LADIES TO AID IN RECRUITING

Effort To Bring Strength Up To 250 In Three Weeks.

Up to the present time there has never been any special effort made in the matter of recruiting at this centre. No organized effort, such as is being adopted in most other places, has been carried out. The recruits have come forward without any resort to other means than opening the lists.

Major Huntington, of the 102nd Battalion, who is recruiting here, is very anxious to see the local company brought up to strength without further loss of time. He wants Capt. Brandt's command to be filled up in three weeks time, and with that object in view an active recruiting campaign will be started.

It is possible that a number of ladies in the city may lend their services in the recruiting movement. The arrangements have not been completed, and will be announced in case the proposal is carried into effect. The ladies will wear the regulation recruiting badge, which is fastened to the left side of the head dress.

The local company of the 102nd Battalion is coming up in strength in good style. Major Huntington, however has set his heart on Prince Rupert being well represented in the battalion, feeling that this is but right, as the regiment is so prominently identifie ... this city, being called the Northern British Columbia Battalion. Prince Rupert has come to be regarded as a sort of capital of the north, as it is the metropolis of the great section of country embraced, in which is now called Northern British Columbia, although it is in reality central British Columbia.

There are now over ninety on the strength of the local company under the command of Capt. Brandt, who is very popular with the men. The weather has not been well adapted for anything outside of squad drilling in quarters.

On Saturday morning at 11:30, however, there will be the first inspection parade of the local company. This has been ordered by Major Huntington. The company will parade under the command of Capt. Brandt. The march out on Saturday morning will be headed by the School Cadet Bugle and Drum Corps. The line of march will be along Second Avenue to McBride, thence to Third Avenue, and along that Avenue to Eighth Street and then back to the barracks.

On Sunday morning the first regular church parades will be held. The men will be divided up according to their different demonimations and will attend divine worship in the different churches.

Major Huntington is well pleased with the men that are signing on. They are a first-class body of men, an opinion that is held of them by Capt. Brandt their company commander, and the other officers.

WAR MADE REALITY TO RUSSIAN RESIDENTS

Some From Other Countries Than Britain Know What Conflict Means.

It is not the people of the British race that are the only ones here to suffer from the war and its tragedies. This is a cosmopolitan place, and there are natives of many lands brought together here.

Mike Krook of this city, a native of Russia, has had the distressing news from his home, that the Germans in the war have swept over the district where he formerly lived. His father, mother and sister have been killed, and many others of his friends have fallen victims of the fighting.

Those born in other countries will have a full share of the sympathy of local residents under such distresisng circumstances, just the same as if they were of the same race as ourselves.

PRINCE RUPERT HAS TIMBER FOR BUILDING FISHING BOATS

The fishing industry is one of this city's chief sources of wealth. It will for some time perhaps be the chief basis for prosperity in this port. Allied with the fishing industry are avenues for business along many other lines. The building of a fleet of local boats would mean a pay-roll, and the laying of the foundations of a general shipbuilding industry. A locally owned fleet of fishing craft will increase the wholesale and retail trade in all lines.

The point has sometimes been raised that Prince Rupert has not the timber suitable for constructing fishing boats, and that fir would have to be imported from the south for thatpurpose. This aspect of the situation was met by Hal. Peck, Manager of the Georgetown Sawmill, in a conversation yesterday with the Journal. He has had his experience there in the shipyards. His opinion is that the local spruce is admirable for the construction of fishing boats.

In the east, he says, oak was used as long as that could be got at commercial rates. Then the yards swung to spruce, similar in every essential detail to the local type, and used it on the construction. There was no objection to it. The boats were satisfactory in every particular.

Mr. Peck believes that the construction of boats for fishing could be carried on here as cheaply as anywhere on the coast. There is excellent material right at hand. For some parts of the frame yellow cedar would be the best type that could be utilized. This part of the province has the best of yellow cedar. Its spruce is close grained and can be obtained in dimensions that would be suitable for the work in hand.

The natural resources apparently are all here. All that is required is the money to bring the material together and produce the finished product.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Great Britain has promised United States to permit the prompt transportation from Rotterdam of a large quantity of sugar beet seed bought in Austria. Cathedral Roof In Seattle Crushed By Weight Of Snow

The damage is estimated at $75,000. The snow has continued here all day. The down-town section is covered two feet deep. At the rate of fall and the conditions, another foot is expected tonight.

Railways Blocked.

The railways have unconditionally surrendered to the snow. The companies have given up all efforts to keep traffic open.

The snow in some parts of the mountains is thirty feet deep. It is still falling at the rate of five feet a day.

FEARS ARE FELT FOR WESTWARD HO

THE FISHING BOAT OF B. C. PACKERS IS NOT HEARD FROM

Well Known Vessel Is Not Reported From Anywhere On Coast.

Fears are being felt for the fishing boat Westward Ho, belonging to the B. C. Packers, and operated by that company in the halibut business out of New Westminster. According to word received yesterday, that boat is not reported in the south. She has not shown up at any port, nor has anything been heard from her.

The Westward Ho has been fishing on the banks since the New Year. She made a call at an Alaskan port after getting a part of a catch, but went out again to complete the catch. It was reported that she had got 250,000 pounds and was believed to have gone south with this. This is nearly a week ago, and nothing more has been heard of her.

The Westward Ho was a well built fishing boat, capable of living through practically any kind of rough weather. The freezing conditions, however, have resulted in making the boats top heavy by the amount of ice that formed. This causes uneasiness with respect to the Westward Ho. There is, of course, the possibility that the boat may have put into some sheltered place.

Eye Troubles Corrected

Mr. Bulger has had over ten years experience in sight testing and fitting glasses, and last mid-summer took a post graduate course, which included the latest discoveries in the science of optometry or eye measuring. One of the most important is dynamic skiametry. The new method of Prof. A. J. Cross, of New York, in which the eye is measured by a beam of reflected light and any error is recorded.

But we do not simply rely on one method; each eye is tested separately, in three different ways, besides trying the muscular balance, together and the nervous acuteness.

We use the new drugless methods, no drops in the eye and no heavy frame resting on your face; ours swings from the wall by a bracket.

A NEARBY PROPERTY WILL SOON SHIP ORE

Steady Progress On Drum Lammon Copper Mines.

Mr. W. Porteous Sloan has recently returned to Vancouver after a visit to the Drum Lummon copper mines on Miskatlah Bay, about 100 miles south of Prince Rupert. He reports good progress is being made on the tunnel, which is now in about half the distance desired, and that with the completion of this work in March or April, the company will be prepared to ship ore.

This property was first located by Mr. Sloan and Mr. James McLennan about seven years ago. Mr. Sloan states that twelve men are now working in two shifts, but that three shifts will be started in the near future, as he is intending to take up some more men upon the next trip of the Union Steamship Company's boat Coquitlam. The company have moved their Vancouver office to 633 Hastings Street West.

lating to the purchase of hay for the Imperial authorities should not be discussed at present. He suggested that later on the Government would have no objection to bringing down every record relating to the important work now being done by the department for the Imperial Government. Mr. Burrell emphatically denied that he had said to Mr. Carvell that he was afraid to have the matter discussed.

Mr. Burrell said that the farmers had not complained of the prices received for their hay. The company, in reply to complaints, had offered to handle the hay on a 5 per cent. commission basis, or to take a profit of one dollar a ton. This latter offer had been accepted.

Mr. Carvell's Dealings.

By way of further rejoinder, Mr. Burrell produced documents to show that in 1902 Mr. Carvell had been a member of a company which secured a hay contract. It was at the time of the South African war. The company got $17 a ton and paid only $8 a ton; therefore the profit was about the same as made by the Atlantic Hay Company.

THE FISHING FLEET.

While the City of Prince Rupert should welcome the coming to port of all fishing vessels, there are very special reasons why the building of fishing craft should be encouraged here. Not until Prince Rupert has its own fleet, owned and manned by local men, will the city derive the fullest advantages from the industry. There is good reason for this. It is not in the least disparaging to the foreign bottoms that this is the case. Locally owned boats would be manned by crews that made their home here; they would outfit here entirely; and they would undergo all repairs and overhauling locally. For that reason the whole city would feel the advantage of such a fleet far more than is derived from a foreign fleet.

SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY.

In the news columns appears this morning a reference to the sugar industry as affected by the beet end of the business. While it may be peering a little ahead of the time, there is reason for expecting to see Prince Rupert the centre of beet sugar works. We are informed that the recognized fertilizer for sugar beets is that produced from fish offal. This, it is said, is in constant demand by the sugar beet interests, in order to get the best results from the crop. Now, Prince Rupert is well situated in connection with the development of the fishing industry to provide all kinds of fertilizer of the kind sought. In the valleys touched by the G. T. P., the very best of land for the culture of roots is encountered. An inspection of the mangels and other root crops at the fairs held here is convincing along that line.

A territory like that at Terrace and Kitsumkalum is capable of producing immense quantities of sugar beets right now. There can quickly be brought under cultivation very much more extensive areas there. The addition of fertilizer would materially improve the production, and it is not too speculative at all to see in the near future the development of an industry that would certainly be of decided advantage to this city and to the whole country.

FISH COMING IN SPITE OF WEATHER

HALIBUT VESSELS ARE BRINGING IN CATCHES FROM THE BANKS

Trying Experiences Reported From The Boats In Service.

The arrivals of halibut continue, in spite of the fact that the continued cold weather makes the work trying and dangerous for those engaged in the business. Boats coming in all arrive ice coated, and tell of most trying conditions on the banks.

The Seattle came in yesterday with 70,000 pounds of halibut on board. She sold to the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company. The Seattle was under the command of Capt. Bergoman, who is in charge in the absence, for a trip or two, of the skipper. Capt. Bergoman is mate.

The Seattle has made two trips to the banks since the New Year. Both catches were landed here.

GERMAN RAIDER.

Mowe Essel dropped the false canvas covering her forecastle, revealing guns trained on the liner. She had on board the crews of the British steamers Trader, Cordridge, Ariadne, Dtomonby, Farringford and Clan McTavish, which had been sunk by the Mowe Essel.

The Clan McTavish, of the famous Clan Line, of Glasgow, Scotland, put up a stiff fight before finally sinking. The Appam did not sight a single British or French warship during the whole voyage.

Washington is perturbed over the international complications which the harboring of the captured vessel at Norfolk involves.

Britain claims that the vessel was illegally captured, and demands that it be released, or, if it is held as an auxiliary warship, that the Appam be forced to put to sea after re-fitting. All vessels have been warned to keep an outlook for a German submarine, which is suspected of accompanying the Appam.
