a number closely connected with the war. Maori troops in New Zealand were shown under review.

Florence Le Badie, the heroine of the Million Dollar Mystery, appears in "Cycle of Hatred," which is an excellent picture.

Open Wednesdays and Saturdays until 9 p.m. M. M. Stephens.

which indicated that very satisfactory progress had been made. He said that at the conference the bill was agreed to by the Government officials, with only a few slight changes. It would not be necessary, the message said, to have the matter voted upon in Prince Rupert. A further conference was to be held today, when the terms of the bill would be finally agreed upon.

The message was read at the meeting of the council last night.

Eye Troubles Corrected

Mr. Bulger has had over ten years experience in sight testing and fitting glasses, and last mid-summer took a post graduate course, which included the latest discoveries in the science of optometry or eye measuring. One of the most important is dynamic skiametry. The new method of Prof. A. J. Cross, of New York, in which the eye is measured by a beam of reflected light and any error is recorded.

But we do not simply rely on one method; each eye is tested separately, in three different ways, besides trying the muscular balance, together and the nervous acuteness.

We use the new drugless methods, no drops in the eye and no heavy frame resting on your face; ours swings from the wall by a bracket.

Notice! The Latest!

By persistent experimenting I have now evolved a system of heating two rooms in a residence with your kitchen range, besides supplying hot water for domestic uses, regardless of the position of the range boiler. By the turning of one valve you turn your stove into a house heating system. I am now trying to improvise a thermostic automatic valve which will do away with the handling of any valves.

Now in use and on exhibition at my shop, 139 Second Avenue.

Quality vs. Imitation

The difference between a real thing and an imitation of it is illustrated by the difference between "Budweiser" Beer and beers that seek to resemble

Budweiser

The nearest to the original that imitators ever came was in the counterfeiting of our label. But they have never produced a beer that in any way equals "Budweiser," nor can they ever.
