British Navy and Canadian Railway Expansion

The present conflict in Europe demonstrated beyond the possibility of doubt that the maintenance of Britain's superiority at sea, and the expansion of the wheat areas in Dominions, have been linked together on basic factors in the consideration of plans for Imperial offense and defense. The lawmakers in London, as a mat er of policy, have allowed nothing to interfere with the building up of an all-powerful navy, and they have steadfastly ignored the protests of those who have contended that Great Britain would be in an impossible position if a war should develope with a powerful maratime power. The admiralty were convinced that the sea power of Britain would keep all routes open for foodstuffs. The lands of the British Isles which might have been devoted to the growth of more wheat were left as before, and the investors of Britain by placing their funds in the bonds of railways in Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, where great stretches of fertile country remained to be opened up, encouraged the production of a steady supply of foodstuffs which might be called upon in case of emergency. The under-water craft of Germany have failed to throttle the shipping of Great Britain. Her ships come and go almost as they please. And the resources of wheat lands, in themselves many times the area of the British Isles are available for the need of the people of Britain.

In facilitating the expansion of the various railroad companies in the Dominion during the last thirty years, the successive governments, federal and provincial, have enabled Canada to take up the burden of a greater production in this year of the Empire's peril. Canada is measuring up to her advertised destiny as the "Granary of the Empire", or more emphatic still, "Bread Basket of The World". The prophecies of leaders of thought for three decades are on the verge of fulfilment. The large exportable surplus of the wheat fields in Canada will go to feed a fair proportion of the dependent millions of England, and probably, the war-harassed Belgians as well. The railway lines which have been constructed east and west north and south throughout the country have made her present position possible. Without these essential traffic arteries the Dominion would have been merely a helpless spectator while the greatest war in history rumbled thru to a conclusion. Canada's most important contribution to the cause of Empire is in wheat and flour and bread.

The bulk of the supplies of Canadain wheat for export are drawn each year from the wheat fields of the prairie provinces. The total supply may be computed by a study of the carryings of the railways. During the crop year 1913-14, the Canadian Northern alone handled from the territory served by its western lines, 47,205,000 bushels. Estimating the increase this year at 20 per bent. the C.N.R. should haul out approximately 56,750,000 bushels of wheat from the provinces lying between the Great Lakes and the Rocky Mountains. That quantity of wheat; converted into flour, and into standard loaves of bread, would feed Greater London, with its population of 7,292,963, for more than four years.

According to the millers, a barrel of flour, 196 pounds, is made from 4 1-2 bushels of wheat, and according to the bakers, 187 standard loaves of 24 ounces each, are made from one barrel of flour. The anticipated carryings on the Canadian Northern this season, then, represent 12,611,111 barrels and 2,358,277,757 loaves of bread. If this were divided in London each individual in the Imperial City would receive 325 loaves. If you divide the population of the capital into families of three, each family would be provided with 975 loaves Allowing a liberal supply of 4 loaves a week to each family would extend the foodstuffs over 244 weeks, or more than four and a half years.

There is no need to carry the illustration further. So long as Britain holds command of the seas, the available supply of foodstuffs from Canada alone should surfice to overcome the handicap her critics maintain she imposed upon herself by producing but a quarter of the wheat she annually consumes.

War Gleanings

There is no fresh news today concerning the report that the Germany navy had come out.

The French have brought two more German aeroplanes down.

Some astounding facts have been made public by the First Lord of the Admiralty. In brief the facts are:—The navy has transported over one million troops, feeding, supplying and convoying ships on seven seas. Not a life or a ship has been lost out of these hugh fleets.

London— "Bernstoff's memorandum," says the London Times, "strengthens the suspicion that the Papal interview was the result of a Teutonic intrigue. The conviction in England that the Allies must fight the war to a finish for the sake of peace is manifestly deepening across the Atlantic."

At Young Turks Committee meeting it was proposed and agreed that an attempt should be made by third neutral parties to obtain from the Allies their terms of peace. An attempt was made but Great Britain rejected the proposals put forward and nothing came of the efforts.—Athens

In the western arena the Allies have done little in the last two or three days beyond the consolidation of positions preparatory to another effort to oust the Germans from St Mihiel.

Increased activity has been noted at the Dardanelles and rumors persist of Germas warships cruising in the North Sea.

The British torpedo boat destroyer Renard entered the Dardanelles on a scouting expedition and ran up the straits at high speed for over ten miles, penetrating the waterway farther than any of the British ships up to date. A heavy fire was directed at her but she was not hit.

Death at Lillooet

True friendship terminated by Divine Wisdom.

The hand of death was last week laid on one of British Columbia's pioneer and one of Lillooet's best beloved residents in the person of Mr. Owen Williams

Mr. Williams who was of Welsh nationality, and 81 years of age, came to British Columbia in the early sixties, eventually arriving in the Lillooet district in the early eighties, where he spent a number of years mining along the Fraser river, until about twenty years ago, when he took up his residence with Mr. Jack Dunlop, on Lake creek, Seton lake.

The sterling qualities of Mr. Williams made for him numerous friends throughout the entire district, about one hundred of whom followed the body to its resting place.

The funeral took place on Monday morning, the serviec was conducted at the graveside by Archdeacon Pugh.

War Tax

The post office department, having given notice a week or two ago, in connection with the War Revenue Act, that all letters and postcards mailed in Canada for delivery in the United Kingdom and British possessions generally, or wherever the two cent rate applied, should in addition to ordinary postage carry a one cent stamp as a war tax, and also having notified the public that such war tax, while it should be paid preferably by the postage stamp marked "War Tax", could, if such stamp were not available, be paid by ordinary one cent postage stamps, is now issuing further notice to the effect that postage stamps may be used for the prepayment of war duties on bank checks, bills of exchange, promissory notes, express money orders, proprietary or patent medicines, perfumery, wines or champagne, as well as upon letters and postcards, potal notes and post office money orders, the intention being to provide facilities in those portions of the country where excise stamps are not readily available. This in view of the fact that postage stamps may be obtained at all points over the whole country, in many places where there is no Collector of Inland Revenue and no Inland Revenue stamps could be obtained, is a distinct convenience to the public, and no doubt will be largely taken advantage of.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Lillooet War Fund was held on Saturday night last at Dr. H. A. Christie's office.

Mr. Wm. Adams who has just returned from a visit so the East was welcomed back, resuming his position of chairman, Mr. W. J. Abercrombie having acted during his absence.

Mr. Paul Santini's kind offer to run films of scenes of the war through his cinematograph free of charge to aid the Canadian Patriotic Fund, when the films were available was much appreciated by the committee, and a performance will be organized in aid of the fund at an early date,

The war fund now stands at $72.00.

General News of Lillooet District

Born— Tuesday March 29th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rigg, at Vancouver, a son.—welcome little stranger, welcome.

Mr. D. Hurley is a visitor to Pavilion.

"Fred" Kinder, of Setonville estate, was the first local person to use the post office war stamp.

A two-story building is being erected just off Main street, at the corner of Catchum drive and Love lane.

Work on the government roads is progressing favorably and ere long the road to the depot will be completed.

Boss, No; we have all the men we need.

Laborer, Seems like you could take one more, the little bit of work I'd do.

Mrs. Deaver and son from the 15-mile ranch are visitors to town

P. Monckton, surveyor, is in town. For particulars see advt. on another page.

Do not forget that the stamp taxation is now in force.

Judging by the abundance of blossom on the fruit trees, there will be a bumper crop of fruit this year.

Do you think the Hon. Bray Lowder has any show for being elected to the legislature?

Not unless he changes his name.

Alcohol evaporates, to which respect it resembles the courage that is screwed up in it.

A number of Irish soldiers were burying German dead. Suddenly out of the trench came a voice, "I voss not dead!" The soldiers stopped shovelling and looked to the sergeant for instructions. "Go ahead," said the sergeant. "Yez can't believe a word those bloomin' Germans say."

Attention is called to the advertisement on page four concerning Military horses for the Canadian government. They are calling for heavier horses than of previous dates and are desirous of abtaining a good class of horse to represent Canada. No light greys or whites are required.

Now then, young man, said the angry farmer, didn't you see that board when you came tresspassing in these woods?

Yes sir, said the culprit meekly.

Well, what did it say?

I dunno. I was too polite to read any more when I saw the first word was "Private."

Messrs. Jim Cummings and Wm. Le Merchand returned on Sunday evening last from their fishing expedition. They had good sport and made a record catch, bringing in some fine specimens of fish. The largest fish being a rainbow trout weighing fourteen pounds and the second ten pounds. These fish were caught in Seton lake by trawling and as this is the largest trout that has been brought into town for some time, the anglers are justly proud of their catch.
