Princeton coal is precious, hence the term 'black diamonds.'

SIMILKAMEEN STAR

There is danger in extremes, moderation is always safer.

Coal is the backbone and mainstay of Princeton and six different coal companies are wise to this fact—Thousands of miners will yet be employed in this district in the production of coal and the manufacture of coke—Metalliferous mines in the vicinity.

Vol. XI. No. 49. PRINCETON, B. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1910. $2 a Year in Advance

THAT YAWNING GAP

V., V. & E. has Easy Grade to Summit, but Slow to Build It.

Boards of Trade will Ask Government to Prod Jim Hill some and Finish Road.

Plans of the revised survey of the V., V. & E. railway from the summit of the Hope mountains at the headwaters of the Coquihalla river down the eastern slope to Otter Flat, a distance of forty miles, are now being prepared and will shortly be forwarded to the Minister of Railways at Ottawa for approval and filing. Two survey parties spent the past season on the eastern slope to secure a better grade and were successful. Chief Engineer Kennedy reports that for the entire distance of forty miles a maximum gradient of 1.2 per cent. and less than 1 per cent had been obtained.

It is understood that the construction of the 40-mile section from the end of the graded section at Otter Flat to the summit will be begun in the early spring and continued vigorously until completed. Construction on the western slope may be delayed until a little later, but in two years the gap between Princeton and Vancouver is expected to be closed.—Nelson News.

In response to a request from the Vancouver board of trade the Princeton board is expected to adopt a resolution favoring government interference in the matter of delay in building the V.,V. & E. railway. Immediate action will be taken by the Vancouver board and it is up to the local board to help. The resolution should be framed in as dispassionate language as possible after eight or nine years have been frittered away in snaillike promotion and construction.

MINING ENGINEER TO REPORT.

F. Keffer, mining engineer for the B C. Copper Co., of Greenwood, arrived in Princeton Saturday last, leaving on the following day with E. F, Voigt for Copper mountain. It is understood that Mr. Keffer is specially engaged to make final report on Voigt's Camp, which is under negotiation of sale by a large and well known mining firm. It is some five years since Mr. Keffer was here, then directing operations at the Sunset, under bond to the B,C. Copper Co. He has been with the company for some fifteen years. and knows the Boundary and Similkameen mining districts better than any other mining engineer. Mr. Keffer says that copper mining is sluggish, the low prices being responsible for this condition. It is his, and a general expectation, that copper will regain its old quotations and revive the stagnant condition of the market shortly.

FT. GEORGE IS GROWING.

J. R. Campbell, proprietor of the City Drug store, arrived back from Ft George last week where he had been establishing another drug store. He speaks in very glowing terms of the prospects of Ft. George, a vast mineral and agricultural country lying tributary and to which it holds the key Heavy investments have been made by capitalists in and around Ft. George and there is every prospect of a large city rising up where the embryo town now stands. Mr. Campbell will spend the winter here, returning to Ft. George early in the spring. Dr. Lazier has a large practice there and takes a working interest in everything that pertains to the advancement of the town. Six steamboats ply on the river during navigation season and ten automobiles, besides horse coaches, connect Ashcroft with Quesnel and Soda Creek at the foot of the river rnn. The rail road is expected to reach Ft. George in about another year.

GOOD OLD SANTA CLAUS.

Christmas is just three weeks and three days away and for the information of good boys and girls Santa Claus sends a wireless message that he is feeling tolerably well, although now a very old fellow, and hopes all his dear kiddies are enjoying good health and having lots of fun. The reindeer are all in good condition, thanks to the fine moss and wire grass among the tall spruce at the head of Granite creek. As Christmas comes on Sunday, Santa will arrive in Princeton with his fourteen fleet limbed reindeer on the wings of Boreas Saturday night at 12.

HIGH COMEDY.

'Twelfth Night,' Shakespeare's great comedy, was played last Saturday night to a comparatively small house, the merits of the play and the players demanding a much larger audience. It is so seldom that drama of the highest order is produced in Princeton that it is difficult to arouse due appreciation. The immortal bard of Avon must have been in very happy vein when he wrote this play, for it all fairly bubbles with funny sayings and situations. Mr. Walker is to be congratulated on the excellence of the performance presented.

J. Budd, of Blairmore, Alb., manager of the Blairmore Cement Works, was a recent visitor to Princeton.

P. Haywood, C.E., is engaged running out the lines for the big ditch required in the hydro-electric power enterprise promoted by W. C. McDougall.

LET CAPITAL WORK

Policy Outlined to Bring Capital into Touch with Mineral Claims.

Railway Official will Route Passenger Traffic via Princeton for Steamboat Goldfields.

EDITOR STAR—Sir: Will you give me space in your paper to present a few facts bearing on the development of the Similkameen valley. We have been waiting for capital and transportation to come and seek us and after years of waiting we have a piece of a railroad. But the capitalist in his private car has not visited the district and we are still waiting. We have done our part. We have got the mineral showings and have opened them up as far as we have been able and we must have aid to bring our holdings to a point that will give us the return we have earned by these years of labor and waiting.

No one disputes our claim to a great mineral belt. Where claims have been examined the split has always come over the price to be paid. The claim owner, knowing the value of his ground, has felt justified in asking a cash payment that would compensate him for his privations. While there is an abundance of money in the hands of capitalists' agents to develop properties of merit, they will not part with large amounts of it simply to give them a privilege to go to work. But give them terms that if their work proves you to have a mine they will give you a mine price. One point we are apt to overlook in building our air castles is the fact that we are obliged to go into competition with the mineral showings of the world to secure our development money.

Work for Common End.

Copper mountain could have had M. K. Rodgers's money instead of the Hidden Creek property, so it is reported, if the goods could have been delivered. Now, we know that we have numbers of properties which, with the same expenditure would come into the dividend class. It matters not what the conditions have been we should make an effort to make a change of front and by consolidation of interests push our valley to the front and consider a gain at any point our gain.

I note that the Princeton board of trade has already moved in the matter of a trail to Steamboat mountain. I called on the Great Northern passenger agent at Seattle, pointing out to him that Princeton had the down hill trail to the new gold camp and was the best point for supplies, gnides and horses, and they should ticket the business that way in the spring. I have the promise of the railroad official that he will cooperate with the board of trade.

Let us pull together in this matter and see if we cannot put new life into the valley and turn some of our wealth from the grouud into the banks before another 12 months. This is our year and with capital looking this way we should win out. Let us try it on these lines.

Yours truly,
H. B. BROWN.

Spokane, Nov. 23, 1910.

BIG MINING DEAL.

Every person will be pleased to know that E. F. Voigt has very favorable prospects for closing a deal for his mining property on Copper mountain. When it is remembered that he has lived with his family for about a dozen years on isolated Copper mountain it will be admitted that a liberal reward is due. Mr. Voigt has done a herculean work in proving so large a property as Voigt's camp. It all tends to establish the well known reputation of Copper mountain and will make for the general good of the country. No details of the proposed turnover have been made public, but it is said that a smelter is in the agreement.

OBITUARY.

The sudden death of Stephen Brooks, prospector, last Friday, while driving a load of hay near Otter Flat, removes a well known and familiar figure from the district. He was apparently in his usual health, but having to pass a team in a difficult place he probably became worried or excited, producing heart failure. When found by J. Riddell he was lying outstretched on the load without any marks or signs of violence or struggle. An inquest was held by Coroner McCaffery and a verdict of death from natural canses found by jury. The funeral was held on Sunday, service being conducted by T. W Mills, Presbyterian missionary student. Deceased was kind and generous in disposition and had many friends, a large number being present at the funeral. To the bereaved relatives Star extends sincere sympathy.

A. H. Kelly. of Nelson, who visited Princeton a short time ago, was interrogated by the News of that city on his return and gave some interesting facts about the mining possibilities of the district. He stated that Princeton was destined to be the largest city between Nelson and the coast. Mr. Kelly will probably make Princeton his home and has purchased some real estate with that end in view. There is room for him and he will be a very welcome citizen.

R. Cross and Mr. Emason arrived from Spokane yesterday.

F. E. Groffman returned Friday from the coast, having successfully completed a large transaction in timber.

DEVELOPMENT AND TRAILS.

That Princeton district has great possibilities no one can deny. Its chief resource must always be mining, but there are other industries which will add largely to the general wealth and development of the town and district. The manufacture of coke and cement is no longer probiematical since there is proven to be an abundance of raw material and the initial work of laying down plants begun. Work is now in progress on a large hydro-electric power proposition which will afford cheap and efficient energy for driving all kinds of machinery, tramcars and lighting. In the natural order of progress and to supply the ore with convenient treatment a smelter will be erected in dne time All these enterprises are merely forerunners of others which follow in the wake of population and industrial activity. As a distributing center Princeton has unrivalled position and facilities. Here all mining men and prospectors come for outfitting purposes and the necessary business and informative interviews with the government's mining officials. The trails leading toward the Hope mountains pass through mineral sections abounding with inducements for prospectors. For his horses he will find plenty of grass in season and for himself fish and flesh ad libitum in the omnipresent lakes, creeks and mountains. Existing trails may be readily connected up with the Steamboat mountain goldfields now attracting continental attention. The government will reap a large revenue from the expenditure of money in making the mineral fields west of Princeton readily accessible for prospecting. The proposed interprovincial trunk road will do much to open up a portion of Hope mountains, but trails are immediately required.

ENLIGHTENMENT AND REFORM OF LEGISLATURES.

Reforms in legislative bodies are in process of agitation in various countries. And this is in harmony with progress which is the spirit of all enlightened ages. In Canada the reform of the Senate has been long regarded as a necessitous work if the best results are to be attained from a second chamber. The difficulty has always been to preserve the absolute independence of the Senate, which, apparently, cannot be done so long as its members are created by the commons. Any government remaining in office a few years will change the complexion of the Senate to its liking; a very natural and a very simple process. The creative powers of the commons manifestly operate toward a lopsided senate, for the creature is more or less subject to the creator. An elected Senate of twenty members instead of some eighty appointed senators as at present, would give better service. In England the chamber of hereditary lords is about to undergo modification, if not complete revolution. As the masses of Britain become more and more enlightened the principle of legislation by hereditary and created peers will become increasingly repugnant. 'Square' and fair government cannot be obtained where the legislators are all of a particular and select class, where title is considered of more importance than ability and any dunce may take his seat as a legislator by hereditary right. There is only one method by which fair and equitable legislation can be attained, and that is by giving the people opportunity, as near as possible, of legislating themselves The people must choose those who make the laws and on all questions of vital importance the principle of referendum should apply.

MINING SCHOOL.

This is not the first time mention has been made in these columns of the necessity for a mining school in this province, where the mineral resources are of such vast importance that the necessity for teaching young men scientific mining is most obvious. The school properly located and equipped would readily attract the young men of the province to one of the most interesting and lucrative of professions. Mining is in its infancy in B.C. and unless a school is started in some one of the mineral sections of the province where practical demonstration may be readily obtained. there will continue to be a serious lack of capable men in the actual work of developing and operating mines. It would be a mistake to locate the school in connection with the proposed university away at one end of the province, and in a climate that is noted for its weeping skies. Princeton district contains every requisite for the practical field study of nearly every branch of mining, for here there is clay, jasper, limestone, precious metal placers, ore and coal mining, and a climate remarkable for sunshine and healthfulness.

A. Reith, wife and child, left yesterday for Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles, on an extended visit to relatives. They expect to spend Christmas 'neath the shade of the old apple tree,' and plucking ripe oranges. Mr. Reith will visit El Paso, Texas, where his brother, late of Keremeos, is staying in the hope of improving declining health, and from there he may run over to old Mexico, visiting a nephew, the whole trip occupying some three months.

The funeral of the late Hugh Cowan was largely attended, service being conducted by Rev. G. R. B. Kinney, of Keremeos.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bell returned today from a very pleasant trip east and to the coast.

Born—On the 9th inst., the wife of C. L. Cummings of a daughter.

P. W. Gregory, P.L.S., has been engaged at Hedley during the past week and is expected to return today.

Mrs. Gorsulowsky paid a very pleasant visit to Oroville friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Swanson have returned, the former from Chicago and the latter from a home visit to Scotland.

Mrs. Morrison, a former resident of Princeton, now of Vancouver, is visiting Mrs. Murdock, Billiter Av.

King Kennedy, ventriloquist, showman, prestidigitateur and moving picture exhibitor will be in I O.O.F. hall tonight. His show is genuine, the program varied and attractive.

F. A. Howse and wife returned last week from a trip south and visited the Spokane Apple Show, which was a great success.

Star is in receipt of a letter from Seattle in which Princeton board of trade is urged to use its influence toward opening a direct trail to the Steamboat mountain goldfields.
