VOL. IX. No. 43 NINTH YEAR THE WEEK, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1911 NINTH YEAR ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM

A WHITE BRITISH COLUMBIA—The Johannesburg correspondent of the London Daily Mail contri-es to the last issue a remarkable and im-ssive article on South Africa. He has returned from a special visit under-en to study conditions, and declares em-tically that the white races are not hold- their own, and that there will be a k South Africa. He points out that the ular conception is that the white popu-on will steadily develop into a daughter on, thus strengthening the Empire, but fallacy of this assumption is shown by returns of the census taken last May, ch clearly show that the white popula- is not keeping pace with the coloured; th Africa is becoming blacker and wner. Taking the whole Union of South ca, the white population increased by 161,219 in the last seven years, but the ve and coloured population increased by 456. These census returns do not in-e Basutoland, Bechuanaland or Rho-a, in which the black people far out-ber the white. The whites are losing nd because the whole history of white nization has been a record of a fatuous npt to build up a white nation upon the of coloured labour. The Dutch intro-d black slaves into the Union. The Dutch governor of the Cape of Good e imported Chinese labour; the Eng-in Natal brought in Asiatic coolies; ese were brought for the Rand mines, when they were deported, natives were ght in from Mozambique. The agents outh African employers still scour the nent for black labour. Whenever a age occurs, the cry goes up for more red workers. Colour seems to be the desirable qualification, and the irony all is that the very men who are bol-ng up this system are always talking ly about the great white nation which ng built up in South Africa. Even the and the system of taxation aim at g the employer as much cheap black r as possible. Now what is the moral of this policy? It has naturally cre-in the mind of the white man a pre-against manual labour. All rough is regarded as "Kaffir's work," and ding for a white. In short it is the s attempt to build up a prosperous y on the foundation of inferior, ser-bour. It is rapidly becoming a ques-ot whether the English will rule the , or the Dutch the English, but er or not the black man will rule both, now approximates to 80 per cent. of tal population. The Commissioner up with three practical suggestions: The prohibition of the importation ny coloured labour from outside the n of South Africa; (2) Sweeping all the premiums now placed upon employment of coloured labour; (3) gorous policy of white immigration land settlement." This whole sub-ossesses the utmost significance and st for British Columbia. The Pro-l Government has mastered the prin- involved in this most vital of all ons. They are unalterably opposed to mmigration of coloured races; they resisted every attempt on the part of corporations to contravene or modify strictions which govern it. But it is ore important that the people them- should appreciate what is involved policy, than that arbitrarily restrictive should be imposed. There is always ger that such legislation might be ed on occasions of emergency, if the nment were not backed by a solid opinion. No intelligent man can the conditions which prevail in Africa without seeing exactly how r conditions might in the course of e produced in British Columbia. The of an advanced, an enlightened and a rous white country is one which appeals to every Anglo-Saxon. In Canada there are no indigenous coloured races to complicate the problem. It is only necessary to maintain effective immigration laws and the hordes of Asiatics which would overwhelm us can be kept outside the gate. Our people have only to be convinced that a white country cannot be built up on a coloured foundation, on a servile labour class to set their faces forever against a lowering of the bars. They might even go further with advantage and deport every Asiatic labourer from the Dominion. This is the logical conclusion of the very broad hint which Premier McBride gave in his Navy League address. In giving effect to this address Canada would but be lining up with Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Now is the time to do it before the coloured races have secured a foot-hold in the Dominion. If Premier McBride expects the corporations to take the hint his Government must be prepared to embark upon a project which will include extensive land settlement, and a bringing in, under Government control, of sufficient white labourers to meet the requirements of the Province.

NAVY LEAGUES—There have been two Navy League meetings in the district to celebrate Trafalgar Day, one at Victoria and one at Ganges Harbour, Salt Spring Island. The latter claims attention first, not by reason of its significance, but because of the remarkable patriotism and energy shown by the inhabitants of the Island. Out of a total population of 900, of whom not more than 400 are adults, there are 140 members enrolled in the local branch of the Navy League. These and their friends were among the 200 who turned out for the meeting and enthusiastically supported the local committee in their action for popularising the objects of the League. In addition they cabled funds to London to lay a wreath representing Salt Spring Island at the foot of the Nelson monument. As no reference to this meeting appeared in the local paper, The Week gives publicity to these facts as a slight recognition of the splendid work being done by the Salt Spring branch. The meeting in the Victoria theatre must have been a revelation to all who attended. The theatre was packed from floor to ceiling, the top gallery being full. The attendance and enthusiasm were equal to those of any of the big political meetings held in the Victoria theatre during the recent electoral campaign. Clive Phillips Wolley delivered a fine address dealing chiefly with Nelson's personal characteristics, and wound up by submitting a resolution which was passed unanimously, urging that an effective fleet unit be established on the Pacific with naval base and ship-yards at Esquimalt. The resolution was ably supported by Mr. W. E. Oliver and Dean Doull and then Premier McBride made one of his most impressive speeches, in which he condemned optional neutrality, advised Cannery Companies to get rid of Oriental labour and replace them by white, and endorsed in the most emphatic manner the resolution referred to. This pronouncement has gone with the Premier's consent to the Central News Agency, which will see that it is published in all the leading English newspapers and magazines. Until Mr. Borden announces his naval policy it is not safe to speculate on details, but it may be taken for granted that it will embrace in the main the principles laid down in the resolution and the speech of Mr. McBride. The Liberals make a very great mistake in supposing that the necessary delay in announcing the policy is any evidence of an intention to weaken on the subject of a strong Canadian navy. The only object of the delay is to get rid of the Laurier abortion, and to substitute something effective, and at least consistent with the dignity of a country which calls itself a nation. If the Liberal Press keeps harping so persistently on the Nationalist string, it will be worn out before the next election or a "referendum" comes round. Evidences are accumulating every day that what Canada wants is a navy, not on paper but on the sea, and by the time that Mr. Borden is through Canada will get it.

A NEW THEATRE—Those people who took the advice of The Week and possessed their souls in patience when it was announced that Victoria would be without a theatre in the near future have saved themselves a lot of unnecessary worry. Within the short space of a month Clifford Denham has secured a site, put up his own money for an option, secured enough financial support to buy the land and is now forming a Theatrical Company to finance the building. It is safe to say that no other man in the city could have achieved so much in the time. During the six years that Mr. Denham has been in Victoria he has conducted the affairs of the theatre in a manner which has been perfectly satisfactory to his patrons, and which has rendered him increasingly popular year by year. He was a young man for the position, but his natural aptitude and wide experience stood him in good stead, and as time has gone on he has developed unexpected qualities of sound judgment, independence and firmness, which have inspired the most influential men in Victoria with confidence in his ability to manage a huge theatrical enterprise successfully. He has secured the support of some of the leading citizens and when the board of directors is complete, as it will be in a few days, the names will be published. The site which has been purchased is the property of Dr. Hannington on the corner of Blanchard and Broughton Streets. It has a frontage of 120 feet on each street. Plans are being prepared for a four-storey building, the frontage on the ground floor being devoted to high-class stores and the upper stories to apartment suites. The theatre will be modern in every respect; it will have a seating capacity of 1500 and will cost $150,000. The purchase price of the land is $38,000, a very moderate figure. Everyone will agree that Mr. Denham has secured an admirable location and will join in wishing him success in his new venture. The intention of the directors is that Mr. Denham shall be the lessee. Meanwhile, an arrangement has been concluded with the proprietors of the present theatre whereby the tenancy will be extended until the close of the theatrical season, which will enable the bookings to be carried out until next May. The new theatre will be ready for the season of 1912-13.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE — It is natural that the thoughts of men should be turned in the direction of Imperial Preference, or perhaps what would be better defined as Preference within the Empire. This movement has received an impetus from the recent Canadian elections and no one questions that the defeat of Reciprocity strengthened the hands of those who have for years been working towards a reciprocal trade arrangement within the Empire. The question is a large one and cannot be debated in a limited space. The points which suggest themselves for consideration are that in all parts of the Empire there is an evident desire to establish an Imperial Zollverein; that the Canadian attitude on Reciprocity determines that the matter must be considered at the next Imperial Conference; that meanwhile there is a probability, one might say a certainty, of extensive reductions in the United States tariff; that the effect of these reductions will be to discount materially the value of the British Preference; that the only way to meet this is to increase that Preference. It may not be generally known that in spite of the British Preference the average duty on American goods coming into Canada is less than the average on British goods, a circumstance which fully justifies the repeated contention of The Week that what the Laurier Government gave with one hand they took back with the other. If the British Preference is not to become altogether ineffective it will have to be increased in the face of American reductions. Broadly speaking, all the units in the British Empire should adjust their tariff rates so that in every instance there should be some differentiation against the foreigner and some advantage, however slight, in trading within the Empire. The Week intends to go into this matter in detail in subsequent issues, but suggests that the subject might well form ground for careful study, in view of the certainty that there will be a demand for an increase in the British Preference and that the demand is almost certain to be resisted, at any rate in the first instance, by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

VICTORIA CRICKET—Attention is directed to the news item on page 2, giving particulars of the proposed new ground for the Victoria Cricket Club. This is a project which deserves, and should receive, general support. Cricket is booming in Victoria, and apart altogether from the attraction of the game itself everyone who has studied the matter knows its value as a discipline. It is an inseparable adjunct of advanced civilization and by common consent develops the best qualities of a man's character. The project of the committee, however, is more ambitious; it involves the establishment of a Sports Club in Victoria, where not only cricket, but tennis, croquet, bowls, archery, quoits and possibly other games may be indulged in. The idea is to concentrate these varied interests in order to make a strong Club and to ensure the best accommodation and the most satisfactory results for each game. There will be a large Club-house for the common use of the members with accommodation for teas, dances, etc. In addition there will be dressing pavilions for the accommodation of the players. The property proposed to be acquired is conveniently situated; it has a beautiful aspect and lies near to the magnificent Uplands estate which is about to be developed on such generous lines and which will naturally be a conspicuous supporter of the Club. A syndicate is being formed to acquire the property from Mr. Bowker, after which it is proposed to incorporate a stock company and raise the total sum of $75,000 to purchase the land and complete the lay-out and equipment. The terms of subscription will be made moderate enough to enable everyone who wishes to have an interest in the Club to contribute.

DOMINION EXHIBITION—Every citizen of Victoria will be heartily in accord with Alderman H. M. Fullerton's efforts to secure the next Dominion Exhibition in this city. It has long been felt that some great incentive was needed to give the necessary impetus to the industries on Vancouver Island and no fitter compliment could be paid to the position which the Capital City now holds than the granting of the request that she be chosen as the site of the Exhibition of 1912. The Week will have gone to press before Alderman Fullerton's resolution is put, but the announcement in the morning paper of his intention was received with unbounded enthusiasm throughout the city. The motion will undoubtedly receive the endorsation of every member of the Council who may be trusted to make every endeavour to persuade the Dominion Government to lend a favourable ear.

A most gruesome story reaches me from Ross Bay cemetery. It is vouched for by a responsible person, who took the trouble to write down the details for me. He says that just behind the cement mixer a coffin is exposed to view, open at one end so that the remains which it contains are visible. Surrounding the coffin is lime to the extent of six inches, showing that the deceased had been the victim of small-pox or some other infectious disease. He points out that this constitutes a menace to the health of those working near, to say nothing of residents in the neighbourhood, and that there will be no difficulty in tracing the origin of an epidemic if one should unhappily break out. I have not verified these details. I am not familiar with corpses, and confess my ignorance of the fact that persons who die of infectious diseases are buried in lime. I can take my informant's word as to the coffin and its inmate and commend the matter to the notice of the Health Officer. This protest is not made out of any consideration for the friends of the deceased.

I don't suppose the dog-catcher is a happy man; there are some professions which always carry with them a certain odium and the dog-catcher is little, if any, better off than the bailiff or the debt-collector. I often wonder whether the dog-catcher likes dogs, or whether he suffers that purgatory on earth which falls to the lot of the school-master who hates boys. Be that as it may, I want to relate a curious little incident which occurred outside the premises known as 915 View Street at 1.15 p.m. on Tuesday last. The Canine Express arrived at the place mentioned and the dog-catcher or his assistant noticed a Gordon Setter lying inside an alley which leads to a stable in the rear. Hastily they descended and literally spread their nets to catch their prey. They caught it all right; the dog had no chance of escape and not having been brought up to regard life as a butterfly, he was badly frightened and lay yelping on the ground. Naturally a few loungers, including the inevitable small boy, arrived on the scene. Much to their amusement the men found a tag on the dog and having no further use for him let him escape. The onlookers rejoiced greatly, but the boy let his joy run away with all discretion. Judge of his consternation when one of the net artists, chagrined at failure and hating ridicule, deliberately threw his net over the boy, brought him and the bicycle on which he was leaning to the ground and shook him as he were a rat. Thus the incident was closed. The boy, regaining his feet when the net was withdrawn, burst into tears and the "butterfly" hunters mounted their "Black Dog Maria" and drove away. Now I want to point out that in the first place, as I am informed by a lawyer, the men had no right to seize a dog which, so far from roaming loose upon the street, was lying in a private passage; in the second place that if they were "good citizens," instead of being chagrined at not gaining a prisoner, they should have been pleased that one dog-owner at any rate was obeying the law, and thirdly that if they are unable to control their tempers when they meet with the ridicule which their profesison is unfortunately bound to entail upon them, they should relinquish the position.

It is an accepted axiom that the best friends and the happiest married couples are those whose redeeming vices are dissimilar and whose virtues frequently conflict. When two people can dovetail their characters the one into the other instead of living their lives out as it were on parallel lines of rectitude, or it may be of vice, then you get perfect friendship and perfect love. Oh, tut-tut; sounds like the beginning of a treatise on the philosophy of how to be happy though married, doesn't it? I had better descend from my perch and come down to the realities of life. What I started out with the intention of saying, was that these things being so, it is not surprising that I, who am the most inconsistent of men, should demand consistency in others. And yet we have seen lately a most glaring inconsistency in the conduct of a recent case before the local Police Magistrate. Some time ago we had an Exhibition here, and the civic authorities were pleased to make a little money out of side-shows. Of course these side-shows were under the supervision of the police, as you might say, and nothing objectionable could have been shown. Amongst the side-shows who thus helped to pour money into the civic coffers were fortune-tellers. Now I hold no brief for fortune-tellers, and my own opinion is that anyone who is fool enough to pay money to have his hand read for any other purpose than for the fun of it, deserves to lose his money. I remember once at Blackpool, delectable Paradise of the Lancashire operatives, I spent a guinea walking the whole length of the Esplanade and having my hand read, my bumps felt, my hand-writing examined and my general character told. I did it for the amusement I derived from comparing the results. The only thing on which they all seemed to be agreed was that I had a decided taste for chemistry, whereas I detest the science so much that I begged my father to allow me to discontinue it at school, and to the best of my belief have never been in a laboratory since. This is a slight digression to let you understand that I am no upholder of the noble art of fortune-telling in any of its branches. Well, although the City was not too proud to take a percentage of the earnings of these people when it had the chance, its higher morality will not allow it to consider the possibility of any woman remaining in the town pursuing her avocation, and so, when they found one, she was run in and fined. I will not harrow your feelings by remainding you that the woman is a widow and supports children. That is not the point. If she were a man being supported by his father the principle of the thing would be the same. I need hardly suggest, also, that the natural conclusion would seem to be that if she had continued to pay a percentage of her earnings into the same coffers, she might have been allowed to continue her fortune-telling. One can hardly insinuate a charge of blackmail against even the Victorian Olympians. But I can say and will say and go on saying that the whole thing savours of the rankest hypocrisy and is of the same nature as that which damns and has damned the moral reformers ever since the day when we were told that they would "strain at a gnat but swallow a camel." Bah!

Have you ever noticed how the sun brings out things? Have you ever sat upon a greasy sward and watched the dear little buttercups and daisies spring up to welcome his benignant rays? Oh there's poetry in it and lots of poetry too and if it were not that my verses were incontinently suppressed every time I put them on the editor's desk, I might try to sing to you of this beautiful subject. But I refrain. In Victoria, however, I notice that the sun brings out many other things, which are not half so pleasant to contemplate. Such things as bedsteads, chairs, packing-cases and truck of all kinds, to say nothing of the ugly packing-cases which contain them, and having brought them out deposits them with unfailing regularity on Broad Street, outside our old friend, David Spencer's emporium. (No charge for the advertisement). You will observe that on a cloudy day, when rain is threatening, or on a wet day when goods might be damaged, Broad Street is graciously thrown open to the public, save for a few broken up packing-cases, which may as well rot on Broad Street as anywhere else. But when the smiling sun throws out his kindly beams, up come all the familiar objects, and cling round our feet and obstruct our passage and make quite a lot of people say a kindly word for the campaign at present being waged by the Lounger.

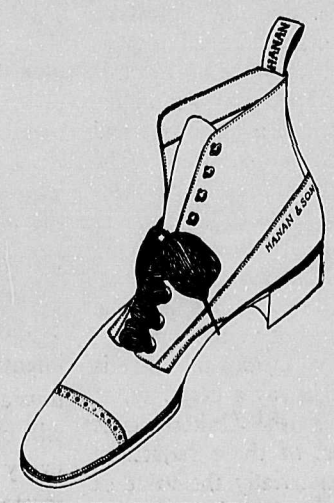
CRICKET IN VICTORIA

On Tuesday evening a meeting of the Victoria Cricket Club was held at the Balmoral Hotel. Mr. W. Blakemore was called to the chair, and among those present were: R. Stuart, R. J. Horton, F. Lever, F. W. Reeves, Mr. Jessop, Mr. Jones, G. H. Morton, Hon. Dewdney, Jos. Boscowitz, Major Beale, B. H. T. Drake, J. H. Gillespie, J. W. D. York, C. Coates, L. S. V. York, F. J. Marshall, Rev. Collisson and Mr. Rant.

The purpose of the meeting was to consider what steps should be taken to secure permanent cricket grounds when the lease of the Jubilee ground expires in 1913. For some time a sub-committee has been casting about for a suitable location and recently, through the personal efforts of Mr. J. H. Gillespie and Mr. Crawford Coates, an opportunity to purchase upwards of ten acres on Bowker Avenue has arisen. Mr. John Bowker, who is an ardent enthusiast in sports, is anxious to help the Club to secure the most convenient ground available, and he has set a price on the land in question which, in view of present real estate values, must be regarded as exceedingly reasonable. The total price will not exceed $40,000.

After considering the proposition the meeting was unanimously of opinion that the location was the best that could possibly be acquired, being within five minutes' walk of the Oak Bay and Willows car-line, and having a fine aspect over the Straits.

A resolution was passed endorsing the scheme and appointing the following committee to conduct the preliminary negotiations with power to act: Mr. W. Blakemore (chairman), Hon. Edgar Dewdney, Mr. Justice Irving, Mr. Justice Galliher, Mr. R. W. Hincks, Mr. W. T. Williams, and Mr. Crawford Coates (secretary). Since the meeting the following gentlemen have been added to this committee: Mr. D. H. T. Drake and Mr. Joseph Boscowitz.



HANAN

The Best of All

No one would willingly buy an indifferent painting when for practically the same price a real masterpiece could be secured. Neither would anyone, if he or she knew it, buy a shoe of indifferent style and incapable of comfort when they could just as well own a HANAN—a real masterpiece.

It is to you, who do not know it, we are speaking. HANAN Shoes need simply an introduction—that's all. All styles, all shapes.

"Light Wines are Beneficial"

A special report of the commission appointed recently by "The Hospital," a London medical publication of weight, to investigate the chemical composition and dietic effect of light wines, gives its opinion on the whole as "highly favorable to the constitution."

G. Preller & Co.'s Clarets, Burgundies and Sauternes have a favorable effect on digestion

Connoisseurs of good wines have nothing but praise for this fine brand. Preller's Sauterne is deliciously dry without astringency, full flavored, yet delicate. Preller's Claret is thoroughly aged—the dinner-wine par excellence.

If you are "lonesome" call for a split of Preller's Claret or Sauterne.

The White Sister

On Wednesday night an excellent esentment of "The White Sister," a ay adapted from Marion Crawford's ell-known novel, was given at the ctoria Theatre. The house, though t crowded, was well filled, and the dience was most appreciative. Miss anne Towler in the leading role, ve a splendid exhibition of emonal acting, managing her voice, ich is rich and low, with consumte skill. Her gestures, upon which ich depended, could arouse no adrse criticism and from her first aparance on the stage till the fall of curtain she held the audience enced. Mr. Robert Wayne, as Capn Servi, was not so successful. s pleading was unemotional, his acns were stilted and only in one ful choir is just as entrancing as ever, especially in its chorus work. It is doubtful if an aggregation of singers of equal ability has ever been gathered together for unaccompanied choruses. The blending of the voice, the quality of the tone and the sympathetic rendition leave absolutely nothing to be desired. The principal soloists are also of the highest class. Miss Owen, the soprano, and Miss Harris, the contralto, were especially good. There is only one criticism which ought in fairness to be offered. It is that the selections might have been more varied in character. Perhaps, however, this is a complaint which could only proceed from a "Sassenach," fofr the Welsh audience seemed never to tire of the rising and falling rythmic wave of sound which

MAX DILL, WHO WILL BE SEEN AS "THE RICH MR. HOGGENHEIMER" AT THE VICTORIA THEATRE NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

e, at the moment of his own reiation, did he seem to rise to the sion. Perhaps the best male acwas Daniel Gilfeather, who playe part of Monsignor Saracinesca, pillar of the church. His part not possess the difficulties which onted Mr. Wayne, but his majesnien and sonorous voice created mpression which was apparent ghout the house. Miss Florence oughs in the character of Coun-Chiaramonte, played the part of ngeful, scheming woman to perbn, whilst Mr. Edwin Brandon admirable in the somewhat small of Ugo Servi, whose main Busiwas to relieve the tension which nes seemed to prove too great. White Sister" is a great emol drama, and the treatment has such that offence can be given reasonable person. Whatever be said of the desirability of prog priests, nuns, crucifices and s sacred upon the stage, it canbe denied that if they are to be oduced they could not be better ayed than as they are in "The e Sister."

Royal Welsh Ladies Choir

e. Hughes and the Welsh Ladies paid a return visit to Victoria hursday night. Needless to say were received with enthusiasm n audience which, if fnot large, nothing to be desired on the of appreciation. This wonderbillowed around Mde. Hughes when she took the centre of the stage and gathered her singers in a circle. No doubt this was the most distinctive feature of their work.

The Empress Theatre

Perhaps the big hit of the week in vaudeville has been that of Carlyle Moore and Ethelyn Palmer. In the first place the playlet which they produce, entitled "Ambition," is distinctly above the average and contains an illusion in the fact that whilst all the time the audience have been imagining that there were four actors taking part, at the fall of the curtain it is obvious that these two clever performers have been doubling the parts. Edward Clark is a meritorious impersonator and appears in three characters as distinct as he could make them. His turn has been well received. A juggling act by Charles Montrell, who hails from the London Hippodrome, has been causing roars of laughter. Richard Hamlin, known as "The Medley Man in Brown," has been successfully entertaining his audiences with medleys of his own composition, whilst two talented musicians have been giving entire satisfaction with a good selection of favourite airs.

The Crystal Theatre

The big feature this week at the above theatre has been the flashing on the screen of films giving an idea of "White Slavery" as it exists today. These pictures are an education and though they deal with an unsavoury subject are so arranged that they deserve the highest praise. On Wednesday night the Amateurs were introduced, and as "amateur night" is always a favourite one with Victoria audiences the house was packed. The orchestra at the Crystal is well worth hearing, it having been considerably strengthened during the last week or so.

The Majestic Theatre

When the writer reached the Majestic the other evening he had to wait a few moments for his seat owing to the crowd, but was in time to see one of the prettiest romances of fairyland ever put upon a screen. Entitled "The Princess and the Post" it dealt with the healing of the blind princess by the kiss of love which, according to the seer, could alone restore her sight. The picture, which was in some ways guised as a "Morality" play, showed all the pomp and circumstance of earth making the attempt in vain. Then came the poet and the scales fell. It was a charming picture and came as a relief from the stereotyped dramas which appear week in and week out at all moving picture houses.

Romano's Theatre

A magnificent Egyptian drama called "The Human Sacrifice," and presented by the Reliance firm was the "piece de resistance" at the beginning of the week at Romano's. The setting was magnificent, rich robes flashed in the sun; countless multitudes flocked the streets, and the last scene where the shrinking maiden, doomed to be the bride of Osiris, was brought to the water's edge was an impressive one. This is one of the best films of its kind, that is to say of those dealing with history of the ancient countries, which has yet appeared in Victoria. The Romano management seem to make a specialty of this type of picture and deserve the thanks of moving picture lovers for their efforts.

The Paradise of Mahomet

One of the undoubted successes of last season in New York will be presented at the Victoria Theatre Monday, October 30, in the Parisian comic opera bouffe, "The Paradise of Mahomet," but better still this attraction will be the medium of reintroducing a big favorite to our theatregoers—Grace Van Studdiford. Although it is several seasons since Miss Van Studdiford appeared here in "Red Feather," the splendid voice and magnetic personality of this leader among American prima donnas are well remembered in this city. Her own best vocal accomplishments of the past are said to be eclipsed by her singing in this latest offering, which is being brought here exactly as it was presented during its successful run at the Herald Square Theatre in New York City. Daniel V. Arthur is directing the tour.

As for the comic opera itself, the story has to do with the subterfuges that a Turkish prince, enamoured of a fascinating young widow, indulges in to win her for his bride. He has seen her but once prior to his departure from Turkey on a tour of the world. He has never forgotten her, and immediately takes up her quest upon his return home.

The prince finds the young widow on the eve of her marriage to an Englishman who covets her dowry. He is in despair of persuading the widow to renounce her bethrothal to the Englishman when a gypsy girl announces her willingness to help him because she herself wishes to regain the love of the Englishman, who had promised to marry her. The wedding punch is drugged, and all the guests, including the widow are conveyed to the palace of the prince. Upon awakening from their stupor, they are told that they have died and are in Paradise. The complications that follow are many and amusing, but of course in the end the prince marries the widow.

The Rich Mr. Hoggenheimer

One of the biggest musical comedy companies on the road this season will appear at the Victoria Theatre Tuesday, October 3, when that jovial German comedian, Max Dill, will begin an engagement limited to one night in the enjoyable musical comedy, "The Rich Mr. Hoggenheimer," book by Harry B. Smith and music by Ludwig Englander. The community is hungry for good musical comedy and a large and beautiful aggregation of chorus girls, and it is promised that "just what the doctor ordered" will be provided.

The Teutonic fun-maker with the eloquent eyes and rotundity of form should revel in the part created by Sam Bernard and his introductory song will be "I'm Daffy Dill," written especially for him by Musical Director Jack Baynes, and abounding in pleasing melody and humorous suggestion. Lillian Coleman, a prima donna soprano of charming personality and with a sweet, well cultivated voice, will assume the leading lady role of "Flora Fair," in which she will have a splendid opportunity to appear to advantage.

Salt Spring Island

By Bohemian

Last week-end I paid my first visit to Salt Spring Island, as I do not consider an occasional call at Ganges Harbour on the "Iroquois" could be called a visit. In consequence of the defective transportation arrangements I had to go by way of the E. & N. Railway to Westholme, thence over land to Crofton, four miles, where I had the great pleasure of making the acquaintance of Major and Mrs. Barnes, who have acquired a delightful property at Sherrard Point, and are building a home there. In fact I may as well make a further digression at this point to say that Sherrard Point possesses some unique attraction for retired officers, as there are four others besides Major Barnes who have settled there. I am not at all surprised, for in an island of many magnificent views this is one of the finest. Crofton Bay is like a lake, being land-locked and thoroughly protected, and on the glorious October day on which I found myself there the conditions of weather and scenery were as near perfection as could be imagined.

We crossed to Vesuvius Bay, which is near the middle of Salt Spring Island on the west side. Then began a drive of four or five miles to the residence of my host. First impressions should always be chronicled and at the approach Salt Spring Island struck me as being singularly attractive and restful. The beautiful evergreen arbutus, buried all along the shore-line between richly coloured autumnal leaves of maple and elm made a striking picture, which seemed to suggest an ever-ready hand of welcome and hospitality to the voyageur.

I was next impressed by the thoroughly rural, or shall I say, countrified aspect of the Island. The roads were narrow and winding; the farmsteads were scattered, almost isolated. Here and there the turret of a tiny church or school peeped out from the trees. Three miles inland we came to Central Settlement, which is rather a rendezvous than a settlement, for I only noticed a large store, a barn and a shed. But several roads converge at the Post-office in the store and I gathered that the settlement is in reality a clearing-house for mails.

A mile or two further on we reached the really beautiful estate of Mr. Bullock, an estate which might well be the envy of any man, consisting of over 300 acres of woodland with enough clearing for a large modern residence, extensive gardens and orchards, and perhaps forty or fifty acres of cultivated farm land. Here Mr. Bullock maintains the best traditions of an Old Country host, not the least surprising feature of which is an asphalt tennis-court which I came across in my wanderings.

A little more than a mile further east brings one to Ganges Harbour and the coast. This is the principal settlement on the Island. The landing-stage is on a spit which juts out into the bay. The bay itself is at once the largest and best protected among the Gulf Islands. It is at least six or seven miles deep and sheltered by mountains on every side. The entrance is a safe one and once inside the smallest craft is secure. Boating can be indulged in all the year round, and it is a surprise to me that some enterprising firm has not long ago erected a large hotel at the head of the bay. Unless I am entirely mistaken Ganges Harbour is destined to become the chief summer resort of Vancouverites. There is no such retreat anywhere on the coast within as easy distance of the Terminal City.

Near to Ganges Harbour are a number of beautiful homes and a little, but not much, serious ranching. Indeed, one strikes the key-note of Salt Spring Island right here. There are some nine hundred people, representing over two hundred families, practically all English, nearly all in receipt of a modest income from the Old Country and all trying to lead the "simple life." When I use the word "simple" I use it in the fullest sense, for on Salt Spring Island life is a perpetual "dolce far niente." I daresay some of the over-worked housewives, and a few of the overworked younger sons of good English families will take exception to this statement. I know that wherever there is a deficiency of domestic service there is a surplusage of work and worry for the housewife, but when all is said and done the good people of Salt Spring Island have solved the problem of taking life sensibly. They may have to milk the cows, dig the garden, feed the chickens, pluck the fruit and even wash the dishes, but they never neglect the more joyful "convenances" of life. Cricket, football, tennis, croquet, hockey and dancing are assiduously cultivated and contribute their full share to "the gaiety of nations." My view of life is that this is just the best possible way of living, and the people of Salt Spring Island attest by their happy faces and insouciance of manner that they can thrive under the process.

Perhaps, however, I am unduly emphasising the charming side of life on this lovely island, and to balance matters I should say a word or two of a more practical character. For instance, I venture to state without reservation that in spite of all the advantages of soil and climate farming does not pay, and if it does not pay here, what about the other islands in the Georgian Archipelago, none of which are more favourably circumstanced? There are two reasons why the Salt Spring Islander cannot get a living out of his farm. The first is that labour is too costly and the second that transportation is too difficult and disorganized.

When most of the settlers came to the island there was an abundance of cheap labour. Any number of young men could be hired for $15 to $20 a month and their board. Now there are very few young men available; the few are inexperienced, and the only labour offering is Japanese and Chinese at rates ranging from $40 to $60 a month with board. It needs but a very little calculation to show that a farm requiring three or four men might yield a good profit with labour at the former rates and a heavy loss at the latter. The result is that farms go uncultivated, orchards unpruned and in many instances fruit ungathered.

Let me give two concrete illustrations. "A" purchased a farm on Salt Spring fifteen years ago. He is admittedly one of the most intelligent, practical, hard-working farmers in British Columbia. His wife works just as hard; they employed what hired labour they could; they had a good farm; they worked like slaves for fifteen years, lived very hard, certainly not spending more than the equivalent of a day's wage, and at the end of the fifteen years they were poorer than when they started.

Take another case. An English gentleman purchased a beautiful estate on the island fourteen years ago. For a few years, while labour was cheap, he cultivated it and kept it up in the best of style. It was made to produce everything that a farm can produce in British Columbia, and employed from eight to ten men. As labour got dearer the small margin of profit dwindled until it disappeared. Then followed a series of years in which loss succeeded loss. Getting tired of this the owner retreated to his house and grounds and turned over the farm, orchards, etc., to a first-class working-farmer. This farmer has done his best with it with the following results. There is nothing for rent, nothing for interest on capital, nothing for taxes, and the owner has contributed substantially to the upkeep of the farm.

I am told that these conditions are typical of the Island as a whole. My reason for emphasising them is that Salt Spring presents a problem which has got to be solved. If the instance were singular it would not be justifiable to exploit it, but the conditions are the same all over the Province, and if the extensive land settlements, and especially fruit-growing, which the Government is working so hard to develop is not to result in something worse than a "fiasco" steps will have to be taken to procure cheap farm labour, to establish proper transportation facilities, and to organise a co-operative sales bureau for the products of the farm.

My last reflection on a most delightful and enjoyable visit is that the newly elected member, Mr. Shepherd, could not render a greater service to any part of his constituency than by urging the C. P. R. to maintain a daily service between Victoria, Ganges Harbour and Vancouver. There is no reason why the people of Salt Spring Island should be compelled to go to Sidney, disembark and entrain in order to reach Victoria. Neither is there any reason why their mail should be carried from Vancouver within sight of the Island and on to Victoria to be brought back the next day, or some subsequent day, for distribution.

Bohemian.

Sir James Douglas K.C.B.

Written Specially for the Week by Gilbert Malcolm Sproat

The aborigines of our Province, lumped, in nomenclature, as "Indians," of course, are, in their groups, very diverse in character, and, also, in appearance, noticeably so, (a fact common to mankind), in relation to the influences of their ancient habitats —seacoast or interior,—hilly or plain —moist or dry, regions—not to mention more abstruse things, such as, varying, causative, hereditary, etc. Strictly, it cannot be said of an individual, that he "knows the Indians," any more than of an individual, that he "knows the whites." Nevertheless, the belief at the Colonial Office, dreading Indian unrest here, that Douglas "knew the Indians," helped him, greatly, in the later "fifties," when his general qualifications were not appreciated by the Home Government. In fact, the Indians, west of the Rockies, whom Douglas personally knew best, were, mainly, those south of what became, in 1864, the International Boundary line. His few years in New Caledonia, and his long domicile, at Fort Vancouver, did not permit much personal acquaintance, by him, with the general Indian population of the territory which then came under the Crown. There were several experienced officers, in the Company's service, who knew that population better than he did, but none of these had the intuitive quality which, in the case of Douglas, made for super-eminence. Humanity, of course, underlies all seeming differences in the cases of both Indians and whites, and it is the true "humorist" who, in time of stress, can deal best with either. I found, as a fact, in my peregrinations among the Indians of both the Island and Mainland, as Government Agent Stipendiary Magistrate, and Reserve Commissioner, that Douglas' repute, as a kind, good man, was efficacious among thousands of Indians who had never seen him, this helped, no doubt, by the high positions he held in the Company's and the Queen's services. A more valuable asset, indeed, than this, no country, peopled by different races, could possess, so that the decision of the Colonial Office, to keep Douglas in power, was justified, though "mair by gude luck than guide guidance." The Chilcotin insurrection occurred after Douglas' retirement from office, and, anyway, I doubt, if the Indians, so far north, knew even his name. The threatened rising of the Indians between Kamloops and the boundary in 1877, when Chief Joseph was in rebellion on the American side, and sent men to raise our Indians, and when every important house in the district was "picketed," waiting the signal, was the worst event in our history. "What camp is this?" said the leader of a "Joseph" party, with a "Looking Glass" badge (badge of a sub-chief) who, one forenoon, rode up to my camp. "It is a white chief's camp," replied the interpreter. "There are no white chiefs any more!" shouted the leader, and off they spurred. The point of the story is, that the old chief, Chilleheetza, of Nicola, afterwards, showing me a large medal given to him, long previously, by Douglas, whom he revered, described to me the arrival of these "Looking Glass" emissaries, and the difficulty he and other elders had in persuading the young men, among our Indians, to "wait and see, if white chiefs same as Douglas." Most amusing are the stories of the old chief, acting as "Justice of the Peace" among his people, in virtue of the said medal, placed before him on a table, the fine, usually, being in cattle. Aroused I was, one night, by timid, whispering Indians, who asked, if I knew "when the Queen was going to send for her cattle."

Changing the scene and time, it was a common detraction, in the early sixties, by newcomers to Victoria, who, probably, in the old country, had seldom been beyond, so to speak, the screech of a policeman's whistle, that Governor Douglas was actuated by "sentimentality" in Indian matters. Here is what the Governor said to me in 1860, during my first official interview with him, after expressing regret that, if I must go to the west coast of the Island, the Government could not protect me. (Being young, then, I kept a Diary): "Never trust "any of these wilder Indians, fully," said he,, "they are, indeed, like children, but children, bear you always in "mind, are very liable to demoniac "impulse. White chiefs, that is to "say, men likely to be inquired for, "if missing, they seldom attack with "aforethought, but, your common "workman, notably after leaving ser-"vice, they will kill, as they would kill "salmon." Surely there was little sentimentality in these opinions of the Governor. Being a white man "boss," the above information kept my heart from sinking, wholly, into my boots, when, a week later, a dozen savages were capering round me with drawn knives. It proved correct too, in another respect, for not a few discouraged workmen who left our settlement in canoes, without waiting for our steamboat, were murdered on the coast by the Indians. The truth is, that Douglas was, essentially kind to deserving persons of whatever race, and there was no room for mere sentiment, as to anything, in his just, firm nature. A pleasing characteristic, one not always found in disciplined, strong men, was his considerateness, especially to the young, throughout his whole career in high positions. If you ask old residenters, of either sex, for their recollections of Sir James, all of them, first, mention instances of his "kindness." He liked young men, and, also the briskness of their conduct, though sometimes restrained from approving it, officially, as for instance, in the case of my "foray" into Puget Sound, which led to diplomatic correspondence between Washington and London, and to the enjoyment, by me, of a "wigging" administered through His Excellency James Douglas, by the High, Puissant, and most noble Prince, The Duke of Newcastle, Secretary of State for the Colonies, which "wigging" was followed by the offer to me of a seat in the Legislative Council, a couple of months later.

The above characteristic of Douglas—his kindness,—being natural in the man, lasted to the end of his life, (2 Aug. 1877). Shortly before that, I remember his coming, wearily, and, as it appeared, against medical advice, upstairs to the office, in Government Street, of the Indian Lands Reserve Commission, to present the case of a poor Indian from Becher Bay who was with him—a good scene, I have always thought, for an appreciative artist. It was the hardship and helplessness that appealed to the kindly, old ex-Governor. He would have done the same for any poor white suppliant.

MY LADY'S HAND

With longing eyes I gaze
Upon my lady's hand,
As absently she plays
With one unruly strand
Of curly hair, which nestles near
A charming little shell-like ear.

Did I her hand possess
The game were surely mine:
Of trumps she has no less—
I counted them—than nine:
With such a hand as that to play
I'd win back all I've lost today.

THE SQUANDERER

(By Grace Duffie Boylan

Lord, High Lord, I have squandered well,
Plucked my days like an asphodel;

Petal by petal lightly thrown
To every breeze that is round me blown;

Ta'en my talents and flung them wide,
Golden showers, unmultiplied;

Wasted, scattered, given, not sold!
Stinting neither of love nor gold.

Prodigal squand'rer of thy hoard,
Naught can I claim from thee, O Lord,

When from the four great corners wing
Angel scribes for the Reckoning.

Yet will I make this one request;
Grant me remembrance, amethyst,

That some who pass me, as I go
From life to life, may sense a glow

Of purple radiance, a perfume
As faintly sweet as lilac bloom,

And thus recall some note of me,
As one recalls a melody.

THE SONGS OF PAN

(By Glenn Ward Dresbach)

Why will you say that Pan is dead,
With his reed pipes shattered and torn?
I heard him play, where willows sway,
By a stream of song that lilts away,
A melody made in the morn.
And he played of love and the sweets o
smile,
And of dreams come true in the afterwhil
Of the rose that hides the thorn.

Why will you say that Pan is dead,
With his reed pipes lost in the years?
I heard him weep with winds that keep
The toll of hearts on the land and the d
And he played with the drop of his t
A melody made of the cries of the street
Of the endless throb of the passing feet
And of dead dreams and of fears.

Why will you say that Pan is dead,
With his reed pipes blown apart?
For still today you must hear him play,
Nor Gold nor Hell can drive him away,
In the fields of the sun or the mart.
Oh, listen awhile! Ah, is he dead?
Each day he has come as the years have
And piped the songs in your heart!

WHITE
WHITE POLICE PATROLS ARE ECONOMICAL

The following quotation from an article which appeared in The Macon Telegraph of March 9th, tells how a White Police Patrol is saving money for the taxpayers of Macon, Ga.:

"The cost of the auto wagon was $2,600.00. If the average for the past five months is kept up, the saving to the city in sixteen months will pay for it, and over. The wagon went on duty on the 6th of October. The cost of operation for the month ending November 6th was $17.40; December, $11.80; January, $17.95; February, $18.28; March, $12.60; total average for the five months, $78.93. Average per month, $15.78. The number of police calls responded to in the five months was 1,197; average of 239 calls per month. The number of hospital calls was 196; average per month, 39. The number of miles run was 2,656; average per month, 531. The old black maria, drawn by two horses, required the services of four men, at $75.00 each, making $300.00 for men, and allowing $30.00 per month for feed of horses, and $10.00 for repairs and harness and shoeing, makes up a total of $340.00 per month, or $4,080.00 per year. The auto patrol requires only two men at $75.00 each, making $150.00 and operating expenses of $15.78, total of $165.78, or $1,980.36 per year. The saving to the city in one year is $2,090.64. Thus in sixteen months the saving alone will pay the cost of the wagon."

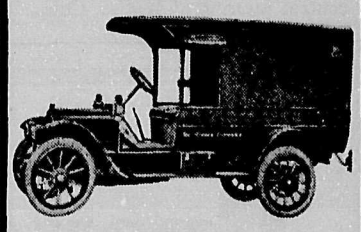
WHITE Delivery Car

The experience of Marshall Field & Company of Chicago points a moral that will guide or at least encourage investigation. Marshall Field & Company have always known what each and every operation in their establishment costs and what relation the cost of each division of their business bore toward the whole. They have for years maintained a cost system at their stable and they knew the cost of delivering each parcel each mile, so when they began "a try out" with a few motors they had a basis for comparison.



"It is worthy of note that their experiment with a few motor wagons led them to install many. It has been the same with other concerns where the cost has been known—the motor Delivery Car has stayed."

Railway to the Central Interior

Reprinted from the Vancouver Daily Province

"The announcement of the location of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad townsite at Hazelton has been awaited with a great deal of interest by a large number of people all over the North American continent," said Mr. George J. Hammond, president of the Natural Resources Security Company, in an interview with The Province.

"The Vancouver and Victoria citizens seem to be so busy with their own affairs and prosperity is so apparent in these two lower coast cities, that the wonderful development that has taken place in the interior is shoved into the background.

"The other day the stockholders of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway met at Montreal. President Hays in his annual address to the stockholders told them that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway would be running trains into Tete Jaune Cache at the western end of the Yellowhead Pass and at the head of navigation on the South Fort of the Fraser River late in 1911—which evidently means in December, 1911. This means that next spring Grand Trunk Pacific Railway freight and passenger trains will connect with the steamers on the South Fork of the Fraser River at Tete Jaune Cache, thus giving direct rail and water transportation to a country tributary to 1,000 miles of navigable waterways. If one pauses for a moment to consider what 1,000 miles of almost virgin territory means, especially a territory such as we have in the central interior of British Columbia, it will almost astound him with the possibilities in store for that region beginning in the early season of 1912.

Country of Great Possibilities

"Perhaps I know as much about the central interior of British Columbia as any man can learn at the present time. I know that beginning next spring there will actually be millions of acres of the finest agricultural land opened up for settlement and development on account of the betterment in transportation service. I know also that some of the finest timber areas in British Columbia will be available for development and large lumber interests are already in the field preparing to put into operation lumber manufacturing plants of large magnitude. I know that mining men have been waiting for years for this transportation in order that they might be permitted to develop some of the richest mining country on the continent, this all on account of transportation afforded by the Grand Trunk Pacific from the east.

"At the present time Grand Trunk Pacific trains operate from Prince Rupert easterly 100 miles. The trains can go no further than this point at present on account of a tunnel which is being constructed. This tunnel, I am told by officials of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, will be completed some time during the present winter, and then, as the railroad grade is already completed into the Bulkley Valley, steel can be laid and trains can be run to a point twelve miles west of Hazelton, where the railhead will be until the bridge across the Skeena River is completed, some time next summer.

Headquarters at Hazelton

"We all know that British Columbia is Canada's largest province, and we in British Columbia have always said that it is Canada's richest province. Perhaps it might even be news to some of the readers of The Province to know that there is more of British Columbia lying north of the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway than south of it, and I believe that the richest part of British Columbia lies north of the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

"If Vancouver is ever going to have a million population (of course we all think it is going to have) it will be necessary for the central interior of British Columbia to be developed and to be tributary to Vancouver. The territory along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in British Columbia will not be tributary to Vancouver until a north and south railway is constructed. Vancouver is going to lose the trade of the central interior beginning next spring. That trade has been large and profitable to merchants of Vancouver, and how much more so will it be when the country is opened up by transportation. I believe that in one year from the time the Grand Trunk Pacific is completed through British Columbia the trade of the central interior will amount to almost as much as the trade of the balance of British Columbia outside of the coast cities.

Prairie Cities Gain

"Edmonton merchants are preparing to open distributing warehouses in Fort George to cover the whole territory east and west, and north, and as far south as a point about half-way between Soda Creek and Ashcroft. Thus Vancouver will lose everything beyond a point eighty miles north of Ashcroft. I do not believe the people of Vancouver appreciate the gravity of this situation in regard to its effect on their own city. I do not mean to infer by this that Vancouver isn't going to go right ahead. Nothing can stop Vancouver, of course, but it is an opportunity for the prairie cities to get a foothold in what is Vancouver's own natural territory. Of course when the north and south railway is completed, which will be sooner or later, Vancouver can regain this lost territory, but in the interim, the immense amount of profitable business done will be in favour of the prairie cities. When the central interior of British Columbia is opened up directly to Vancouver merchants, then I am satisfied that the people of Vancouver will be assured of a foundation under the city to warrant an immense population—a large city cannot be permanently established without a sufficiently rich and large country back of it, the development of which will lay the foundation for future growth.

"I believe that there are going to be some big cities in the central interior of British Columbia, and these interior cities should, and will, be all tributary to Vancouver.

Boost for North and South Railway

"It seems to me that everybody ought to get out and boost for a north and south railway. Personally I have not the slightest interest in any railway charter, or any particular railway that is chartered. What I want to see is transportation from Vancouver to Fort George, and from Fort George to the Peace River. The Grand Trunk Pacific has a branch projected from Fort George to Vancouver. There are other railways either chartered or about to ask for charters to build in the same direction. It seems to me that the first railroad to put the construction gangs in the field should have the benefit of whatever boosting Vancouver and coast residents can give it. I believe that two of the most important matters to be decided by the British Columbia Government at this time are: First, a north and south railway to develop the province; and second, a scheme for harbour improvement in Vancouver. These two things are absolutely essential to take advantage of the opportunity which will be afforded by the operating of the Panama Canal.

There is a great future before this province, but it will take some hustling to keep up with the procession.

NOT SO BAD AS THAT

Two Englishmen who had been bos friends went to America. They met w poor success, drifted apart, and finally took a position as waiter in a cheap taurant. He had not been there long w his friend appeared at dinner. The mee was not over joyful.

"Why, old man, down to a waiter, Gracious, how you have fallen! And i restaurant like this, too."

"Yes," replied the waiter, turning on friend sarcastically, "but I don't eat h thank goodness."

Grand Trunk Pacific Townsite at HAZELTON

Announcement

The Natural Resources Security Company Ltd., begs to announce to the public that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has just signed an agreement whereby the official and only railroad townsite at Hazelton will be located on lot 851. There will be no station at Ellison, one mile west. Purchasers of lots at Ellison will be fully protected. Surveys are completed and plans will be published just as soon as the Government and Railroad make selection of lots. The Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will issue all agreements and deeds and the Natural Resources Security Company, Limited will have full charge of all sales.

Yours truly, GEORGE J. HAMMOND,

CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

Retiring President Discusses Tariff Matters

The annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Associa- just completed at Toronto was very successful. The entertain- t features were largely deleted with the result that this year's ering was perhaps the most businesslike ever held. Mr. Rowley, retiring president, in his address discussed tariff questions and ted out that he did not advocate a higher tariff. The association the individual members who composed it would be ill-advised to for material increases in the rate of duty. The vote of the people d not be distorted into a building permit to heighten the tariff wall. ndorsed the principle of reasonable protection.

"Other industries need protection just as manufacturing needs pro- on, and we should see to it that they get it," said the speaker. "In g the word 'protection' I mean far more than mere tariff protection. protection the ordinary tariff affords is well enough so far as it , but like a cofferdam, it is intended only as a temporary aid to nit the solid work of construction to go forward. We need to study nan methods to know what practical protection really means.

Notes of Practical Protection

"Reforestation, conservation of all our natural resources, experi- tal farms, seed inspection, elevators, cold-storage, transportation, gical stations, fish hatcheries, geological surveys, fire ranging and arch of every kind, are as essentially a part of a comprehensive, tical protective policy as the tariff ever was or ever will be. These the kinds of practical protection we should strive most earnestly ecure and to extend, because these afford the only safe and sane upon which to build for the future. Our competitors to the south ealizing this, and have already outdistanced us in progressiveness is practical policy, we must speedily follow their example or suffer onsequences of our inaction."

Favors a Tariff Commission

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association was pleased with the ect of the early appointment of a permanent tariff commission. ff-making was a science, and could be mastered only after long and nt study. In appointing a commission he thought Mr. Borden d insure a "square deal" to merchants, manufacturers and con- rs. "No matter what the cost may be, no matter whose toes may odden upon, let us first get our tariff right and fair, then let us e its stability, making from time to time only such slight modifi- ns as the changing conditions of the country demand."

On the subject of transportation Mr. Rowley pointed to the im- nce of extending and improving east and west communication, and ep as far as possible the movement of all business in Canadian nels. Every ton of freight carried over a Canadian railway or in nadian vessel gave work to Canadian crews. The sight of nineteen United States feeders stretched along and across the border confirmed this view, and the rapid construction of new lines and double-tracking of old ones was necessary to keep Canadian tonnage on this side of the border. Great as the expenditure on subsidies had been, none could regret it, for that policy had brought the provinces together and had opened up the fertile plains of the west for settlement.

Want More Distributing Centres

Winnipeg could not always expect to be the great distributing centre of the west. Other centres were springing up to challenge its supremacy. With the building of the Hudson Bay Railway, Georgian Bay Canal and Panama Canal the growth of other centres would be hastened, and a readjustment of freight rates would follow as a matter of absolute necessity.

Referring to interprovincial trade, Mr. Rowley protested against the system of licensing extra-provincial corporations now in vogue. It was contrary to the spirit of Confederation. It was disintegrating in its effect and would engender a policy of exclusion and isolation.

Discussing the British preference, Mr. Cyrus S. Birge, of Hamilton, after quoting the clause of the Grain-growers' resolution in which they asked for an increase in the preference to 50 per cent. from 33 1-3 per cent., said:—"I favour preference, but I contend that the British preference as it stands today is the extreme limit to which any Canadian Government should go. Any increase in existing preference with Great Britain would be an evil to the industries of Canada."—The Monetary Times.

THE BANK'S POSITION IN FAMOUS SUIT

Seldom is it that a Canadian chartered bank becomes involved in an important lawsuit. The action of the province of Alberta against the Royal Bank for the surrender of the portion of the proceeds of the Alberta and Great Railways Company bond sale on deposit with that bank, therefore needs some explanation. The deposit made with the bank was, by the instruction of the Provincial Government and with the consent of the railway company, opened in the Royal Bank's books in the name of the "Provincial Treasurer, Province of Alberta, Alberta and Great Waterways Railway Company, special account." The province of Alberta entered into a contract with the railway company to build a line of railroad and guarantee the company's bonds to the extent of $7,400,000.

The railway company sold the bonds in England in advance of construction and deposited the proceeds in three different banks, of which the Royal Bank was one. Before accepting this deposit the Royal Bank required, and the government passed, an order-in-council undertaking that the funds would not be withdrawn except for the purpose of the construction of the railway. Subsequently the government of Alberta, having decided it was inadvisable to proceed with the contract, passed legislation cancelling the same, and to appropriate the amounts on deposit for other government purposes. Whereupon the railway company notified the Royal Bank not to surrender the funds standing in their joint name, under penalty of damages. The Royal Bank, therefore, was compelled to decline to surrender the money on the demand of the government, as the ownership can only be determined by the highest court. Obviously the Royal Bank took the only course which could be followed by any chartered bank worthy of the name.

With regard to the other two banks concerned, an order was made in the Supreme Court in Edmonton in February, allowing them to pay their share of the proceeds of the bond sale into court, pending the decision in the case noted above.

EIGHT FEET OF CLEAN ORE

A fortnight ago, at a distance of about 1800 feet from the portal, 8 feet of clean ore was crosscut in the No. 6 tunnel of the Standard mine near Silverton. This proves the continuity of the rich silver-lead ore body found in the upper levels, and gives stopping ground of 250 in clean ore ranging from 8 to 15 feet in width. The assays average about 60 per cent. lead and 80 ounces silver. Besides the clean ore there is a large body of concentrating ore, carrying silver-lead and zinc. In places the ledge is 30 feet in width.

Grand Trunk Pacific Investors

The construction of the new transcontinental railway—the Grand Trunk Pacific—is to-day opening up new towns that in the very near future will be large and important cities. Just as the advent of the pioneer transcontinental line—The Canadian Pacific—opened and built up divisional points such as Brandon, Regina, Calgary, Lethbridge, etc., so will the new line of the Grand Trunk make large divisional points of the towns we now offer for sale.

We have secured the agency from the GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RAILWAY CO. for the towns mentioned below and the shrewd investors who can recognize the many advantages for investment in these towns at the prices of today, will share in the large profits that will accrue as a result of their rapid development. No other investment is so safe and profitable, and if you want to get your portion of the wealth Western Canada's development is creating, take advantage of this opportunity now before it is too late.

Prices of lots in all of these divisional points are $75, $100, $150, $200, $250 and $300 on easy monthly payments, no interest and no taxes till 1912, with a 5 per cent. discount for cash.

MELVILLE—The first Saskatchewan divisional point on the G. T. P. and the largest new town on the line between Winnipeg and Edmonton. Located in a rich agricultural district, an important railroad and distributing centre. Melville bids fair to become one of the important cities of Western Canada.

WATROUS—The mecca of the health seeker, situate near the shores of the famous Little Manitou Lake, and in the centre of one of the finest farming sections of Saskatchewan.

BIGGAR—The opportunity of opportunities, located in the heart of a wonderfully rich and fertile agricultural district, and with railway facilities that guarantee a future, being not only one of the most important Grand Trunk Pacific divisional points on the main line between Winnipeg and Edmonton, but is the junction of the branch lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Battleford and Calgary, which will be hurried to completion at an early date. The C. P. R. runs through Biggar, and all C. P. R. trains stop there.

TOFIELD—The terminus of the branch line from Calgary, situate near the shores of the Beaver Lake. The discovery of natural gas and of clay, and having at its door several square miles underlaid with lignite coal, promise the development at Tofield of important manufacturing industries.

EDSON—The last prairie divisional point on main line of Grand Trunk Pacific, and the gateway to the Peace River Country. Rich in natural resources, Edson lots fulfill every requirement for safe and profitable investment.

REMEMBER THE PRICES, $75.00 to $300.00, and terms of one-tenth cash and balance in nine equal monthly payments—no interest.

Death of a Prominent Citizen

Glasgow has lost a prominent citizen by the death of Sir James King, Bart., of Carstairs, who passed away suddenly early this month in his 81st year. In the course of the past half-century Sir James King had held almost every important position in Glasgow city life, and he was regarded as one of the princes of finance in the West of Scotland. Sir James and Lady King were married on August 20, 1861, and celebrated their golden wedding only a few weeks ago. This interesting event was marked by presentations from the estate workers and household staff, and also from the agricultural tenants.

Bequest to Ruskin College

It has been reported to the Executive Committee of Ruskin College, Oxford, that the late Mr. C. S. Buxton, formerly vice-principal of the college, son of the Right Hon. Sydney C. Buxton, President of the Board of Trade, has bequeathed to the college the sum of £5,000, unconditionally. It is proposed to name the lecture-room in the new college buildings "The Buxton Hall," and a suitable memorial tablet will be erected.

Death of "Sherlock Holmes"

Dr. Joseph Bell, the Scottish surgeon, who died at his residence, Maurice Wood, Midlothian, a short time ago, enjoyed a fame extending beyond medical circles, for he was the original of "Sherlock Holmes." The gentle art of discovering a murderer by his cigar ash was evolved by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's mind as the result of a minute observation of deductive methods of Dr. Bell.

Special Constables

The Home Secretary's scheme for the new reserve police force has been severely criticised on Tuesday by a meeting in London of the chairman of watch committees and chief constables from the great towns throughout England and Wales. Objections to the scheme will be laid before the Home Secretary.

Mr. C. B. Fry's New Ship

The old gunboat President, once the drill ship of the Royal Naval Reserve in London, has been given by the Admiralty to Mr. C. B. Fry to enable him to extend his boys' sea training school, which now has its headquarters on board the Mercury, at Southampton Waters.

Notable Indian Career

A distinguished India public servant and a man who has achieved no-less scientific distinction is removed by the death of Sir Herbert Hope Risley, K.C.L.E., who passed away suddenly, at his residence, Hill-side, Wimbledon.

Sir Herbert, who was sixty years of age, entered the Indian Civil Service forty-eight years ago, and in the course of many important posts. His last and most active achievement in India was the Press Bill, which the excesses of the native publications had rendered necessary.

His writings on the anthropology and ethnography of the various races, castes and religions, their complicated marriage customs, won for him a almost unique reputation.

Boys Scout Farm

A novel scheme for the further training of Boy Scouts and, incidentally, for bringing English boys "back on the land," is being inaugurated at Hurst, in Sussex. Mr. B. Newton-Frant, has presented the orphans of the scheme with a fine farm called Buckhurst Manor Farm, which consists of a large house, farmery and 1000 acres of farm and woodland.

The house will accommodate some forty boys, and it is proposed to open a training school here which shall be run as much as possible by the boys themselves.

Sir R. S. S. Baden-Powell is interesting himself in the scheme.

Life Devoted to the Poor

A bust of the late Dr. Stanley Bean Atkinson has been unveiled at the Mile End Library, Bancroft-road, E., by Sir William Collins.

Dr. Atkinson, a barrister and doctor of independent means, devoted the chief part of his life to the welfare of the poor in the East End and was a member of several public bodies.

During the parliamentary election of January 1910 he was extremely active, and on the eve of the poll he returned home to die at the early age of thirty-six.

Mr. Hardy as Playwright

News comes from Dorchester that Mr. Thomas Hardy, the novelist, has in his seventy-second year dramatised his Wessex story, "The Three Wayfarers."

Mr. Hardy is a great lover of the stage and has attended many of the rehearsals of the Dramatic Amateurs of Dorchester, his native town and the Casterbridge of one of his books. He has thus already witnessed adaptations of "Far From the Madding Crowd" and "The Trumpet Major."

The Dorchester Debating Society will produce Mr. Hardy's play next month.

Message to Mr. Borden

The General Purposes Committee of the Tariff Reform League at a meeting in London, over which Mr. Henry Chaplin presided, resolved to send a message of congratulation to Mr. Borden on "the splendid spirit and loyal devotion to the cause of Empire shown by the people of Canada" at the recent elections.

Herring Nets Blessed

At a service conducted in the parish church by the Bishop of Neath the interior of the church was festooned with herring nets, which the bishop took in his hands and blessed. The ancient fishers' hymn, "Come mess-mates, 'tis time to hoist the sail," was sung. Prayers were offered for the success of the herring voyage, and for the safety of the fishermen engaged in it.

First Medical Lord Mayor

A feature of the mayoral year of Sir Thomas Crosby, the first medical man to be elected the Chief Magistrate of the City of London, will be a great gathering of doctors at the Mansion House.

THE VALUE OF SMALL SAVINGS

If a young man 15 years of age were determined to save three car fares a week, and to pay the 15 cents thus saved every week until he was 60 to the Canadian Government for the purchase of an Annuity, the result of his thrift would be that from and after 60 he would receive $25.18 every three months so long as he lived. If he died before he was 60 all that he had paid in with three per cent compound interest would be refunded to his heirs, and if he died just before his first instalment of Annuity fell due his heirs would inherit $771.70. A postcard sent to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, giving your age last birthday, will secure you information as to what an Annuity will cost.

Provincial Elections Act

Victoria City Electoral District

TAKE NOTICE that objections have been filed with me against the following persons' names being retained or placed on the List of Voters for the above district on the grounds set forth.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that I will on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1911, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House, Bastion Square, Victoria, hold a Court of Revision for the purpose of hearing and determining said objections.

Unless the person objected to or some other provincial voter on his behalf appears at the said Court and satisfies me that the said objection is not well founded, I shall strike the name of the person so objected to off the said list.

Dated this 12th day of October, 1911.

HARVEY COMBE,
Registrar of Voters.

Art in Realty

That the real estate business could made artistic would seem to be most impossible to the average ind. Yet that is what has actually ppened in the case of Moore & hnston on Yates street. Mr. John-on has more than once surprised the blic with his originality in dress-g the firm's window, but his latest hievement places all past efforts sily in the shade for skill has rged into art.

n the evening pedestrians are posi-ely electrified gazing upon a modest mber of violet blue cards on bam-o stands, and at the top of each d a golden nugget; an electric light b causes an intermittant flash of e ten seconds duration to illum-te each card in succession produc- an effect altogether delightful in delicate harmony of colour and ar-gement.

ertain scientists have discovered t the violet ray may be used ad-tageously for increasing the wth of hair or to improve the com-ion by invigorating the skin. It occurred to the writer that this lt might be achieved without fee gazing steadily for a while at the ts in this progressive firm's win-. When asked if he thought it ly paid to take so much pains Mr. re replied "that their aim is to se as well as serve the public." t this end has been achieved is ly evidenced by the growing larity of both partners, who are ling up a goodly clientele in a omenally short space of time. men have learnt to specialize heir business, and devote their principally to the selling of Vic- and Port Alberni properties.

nother Big Class Become Moose

the third meeting of the Vic- Lodge, No. 738, Loyal Order of e, on Monday, October 23rd, t 300 new members were taken in, which makes a total of 900 members. Of this number 650 have gone into the lodge and taken their obligations. There will be another big meeting on Wednesday, November 1st, and there will probably be 300 or 400 going in at that time. The entertainment on Monday night was splendid. Miss May Thurston, the famous soloist, of the Songhees Grill, rendered several pleasing selections which were enthusiastically received and William Lochraine, the Scotch monologist, made a big hit. Gust Stevenson and Walter Rex, of the Sullivan & Considine circuit, all visiting Moose, kept the house in roars of laughter, while Michel Nagel simply made the piano talk. The Moose Bowling team of Seattle has accepted the challenge of the Victoria team. The team will leave here for Seattle on the 4.30 boat Saturday evening. Mr. F. R. Cox, the organizer, says there will be something doing all the time. The Moose club rooms at 1230 Government street will be open for members at all times.

A Few Facts About Hope

There is considerable activity in the historical town of Hope these days. Real estate values have increased very considerably owing to the announcement made by the C. N. R. that they will have their trains running into Hope before the end of the year. This together with the latest announcement that the V. V. & E. railway, which is the Great Northern, have decided to locate its car shops and yards at Hope, is making things hum. It is well known that the V. V. & E. will not parallel the C. N. R. between Hope and Port Mann, but will run over the C. N. R. tracks connecting with the Great Northern System at New Westminster. The completing of these transcontinental railroads directly into Hope will give direct connection with the East and South and will open up a very rich territory in the valleys of the Coquihalla and Tulameen and all will be tributary to Hope.

Mr. T. A. Cross and Bagshawe & Co. are selling considerable property in the townsite of Hope. They report the values of their property will increase by 25 per cent. by the last of November and are experiencing a decided activity in the realty market of Hope lots.

GOSSIP FROM THE STALLS

gagement at the Victoria Theatre on Wednesday, November 1st, for one night, in his eminently successful musical feast, "The Girl, The Man and The Game."

Not entirely satisfied with his cast of last season Mr. Clifford at the close of the season immediately hastened to New York to obtain a prima donna and soubrette superior to those of last season. After many weary weeks he successfully outbid all the New York magnates and for the prima donna role secured Miss Wilhelma Bowman, whose vocal ability of great merit, combined with a fascinating stage presence, have made for her an enviable reputation.

The play in itself is irresistably funny and while it would be an acceptable offering as a straight farce, Billy has added to it sixteen catchy songs from the pens of the best composers of light airy music which are programmed as musical interruptions and are very acceptably rendered by the various members of tfhe cast.

REMOVAL NOTICE

Having found it necessary to secure larger Sale Rooms, we have leased the INSTITUTE HALL, VIEW STREET, where we will be located from NOVEMBER 1st. These rooms are as large again as our present place which will enable us to handle any quantity of furniture, etc. It is also well adapted for holding Real Estate Sales. Another feature of this hall is, that it is well lighted. We will also have ample accommodation to hold our regular Stock sales on lot adjoining the building, where we will have stationary chicken coops, stalls, etc.

LIPTON'S TEA
OVER 2 MILLION PACKAGES SOLD WEEKLY

PROSPECTUS

SIZE Seventy acres (more or less).

LOCATION The property known as the "Lindmour Farm," in Sec. 8, Range 1, North Saanich.

DESCRIPTION This is all absolutely level land, with good soil, shade trees and no rock. Half of it is cleared and slashed, a creek runs through part of the property and there are good wells on it. It is within a short distance of Union Bay, one of the coming Summer resorts of the Peninsula and a first-class automobile road runs from Victoria right past the land. The new line of the B. C. Electric Railway will pass about one hundred yards to the east.

VALUE The value of the property is placed at $23,250.00, being divided into thirty shares of $775.00 each.

TERMS Cash $200.00, balance $100.00 per year until paid with interest on unpaid principal at 7 per cent. per annum.

OBJECT The proposition is to subdivide the property into five-acre blocks and to re-sell at $600.00 per acre up or at any higher figure that the members of the Syndicate may decide. The advent of the B. C. Electric Railway will naturally increase its value considerably. The line is now under construction, and has three camps out already, with a fourth under way. It is expected to be completed in twelve months. Directly it is in operation there should be no difficulty in selling the land at $800.00 to $1,000.00 per acre.

This Syndicate has only just been placed on the market, eleven shares being privately subscribed. Application for one or more shares should be made to the undersigned accompanied with cheque for first payment, payable at par in Victoria.

One of the prettiest weddings that has yet been solemnized in St. Paul's Lutheran Church took place last Tuesday week, when Miss Anna Elizabeth Schlemz became the bride of Mr. Norman Hess of Philadelphia, Pa. The Rev. Otter Gerbich was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Schelmz of this city, wore a very dainty dress of mousseline de soie trimmed with soft white lace and insertion; her veil of tulle held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms.

Mrs. Schelmz was smartly gowned as also was the attendant bridesmaid, the latter wearing a charming confection of pastel blue pongee silk with artistic touches of white.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 2024 Chambers Street.

Many useful and handsome presents from a large circle of friends testified to the popularity of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Hess intend spending their honeymoon in Vancouver. Their future home will be at 2211 Shakespeare street. Mrs. Hess travelled in a smart suit of brown cloth with hat to match.

A very pretty house wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, 21st October, at the home of Miss E. A. King. The contracting parties being Miss Violet Irene King and Mr. Nicholas Bertucci, the Rev. F. T. Tapscott tying the nuptial knot. The drawing-room which was most tastefully decorated for the occasion, was a mass of pale pink carnations and greenery, the wedding ceremony taking place beneath a bell of white hothouse blossoms. The bride wore a very handsome dress of heavy cream satin with overdress of net in the same tone with the conventional veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid, Miss Edith King, wore a smart costume of cream silk. The groom was supported by Mr. W. Farmer. At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty collation was served in the dining-room, the decorative scheme for which was green and yellow. The bride's travelling suit was dark blue serge. She wore with it a velvet turban hat with cream willow plume. The honeymoon will be spent in the Sound cities.

A very charming "at home" was given by Mrs. Stephen Jones, at her beautiful residence, 249 Douglas street, last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Jones received in a very handsome gown of black chiffon over pink with blue and gold trimmings, and was assisted by Mrs. Siddell, who was gowned in black voile with sequin trimmings; Mrs. Phayer (Vancouver), in white spangled chiffon, and Mrs. E. T. Siddell, who wore a handsome green satin gown. Mrs. Otto Weiler and Mrs. Frank Richards presided over the tea table, assisted by Miss Irene Howe (Vancouver), wearing a blue marquisette over pink satin; Miss Lemon, who wore a pretty gown of blue satin, and Miss Cooves in a blue crepe-de-chine gown. The reception hall and drawing-room were tastefully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and greenery. The tea table decorations were carried out in a colour scheme of pink, pink roses and carnations being daintily arranged, while streamers of pink ribbon were strung from the table to the dome of the chandeliers above, the whole effect being most artistic.

The Week's Rumours and Humours

(By The Hornet)

That the Dallas Road sea-wall hould be "rushed to completion" un-ess the big gap in the centre is to be ade bigger.

That it would be a great pity to oil the ship which has cost $100,000 r "a ha'porth of tar."

* * *

That now the ratepayers see the od work being done they will not niggardly about another $20,000.

That the Ross Bay sea-wall is be-nning to take shape, but the force men is not sufficient. It will still a race between "time" and "tide."

That many people who live near ss Bay doubt whether a seven-foot ll will be high enough.

* * *

That the main roads leading from ctoria to the country are effective-barricaded.

* * *

That outsiders may well be excused believing that the city is in a state siege.

* * *

That it hardly seems necessary to se all the avenues at once—even in interests of a paving company.

* * *

That a little learning is a danger-thing, but a little more reading ld not hurt the average Victorian.

That the ratepayers will make a take if they do not pass the Li-ry by-law at the second time of ng.

That the Colonist does not always display the nicest possible taste in its choice of phraseology.

That to state that a "bold" mountain was named after a charming lady is a doubtful compliment, although it was probably well meant.

* * *

That Victoria is likely to have a first-class Sports Club at last, if the public will only rally round the new project of the Cricket Club.

That it would be one of the most popular attractions the city could have, and easily the best thing of the kind in the West.

That Sid. Thompson deserves credit for the energy he has put into the professional soccer team, and should receive support.

That several of his team were players of note in "Auld Scotia," and should greatly strengthen the game in B. C.

That the residents of the Gorge Road are petitioning the Attorney-General to expedite the appeal in the Carroll case.

* * *

That the residence of one of the petitioners was recently mistaken for the Carroll hostelry—with alarming consequences.

That under such circumstances The Week would advise a man to take the law into his own hands, and the surer the aim the greater the obligation under which he would lay the public.

That it is coming to something when such steps are necessary in British Columbia.

That Rogers' Candy is universally popular—and that's not "kid."

That people would like to be able to buy it at least six days a week.

That hospital patients are entitled to a little special consideration at the hands of those who are responsible for creating the "noises of the night."

That visiting doctors might fairly be asked not to leave their motors near the entrance of the hospital, as the noise of re-starting spells torture to many a poor sufferer.

That Premier McBride gave the Cannery Companies a scare when he "advised" them to get rid of Oriental labour.

That these Companies will shortly be called upon to weigh their patriotism against their profits.

* * *

That it is to be hoped this will not be a case of a nod being as good as a wink to a blind horse.

* * *

That you cannot build up a prosperous country on servile labour,—whatever the colour.

That some day there will be a clean sweep of Oriental labourers from B. C., and the sooner it happens the easier will be the task.

* * *

That the time has come for the Provincial Government to take a hand in colonization.

* * *

That the resolutions passed at the Nelson Conservative Convention last November might form the basis of co-operation.

That the work will be rendered all the easier by the help of such notable British investors as the Duke of Sutherland, Lord Dunmore, Mr. Norton Griffiths and others of that ilk.

That as the winter draws near Tranquille Sanitarium is short of funds and some of the poorer of the patients lack warm clothing.

That the latter, at any rate, only needs mention to ensure the despatch of some parcels by readers of The Week.

* * *

That a box of magazines or books would be a great boon, where patients have so much time on their hands.

* * *

That justice will not be done to this splendid institution until the Government takes it over.

That it is conforting to be told by Napier Denison that all "tremors" are not caused by earthquakes, and that a good heavy blast sometimes furnishes relief.

That it is an ill-starred day which brings no Mayoral veto.

That Chief Langley is another city official who thinks that the Mayor should put what he has to say in writing.

* * *

That the Chief's letter and the Mayor's paraphrase of it had nothing in common.

* * *

That Clifford Denham has won out and achieved the honour of securing a new theatre for Victoria.

* * *

That his success is due mainly to the confidence which he has inspired in the leading patrons of the Thespian art.

* * *

That under the new regime Victoria will not be forced to take anything it doesn't want, and the popular vote will be against "reciprocity" in vulgar American plays.

That there is very little control exercised over the pupils of the High School after school hours.

That many of the girls make a rule of coming down town and loafing round the streets until the time of the evening meal.

That if parents are not willing to exercise control, the School Trustees might take some action in this matter.

That smaller cities than Victoria have a "Curfew" law.

* * *

That some people would like to know whether a well-dressed man who loafs and has no visible means of subsistence is any the less "a rogue and a vagabond" than the ragged loafer.

* * *

That population is not the only standard by which to measure a city. Babylon was the most populous city of antiquity.

* * *

That it is a mistake to buy new confections until they are "marked down."

That rain coats especially will stand a heavy discount.

* * *

That the Cook Street branch now has two of the best cars in the city.

* * *

That if the manager would just "come" once again everybody would be happy.

That there was not one discordant note in the chorus of congratulation when Harry Price won the Cambridgeshire sweep.

* * *

That he has long been the most popular man in Victoria and now he can have anything he asks for—except the mayoralty—Morley has a perpetual lease on that.

That the joyousness of the occasion was greatly enhanced by the fact that Tommy Hicks drew the lucky winner out of the ballot-box for his "friend" Price.
