THE PROSPECTOR

VOL. 3, NO. 49 LILLOOET, B. C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1914. $2 PER YEAR

Annual Report of Lillooet Mining Division

(Report of Minister of Mines)

Argyle Fraction — This claim owned by Mark Eagleson, is located easterly from and adjoining the Lorne group. During my visit the annual assessment-work was being done on this claim, and an effort was being made to remove by ground - sluicing the heavy overburden and cross channel the ground with a deep trench This work exposed the contact between the argillities and diorite about 1.500 feet from the workings on the King lode of the Lorne property. As there is but little natural exposure of "rock in place" on the claim, long crosscut trenches are absolutely necessary to prospect the ground.

Alhambra

This claim is situated east of and adjoining the Woodchuck claim. It was acquired by a New York syndicate in 1901, when development work was carried on for some months, several thousands of dollars expended, and the claim Crown granted. Since then I am informed the head of the syndicate has died and the property has remained idle.

The ore outcrops in a bold precipitous bluff, and the main working consists of an adit drift, about 250 feet in length, with its portal about 100 feet lower than the outcrop. This height of backs increased as work progressed along the adit and at the face, because the bluff or ridge under which it is driven increases in elevation quite rapidly in the north easterly direction in which the adit was driven. The quartz vein followed by the drift is a very strong one, from 12 inches to five feet in width, with well-defined walls and several inches of gouge between the ore and each wall; the strike is true N. 75° E. and dip vertical. At the face the vein has pinched to 6 inches in width. A sample across 6 inches of ore in the face of the adit assays: gold, $4; silver, trace, to the ton.

Several other openings of minor importance have been made on this claim, evidently during a search for other veins, and while ore is exposed in some of these. the work has not been carried far enough to demonstrate any material facts.

Woodchuck

On nearly the same level as the top of the ore-bins, or about 100 feet lower than the adit just mentioned, work has been started on the main adit referred to earlier in this report. This has been driven in diorite country-rock 230 feet, but not yet progressed far enough to expose any of the veins, although, apparently, such should be done within a

British Gunners and Troops Heroic All Along The Line

With regard to the atrocities at the front, the following speaks for itself:—

Guelph, Ont. Sept 30—James Petit of York road Guelph, received a letter today from an aunt in Stratford Terrace, England. One paragraph of the letter states "We have in our house to care for a little Belgian girl aged 8 who had both hands chopped off by German soldiers. Her brother a little younger, was mutilated so as he would never be able to use a rifle."

Germans Shoot Prisoners and Wounded Will They.

A reuter despatch from Paris says— Thirty gunners of the British field artillery have fallen killed or wounded. Knowing they were going to almost certain death, they called out, Good-bye fellows to their comrades in the reserve line. Two minutes later every man was out of action.

Thirty more went to the front with the same farewell greeting. The German shells were falling thickly behind the battery and killed or wounded every man serving the guns. Eventually the persistence and accuracy of the British fire proved effective, and the British infantry took the position at the point of the bayonet

According to a wounded German officer, the British cavalry are devils, they charge standing up in shortened stirrups and that the swing of their sabres beheaded their enemies. They handled their horses like ponies on a polo field.

The Germans are allowing the people to feed and assist the French, but not the British—what more honor could we wish.

The Zouaves are covering themselves with glory. In brief the report is as follows— The French under tremendous pressure were compelled to recede and left 8 3-inch guns to the enemy. The Zouaves begged to be allowed to retake the position. The charge was sounded, the men charged, and although a large number fell it seemed as if there were only a few flashes before the enemy broke and the guns were taken and turned on the fleeing enemy.

King George on a visit to the London Hospital, asked again why such terrible slaughter among the British officers. The replies show that the are too keen upon leadership and look-out to be bothered with their own safety

Fierce fighting is in progress near Antwerp, the Germans are reported to have reinforced seigers with naval men, so that in should they be successful in their attempt to take Antwerp, they will be able to use them from that quarter to attack the British fleet in the North sea.

The Italians are reported to have lost two vessel from mines.

Everything points to the certainty that the above social will be a most enjoyable entertainment.
The committee in charge have done all they could to ensure that everything that would add to the pleasure of the visitors would be found at the Lillooet Opera House To-night

War Fund and Candies

On the principle that every little helps, and many a mickle makes a muckle, Mrs. H. A. Christie's candy store proved a great success last Saturday.

The Doctor gave his office for a store which was very nicely decorated and Mrs. Christie dispensed the good things, which were of such a ravishing and toothsome nature, that the dimes out of the small boys pockets flew over the counter. A clean sweep was made of everything, nothing left, you might have thought the Germans had been there.

The financial result was most satisfactory, an outlay of five dollars and fifty cents brought in some eighteen dollars, which sum was handed over to the treasurer for the War Fund.

A very excellent example for other ladies to copy.

Forest Fires

Wednesday September 30 was the last day of Fire season, and ranchers and settlers may now burn their slashings and debris without first having to obtain a permit from the local fire warden

The season has been one of especial danger, owing to the prolonged drouth and extreme heat of the past summer months which with the occasional strong winds created a very critical fire hazard.

The Lillooet district has, however mantained an excellent record, and although 52 fires were reported by Forest officials no great damage was done. The cost of fighting forest fires other than that of the regular Forest Guards was very light and out of the 52 fires only 7 required extra assistance to control, costing $123.25, of the remaining 45, 7 were on the Right-of-way of the P.G.E. Railway, and the balance 38 were controlled and extinguished by the Forest Guards themselves. The following resume shews the causes and total area burned over with the estimated damage to private property

Campers	24 ;	Right-of-way	5 ;
Cigarettes	2 ;	Carlessness	2 ;
Settlers	2;	Unknown	14;
Smudge	1;	Engine	2:

Area burned over 1500 acres
Eestimate dam. pr'te prop. $1350

The Forest Protection Force which is under the direct supervision of the District office at Lillooet consisted of 3 forest rangers 11 forest guards and 9 railway patrolmen, who were called on to protect an approximate area of some 14,000,000 acres and supervise the slashing and burning of 125 miles of railway construction.

Don't forget the Grand Social and Dance to-night, in the Opera House.

General News of Lillooet District

The total of the war fund to date is $491.58.

See Johnston and Miller Sale notice on page four.

C. W. Wray arrived in town last evening, from his ranche.

Mr. J. M. Mackinnon, Broker of Vancouver. who has been on a visit to the Fountain ranch for past few days, returned home on Wednesday.

Our sample book of private Christmas greeting cards have just arrived. The supply of fancy cards will be short this year, order yours early.

Mr. Tom Moore, representing the House of Hobberlin, Tailors of Toronto, was in town this week, he appointed Mr. Dan Hurley local agent for the above firm.

Miss Phebe Means died in the hospital this week from typhoid. The body was reverently interred on Monday morning. Mr. Goldstraw, camp missionary, read the service.

About twenty of the local residents, paid a visit to Mr, and Mrs. Hemis, managers of Dr. Jones estate, about 7 miles down the river, last Sunday. A general good day was spent by all.

On Friday the 25th last the Pacific Great Eastern Railway office staff gave an informal evening to their fair friends at their country seat. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Poland acting as chaperons. Mrs. J. S. Bell poured tea assisted by Miss N. Stewart; Miss N. Shelp cut the ices. Music and games were indulged in and midnight broke up a very pleasant evening.

A novel feature of the evening was a game of colors, pink prevailed.

Narrow Escape

Walter Bailey, freighter, while endeavoring, Wednesday, to turn round with a four-horse team and empty freight waggon, had a very narrow escape. Walter was backing the waggon so as to enable him to make the turn in the lane between the English church and the school house when one of the unexplainable happenings occurred. The break which worked a few seconds previously, refused to act, the four horsed refused to hold the empty waggon, which resulten in the whole outfit being precipitated down the twenty foot bank, the waggon, luckily for Walter, lent against the side of the barn in the ravine, Walter fell between the barn and the waggon and received only a slight injury to his arm. With the exception of the cutting of the harness and a broken reach, very little damage was done.

It would be a good thing, if we should get any hard labour prisoners, to put them at work to fill in this ravine, instead of sending them to Kamloops, and incidentally save traveling expenses.

Increasing Live Stock

The outbreak of the war in Europe and the consequent demand which is naturally to be expected for increased exports of meats, finds Canada in a very much denuded condition as regards live stock.

As a result of the removal of the American tariff on cattle a heavy export trade developed to the south. In some districts in eastern Canada, nearly everything has been shipped out of the country, except dairy cows. This export trade, together with many farmers selling their calves for veal, can have but one result in Canada, viz: a greater scarcity of meat than at present exists, even in a normal market.

The meat industry in Canada should not be allowed to dwindle—rather, the production of hogs, sheep and cattle on Canadian farms should be greatly increased. To obtain this increase does not mean that farmers should devote their whole attention to live stock. The majority of farmers will admit that with very little extra effort and expense they could increase by several head the live stock on their farms without in any way interfering with their present system of farming.

From reports to the Commission of Conservation, the present conditions indicate a world-wide scarcity of live stock, with little likelihood of an overcrowded market for many years to come. The opportunity for Canadian farmers is therefor apparent. To take advantage of this, farmers should save their heifer calves to produce more cattle, while the others may be turned off, not as veal but as beef.

Expert stockmen advise that there are good times ahead for those raising sheep The high price of mutton and of wool and the comparative ease with which a flock of sheep may be sustained upon land which is otherwise unsuitable for agriculture, suggests a great increase in the number of sheep raised by Canadian farmers.

Increased production in hogs can be brought about more quickly than in any other class of live stock, and consequently should receive immediate attention.

Animal production on the farm is desirable because it increases the fertility and crop-raising ability of the soil. Good prices are sure to be obtained for any surplus which farmers will have to sell on account of the inevitable shortage of supplies resulting from war conditions in Europe. These two conditions should be an incentive to Canadian farmers to increase their live stock production. A little foresight now, with modern method of feeding, will make increased production easily possible.—Commission of Conservation.

Mining Report

comparatively short distance.

The mill was not being operated during may visit; in fact, all work on the property had been suspended for months. I presumed the reason for this being that there had been no plant installed for collecting the cencentrates, or even saving them or the tailings for future treatment, and the loss thereby would undoubtedly have been great. Direct cyanidation of this ore might prove the most profitable method for treatment.

On the Woodchuck ground, in addition to the main adit referred to, there is an open-cut about 50 feet in length, 10 feet in width, and 20 feet in depth, from which the ore was mined and treated in the 5-stamp mill, yielding, it is reported, $1,500. In addition to this work and the work described by the Provincial Mineralogist in his report for 1910, a cross-cut adit has been driven to prospect the ground, at an elevation of 3,625 feet, and with its portal about 400 feet easterly from the stamp-mill. This adit is about 200 feet in length, the first 90 feet close-timbered, the balance driven through diorite, except where four narrow quartz veins have been cut, and at the face an ore-body 10 inches wide is exposed, with its strike at right angles to the course of the adit and dip nearly vertical. The course of this adit from the portal for 100 feet is true N. 50° E., at which point it has been diverted to a more northerly course
