MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

A distinguished-looking gentleman stepped off an auto in front of one of our hotels on the 17th of Ireland, having just come from Lytton. His commanding appearance and the elegance of his baggage caused the crowd to fall back, and a hush prevailed as he sauntered into the hotel lobby. Even the clerk was impressed. Being St. Patrick's Day, some of the crowd were a little short-sighted, but, as usual, few seemed aware of that fact. The only man in the crowd having a clear eye was John Lyons, Esq. Taking his old clay pipe out of his mouth and expectorating some moisture with great precision, he said: "You fellows are not only losing your eyesight, but some of you are losing your minds. That man you all seem afraid of is just a plain Bridge River miner; he has been away on mining business for a few months, and is on his way back to Cadwallader creek to open up his claims. If you chaps would let booze alone you would be able to see better, have money like that Cadwallader man, and wear as good clothes as these bartenders. When I used to associate with men like you"—For obvious reasons we did not hear the end of Mr. Lyons' temperance speech, but on the hotel register we found the signature of Carl Wihksne, as good a miner as ever swung a single-jack in this district.

Mr. O. Ferguson, who has been on the Bridge River for the past ten months, superintending various mining interests he has in that district, arrived in town on Wednesday, on his way to Victoria. We knew that he came directly from the Why Not mine, but outside of the fact that they had run 240 feet of a tunnel and that 30 feet of a crosscut was still being run, we could obtain nothing definite about his mining affairs. He will return in about three weeks' time, when work of an extended character will be resumed on the Why Not.

Immediate work is to begin on the P. G. E. from Fort George southward, contracts for the first 100 miles having been awarded on Saturday. H. E. Carlton & Company will undertake the first 25 miles. The next 25 miles will be built by A. E. Griffin & Co., and Burns, Jordan & Welch will build the remaining 50. Equipment is to be put on the ground as soon as possible. It will be an easy matter, as all of the firms selected have been working on the G.T.P. construction.

A very pleasant dance was held by special request in the new opera house on St. Patrick's Day. 17th inst. About forty couples were present, and a good time was enjoyed by all. On account of the illness of one of its members the orchestra was not up to its usual standard, but due allowance was made by the dancers. In future, there will be the best of music. The next dance will be held on Friday, 27th inst.

Having disposed of his farm, stock and implements, Mr. Alex. Lochore will leave the Rosedale property about the end of this month. The new proprietors are now in possession.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Indian Agent Graham paid the town an official visit this week.

Mr. John Hunt arrived from Vancouver yesterday afternoon.

W. Manson returned from the coast last Wednesday. He reports many heading for Lillooet.

Constable McLeod started for the Kamloops jail yesterday, having in charge three prisoners.

Some excellent baskets of trout are daily arriving from Cayoosh creek.

Mrs. Mark Eagleson, who recently underwent a critical operation at the General Hospital in Vancouver, is rapidly recovering.

Dominion officer Daunt has been in the vicinity of Lillooet for about a week and successfully entrapped a few whisky artists.

BIRTH—At Vancouver, B. C., on 13th inst., to the wife of Dr. H. A. Christie, of Lillooet, a daughter.

Flowers are in bloom in Lillooet, wood is down to $7 a cord, eggs are in abundance at 40 cents a dozen, and whisky is a drug on the market.

St. Patrick's Day passed over in a very happy manner. Not a pugnacious greeting during the whole day, and everybody wore the colors of old Ireland.

Carl Wihksne left for the South Fork of Bridge river on Wednesday morning. For a short time he will remain at C. P. Dam's placer mining camp.

Supt. Bell has had the road grader at work on Main street this week, smoothing down some hillocks caused by freight teams during the winter, and otherwise improving the towns appearance.

Vincent Keeley and Al Palmer returned this week from a trip into the Blackwater district, where they had been investigating some mineral properties.

Services will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday, March 22; morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30. Service will also be held in the Cayoosh Creek schoolhouse, same day, at 3:30 p. m.

A little difficulty was experienced with the workmen engaged on the railroad bridge near town, last week, but the trouble seems to have been straightened out, as the work is now progressing satisfactorily.

Frank Maudsley, a young mill hand of Clinton, is suing P. Botterill and J. Fry, who own and operate a small mill at that place. He wants $3499 for the loss of three fingers cut off by a circular saw last July.

Back yards are being cleaned up and everything put in tidy shape by Lillooet residents. A view of the alleys this week shows that property-owners have not been idle. And we might add that the old town can present a very attractive appearance with very little effort on behalf of the residents. Now that political strife is a thing of the past and former aggressive neighbors are attempting to plant flowers in each other's garden, we may hope for a return of the platonic conditions so long missed by old timers.

MASQUERADE BALL.

A masquerade ball was held in the new opera house on the evening of the 13th inst. Mr. F. J. McDonald was responsible for the entertainment, and to him lays the credit of being the promoter of the most successful dance ever held in this town. The hall is a very large one, and it is said that over 250 people were present. The costumes were indeed good, some of them very costly, and it can safely be said that, in the opening dance, Lillooet people presented a scene seldom excelled in very much larger towns. Besides, the dancing was perfect. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes, and to Mr. Chas. Watt we are indebted for the following decision: First prize (ladies) Mrs. E. A. Lee; second prize, Miss M. Hurley. Mr. LaVelle won first prize in the gentlemen's contest. To distinguish one fine costume from another was no easy task, considering the number present, any one of which was worth a prize; but when Mr. Watt willingly accepted the honor of judge, he little thought such a grand display would be up for his inspection on the night of the 13th. He will know better after this. In the meantime he is leading a very seclusive life, and is seldom seen in public. From a hurrah tic-tic man and high water commissioner he is now almost on the level of a poor newspaper man.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

To the parents and children of Lillooet:

A few months ago a Sunday school was again commenced to bring the children of the town together for an hour every Sunday, the tuition being entirely undenominational, being simply held in the Church of England for the sake of ease of access and convenience.

It seems to me a pity the attendance is falling off a little, week by week, as though this may be to some extent the fault of us who are teachers; yet, whatever we do, we cannot attain much success without the moral and active assistance of the parents.

Sunday school is unlike the day school, and unless parents insist on the attendance of their children, the teachers are very much handicapped in their attempts to give some useful and consecutive course of instruction.

Until the end of January the average attendance was 58 per cent. of the names on the register. Deducting the few who only came once or, at most, three times, or who have moved to the lake, the attendance averaged 67.

Since the fine weather has begun, however, the attendance from being 25 to 29 has dropped off to the usual figure of 17, or thereabouts.

From start to finish, Sunday school lasts for only half an hour, and as the teaching does not follow the line of any denomination, I think the parents might give their support by insisting that their children attend when possible.

It seems hardly necessary to mention that if the teachers are willing to give up what is to them the best portion of their Sundays, it is most unsatisfactory to find that their efforts meet with no assistance from those to whom they look more than to any others—the parents, and I very much hope that, for the future, we may look for some assistance in the difficult and usually thankless work of trying to help the young.

Yours truly,

B. W. SUTHERNS.

Lillooet, B. C., March 18, 1914.

UPPER BRIDGE RIVER.

Mr. C. E. Galloway, after a strenuous trip, has at last landed his mine pump and provisions at the Coronation camp. W. Jones assisted with his team as far as the South Fork, from which point to the mine man-hauling was resorted to.

Work on the "Why Not" mine is still progressing; the management expects to reach the intended point early in April.

Joe Shuster has just built and launched a large hull on Gun Lake, and has ordered a motor for same. It is intended for the use of hunters and tourists.

Dan Hamilton, ex-placer professor, is at present acting as cook and valet for Joe Shuster.

C. P. Dam, at the South Fork, will commence mining operations next week. W. W. Jones will haul timbers to finish the dam. Operations will be on a large scale.

The arrival of two tons of provisions consigned to F. Kinder, relieved a threatened fame on the Upper Bridge River.

Snow is fast disappearing, only four feet on Cadwallader just now. W. H.

Bridge River, March 13.

Negotiations are now on for a boxing contest in Lillooet's new opera house, between a couple of Vancouver's best pugilists, and there is every prospect of a good exhibition being held. Of course this will be a money proposition. Heretofore entertainments of this kind have been impromptu and free, in this town. Only the other day we intimated to a prominent citizen of this town that he was indebted to the Prospector for a small sum, when he immediately offered to give us a practical demonstration of his pugilistic abilities, with the Prospector man for an opponent. Manager McDonald can find plenty of home talent in this town, and all the expenditure incurred will be the price of a little whisky. It is wonderful the number of "good" men we meet every day, after they have secured a few drinks.

For the quarter ending 14th March, 1914, one hundred and sixty-eight cases were disposed of in the Lillooet police court, and $1952.00 collected in fines. In addition to the fines imposed, a large number were incarcerated in the provincial jail at Kamloops Over 90 per cent. of these infractions of the law are directly attributable to intoxicants.

Dr. Christie is not a big man, but yesterday he appeared very much taller than usual when he addressed a muster of Lillooet capitalists and invited them to have a cigar. They did, and a few of them took something else, but when the cause of this hilarity was made plain, it cost the doctor more than one assessment.

Mr. B. Williams, head of the game warden department of B. C., arrived in town Wednesday on a tour of inspection of this district. Yesterday morning he left for Clinton, where he will probably make arrangements for another game wardenship to the north of us.

MARCH 20, 1914.

THE P. G. E. RAILWAY.

In preparation for the establishment of docks for ocean-going vessels and railway terminals at Squamish, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway intends to proceed with the reclamation of an area one mile in extent during the coming summer. The first season's operations will involve the expenditure of $200,000. Mr. J. W. Stewart, president of the P. G. E. Railway, made an announcement to the above effect the other day, in which he outlined the company's plans for development and construction. He recently made a trip over the route of the P.G.E. and G.T.P. via Fort George and Edmonton. Extensive harbor surveys are now being made at Squamish preparatory to starting development work. Foreshore rights along the waterfront owned by the railway company at Squamish were granted a short time ago by the Dominion Government conditional on the P.G.E. undertaking to expend $2,000,000 in improving the harbor. The company will do considerable dredging and reclaim a large area of land, the plans this year providing for the filling in of a tract a mile long. With reference to the construction plans of the company this year, Mr. Stewart stated that when the work on all the new sections to be started soon was under way, employment would be provided for more than 12,000 men. The P.G.E. now has 5000 men at work north of Squamish and Clinton, and this force will be augmented so as to have 10,000 distributed along the entire route between the Pacific terminal and Fort George this season. The other 2000 men would be placed on the Peace River extension of the line, which is to be started just as soon as contracts are let. According to Mr. Stewart, contracts for the construction of the Peace River section of the line will be awarded by May 1. They figure on covering 100 miles of the new line this summer and on having grading on the entire section of 330 miles northeast from Fort George under way in the summer of 1915. The extension is to be finished and ready for operation right through to Alberta boundary in 1916. Grading will be rushed on a section 150 miles from Fort George to connect with the portion now under construction north of Clinton, and on the other contracts to be let this season. A reconnaisance party is now working north of Fort George towards the Pine River Pass, and locating surveyors will be placed in the field for the purpose of running lines early next month. The proposed extension will probably run northeast or northwest from Fort George for a short distance in order to obtain easy grades. The plans already outlined provide for the completion of the section between Fort George and Kelly Lake, a distance of 280 miles, next summer, at the same time as it is estimated the Squamish-Horshoe Bay line will be finished. Bridges are now being erected and track is being laid north of Squamish, and all grading between the Howe Sound terminal and Pemberton Meadows is expected to be completed early in June. Grading gangs are now working near Mile 200 from North Vancouver, east of Lillooet.

CLINTON HAPPENINGS.

From our Regular Correspondent.

MARRIED.—On March 1st, at Government Meadows, B.C., Mr. Peter Rasmussen to Miss Amy Sharpe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Swettman, of Nechaco, and witnessed by G. R. Renols and Henry Baker. Miss Sharpe was schoolmistress in Clinton for some little time and left for Quesnel about a year ago, on which occasion she was the recipient of a handsome parting gift from the schoolchildren.

Mr. Coleman, who is on his vacation, is very busy clearing land on his pre-emption.

Archie McDonald, M.L.A., returned home on Wednesday from attending the late session of the legislature. He was accompanied by his daughter Annie, who has been enjoying a holiday in the Capital city. Miss McDonald also paid a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Campbell in their new home at New Westminster.

Two autos made their appearance in town last Friday—the first of the season. Motors are like the birds—now they are with us we shall have spring.

It is believed that Mr. Harmon will very shortly resume his daily Clinton-Ashcroft return trip. He will be welcomed back in his old haunts.

Roads are reported as being snowy, icy, and muddy in spots, making it rather difficult to determine just what sort of vehicle to use on them. Down the road some little "potholes" round the lakes are reported to be a foot or so deep. A great deal of snow has disappeared during the last few days and a quantity of water has been let loose.

The familiar freight wagons and stage coaches are once more in evidence. Sleighs are being side-tracked for their summer's well-earned rest.

Those who have been daily wending their weary way to the creeks for water, are now rather "up against it" as far as sleighs are concerned. Wheelbarrows and sleighs are equally useless. It is no unusual sight now-a-days to see a mighty struggle going on in the mud and water between some poor unfortunate and a sleigh-load of cans, once full of water, but rapidly becoming empty.

Archie Lee, who was until recently the B. C. Express agent here, has been busy building a cabin on his pre-emption two miles up the road from town. Last week Mrs. Lee and family moved out to take up their permanent residence on the land.

The Italian, G. Conti, who was killed on the construction at Kelly Lake on Sunday, was buried in Clinton on Thursday, 12th inst. This is the first fatal accident that has occurred on our end of the P. G. E. line of construction. Conti was alone on a night shift in a "trap tunnel," timbering and clearing up for the day shift. Evidently the timbering was weak, and a "cave in" occurred, as he was found dead in the morning under a pile of debris

Mr. R. M. McGusty is busily engaged changing his quarters from Mr. Saul's house, which he now occupies, to the room in the police buildings lately occupied by Mr. A. Forsyth. Chief Aiken will now occupy the house with his family.

What served as a skating rink during the winter months is now rapidly turning into a lake. None would object to this if it would keep its water to itself, which it refuses to do. It has formed a comfortable little stream of its own, crossed the road and entered and taken possession of a Chinese merchant's cellar. This gentleman narrowly escaped an involuntary bath, and is reported to have expressed a very forcible opinion about skating rinks and the promoters thereof. A ditch was ultimately dug to divert the stream into another channel, which partially succeeded, but it didn't dry out the cellar or restore the lost secret treasures stowed therein.

The somewhat erratic movements of a cayuse which had hitherto been sunning himself in a vacant lot in the center of the town and his somewhat fancied gaze in a certain direction, called forth a little curiosity the other day. The animal seemed bent upon crossing and recrossing its legs and nodding its head in perfect time, as if obeying the commands of some unearthly music hidden from the ear of man, and yet presenting a most worried and distracted countenance. It was naturally thought the poor animal was in trouble, and so some kindly-disposed person cautiously approached, with the idea of rendering what assistance he could. But he had not proceeded far when he experienced a sensation which almost forced him to imitate the horse. A sound, apparently not of this earth, made him halt, but being a man of nerve, resolved to fathom the mystery. He did. It was neither the fault of man or horse that they did not hale from the "Land o' Cakes," but it was a rude shock to one of them to be greeted with the skirl of a bagpipe when he did not know there was one within a hundred miles of Clinton. (Possibly this is the same instrument of torture inflicted upon Lillooet prisoners when repeated sentences to the Kamloops jail failed to have the desired effect, the owner of which was banished from this town a short time ago.—Ed. Prospector).

Constable Spiller passed through Clinton last Saturday, on his way to Lillooet, to take up the position lately vacated by constable Aiken. Mr. Spiller is from the 150-Mile House.

Rumors are current that Ashcroft is shortly to experience a wave of prosperity. The C.P.R. is supposed to be considering the advisability of establishing a divisional point there, thus cutting out North Bend and Kamloops, making a two hundred mile run from Vancouver to Ashcroft. It is understood the railway company holds an option on all the B. C. Express Company's lots at the west end of town, and have been making enquiries and offers on other properties in and around Ashcroft. There was also talk of this same thing a good many years ago; perhaps the fulfillment will now come.

Other rumors are current concerning an electric railway between Ashcroft and Clinton. This would be good for the two towns concerned and the adjacent country. Electric lines are generally held in favor wherever they run; they can take heavier grades and make more stoppages than the steam railways.
