LILLOOET PROSPECTOR

VOL. 6, NO. 27 LILLOOET, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1916. $2 PER YEAR

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Organization of Lillooet Ranchers into Co-Operative Body is Planned.

Preliminary steps have been taken to form a Lillooet Farmers' Institute, which will band the farmers of the district together in a co-operative body. A meeting for organization will shortly be held, of which due notice will be given.

The Farmers' Institute movement has been in operation in British Columbia since 1897 and has done valuable work in promoting a higher productive efficiency among agriculturists, in many different ways lightening the burdens under which the farmer labours.

The successful farmer of today is invariably the man who has studied the various causes which affect plant and animal life, the most approved methods of manufacturing products, the incidentals pertaining to his occupation, and who acts in conformity with the teachings thus acquired, hence of necessity a successful practical farmer is a scientific farmer, and to acquire this knowledge in the easiest and most direct manner is what all should aim at.

The co-operation side of the question is also of great importance, farmers as a whole are not imbued with those business instincts inherent amongst commercial people, and in attempting to obtain single handed those advantages to which they are entitled they are often worsted.

Many of the Institutes in B.C. at the present moment through co-operation are obtaining flour, feed, fertilizers, implemen s and other ncessaries at special rates. whilst transportation facilities and extended markets are further results.

As stated further in the Agricultural Associations Act, the object of these Associations shall be generally to promote the progress of agriculture, horticulture and arboriculture by importing or otherwise procuring seeds, plants and pedigree animals of new or valuable kinds, by offering prizes for essays on questions relating to agriculture, etc., by promoting the circulation of literature on these matters, by holding meetings for discussion and securing the delivery of lectures on subjects connected with agriculture and horticulture, and by co-operation for carrying on any industry for any purpose relating to agriculture within the Province.

With all these matters the Provincial Department of Agriculture has been intimately concerned, every year seeing an extension of its activity, co-operating with and stimulating the agricultural development of the various sections of the Province by the following means--

(1) Literature, etc.—For an annual fee of 50 cents, paid to local secretaries, members of Institutes are entitled to all departmental bulletins, circulars, etc., as issued from time to time by its experts.

Circular letters also dealing with departmental policy and with matters of current interest to agriculturists are constantly sent out.

(2) Lectures—For a number of

Craig, is expected home this evening, but many of the other Lillooet soldier boys will be unable to make the trip owing to the short time before their departure for England.

Lillooet is having a touch of real summer weather, the thermometer registering 85 degrees in the shade on May 1st. The trees are all in bloom, and with an abundance of wild flowers and green grass, we have everything necessary to make live worth living. Of course a little more money would still add somewhat to our happiness.

Examination was made last week on behalf of a strong mining syndicate composed of American and Eastern capital, the Sanborn & Rhodes mineral locations on Seton Lake being the property in question. These claims are favorably placed, being situate at an altitude of about 1800 feet above the lake, and facilities for shipping ore and handling supplies could not be better. Pourparlers are commenced for a working bond.

The Thursday mail from Lytton was taken off last week and there were a number of disappointed people in town. However, this will be rectified next week as the P. G. E. railway will commence a tri-weekly service on Monday. Trains will arrive in Lillooet from Squamish on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, returning on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Mail will be carried on all these trains, and with the mail from Lytton on Tuesdays and Saturdays, we will be pretty well provided for.

IRISH AFFAIRS

From any point of view the rising in Ireland is unfortunate at this critical moment in the history of the Empire. Here as elsewhere the hand of Germany is visible. She had two objects in view, (1) to embarrass our Government at home, (2) to bring about a closer union between the German and Irish elements in the United States, so as to create political embarrassment for that country and thus lessen her influence as a neutral power. Sir Roger Casement and Larkin would be suitable instruments in the Kaiser's hands. The Sin Fein (take care of ourselves) element, a small body of cranks, would, under Casement and Larkin, start the ball rolling and Germany would do the rest. Here is an unbalanced bunch who should be under treatment in some mental hospital starting a fire that will take wise heads and strong arms to extinguish. Was it not always so. During the Gordon riots in England there was just such a bunch and such a leader. Gordon was unbalanced and died an infidel because Protestants would not assist him to slaughter Catholics to the extent he desired. If these men were well balanced they would surely know that with 95 per cent. of the Irish population against them they could not succeed in their mad scheme. Casement is unquestionably suffering from mental aberration. On no other hypothesis can the splendid and loyal record of a long life be reconciled with the mad schemes which found lodgment in his brain at the age of seventy.

Larkin is a crank of the first water. He created no little trouble in Ireland a few years ago through his labour agitation. The solid people of Ireland, especially the clergy, had no use for him He then tried his hand at mischief-making in England. But the labour leaders there had no use for him as a leader or in fact as anything useful, and they gave him the cold shoulder, which sent him back to Ireland. He had his training as a labour agitator and as a hater of Englishmen among the Irish fossils of the United States who have no recollection of events in Ireland for the last sixty years. These men cannot see, or pretend they cannot see, the new Democracy under which have grown a new Ireland and a new England in the closest bonds of friendship and working in harmony for the betterment of all.

It may be asked on what grounds could these cranks appeal to the great mass of the Irish people. They would appeal to them on the grounds that England was only fooling with the question of Home Rule, which she would never put in force, else why not put it in force when the Bill was passed. They would refer to the statement of several prominent men who declared it would never be put in force, one military gentleman going so far as to say: "After the war we shall send Home Rule to hell, where it belongs." They would refer to the statement of a prominent public man in Canada many years ago, who said if Queen Victoria signed a Home Rule Bill, he would march to Ireland with 2,000,000 men and smash it. Such expressions as these would be warmly nursed by the vindictive element of Irish in the United States, as well as in Ireland, and be used when the proper time came.

Although Mr. Asquith's position was a very trying one at the time, with three provinces calling for Home Rule and one against, yet it is the opinion of many that he made a serious mistake in not putting the Act in force when it was passed. As General Botha dealt with the troubles in South Africa when a body of Boer Sin Feins would smash British connections, John Redmond would deal with the present uprising, and it would have been crushed before it had time to draw a second breath in Ireland.

years past the Department has furnished lecturers for spring and fall meetings; these generally comprise the whole of the outdoor staff together with a selected number of speakers from Provincial centres and also leading authorities from Washington and Oregon points. Evening lectures are illustrated by lantern views from specially taken photographs, thus materially increasing the interest and educative value. Demonstration work is also undertaken, the Horticultural branch in particular having specialized in demonstrations of pruning, spraying, grafting and budding.

(3) Short Courses—The theory and practice of fruit and vegetable growing, dairying and breeding of stock, crop rotation, etc., is gone into more thoronghly at these courses than can be done at the ordinary meetings and they have been growing in favour of recent years.

(4) Packing Schools—Started under the direction of the Horticultural branch several years ago, these schools are worked in connection with Institutes.

(5) Field Crop Competitions—These competitions were first inaugurated in 1912, the production and use of good seed, the eradication of weeds, the raising of fodder crops and the application of good cultural methods being the main objects.

(6) Stumping Powder — For some years past the Department has maintained the policy of aiding members of Institutes to clear and develop their own lands by supplying them with powder at reduced prices.

(7) Pure Bred Stock—Arrangements have been made whereby Institutes mcy secure pure-bred stock for the use of members, payments to be extended over three years.

She Did Her Best.

The best efforts to make a home attractive sometimes fail.

Recently a district visitor in the East End of London asked the wife of a notorious drinker why she did not keep her husband from the public house.

"Well," she answered, "I 'ave done my best, ma'am, but he will go there."

"Why don't you make your home look more attractive?"

"I'm sure I've tried 'ard to make it 'omelike, ma'am," was the reply. "I've took up the parlor carpet and sprinkled sawdust on the floor, and put a beer barrel in the corner. But lor', ma'am, it ain't made a bit of difference."

A story is told of an old Irish gentleman who was the only undertaker in an upper Michigan city years ago. He was what might be called a forehanded man. One day he met on the street the young son of a citizen who was reported to be at death's door. "How is yer fa-ather this mornin'?" asked the undertaker. "He's sinking fast," said the boy. "Is that so? Poor boy! By the way, how tall is yer fa-ather?"

Production and Thrift

CANADA'S CALL FOR SERVICE AT HOME

Produce More and Save More The Empire needs food. If you are not in the fighting line you may be in the producing line. Labour is limited—all the more reason to do more than ever before. Grow food for the men who are fighting for you. The Allies need all the food that you can produce. Every little helps. You are responsible for your own work. If you cannot produce as much as you would like, produce all you can. Work with the right spirit. Put fighting energy into your effort and produce now when it counts. The more you produce the more you can save. Producing and saving are war-service.

Make Your Labour Efficient In war-time do not waste time and energy on unimportant and unprofitable work. Economize labour. Put off unproductive work till after the war, and, if possible, help in producing something needed now. Let us not waste labour. Canada needs it all. If possible help to feed the Allies. Make your backyard a productive garden. Cultivate it with a will. Make your labour count for as much as possible.

Do Not Waste Materials There should be no waste in war-time. Canada could pay the annual interest on her war expenditure out of what we waste on our farms, in our factories, in our homes. Every pound of food saved from waste is as good as a pound of increased production. The way for a nation to save is for every individual to save. France is strong to-day because of thrift in time of peace. The men and women of Great Britain are not only "doing" but are learning to "do without."

Spend Your Money Wisely Practise economy in the home by eliminating luxuries. Wasting our dollars here weakens our strength at the Front. Your savings will help Canada to finance the war. Save your money for the next Dominion War issue. There can be no better investment.

WATER AND SCOTCH

Dear Editor :

I was much interested to read in your esteemed weekly the story of Lillooet's water supply. It was very good, but if the gent who wrote it had lived here before Mac put in his pipe line, the aqua was here sure, but the pura was not in it.

Yes, as you say, we all owe Mac a good deal. He will never want a monument put up to him (which he truly deserves) for our flourishing gardens and orchards will always testify of him. But what I was a going to say was that if you had known the kind of stuff that used to percolate down to the town for drinking purposes, Sir, it would have made your hair raise. All sorts of things was done in the creek above the town in them days. People used to wash their shirts and socks in it, fish would be cleaned in it, and I have even known cases of people a bathing in it, and we down town was expected to drink the residuum. Lord! talk about germs and Germans (all the same thing), the creek was full of them, but not for me, not by a jugfull. I never touched no water until I killed all the poison with a little Scotch.

In those days it was prohibition from drinking water, and anybody talking prohibition of any other sort would have been showed the road. And that's why I'm hale and hearty today. Moderation is my motto, and as a preacher once told me that some one in the Bible recommended a little wine for your stummick's sake, I says, in the absence of wine, take Scotch. Excellent brands are sold at both hotels.

Hoping you are well as it leaves me at present.

Yours truly,
OLD-TIMER.

Wedding at Yale.

Received too late for last week.

A wedding of no little interest to the upper country was solemnized in the chapel of All Hallows school. Yale, on Tuesday, April 25th, when Miss Helen Miller, of Sheffield, England, was married to Mr. Harry Graham, Indian agent, of Lytton. The ceremony, which was fully choral, was performed by the Revd. Archdeacon Heathcote, of Vancouver. The bride, on entering the chapel on the arm of Mr. H. I. Dempster to the strains of Lohengrins wedding march, was attended by two small Indian children as flower girls. The bride was most becomingly dressed in a gown of ivory silkcrepe de chine, with a veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a lovely spray bouquet of bridal roses and carnations. The only ornament worn was a handsome pendant of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. W. C. Keeble, of Lytton, as best man.

During the signing of the register the sweet strains of "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden" were sung by the Indian girls, the recent pupils of the bride, and as the happy pair left the chapel the two little Indian maids, attired in pink silk dresses, strewed their path with blossoms. The school room, decorated by the skillful hands of the Indian girls with ferns and spring flowers, presented an artistic setting for the serving of the wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Graham left by the evening train for a short trip to the coast, and on their return will reside in Lytton.

Edward Farrer, one of Canada's leading journalists, died at Ottawa on April 27th.

IRELAND IS NOW BACK TO NORMAL

Dublin is gradually reverting to normal conditions. The work of clearing some small districts around Irish town is being carried out by an ever-contracting cordon.

Cork—All is quiet in this county with the exception of an affray in the Fermoy district. Here the police, in attempting to arrest two men in a house, met with armed resistance, the head constable being shot dead. The occupants of the house surrendered.

The Sinn Feiners in Cork City, where there has been no rising, have yielded up their arms.

Wexford—The column which went to Enniscorthy is carrying out the arrest of rebels in the county of Wexford. The rest of South Ireland is reported quiet.

Five hostile airships attacked the northeast coast of England and the southeast coast of Scotland on May 2nd. A few bombs were dropped in Yorkshire, but there are no details regarding the casualties or damage.

After 17 years' residence in Greenwood, Robert Robinson is moving his shoe shop to Phoenix. Bob is nearly 75 years old, and has not taken a drink of straight water for 12 years. He has been 50 years in America, and at the Paris Exposition he took the first prize for making shoes. Bob does not lose much time making long prayers, but he pays his debts.
