VOL. 7, NO. 9 . LILLOOET, B. C., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1916. $2 PER YEAR

LIBRARY JAN 3 - 1917 VICTORIA B.C.

Here And There — Mostly There

Dave Craig is on a visit to the coast.

The best way to enjoy Xmas or New Year is to lighten the heart of somebody else.

Mr. J. Dunlop, govt. agent, has returned from his trip to Clinton.

Mr. Paul Santini, store keeper, has returned from his combined business and pleasure trip to the coast.

Miss E. Moscrop, Lillooet School Teacher, left on Saturday's train for Vancouver to spend the Xmas vacation.

"Tony" Medorie, of Lytton, was in town last week, he stayed for the dance and returned home in the wee small hours.

We are informed that up to the present sixteen local boys have enlisted with the Foresters Battalion, but up to going to press we have been unable to obtain a complete list.

The movement gathers way in Great Britain to make one of the Allies' conditions of peace the handing of German merchant ships, ton for ton, to replace Allied vessels illegally torpedoed. It would not do for the government to announce the conditions until it can enforce it, but the prospect should be made known in Germany.

Trains leave Squamish on Monday and Thursdays, arriving at Lillooet 8 p.m.. Trains northbound will leave Lillooet Tuesdays and Fridays at 8 a.m., arriving at Clinton 11.15 a.m. Southbound trains leave Clinton Tuesdays and Fridays 2.30 p.m., arriving at Lillooet 6 p.m. Train leaves Lillooet southbound on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 7.15 a.m., arriving at Squamish dock 3.30 p.m., Vancouver at 7.30 p.m.

WHAT ALL THE PEOPLE SAY.

That Lillooet has the best climate in the whole of British Columbia.

That Bridge River promises to develope into one of the best gold camps in the West.

That the railroad will make base ore propositions a paying investment.

That we have unlimited water power and timber for all practical purposes.

That the agricultural and horticultural possibilities are the best in the province.

That big game hunting is equal to any on the continent of America.

That you had better come to Lillooet and see for yourself.

The Anderson Lake Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.
Head Office, Lillooet B.C.

The Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Anderson Lake Mining and Milling Company Limited will be held in the head office of the Company at Lillooet on Thursday afternoon the 11th day of January 1917 at the hour of 2 o'clock p.m.

School Childrens' Christmas Concert Grand Success

"Breaking up of School for the Christmas Holidays," the long looked forward to event, took place in Lillooet on December 22.

The joyous occasion will rank in the minds of the residents of Lillooet as the date upon which the School Children presented to them one of the most entertaining programmes they have ever staged.

The entertainment was opened by Mr. J. S. Bell by a few chosen remarks explaining the objects of the occasion.

A good programme was presented by the children and it was a fine sight to watch them recite and sing in their amateur ways. It is one of the keenest pleasures on earth to watch the genuine delight as expressed in the faces of the boys and girls on such occasions as these.

It would be difficult to pick out the "star" of the evening from among the children, all of whom performed their parts very well indeed, not a hitch occuring throughout the entire performancce.

Two patriotic songs sung by Mrs. J. A. Asselstine, (piano accompaniment by Miss Goode), was highly appreciated, as was the solos by Ellen Bridge, with Mr. Bridge at the piano.

Considerable credit is due to Miss E. Moscrop (school mistress), to the mothers of the children, to Mr. W. T. Bridge (pianist), and to all others who helped to make the evening the success it was, not forgeting those who served the "goodies."

Refreshments were served about 11.30 o'clock, and, it being the "kiddies night," they were supplied with good things first, the elders getting theirs later.

The childrens' performance evidently awakened the audience considerably, for the dance which followed, was the best held here for some time.

The dance brought to a close the best evening's entertainment that has been staged here for a considerable time, everyone enjoying themselves.

MID-WINTER NEAR THE EQUATOR

(1) Cocoanut trees by the sea side, Honolulu. (2) S.S. "Niagara." (3) Episcopal Cathedral, Honolulu. (4) Hawaiian flower sellers —a familiar street scene. (5) Surf ride.

THE eleventh annual Mid-Pacific Carnival of the Hawaiian Islands will be held in Honolulu, February 21-25, 191 , and preparations for entertaining a large army of tourists are under way by the commercial organizations, as well as by special committees, in which the war department is taking an active part. The carnival will extend throughout a week, the key note being the celebration of Washington's birthday on February 23, on which day there will be a parade of nearly 10,000 United States soldiers with six military bands in line, added to which will be the famous Royal Hawaiian Band, and possibly the band of the Royal Rosarians of Portland, Oregon.

One of the features of the Carnival will be a massed band concert, in which all the bands will be merged into one, and selections directed by each of the leaders in turn. In this massed band concert there will be about 300 musicians. Ancient Hawaiian history will be revealed in elaborate pageants undertaken by Hawaiians, while the Janenese, Koreans and Filipinos will also present bizarre spectacles based on life in their own lands. February is one of the most popular tourist months of the year, although the Islanders claim that every month is the month of May. One of its important steamship services is supplied by Canada from the Vancouver port. The S.S. "Niagara" leaves for the Carnival on January 19th. Honolulu has splendid hotels, while motor cars are almost as numerous as in the large cities of the mainland.

Engineers Wanted

The 6th Field Co. Canadian Engineers whose headquarters are at North Vancouver, are offering a splendid opportunity to the handy man.

Any man of ordinary intelligence. able to use his hands, drive a horse or motor motor wagon, or a man used to tools of any kind, can find a good opening with the Engineers. The extraordinary number and variety of jobs the engineers are called upon to handle in the daily routine of warfare, bring openings which all classes of helpers can contribute to fill.

Army Service Corps Want Recruits

An Opportunity for Which Many Eligibles Have Long Been Waiting

In reviewing the recruiting returns of the different provinces of the Dominion, one is profoundly impressed by the splendid response made by the manhood of British Columbia in the time of the Empire's need.

This record is indeed one to be proud of, but there are still a very large number of eligible men in the Provinee who for various reasons have been prevented from doing their duty, and it is to these that the Officer Commanding No. 19 Company with Headquarthrs at 1117 Seaton Street, Vancouver, B.C. issues this appeal.

Canadian Army Service Corps

Instructions have just been received from Headquarters to enlist men of the following trades and occupations for overseas service with the above corps.

Horse Transport Drivers
Supply Clerks
Mechanical Transport Drivers

Bakers	Butchers	Farriers
Wheelers	Blacksmiths	Saddlers
Electricians	Fitters & Turners

The advantage of a man being able to work at the occupation he works at in civil life will be apparent.

The men as recruited will be given a little preliminary training here and sent forward in drafts.

Any further information in this connection will be gladly furnished on application to the above address (1117 Seaton Street, Vancouver).

THE TEACHER'S WORK

There is no nobler, no more important work than that of the teacher in our public schools. And there is no work that calls for more judicious care in the choosing of those who are entrusted with it. A course at the Normal School and the passing of certain examinations are not enough to determine whether a person is suitable for the work of teaching or not. The teacher must have native gifts of patience, sympathetic insight, and enthuiasm in teaching. The teacher who takes up teaching just for a living is apt to make a failure of it as far as the pupils are concerned. If the work be adopted as a mere stepping-stone to matrimony or to some future occupation, the teacher's mind is not likely to be fixed on the improvement of the scholars with that whole-souled determination which is desirable.

Under the influence of a broad - minded teacher the scholar will absorb lessons which will later be an enormous influence for good. A recognition of this fact, and of the great dependence placed upon the teacher should help in the upbuilding of our youth. Apart from the influence of the teacher in the more important departments, something might be said about the desirableness of inculcating a proper regard to the smaller social duties. It is not altogether unnecessary for the teacher to say something about good manners. In this respect some of our teachers might take a lesson from Japan. Those who have travelled through that Kingdom have frequently been struck with the polite manners of the people, and on enquiry, have found that good manners are taught not only by the parents of the children but by the teachers in the schools. Then again there is the call for tidiness, and even for keeping the streets or roads free from litter. Waste paper, chewing gum and candy wrappers are thrown on the street or on sidewalks, in such a way as to spoil the look of a place, In some countries anything of the sort is absolutely forbidden, and the towns are models of cleanliness.

Canadian Industry, Commerce and Finance

Canadian business men, and those in other countries doing business, or prepared to do business in Canada, have felt the need of a concise and accnrate source of information concerning Canadian industry, commerce and finance Such a volume has been prepared, and published by the Industrial and Educational Press, Limited, 45 St. Alexander Street, Montreal.

The opening chapters of the book are devoted to a discussion of modern business methods as applied to Canada, in which the author deals with three divisions —industry, finance and commerce-- in a lucid and authorative manner. The aim is to present the information in such a way as to make it eaeily comprehensible. The volume is of particular value to the young business man and to foreigners doing business with Canadian merchants. The information is especially useful to Canadian merchants at the present time when so many firms are beginning to do an export trade, to which a considerable portion of the book is devoted.

The first chapter on industry deals with each of the various branches of Canada's industrial development, in point of cxtent, production and possibilities. In his treatise on commerce the author treats the subjecc in all phases, foreign commerce, domestic commerce, ocean transportation, inland water transportation, railroads, etc., are taken up in turn and the methods and terms explained. The various markets of the world are described, and a section is devoted to weights and measures in use the world over. The chapter on finance deals with a wide array of subjects. The author firsts describes the development of banking and instruments of credit, and then deals with all methods present use describing each seperately — foreign exchange, bills of lading shipping receipts, etc., mortgages, liens, deeds, stocks, bonds, and all classes of insurance are given attention in this chapter.

Another useful and principal feature of the volume is the trade index or directory of all marketable commodities and Canadian producers. This list embodies a description of most commodities and accuarte lists of the Canadian producers of each, with addresses.

"This generation in its prime is giving its life, but it is giving it that the older generation now among us may live out its years after the war in peace, freedom and honour, and that the generation which is now children, and the generation who are yet to come, may enjoy life and develope the national life, free from the stifling oppression of the dominion of Prussian militarism."—Viscount Grey.

An American mother, in a very remarkable letter to the New York Times, replying to another American mother who propounded the question "Was I right or wrong to consent to my son entering the Canadian Army?" says: "Being an American myself, but living amongst a people who have been giving their sons for more than two years now, having watched a loved nephew start for the front over a year ago—still another American boy—and having recently learned that he fell in the battle of the Somme on September 15, my heart has been deeply touched by that parent's question.

"Here is the answer I would give to the one who asks in your paper, 'Was I right or wrong to consent to my son entering the Canadian Army?' The mother of the young officer just mentioned said only a few days ago: 'Had I still another son I would let him go forward. My son felt the cause was a vital one, and I would not hinder no one who would do his part to win the great fight for which my son laid down his life. If I thought he had been sacrificed in vain, then life indeed would be worthless to me."
