CORRECTION

Clinton, Feb. 14, '05.

Dear Editor :—

In looking over your paper, I see a sad mistake in giving Miss Ulrich the honor of being the Belle of the Ball.

I hope to see it altered in your next issue. As married ladies are barred, we have decided to give the honor to Miss S. McMillan.

Yours truly,
Subscriber.

CURRENT COMMENT

Dr. Dowie is planning to buy a million acres in Mexico for a Zionist colony. Good luck to it!

Skilled workmen in Russia get all the way from 40 to 50 cents a day of 13 hours, and half of that goes for vodka. If not contented, they are no longer considered skilled—but killed.

Consumption can be cured in half the cases, and half cured in the other half by fresh air. By seeming hardship, in fact. Now if the doctors could only see it, they could save the other half, by a little seeming hardship in feeding, —lo— The Great White plague would be stayed. No, it must be four meals a day, with milk in between, enough to kill a well man. I'll explain it to you some day and then you will not see it too.

The following appears in the postal report for 1904:

For carrying the mails from Squamish to Pemberton Meadows, H. Westberg got $62.50 for 2 1-2 months from April 15.

The distance is 65 miles, and he made a monthly trip in winter, and a fortnightly journey in summer.

Joe Wendle, of Barkerville, made a big strike of coarse gold on Grouse Creek,— some nuggets worth as high as $74. It is thought to be on the old Heron lead, which was fabulously rich.

QUERY

Mr. Laidley,—Sir,

I would ask in reference to Sunday evening sermon:

Do you want us to give to the Methodist church alone.

How do you know what people are giving.

Did you mean me.

CLINTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

At this season of the year, it is a little difficult for any correspondent to make notes interesting to your readers; and until the Cariboo travel begins, we can not expect to deal with matters outside our local Burgh. In reviewing the past week, of course the weather must be adverted to. Some days were delightful, notwithstanding the coldness. Fancy last Saturday—30 degrees below zero!

The young people anticipated Saint Valentine, and considerable amusement was occasioned. Tradition says that the birds begin to couple on the 14th, hence the custom of young people of both sexes deciding their 'valentine' for the year. One can understand a highly ornamental and artistic production, and appreciate the unknown sender but a hideous caricature, with vulgar verse, portrays the sordid and diseased mind of the anonymous sender.

Fortunately our community is free from this unclean species.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowie were in town a few days before going to Alkali Lake.

Mrs. Nesbitt is staying at the Clinton Hotel, while Mr. Nesbitt is at Ashcroft.

The Ball on the 17th of next month promises to be another enjoyable affair, if one can judge from the influential committee, which, with the exception of one gentleman—Mr. McGillivray, is composed of ladies; and every effort will be put forth to make the dance a success. Everyone will be made welcome.

The music will, as usual, be of the best. Tickets cost two dollars.

J. Smith returned home from Kamloops, where he visited some friends.

Mr. Saul paid us a call, also G. Carson of Pavilion.

Mr. McGillivray made a flying trip to Ashcroft.

Mrs. Soues returned from Crows Bar, where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Derby.

C. McDougall and his sister, Miss Katie, have gone to see Savonas friends.

Mrs. Bell has been on the sick list.

Mrs. Pollard was a visitor to town.

A medical man in Nova Scotia is in a fair way to make a good thing out of a recent hotel investment. He bought a vacant hotel building and shipped it to Sydney, where he is now having it erected. This building cost $3,000. The doctor bought it for $40 and is making improvements and enlarging it to such an extent that it will be worth, when complete in Sydney, about $6,000.

A Hopeful View.

We could expel the Acadians again, the abstract Acadians, but we would take abundant care that an exception was made in the case of Evangeline and Gabriel. For of that crowd of sensitive, pulsating life hurried to the ships these two stand out as the only human beings. The expulsion of the Acadians has been justified by Mr. Parkman, and many a tender and troubled conscience will bless him for the soothing peace he has brought. The expulsion was all right. It was just the thing. But that refers only to Acadians in the abstract. So long as our language is spoken Evangeline and Gabriel will be like the ghost of Banquo at the feast.

Problem of Immunity.

Prof. J. J. McKenzie of the University of Toronto lectured at the Canadian Institute on Saturday night on "Recent theories in regard to the causes of immunity to infectious disease." He sketched the history of our knowledge of immunity and said Ehrlich's observations have shown that the conditions which determine the death of a microbe introduced into the blood depend upon the presence of two substances, the first of which is specific and acts only upon the specific microbe, the other of which is common to the blood of most animals. The practical endeavor of bacteriologists has been not only to increase the amount of specific substances which has proved fairly easy but also to increase the amount of the non-specific substance which so far has proved difficult. These observations have shown also that the question of immunity is of much broader bearing than the mere question of prevention or cure of infectious disease, because it is evident from the results so far obtained that it has a bearing upon the whole question of the nutrition of the animal body.

Lillooet Reminiscences

[Kindly Contributed.]

By S. GIBBS.

One evening when Uncle was in my room, the conversation turned of course to gambling, and I was curious to get pointers as to what were the ethics of the game of Poker. It had always been a puzzle to me to find out how a winner can legitimately leave the game without causing heartburn among the losers. I always thought this must be a very embarrassing moment.

Uncle listened to me and after lighting a cigar, smilingly said; some day when I have amassed the pile I am after, I intend employing a typewriter, and starting a volume on cold feet at poker, as that is the name of the complaint to which you refer; how and when to get the symptoms and a map of the country showing in colored parts where it is not healthy for a man who is a winner, suddenly to acquire a frost in his pedals in a game of draw.

Now sir, if you wish, out with your note book, and take down a few items and pointers. We are all subject to attacks of chilliness in our boots, when away to the good in a game of draw, but it is only an artiste who can get away with the proposition with a nice touch. Some players' methods are very coarse. They are not convincing enough to make it stick, and sometimes they have real difficulty or considerable embarrassment in getting out into the open with the bullion on them.

But after all, it's the bullion we are all after, and that's why I think a little brochure on technique may be useful and instructive.

The experience that I am about to relate actually happened to me and shows how difficult it is to judge people, and how the best of us may be misunderstood

I sat in a four hundred game in a hotel room one night in Great Falls, Montana some years ago. I knew some of the players, but one was a stranger to us all. He had been introduced to me at the bar and I told him we were making up a little game of draw, which he asked to join. He was an innocent young fellow, manager of a wholesale house, but soon proved to be an admirably good player, and had us all on the run from the first jump.

He went right out in the lead, and won steadily. We started about midnight, and before we knew it, the light of dawn began to sneak in at the windows, and the young innocent had stuck us for about three figures each.

When he saw daylight he hinted that he must be off, but we protested, and he played on, winning steadily. At nine, he said he would cash in! which did not suit us at all. All three set up the cold feet wail, and said he was no true sport.

The young man gazed at us helplessly, and then broke out, "Hang it all, you fellows, I'm going to be married at 11.

I've got to go home and jump into my clothes. I don't want you to think hard of me; I won it fairly but will only cash in the hundred I started on. My business I'm embarking on this morning is more important than any poker game winnings. I was not trying to butt the hinges off an unwritten rule, but—

"A hundred nothing" I said, "You take the whole 1500 to keep house on"

George Forbes has the mumps, large size – No. 13. Mrs. Phair is a good nurse.

There are five-acre lots for sale yet, on the flat behind the town. The Govt owns them and will sell cheap.

Paul Santini last year had 2 hives of bees which made 40 lb of honey, and what do you think it sold for? Four bits a pound or ten dollars a hive.

Talking of bees;—a tenderfoot girl visiting in a country home exclaimed when she saw honey on the table,

Oh, you keep a bee, do you?

John Marshall of Cayoosh will soon get the sun now. Shines some every day from March 21 to 21 September, known in Ont. as the equinoxes.

Mr. Brandon and E. Santini were running a free bus Friday afternoon, after the exercises of the Athenian Society. Every body on the street had to take a ride in the hay 'before the snow lasted'.

Fir Seeds wanted,

For export, seeds of Douglas Fir and cedar I will pay for clean seed $1.50 for fir and $2 for cedar per pound.

The seed can be secured by gathering the cones from the trees, and spreading them on a tight floor, or on sheets; or on paper in a dry room. In a few days the cones will open and the seeds drop out by stirring them occasionally.

Then clean the seed by using a sieve, or by pouring from one dish into another, in a light breeze, to separate light seed and dirt.

Advise as soon as possible, the quantity you have, and I will send directions about shipping. See my advertisement in this paper

RAILROAD SKETCH

with its continuous coil (not crimped) is the best stock-holding fence made. Page No. 7 wire stand a 3,000 pounds strain—common No. 7 wire only 1,700 pounds. Common wire will not coil—it straightens out again—it hasn't a spring temper—Page wire has.
The Page Wire Fence Co., Limited, Walkerville, Ont. Montreal, P.Q., and St. John, N.B. 11

In summer the continuous coil takes up the slack.
In the winter season pays it back.

All fences slacken in warm weather and tighten in cold—except the Page Fence. Page spring coil takes up the slack in summer and lets it out in winter. No loose sagging in summer, no straining or breaking in winter. Common crimped wire is not spring tempered and if it slackens it stays slackened; if it tightens it loosens again worse than ever. Page wire is tempered to regulate its own tension summer and winter. 60,000 miles of Page wire fence in use now.
