An Extract

Criticism of The Cowichan Leader has come to our knowledge, and, as you are a non-subscriber, we wish to place before you our side of the case and, if possible, to enlist your co-operation in our work.

It has been stated that The Leader is now much smaller than of old and, at times, carries a larger proportion of advertising than of news. Yet the subscription price has been raised and made payable in advance.

You are doubtless aware that the materials used in printing have advanced from 50 to 500% since the war began, and that in common with other businesses, our turnover has been greatly lessened, but the same overhead charges have to be met. Our advertising revenue, the chief support of all newspapers, is one-third of what it was.

The size of The Leader for about a year past has been just half its pre-war size. All the news we can gather is still printed, but in condensed form. Criticism of our present condition is based on ignorance of conditions affecting all newspapers, and the rural press in particular. Comparisons are instructive. Eastern weeklies have raised their rates 50%, the dailies are about to increase their rates. In B. C. of 44 weekly papers reporting to the Canadian Press Association, two charge $3.00; three charge $2.50; 33 charge $2.00; and six charge $1.50.

We will gladly show inquirers copies of the weekly papers of other B. C. centres. We have before us a single sheet, printed on both sides (just half The Leader's present size) for which the residents of one community cheerfully pay $2.00 a year. They do it because they know the value of a local paper.

We ask you for your criticisms or your suggestions. The standard of The Leader is largely dependent on whether you help us to help our district—and you and others in it—by becoming a subscriber.

Editor's Note.—Substitute "Surrey Gazette" for that of "Leader" and you have the moral to this story, as far as Surrey is concerned.

The Leader carries three times the amount of advertising and about the same amount of news matter that we do.

War Conditions And Paper Shortage

We are cutting to four pages and dispensing with machine set type.

When the cash returns from Subscribers and Advertisers warrant it a return to 8 pages of Linotyped news items will be made.
