THE LILLOOET PROSPECTOR

Vol. 2 No. 15 FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1913 $2.00 Per Year

BUILDING IN LILLOOET

With the arrival of lumber in Lillooet this week all the carpenters are buisily engaged and several business houses are already under way,

D. Hurley has under construction the erection of a business block, 60x100 feet, between the Phair store and the Excelsior hotel. When completed it will be occupied by Chas. Dunn's barber shop, a six-table pool room and a modern grill and cafe.

Mr. N. Duprey is constructing a building 100x40 to be used as a general store.

BASEBALL TEAMS TO ORGANIZE

Lillooet is to have a baseball team this season- The line-up has already been arranged with J. N. Cran as secretary; Jno. Hughes, treasurer and J. Levy as manager.

The P. and G. E. engineers are organizing teams and guarantee Lillooet a lively race this coming season.

A junior team is to be organized next week.

Road Superintendent Jas. Bell returned from Victoria tonight.

H. Henderson was down from the 15-mile ranch today.

RICH ORE AT CORONATION

The Coronation mine in the Bridge River district is still keeping up to the expectations of its owners as a producing high grade free milling ore with depth. Mr. Chas. Copp, manager of the property for more than a year, passed through Lillooet, enroute to Victoria to report to his principals, the "Dunsmuir Interests, who now own the mine.

Mr. Copp was very reticient in giving out information, but it is known that the development of this gold producer has for the past few months been concentrated on the 400-foot level, and specimens brought in by Mr. Copp are known to be of a high grade.

The lead on the 400-foot level, where the present work is progressing, is eighteen inches to two feet in width, and the high grades occupy the whole of the quartz surface. There are now 2,000 tons of ore on the dump ready to be run through the mill in the spring, and this has all resulted from development work, and not from stopeing The mill will be in operation by the first of June, there will be be 300 or 600 tons of ore in addition to that now on the dump and in addition the mine will have been opened up on the lower level to such an extent that by stopeing a continuous supply of the gold-bearing quartz can be fed into the stamps.

The Coronation mill at present consists of ten stamps and will beit necessary to replace some fittings before the spring's run.

DELEGATES ARRIVE

Messrs. Wm. Abercrombie and Harry Keary, representing the town of Lillooet,, arrived in the city yesterday and today went over to Victoria today to interview the government in regard to the route of the Pacific and Great Eastern railroad. Mr. Abercrombie, before going to Lillooet was for many years a business man of Vancouver. Mr. Keary is better known in New Westminister, being a brother of ex-Mayor Keary of that city. These gentlemen propose to lay before the government the protests of the people of Lillooet against the alleged plans of the P. and G. E., to run its line so that Lillooet will be practically left out.—Thursday's Vancouver Province.

Chief Constable Fernie of Kamloops, was in town Thursday on legal business.

KEEP A-CLIMBING

If the road is hard and rough,
Keep a-climbin'
If you're feeling sort of tough.
Keep a-climbin'.
'Taint no use to sit and pout,
'Cause the other fellow's stout,
Gettin, miffed won't help you out,
Keep a-climbin'.

Don't get down into the rut,
Keep a-climbin',
Watch the road for shorter cuts
But keep a-climbin'.
Don't be gazing at the ground,
With your face all in a frown,
Raise your head and look around,
But keep a-climbin'

Don't let folks discourage you,
Keep a-climbin'.
Keep your goal always in view,
Keep a-climbin',
If you do things right today,
Sometime you'll be making hay,
And you'll hear the people say,
"He did some climbin'."

HORRIBLE CRIME

Details are reported of a revolting crime committed near Ashcroft on Saturday last. It appears that Mr. Inkster, who is a rancher living about 12 miles southeast of Ashcroft, visited the town along with his wife, leaving on the ranch their infant son, an only child of five years of age, and a young Swede named Henri Jorgenson, a hired help who had worked for them for some time.

On their return at about 7:30 in the evening, the horrified parents found the child stretched upon the bed with the back of his head battered in and a bullet hole through the cranium. The little victim had further been outraged. Jorgenson was missing as was also a 30-30 carbine and a 22-rifle, with which latter weapon the child had apparently been shot.

A wire received from Ashcroft Wednesday announces the capture of Jorgenson at Gladwin.—Kamloops Sentinel.

FITTING TRIBUTE TO BRAVE MEN

If one must die, and it is written that we must, it is hard to imagine a more glorious death than that of Captain Robert Scott and his illustrious comrades in the Antarctic. The names of Scott and Oates will go down to history as exemplifying fortitude and courage. They were men who looked death in the face, and did not murmur against their fate. There was no excitement of battle, in which men can forget themselves. Their death was slow and agonizing, yet Captain Scott's last message to the public made but little mention of their sufferings. Capt. Oates, who walked out into the storm that it might be easier for the others, performed an act of heroism and self-sacrifice which could not have been more noble.

It is at such a time that a man proves himself. The little band of explorers, exhausted and starving, could struggle on no farther. With death almost upon him Captain Scott wrote his message. The courage of the man shines out through thetragically pathetic appeal that those dependant upon himself and his comrades be cared for by the country for which he died, and the appeal has not gone unheeded. The world was shocked at the disaster, yet the account of their bravery will be a tradition that ranks with any in history. As true Britons they lived, and as Britons they died. They had achieved the South Pole, though the fruits of their victory was stolen ftom them by fate. Their bodies lie in a far-off land, but their memory will remain green.—Saturday Sunset.
