VISIT DIAMOND FIELD

Discoverer of Diamonds at Mt. Olivine Again Sees the Location.

Professor of Mineralogy Also Goes to the Mecca of Many Interested Mining Men.

Charles Camsell, Dominion geologist, arrived in town Monday and left on Tuesday for the Tulameen diamond field It was he who first discovered the diamonds in the chromite which he had taken from Olivine mountain to be analyzed at the government laboratory at Ottawa. Mr. Camsell, accompanied by Prof. Nicol, of the Kingston mining school, will spend about ten days in the above section making further investigation into the existence of diamonds.

It is believed that diamonds will be found, if at all in commercial quantity, in the Tulameen placers, for diamond mining in rock is practically impossible, owing to the expensive process and the liability to breakage when released from its compressed home.

The conditions at Olivine mountain are similar to those of Arkansas, where diamond mining on a small scale has been carried on. There is also a likeness to the Kimberley diamond field, South Africa, in that the blue clay of that section is the time evolved production of the original blue serpentine rock so common in the Tulameen section. When the Tulameen serpentine has aged sufficient it will become blue clay, then diamond mining will be profitable here as in South Africa.

Mr. Camsell has submitted his report on the Tulameen diamond field to the minister of mines and then, sooner or later, probably the latter, it will be printed for distribution. It will be anticipated with much anxiety by many claim owners and prospectors.

Most of this season will be spent by Mr. Camsell and his party in the vicinity of Steamboat mountain studying and examining the geologic conditions of this famed camp. He will also visit Whipsaw camp and other points along the east and west slopes of Hope mountains.

MINING JOURNALIST HERE.

E. Jacobs, the well known writer on mines and mining subjects, was in town from Saturday until Tuesday collecting data for a comprehensive review of Princeton and district. He went out via Coalmont, Tulameen and Aspen Grove to Merritt. Mr. Jacobs had never been in Princeton before and was much impressed with its beauty and natural possibilities. He saw the Princeton Coal & Land Co's mine, the Princeton Collieries Co's development work, the Osoyoos Coal Co's large outcrop, the United Empire's great coal and ore showing, the Princeton-Chilliwack Co's coal property and the B.C. Portland Cement Co's big construction works on Onemile.

Mr. Jacobs is a very lucid writer, conservative in his estimates, yet authentic and reliable. He has been criticized by inflationists and loud crowing boosters but he holds to the rigid rule of inditeing only fact. When Mr. Jacobs describes a mine, industry or town it may be taken as the 'last word' on that particular subject. He has the knack of seeing things as they are and nothing swerves him from the purpose to give absolutely reliable information. He is the B.C. correspondent for the Mining Journal, London, Eng; the Canadian Mining Journal, Toronto; the Engineering and Mining Journal, New York, and is Secretary of the Western Branch Canadian Mining Institute. His regular contributions to the Vancouver Province are among the classic productions of that enterprising paper.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Tomorrow is Holiday—Band Making Good Progress

Coronation Day will be observed by the closing of stores and banks and the usual pastimes indulged in.

On Sunday morning next, the coronation of King George will be commemorated at the Anglican church service. Special hymns and the national anthems will be sung and an address given on the meaning of the coronation.

How long it will be before the serpentine changes into clay at Olivine is a matter for speculation. Meantime it is the intention of the mineral editor of this great luminary to 'sluff off' any interests he may have and let others do the waiting for the metamorphic event. For Sale—Claim and a half in diamond belt, $5,000. Terms.

There is a rumor in circulation that tracklaying will shortly begin west of Princeton.

Star has received a Chaucerian poem addressed to the Princeton brass band and sympathizing with ye editor. The band practices in a room above the ed's sanctum. What with birds nesting, also bushy tailed rats and now the band, ogee, there is difficulty in concentrating one's thoughts on, ogee, any old subject. We have grown grey with trials and tribulations and, ogee, high priced bonnets, so that now we kind of hanker after misery. If it is convenient, ogee, we would like to interview the being who runs the guzzy fuzzy in the band. Something is wrong with his instrument, ogee. The poem will appear next week if there is no more noise than usual.

E. F. Voigt went to Spokane Monday on mining business.

DOMINION DAY GOES

Celebration will be Held with Usual Sports and a Grand Ball.

Wives, Sweethearts and Tillicums will Come and Help Make the Day Joyous.

Dominion Day will be duly celebrated in Princeton as in former years. Owing to unaccountable delays the usual committees were not appointed and now the whole arrangement of the celebration devolves upon a few. Possibly this will give better satisfaction and efficiency than the appointment of non-effective committees.

The sports will consist of baseball, trap shooting, athletic sports and grand ball. The Princeton brass band will discourse music for the occasion and the whole celebration is expected to be carried out with as much eclat as in former years.

The citizens of sister towns, our country cousins and the people of the Similkameen generally as well as those outside are cordially invited to attend the celebration and join in the festivities. Wives, sweethearts and tillicums come and partake of the rejoicing and good fellowship. See the posters.

MINING MAN MAKES GOOD.

Princeton Coal Property Alone is Worth Big Fortune.

The following interview with Andrew Laidlaw, whose company owns a large tract of coal land in Princeton district, is reported from Spokane: 'While there never is anything certain about what is under the ground, I look upon this as a good gamble and I do not think any one will lose his money on it.' Andrew Laidlaw, known through the northwest, as 'The Spokane Coal Baron,' said this in discussing the prospects of the Northern Coal Syndicate in an interview here today. The Northern Coal Syndicate, whose $100,000 issue of stock in 1,000 shares, is being underwritten by the Canadian-American Securities company of Boston, was financed by Mr. Laidlaw. He has every confidence in the success of the enterprise, which is to be formed for the purpose of locating and developing coal lands in the Pine River Pass country in the Peace River district in northwestern Canada.

Mr. Laidlaw has as his associates in the various coal enterprises many men of prominence in financial and industrial circles in the United States and Canada. He is identified in these capacities with the following corporations: President, Jasper Park Collieries, Ltd., Jasper Park, Alta., capital, $1,000,000, capacity 350 tons daily; President, Princeton Collieries, Ltd., Princeton, B. C., capital, $2,500,000, capacity 500 tons daily; President, Galbraith Coal Company, Ltd., Lundbrek, Alta., capital, $1,000,000, capacity 350 tons daily: President, Coal Securities company, Ltd., Frank, Alta., capital $1,000,000; President, Durham Collieries, Ltd., Lethbridge, Alta., capital $1,500,000; Vice-President, Royal Collieries, Ltd., Lethbridge, Alta., capital $3,000,000, capacity 400 tons daily, and Director, People's Coal Company, Ltd., Alberta, capital $250,000.

TOWN AND DISTRICT.

Knudson & Rainbow have the contract for erecting the blacksmith shop and carriage works for C. L. Cummings, whose business now demands enlarged premises.

C. W. Burdick, a Chicago manufacturer, is in town and will visit the Gladstone mine with E. P. Wheeler at Friday creek, in which both are largely interested.

Campers and all others are warned to be very careful with fire now that the dry season is on. Carelessness with fire has cost this country much in loss of life, timber and property. The minimum fine for any infraction of the Bush Fire Act is $50.

Rev. T. A. Osborne, missionary of the Methodist church, arrived today and will begin his labors in Princeton and district. He will occupy the house formerly owned by Mrs. Allison on the flat, now owned by the United Empire Co. Mr. Osborne has been connected with evangelical work in the old country and prior to his arrival here was stationed at Armstrong. He and his wife will be welcomed by the church here.

The Orangemen of Princeton will celebrate the 'Battle of the Boyne,' 12th of July, at Hedley.

Mrs. L. McMullen and children left today for Pomeroy, Wash., where they will visit relatives, later going to Bellingham to reside. Dewey, as Star newsboy and Miss Ruby, as telephone operator, will be missed in these onerous capacities. Irving and father are at work on the Steamboat trail and will follow soon.

The band concert arranged by Manager Rainbow Sunday afternoon was appreciated by the public. Everybody is pleased to note the rapid progress made and Prof. Coulthard has good reason to be proud of his pupils. There are citizens who have not yet 'come through' with subscriptions to the band and while everybody is welcome to listen to the music it would be all the more appreciated if a monetary interest were taken in it. See the genial sec.-treas., G. Lyall, while the impulse is strong in your chest and make him smile with a generous contribution.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Tomorrow will be observed as a holiday throughout the empire. It is the day upon which official recognition is made of the right of the king to wear the crown in legal succession to his father. The act of crowning King George V. on what is known as Coronation Day is the observance of law and custom as old as the monarchy itself. His accession to the throne followed immediately after the death of King Edward VII. but the coronation with its attendant festivities and rejoicings is delayed until the end of the prescribed period of mourning. Among other things in the oath which the king will take tomorrow are his solemn promise to do justice to all of his subjects and 'preserve to the bishops and clergy of the united church of England and Ireland all such rights and privileges as do, or shall appertain unto them, or any of them.' The practice of crowning is very ancient as one observes in sacred history. As loyal and patriotic subjects of the king Princetonians will observe the day in spirit, if not in elaborate letter, and all will join in 'God Save the King.'

So ridiculous was the annexation cry of the anti reciprocityites at the beginning of the agitation in favor of it that now one hears very little about the silly thing. It is not worthy of representatives of an intelligent people to attempt to throw such coarse dust in the eyes of voters. Any observer of the aims, ambitions and policy of the government and people of the United States must know that annexation is foreign to the genius and history of that nation. They are not aggresssive regarding the acquisition of territory. Why, then, should they be charged with suddenly developing a greediness for Canada and a strong desire to annex it? The whole annexation scare is a fabrication pure and simple of the Tory press and party demagogues in league with the rich manufacturers. They are fearful the Liberal party will gain popularity with the people and a further lease of power if reciprocity should be accomplished. Beyond all doubt reciprocity will become an actuality between the two countries and for the Conservative party to have no lot or share in this great measure means that they will be consigned to the shades of oblivious opposition for many years yet.

Large quantities of butter, eggs and fruit are now imported into the Princeton district on which the consumer pays an increased cost on account of duty ranging from 2c. per lb. on strawberries to c. on eggs per doz. and 4c. per lb. on butter. Here is argument in favor of reciprocity. British Columbia farmers and gardeners, as well as fruitgrowers, cannot supply the home demand for these products. Why continue to protect these articles when the home production fails to little more than half supply the home demand? Princeton and Hedley are large consumers of imported foods and reciprocity will benefit these towns by removing the obnoxious duty and thus cheapening the necessaries of life.

Joseph Chamberlain, M. P., said seven years ago that the colonies would not want for suitors and advised the British people to court them while they still are willing to receive their addresses. His words have been verified. The government of the United States is now a suitor for the expanding trade of Miss Canada. Uncle Sam is all business and is ready to take down the fence along the international boundary that he may have more business. How different with the old country which still puts an obnoxious embargo upon Canadian cattle.

We shall hail the new gold coins of Canada with delight providing we can get all we want. Trouble with most people is a scarcity of any kind of money. Gold has a peculiar charm and it is hoped it will in its new form enlarge the hearts of those who dislike paying an honest debt.

When the superintendent of an important public service has 'outlived his usefulness' the administration and enforcement of law and justice are dependent on slipshod methods. Graft, tipping, rakeoffs and general inefficiency seem to result where there is a fossilized head. Change and reform are required in government departments if they are to be of public benefit or use and kept in line with progress and improvement.

It is inborn in every person to some day enjoy the simple life in country seclusion; far from the roar and bustle of business and labor. There are few spots on earth where there is more enticing scenic beauty than in and around Princeton, offering all the inducements for that simplicity of life which makes for poetic loveliness. The pure, simple life is the childlike life, knowing no error, denying all evil and living the life that overcomes sin, sickness and death.
