Labor Troubles Disturb Britain

Lloyd George Appeals for Support in Speech in House of Commons.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Liverpool, Aug. 18.—Liverpool was comparatively quiet tonight following several days of turmoil and rioting growing out of the strike of transportation workers and allied unionists. Troops, however, continued to guard all the public buildings and patrol the streets. The electric light company succeeded in keeping the city lighted by smuggling into the power station men to replace the regular men who quit today. Additional power has been diverted to lighting streets and houses which for the past couple of days have not been supplied. It was, however, necessary to close the theatres because of their use of electric current. All taverns were closed at 8 p.m. and must shut down hereafter at 2 p.m. until further notice. It was decided also to suppress the sale of beers and other drinks in bottle form so as to minimize the use of bottles by rioters as missiles.

London, Aug. 18.—"I have not given up hope of arriving at some settlement of the difficulty satisfactory to all parties, and I appeal to the press as well as to the House of Commons to support us. I hope the men will realize that it is intended to give them fair play and not to lure out of their hands the great weapon of stirikking."

With these words as the keynote of his speech Mr. Lloyd George last night addressed the British House eloquently.

Ramsay Macdonald, labor leader, was prepared to move a vote of censure against government for its use of the military in strikes and because of its general attitude and feeling in the House ran high.

Mr. Lloyd George, however, arose and intimated that the representatives of the unions had failed to understand the government's offer to form a Royal Commission which wuold report what amendments were necessary to the Agreement of 1907, between the railway managers and the men.

H. F. Clements Gets Nomination

Will Contest Comox-Atlin in the Conservative Interests Next Month.

Nanaimo, Aug. 18.—H. F. Clements of Vancouver, was nominated here yesterday at the Conservative Convention as the candidate for Comox-Atlin in the Federal election. S. M. Newton of Prince Rupert, the chosen candidate from the north, was defeated, owing, it is said, to the delegates from the south being opposed to the wishes of the delegates from the north. Three ballots were taken and resulted as follows: First—Clements 20, Newton 19, Bates 12. Second—Clements 21, Newton 19, Bates 11. Bates was dropped on the third ballot, the result of which was: Clements 32, Newton 19.

Several districts were not represented.

Bert Buckingham, G. T. P. Brakeman, Fell into Water in Kitsumkalum River—Leaves Wife and Family.

While out fishing on Tuesday evening Bert Buckingham, a brakeman at the ballast pit at Mile 90 on the G. T. P. line fell off at the mouth of the Kitsumkalum River and was drowned.

His body has not been recovered.

Buckingham came here three months ago from Virginia, Minn., and it is understood his wife and family are still living there. The matter is in the hands of the Provincial Police.

Granby Company Purchase Launch

"Kipling" is Finest Power Boat in the North. For Use of Oificials.

Another superb launch has been added to the fleet of fine power boats plying in and around Rupert. The "Kipling" a new and handsome 60 ft. boat just purchased by the heads of the Granby Smelter arrived Company in Rupert last night and has since pulled out for Port Essington and Goose Bay.

The Kipling is in every way a beautiful power boat. Developing 60 H. P. with a beam of only eight feet and length of 60 ft. she is one of the fastest gasoline boats here making 15 knots an hour.

Her equipment is perfect. She carries two dinghies and all appurtenances of an efficient power boat. Built and purchased in Vancouver by the Granby Company the Kipling will run between Rupert and the Granby property at Goose Bay, Hidden Creek, and Observation Inlet. She is for the use of the company's officials. This morning the Kipling met the S.S. Prince Rupert at Portland Inlet to embark several of the Granby Company's heads.

There is room in these islands for a newspaper that will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; a newspaper that will not be controlled by any private interest, but will fight for the public welfare; a newspaper, not an advertising sheet, and that will give a fair return for the two dollar subscription.

That is what the "Islander" aspires to; whether it succeeds or not, depends on the people of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The editor of the "Islander" is of course working purely for his health, and for the good of the islands. Unfortunately, however, he has to eat, and would be arrested if he did not wear clothes. See the point? Two dollars, please.

—o—

"As in all small towns, Queen Charlotte has the usual number of the overworked class, who do not draw salary for wagging their tongues or poking their noses continually into other people's business. Of course they have nothing of their own."—Queen Charlotte News.

This is a very good description of a person that we all know.

—o—

Some one who thinks he owns the Dominion of Canada, and probably the rest of the world, had the nerve to lock up the public warehouse on the Government wharf. We all know that the wharf was built, not for the public advantage, but as a gift to one noisemaker who was then a strong Liberal. Still that does not make it private property, and some public-spirited individual smashed the lock. As far as we can understand the News' remarks on the subject, it was done by "those with brains and ability, who attend to their own business and are endeavoring to build up a community." That may not be what the News meant, but it is probably true, just the same.

—o—

The News implies that the law-abiding citizens of Queen Charlotte have been led by a band of "loud-mouthed hooters," but goes on to say that "most of the tribe are gone, and yet the world goes on just the same." Who are these "loud-mouthed hooters" who have left? The only important people we remember leaving in the last few weeks are Mr. Rideout and Dr. Atkinson, and their wives. We all know what they thought, but we do not think they should be called "loud-mouthed hooters."

—o—

"An honest man's the noblest work of God," and the rarest. Still, let us not tell any more lies than necessary, for honesty is the best policy. Almost every place in these islands has suffered from the misrepresentations of promoters. People who come to Queen Charlotte expecting to find "electric light, city water and miles of sidewalks" are disappointed when they see the reality, and get predjudiced against the town, though it is the most progressive on the islands. In the same way the advertising of "Graham City" has in the long run done nothing but harm to Skidegate which will one day be a flourishing fishing station. We understand that a strong company is being formed to take over Skidegate and other fishing stations, and run them with money instead of hot air. Ready money, common honesty and common sense are the passports to success on these islands as elsewhere; they have been strikingly lacking in some recent promotions.

—o—

The "News" does not intend to "divide the half loaf" of land and coal notices with us, but we can hang out for a while on bannocks and flapjacks, if necessary. For if we have not the loaf, we have quite a chunk of "dough"—well about enough for five years, and if we don't strike oil by that time we'll have honey if we have to import a hive of "B-s."

—o—

It is satisfactory to learn that those most interested in the B. C. Oilfields, Ltd., at Blue Creek, Graham Island, are more than pleased with the work so far accomplished, as well as their prospects of success. This Company have the courage of their own convictions. They took up the land and put their own money in securing a drill, and are now testing what exists there. They have never gone to the public for one cent to date, which in itself shows that they have every confidence in the property. We wish them luck.

James Dutcher and Wilson Gowing left last week with a force of Japaneese to commence work on a new fishing station at Tassoo Harbor.

The Queen Charlotte Hospital Society's affairs are now being arranged by Mr. E. M. Sandilands, Gold Commissioner, of Jedway, one of the trustees of the Society, which is satisfactory to all concerned.

C. D. Emmons is employing a force of men on his property west of Yakoun Lake. Prospects there are most encouraging. A trail has been cut from Yakoun Lake north to where prospecting work is being carried on. Another trail will be put in from the end of this new work to some place on the west coast. Mr. Emmons is giving these properties a thorough going over prior to permanent working locations. These coal and petroleum locations are the first made on the island and we are sure they have been more thoroughly prospected than any other properties outside of the B. C. Oilfields, Ltd., still but very little can be found out regarding them, as these parties are very conservative.

Beware of the man who is never imposed upon. The chances are that he is the one who imposes.

LOCALS.

The school re-opens on Monday.

Frank D. Rice, P.L.S., has just completed his work in Aliford Bay and Slate Chuck and moved camp to MacLellan's point on Lena island, where he'll be for some time.

The genial owners of the steam tug "Amy" have decided to make their headquarters at Queen Charlotte. They intend to take up land here, as well as run their boat.

Beattie makes a specialty of Chippewa loggers. They are the best.

The Moresby Island Lumber Co.'s mill is turning out lots of good lumber, which is being shipped each week to outside points.

Miss Atkins, of New Westminster, arrived Monday on the "Beatrice." She will take up her duties as teacher for the Queen Charlotte school at the opening of the new term. Welcome back!

A jolly little dance took place on Saturday night to mark the occasion of the departure of two local lads. Good music and refreshments were the star attractions.

Something new in post cards all the time at Beattie's.

Dr. Spencer attended the Methodist Indian Missionary meeting at Port Simpson last week. Mr. Peter Kelly, of Hartley Bay and formerly of Skidegate, was also present.

G. D. Beattie's new store is now completed and ranks in the A1 class. Our Postmaster deserves great credit and encouragement in building such a handsome addition to the town. The contractors, Messrs. Metcalfe & Worst, are also to be congratulated on their fine work.

It is rumored that a certain large citizen went to meet the "Prince John" on her visit here with an address of welcome, but could not find anybody to listen to it.

Expert watch repairing done at Beattie's.

During the past week Queen Charlotteites have been treated in the evenings to splendid selections of music from a first-class gramaphone on board the yacht "La Viajera," which is lying at anchor in the harbor.

J. L. Barge has received a contract to supply the steamer "Prince John" with additional fittings.

The weather this summer on the Queen Charlottes has not been equalled for many years. Only one day's rain in about three months, is surely a record.

W. A. Robertson of Victoria, who was among the first to discover coal on Graham Island some thirty odd years ago, arrived on Saturday night by the "Prince John." Mr. Robertson has just returned from a trip to Scotland and is looking well considering he is over eighty years of age. He left on Monday for his property near the Yakoun Lake to do assessment work.

SANDSPIT.

The long spell of dry weather is beginning to tell on the crops, but no serious harm has been done yet.

Mr. Rudge and family have gone to Copper Bay for the haying.

The survey ship Lillooet's launch is working around here, and a thoroughly reliable chart of these waters, which have changed somewhat since they were surveyed forty years ago, will soon be available. The surveying will not do the Sandspit much good, unless the wharf is repaired so that steamboat captains will be willing to call here. At present all the freight for this port has to be landed at Queen Charlotte or Skidegate, and brought from there in launches or scows, at great expense. The repairing of this wharf would be a better use of Government money than building new wharves at places where they are not wanted, such as Queen Charlotte.

SKIDEGATE.

Mr. Leroux has sold out the hotel to Mr. C. De Pape, who has been running a hotel at Lawn Hill. Mr. De Pape finds business at Lawn Hill too dull, and besides hopes that the addition of his family to the children already at Skidegate will make it possible to have a school there. This will make four schools on the islands, where two years ago there were none.

Fire Warden George Carmichael returned from a trip to Massett last week. He reports that no serious fires have occurred this summer, although there are a few small bush fires on the east coast.

INDIAN VILLAGE.

The Indians who went to the Skeena to fish have been having poor luck, and every steamer brings some of them back.

Berry-picking is in full swing. A party of white people from the townsite looted William Price's garden on Maude Island, and stole most of his berries. Price does not intend to let it go at that, but will see if the law does not give even an Indian some rights.

LAWN HILL.

Bush fires have been burning back of here for some weeks, and are likely to go on until stopped by rain, of which there has been none for over a month. Several settlers' houses have been burned, including those of Peter and James Adams and Nick Shug.

TL-EL RIVER.

Haying is in full swing. Walch Bros. have put up about 80 tons so far. They have built a silo and are getting material for another.

Mr. Scowcroft has brought several tons of freight, and is building a house.

Mr. Somes, Miss Somes, Miss Leary and party spent a few days here on a fishing trip. The "catch" was a good one and all enjoyed themselves to the full.

The bridge across the river is nearly completed and a first-class job of it is being made.

PACOFI.

It is cool enough in the cold storage at Pacofi. The frost crystals strike the fish stiff. About 260 tons of fish is awaiting shipment.

Mr. Pollard succeeds W. A. Griffiths as storekeeper.

Mr. Maconnachie, the manager, is spending his holidays in Vancouver.

A well loaded launch of cod and dogfish just in as we left.

LOCKPORT.

Our old friend Beresford smilingly greeted us and as postmaster and storekeeper is always on duty.

Mr. Morgan has a squad of men at work and $5000 will be spent this summer in developing the property.

Tom Kelly is again on the job, cruising timber limits in this vicinity.

Mr. Chas. Moore and party, of Seattle, spent the past week here.

Launches bore evidence of the genial climate by their loads of small native fruits.

JEDWAY.

The wharf was alive with hustling figures and smiling faces on the arrival of the new steamer "Prince John." All pronounce her a "dandy."

E. M. Sandilands, government agent, takes great pride in showing visitors what can be grown in a garden here. All kinds of flowers are in bloom in his lovely garden and there is also a well-kept lawn.

Constable Prescott is reported to have taken up rowing exercise. Not enough work, eh?

Ambrose Jones has a fine display of garden vegetables on Burnaby Island. He has a contract to supply steamers calling at this port.

Mr. Metcalf, senr., will in future take charge of the hotel here. "Ben." jr., has left for Vancouver where he will take a half interest in the Rainer Hotel.

IKEDA BAY.

Abraham Heino has just received a shipment of 2 1-2 tons of goods and machinery for his workings on Copper Island.

The Printer's Private Opinion.

The editor sat in his easy chair,
With a manner gay and debonair.
He wrote "has went" with great eclat,
And thought it was without a flaw.
He spoke of the "widow woman" oft,
And his style was easy, nice and soft.
He said the "company are" without regret,
And he doesn't know 'twas faulty yet.

Mexican rebels he made fair girls
When he gave the Spanish one of his twirls.
Then his spelling was an awful fright,
But the printer fixed it up all right.
And the editor drew his salary grand,
And they sang his praise throughout the land,
"How smart he is" the people yell,
But the printer thinks, "He is—like h—!"

Early Missionaries on The Queen Charlottes

Within the memory of our oldest inhabitants, comparatively little was known of the islands, standing like gaunt sentinels, between the mainland of the Province of British Columbia and the shores of Asia. The first white visitor, who spent more time than others who merely traded with the Indians, was the Rev. W. Duncan, a former missionary of the Anglcan Church. He visited the camps, scattered over the East and West coast of Graham Island, bringing to the natives tidings of a "promised land" where "peace and goodwill" are attainable to all races of men no matter their condition or color. There, on the wave-washed shores, Rev. Mr. Duncan found the remnant of a once powerful nation, a nation feared by all other tribes and still one of the most robust of the fast-disappearing race.

A Fighting Race

It must be conceded that the Hydah's of the Queen Charlotte Islands saved to this country this portion of the Province. Thirty thousand warriors guarded the stretch of land, from Behring Straits to the Fraser River—watching over the waterways, in their large war canoes, and keeping time, it was not safe for traders or others, to visit the camps.

Noble Missionaries

Archdeacon Collison and his family, were instrumental in bringing about many of the conditions that exist today, on the north end of Graham Island. Twenty-eight years ago they were assisted by the Rev. C. Harrison who is still hale and hearty and has made his home on the island for that number of years. The Methodist Church arranged to take the spiritual care of those living on Skidegate Inlet and in the neighborhood of the south end of Graham Island, where the church, schoolhouse and other modern improvements, show the marked progress made in the short time the natives have been under the supervision of the earnest men and women who devoted their lives to the uplifting of the Indian.

Are Peaceable Now

It has been the bane of British Columbia, in the populous cities, to hear the remarks passed on the dangers from the natives of this Province. There are many, even to this day, who fear that their lives will be in jeopardy should they attempt to visit the back the hordes of Russia, on the one side, and the Chinese and Japanese, on the other. Every male child was trained in the art of war, and tribute in slaves and treasures of skins of the wild animals were levied on the surrounding Indian tribes. The past history of British Columbia shows that no people were more independent and feared than the Hydah's. Their villages still show the numerical strength of these Norsemen of the North Pacific.

Indian Customs

It was their custom to place the bodies of their dead on the top of spruce trees, which had been sawed off, about ten feet above the ground. There the skeletons of past generations can be seen today. in the grass-grown, deserted camps along the shores. In some places the totem poles, and other marks of habitation, can be seen for many miles, while, in the interior of the islands, no evidence can be found of their leaving the coast line. During the past half-century the noble missionaries induced this warlike nation to assemb le in two villages, where they could be taught and brought under the guidance of the government of the country. Prior to that Province. One argument and one only, need be adduved to prove that the Indians are peaceable, and that is a fact, beyond dispute, that but one police officer can be found on the Queen Charlotte group, and he resides in a settlement of whites.

Progressive Indians

The astonishment of strangers can be better understood, on their visiting the Indian villages, when it is stated that the natives show them their schoolhouses and churches; their town halls and well-kept streets; their co-operative stores and gasoline launches; their well-dressed women and children and the sanitary arrangements to preserve health. In each town can be heard the gramaphone and on the streets the uniformed bands play selections, during the summer evenings. It may well be said that the advancement of the Indian, towards civilization, is remarkable.
