THE PROSPECTOR.

BY RIC A. FRASER.

Editor Lowery of the New Denver Ledge was in Toronto recently. Writing of the daily newspapers of that city he says: "Toronto has many newspapers, none of them printed on a hand press. They may Solid Stuff, but most of them are Dull Things. The serve up the news fairly well, but outside of that, with one or two exceptions, their make-up is a literary hash, unsprinkled with the salt of genius and untouched with the bright thoughts that mean so much to the dark spots in the soul of man. Their editorials as a rule assay 75 per cent lead. The Telegram is one of the few papers that works a chute of high-grade editorial matter, which indicates that the editor must have somewhere in the clouds of thought located a claim that does not readily pinch. The editor's name is John Robinson, widely known as Black Jack. Black Jack seems to be misnomer. He is not intensely dark in complexion, and does not even know what it means to 'bust' by drawing to 17. However, Jack is just the kind of a man to meet when you are away from home. He is not rip-rapped by the false notions of life. He grasps your hand as if you were a long-lost brother, and the snap in his shake indicates a heart that is not rough-locked by the slush of conventionality. Like all bright men, Jack has one sad fault. He is a Presbyterian."

Over in Boston they consider that Canada has its use after all. The Herald there says: About one-third of the Dominion of Canada is unexplored and practically unknown, which shows that she still has room to accommodate a goodly number of cashiers who may get to be too wealthy to live in the States

HUNTING EXPEDITION.

An expedition left Lillooet on Monday's boat for Bridge River district on a still hunt for grizzly bear which bids fair to eclipse anything of the kind in the history of Lillooet and advertise this section all over the province as a favorite resort for sportsmen in search of big game. If careful training and attention to every detail is conducive to success the parties should achieve distinction.

They remained here for a few days preparing and practising for the campaign. The program followed was both novel and varied. Arising at daybreak and partaking of a rare steak Dunc. and and Harry retired to the outskirts of the town and sprinted on a mile track for a couple hours. At the end of the course was a greased telegraph pole at shinning up they acquired a dexterity to make a monkey sick. They were so evenly matched at this manly exercise that it will take a hostile grizzly to demonstrate who has the most reserve speed. At present bets are four to one on Harry with no takers.

The afternoons were devoted to rifle practice. A neighboring hay stack was chosen for the target and Martley's wagon box was borrowed for the bulls-eye, on condition that all damage would be settled for. Martley had nothing coming.

The uncertainty of their fire led them to try and induce Skinner to accompany them, ostensibly to carry the ammunition, but as Skinner is only recovering from a broken leg, it is darkly hinted he was required for bait.

However on Monday morning after the third bottle they decided to go, and truly they presented an inspiring spectacle. Their armament was complete in every particular, while the knife Harry carried looked as if he held a controlling interest in the steel trust. Dunc.'s was almost similar the difference in length not being over two feet.

They went well supplied with grub for a prolonged campaign. The supplies consisted principally of cheese and Mountain Dew, the staying properties of cheese being highly recommended by their medical advisor for such a trying journey while the Squirrel brand might tide them over some trying moments.

Their return is anxiously looked for and everyone anticpates great results.

Thos. J. Cole returned home to his ranch on the Ashcroft road this week after a few days in town.

F. C. Tireman, trustee of the Toronto-Lillooet Gold Reefs company, of Vancouver, came in on Tuesday evening's stage and has been at the property for the past few days..

Wm. Miller received the contract for putting the Church of England in good condition. The building will have rustic put on the outside and the other repairs which have taken place will put the church property in splendid shape.

In another column is a notice of assignment of the Toronto-Lillooet Gold Reefs company, and Mr. F. C. Tireman is trustee. A meeting of the creditors will be held at the office of Wilson & Senkler at Vancouver on June 7th to endeavor to satisfy those to whom the company is indebted. The sheriff is in possession and the result of the judgements and assignment are causing comment as the trustee we learn, wishes to get possession, but the sheriff's agent wont give up possession, and the sheriff will have to call him off before he quits.

The State of Colorado has in force a mining statute of her own which is in line with common sense as regards the location of mining claims. It provides that before filing a location for a claim the discoverer shall locate his claim by sinking a shaft on the lode to the depth of at least ten feet from the lowest part of the rim of such shaft on the surface, and the shaft so dug must expose the vein on which on which the location is based, and it is not sufficient that a discovery is made of some other vein within the limits of the claim. The Supreme Court of Colo ado has just sustained this law by holding that a discovery made subsequent to the location could not relate back to the date of that location so as to cut out intervening rights.

The sessional indemnity of the members of the House of Commons and of the Senate, is to be increased from $1,000 a session to $1,500. This means an increased expenditure annually of $147,000.

Additional Supplementaries brought down Saturday shows $20,000 for an Assay Office in British Columbia or the Yukon, and $90,000 to purchase the Plains of Abraham.

Macdonell Acquitted.

The case against D. G. Macdonell, the Vancouver lawyer, charged with misappropriation of funds, which has been going on in Victoria, was dismissed there this week by the magistrate. The suit was one of alleged blackmail, arising out of one the bridge disaster suits, and when Mr. Macdonell was given an opportunity to speak after the case had been decided and he had no hesitation in charging S. P. Mills, the Victoria lawyer, at whose instance Mr. Macdonnell was taken before the court, with being a blackmailer. The language used was of the plainest and the reply was not confined to two or three words. Mr. Mills listened without making any interruption, and at the conclusion of the indictment vouchsafed no reply.

The trouble arose in the first place from Mr. Macdonell refusing to hold a brief with Mr. Mills on the trial in the Lang case, which was one of the suits in connection with the Point Ellice disaster at Victoria, and in refusing to settle with Mr. Mills in reference to the costs of the case. He first threatened Mr. Macdonell on champerty grounds, and failing in this brought the misappropriation action against him. In this he was charged with not paying some $240 for which a receipt had been given, but the evidence, but the evidence went to show that Mr. Macdonell paid $266 and some $316 in addition. The judge dismissed the case instantly upon the facts being laid before him, and voluntarily gave Mr. Macdonnel privilege to speak.

It is reported that proceedings are now being taken through the law society in Victoria to disrobe Mills for conduct unbecoming a member of that organization.

Psychology of Profanity.

G. W. T. Patrick has made a study of the psychology of profanity, in which he asks and endeavors to answer two questions: First, why do men swear, and second, Why do they use the words they do? Profanity is defined as "the ejaculatory or exclamatory use of a word or phrase, usually the name of the Diety or connected in some way with religion or other sacred things having no logical connection with the subject in hand and indicative of strong feelings, such as anger or disapproval." As regards the subjective effects of profanity the most striking is that of a pleasant feeling of relief from a painful stress.

Some words seem made for special circumstances. "Even men who do not swear can by a sort of inherited instinct appreciate the teleogical relation existing between the behavior of a refractory collar button during the hurried moments of dressing for some evening function and the half smothered ejaculation of the monosyllable 'damn.' The word seems to have been made for the occasion." In a general way it may be said that the author regards profanity as a reversion to a type of expression comparatively low down in the scale of development of language. The human oath is the analogue of the roar or growl of the lower animals.—Psychological Review.

Inspection of Mines Act.

By this measure a uniform code of signals for use in the mines of British Columbia is authorized, and in future many of the accidents due to the variance of signals in different parts will probably be avoided. By the bill also all accidents must be reported to the minister of mines and the inspector, and monthly returns must be made to the minister of all mines engaged in shipping or treating ores. These returns must include the quantity of ore mined or treated and the assay value thereof. Another important change is to the effect that engineers in charge of hoisting plants will not be allowed to work more than eight hours a day, thus minimizing the danger through these men being kept long hours at their posts.

Not a Centipede.

Pat Healy [carving fowl at a wedding]—"What will you have Mrs. Dooley?"

Mrs. Dooley—"Oh, a leg will do me, Mr. Healey."

Pat—"And what will you have, Mrs. Murphy?"

Mrs. Murphy—"I'll have a leg, Mr. Healy."

Pat—"And you, Mrs. Mulligan?"

Mrs. M.—"I'll have a leg, too."

Pat—"And now, ladies, you'll be after remembering it's a hen I'm carving, not a centipede."

The British Columbia Express Company commenced its semi-weekly stage service between Ashcroft and Barkerville on the 15th inst. connecting with steamer Charlotte at Soda Creek. This change to the summer time table will be appreciated by the traveling public.

Mamma—"Why, Susie, you've offered your butterscotch to everybody but little brother. Why didn't you hand it to him?" Susie [with innocent candor]—"Because, mamma, little brother always takes it."

Mr. C. D. Wray has recently received his diploma from the International Correspondence School of Scranton, Penn., having finished his course in metal mining and passed the final examination.

GENERAL NEWS.

Under the iron grip of Lord Kitchner the Boer's strength is diminishing.

Fissure veins can occur in all rock formations; they are found in limestone.

Canada has recently been making great efforts to encourage American emigration. Last year 12,000 Americans crossed the border to settle in Canada.

Admiral Bickford has written the mayor that owing to their being in mourning the naval and military cannot ake part in the review on Victoria Day, at the Capital, but will gladly take part in the regatta.

Max O'Rell says he heard the other day a very good piece of advice which he endorces thoroughly: A man should marry a woman half his age, plus seven. Try it at whatever age you like, and you will find it works very well.

The dominion government has decided to give a bonus of $5 per ton on Canadian refined lead to an amount not exceeding $100,000 in one year. It will decrease annually in amount the same as the iron bounties until it disappears.

The population of the outer ring of the suburbs of London is 2,042,750, as against 1,405,489 in 1891; 950,957 1881, and 631,831 in 1871. The total population of Greater London, including the outer ring of suburbs, is now 6,578,784.

It is estimated that the Sudbury nickel deposits contain enough of that metal to supply the consumption of the next centure at the present rate of use. At the present time they supply 40 per cent of the total requirement.

Mr. Murphy, M P., [not the worthy member of the Local House] is entitled to sympathy. While addressing a meeting at Armagh recently, one of his audience fired a gun and shot him in the arm. It was an irrelevant interruption; and the hon. member felt much hurt about it.

King Edward, who was born on Nov. 9th, 1841, has decided that his birthday shall be cebebrated on May 24th of each year, thus continuing the holiday hitherto observed by all the public departments as Queen Victoria's birthday, and giving an impetus to the colonial movements to observe the day as Empire Day.

It has been said by an eminent author that the trouble with most wives is that they are not caught young enough. The sage, Dr. Johnson, in effect said that "much can be made of Scotchman if caught young," and he asserts that is equally true of women. Women who marry very young and are taught properly will in time actually feel a contempt for other wives who may object to their manly husbands smoking in bed.

A serious battle recently took place within a few hundrtd yards of the government buildings in Queenstown, South Africa. An English bridegroom hoisted the Union Jack on his house, being sufficently absent-minded to forget that he had married a Dutch girl. The bride, as soon as she discovered what had been done, pulled down the Union Jack and hoisted the Vierkleur. This was too much for the groom, who promptly tore down the offending bunting, whereupon the weeping bride went home to her ma, and left her loving husband disconsolate. After a time, however, she thought better of it, and returned to the arms of her spouse. Since then all flags are forbidden.

An English paper says that soon after Lord Galloway entered the British House of Lords he presumed so far upon his relationship to the Marquis of Sailsbury as to write Disreali to ask for the office of Master of the Buckhounds, and he was favored with a reply, which read somewhat as follows: "I am sorry that I cannot recommend you for the office of Master of the Buckhounds, as Her Majesty dislikes to having anybody connected with the Royal household who uses bad language, but I will recommend you for the Lord High Commissionership to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland." And sure enough, Lord Galloway held the Lord High Commissiohership to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, both in 1876 and 1877.

The Albany Strike Ended.

Albany, N.Y., May 18.—The grea strike is over. A thousand men in five cities who have been idle for seven days, returned to work at noon. Forty seven miles of track that has rusted for a like period, except where a guarded car swept over it, began to be polished by the schedule running cars. The strike has been on seven days, and the total cost is as follows; Loss of life of 2 prominent citizens; cost to company, $17,424.03; cost to strikers, $17,820; cost to county, $33,700 total cost, $18,043.03
