Potatoes Sold Well After All.

Some time ago news came that the cargo of potatoes that had been shipped from the Upper country to Australia had been refused a landing at Sydney owing to the report that British Columbia potatoes had the dry rot. The potatoes having been refused at Sydney, were landed at Brisbane, and there received by the owner, who sold them to a dealer at a good profit. This dealer resold them at profit of $10 a ton. The retail men say that they sold by the pound weigh like hot cakes, giving them a handsome profit.

Priority of Treatment

England, Germany and Italy, standing by their first condition that the blockade should not be raised until an adequate guarantee for the payment of the reserved claims is given, have instructed their embassies at Washington to insist upon such an adequate guarantee. Otherwise the blockade will continue for months or for years if it is necessary to persuade President Castro to meet the damands of the Allies.

A Useful Invention.

A machine which will drill square holes has been invented by Edward Segitz, an Englishman. His apparatus is said to have solved a problem heretofore regarded as being as unaccomplishable as the mathematical impossibility of "squaring" the circle. Segitz's machine is a three winged drill, semi-round which yet cuts four straight edges in its rotary motion. That is, the motion appears to the eye to be rotary, but there is, of course, a manoeuvre in the triple flange which produces the square cut, trianguler or other angular holes with automatic regularity and machine speed.

Control of Fisheries

Provincial Government Seeks Contol Of British Columbia Industry.

The interview of the British Columbia delegation with the Dominion ministers Tuesday was confined to the fisheries question. Eberts did all the talking. The province wanted entire control of the fisheries. It also wants traps used. The canneries are said to want traps, and the provincial government favors this. The province also asks for a refund of something like a million which was said to have been overpaid to the Dominion since confederation in connection with the fisheries. One of the Dominion ministers thought that Eberts' argument, if correct, was in favor of returning the money to those from whom it was collected and not to the local government.

Prior's Manifesto

To The Electors of West Yale.

Premier Prior has issued a three column manifesto to the electors of West Yale, in which he urges them to support the Government candidate in order to obtain a stable government for British Columbia. Referring to a matter of great interest to the electors of that constituency, namely the delay in issueing the writ, he says that it arose through no fault of his own, and he is sure that no one was injured thereby. The important matter of Provincial finances is dismissed in a brief paragraph, containing promises of rigid economy, retreuchments, etc. The greater part of the document is taken up with she negotiations to obtain better terms for the Province from the Dominion Government. The Government's railway policy is defended on the plea that by aiding railways the province will thereby be able to prevent the employment of Chinese labor in their construction.

In summer the continuous coil takes up the slack.

In the winter season pays it back.

All fences slacken in warm weather and tighten in cold—except the Page Fence. Page spring coil takes up the slack in summer and lets it out in winter. No loose sagging in summer, no straining or breaking in winter. Common crimped wire is not spring tempered and if it slackens it stays slackened; if it tightens it loosens again worse than ever. Page wire is tempered to regulate its own tension summer and winter. 60,000 miles of Page wire fence in use now.

The Public Meeting.

The citizens of Lillooet have wasted no time in taking the initial steps to get into line with the proposed Provincial Mining Association. An announcement for a meeting next Monday eve will be found in our local column. As every person who is interested in mining is invited there should be a representative from every family in town, for we dare say there are not half a dozen white men in this neighborhood who do not own mineral claims. It will be an easy thing to secure two or three score of names to form the nucleus of a strong local orgaization.

The need of organization among mining men is evident. The Provincial Legislature at the next session will be asked to make important changes in the mining laws, changes which if made will affect, for good or ill, every mining man in the Province. One of the suggested changes is to give Crown grants to owners of placer claims. The voice of organized mining men should be heard for and against such comprehensive changes.

Lowery's "Claim"

We announced last week in our news items that Lowery's 'Claim' had been refused by the Post Office authorities. So unusual a thing may well excite comment. In the current issue of Lowery's "Ledge" which is to hand Lowery says in defence that the mission of the condemned magazine was largely with a view to showing up the false system under which we live and advocating a course of living that would make a heaven here on earth. A most laudable aim! Assuming Lowery to be in earnest, we would ask him: "Are you sure that the course of living you advocate will make a heaven on earth? Do you enjoy such happiness yourself, or will you have to wait until many others believe as you do, and if you have to wait will you not have to wait too long? Are the people who come nearest to your ideal happier than those in the Church who come nearest to the Christian ideal. In its efforts to crush sham and to tear the mask from every thing that is evil, the "Claim" will have the good-will of many both in and out of the Churches, yet the fact may as well be acknowledged first as last that of all the movements that started before or since the inauguration of Christianity, none can equal it in good works today. The Churches have their failings but they will compare most favorably with any other large organizations on this planet. Even Lowery's disciples will not be freed from the ridicule and scorn with which the Churches are often assailed by ignorant and foolish men.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails. The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as that of many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130 street, New York. I at once obtained a bottle of asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. Every soon noticed a radica improvement. After using one bottle her asthma had disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease. Yours respectfully,
O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. Feb. 5. 1901.

Correspondence

(The following extracts from a letter received from an old fellow-townsman, J.H.S. Cowbottom, may prove interesting to many of our readers. It will be remembered that our friend recently left town on his faithful but feeble cayuse bound for Seattle. Ed.)

It was a long night, and glad I was to see the dawn of another day. Unfortunately for me, owing to rough usage, the sole came off my right shoe, and the first thing I had to do was to mend it. This I did by wrapping pieces of towel and I found this helped me to walk with some degree of ease.

We struck camp then and after two hours walking we came to water and here we halted, lighted a fire and had a cup of tea, the last of our supply. I never drank tea that tasted better, and although we had nothing to eat with us, it refreshed us greatly.

We were still in the canyon with steep walls that a goat could not climb, and the water was getting deeper as we descended the stream and as we could not walk on the banks we took to the water wading right into it often up to the waist. About five o'clock that afternoon we espied two goats which I could have shot easily, but on trying my cartridges I found they would not fit the barrel of rifle. This was about as hard a hit as I possibly could have had. Here was food in sight and we were starving, and I had been packing, for weary miles, a rifle that was practically useless to me. All this through my own carelessness too! I tell you, Sir, I was mortified, and my temper was not allayed by the remarks of my companion in reference to my fitness for a hunter, etc. I was calmed somewhat by pitching my cartridges and rifle into the river.

There was silence for about an hour or so between us, and although it was getting dark, the canyon was widening, which, to me, was a promising sign. It was almost dark when we struck the first flat bench we had seen for several days. Here I spotted a trimmed fish pole, evidently cut this Fall, a little further on the remains of an old camp. These signs of recent life gave us fresh courage, and my companion having shot a couple of dipper birds, we had supper, finishing with a feed of elder berries, which grew in abundance all around us, and tasted delicious. Feeling stronger and more hopeful after our meal we determined to push on in the hope of striking civilization that night. After going about four miles down the bed of the river we climbed one of the benches intending to make camp, when to our surprise and delight we saw wagon tracks. Talk about feeling good! I tossed the remains of my only hat into the air, and played football with it, while my puritan friend performed some contortions which he called a jig.

Lillooet District is Attracting Attention on account of

1. Its Fraser River Placers.

As far back as the year 1858, successful placer mining was carried on at Horse Beef bar, near the town of Lillooet. The adjoining ground is being worked with profit at the present time.

A company is now working a gold dredger on the Fraser, with gratifying success, and a new company has been formed with a capital of $350,000, to operate an improved dredge near the town of LILLOOET.

2. Its Promising Mineral Lands.

ANDERSON LAKE and BRIDGE RIVER mining properties will prove themselves sufficient to form a prosperous camp. Yet there are miles of territory that remain unprospected.

3. Its Fishing and Hunting Grounds.

Increasing numbers of tourists from all parts of the globe testify that the sportsman's Paradise is here. Mountain sheep, bear, deer, and all kinds of large and small game abound. Anglers find the lusty trout where least expected, and fresh salmon cease to be a luxury.

4. Its Salubrious Climate.

In the dry belt, and at an altitude that renders the seasons temperate and equable, the climate is most suitable for health-seekers. Semi-tropical fruit may be grown, and at the present time, November; rosebushes and geranium plants may be seen in bloom in the gardens of the town
