OVERFLOW MEETING GREETS PREMIER

RECEIVED A VERY ATTENTIVE HEARING WITH SOME INTERRUPTIONS TOWARD THE FINISH

That the present election contest is commanding the public attention to an unusual degree was evidenced by the attendance and the interest shown at the public meeting addressed by Premier John Oliver in the Oddfellows' Hall on Monday evening. Even standing room was at a premium and the crowd overflowed into the lobby. A large percentage of the audience were ladies and many were in attendance from outside points.

The chair was occupied by Mr. G. G. Lyall, president of the district Liberal Association, while on the platform in addition to the Premier were Mrs. H. McGregor, Liberal candidate for this constituency and Mr. G. A. B. McDonald of Penticton. On the whole the Premier was accorded a very favorable and attentive hearing. He reviewed in a very comprehensive way the legislation enacted by his government and let loose some very forcible broadsides at both the leader of the opposition, Mr. W. J. Bowser, and the head of the new party, Gen. A. D. McRae.

Toward the close of the meeting interruptions became somewhat numerous but they indicated the keen interest that electors are taking in public affairs rather than any disposition to heckle merely for the sake of annoying the speaker.

Tuesday afternoon, prior to leaving on the train, the Premier attended a meeting called by the board of trade in the Parish Hall at which the principal subject under discussion was the coast-interior highway. While he listened attentively to arguments favoring the Hope-Princeton route, he was quite unyielding in his attitude that the matter was one for the department of public works and the government engineers to decide upon and that their reports favored the Fraser Canyon route.

ANOTHER OLDTIMER PASSES

The funeral of David Leggett, an old-timer residing about fifteen miles north of Princeton on the Summers Creek road took place on Wednesday from St. Paul's Presbyterian Church to the Princeton cemetery, E. E. Hardwick conducting the services.

Deceased, who had been suffering for some time from cancer of the stomach, was brought into the Princeton hospital on Sunday evening in a very low condition. He expired Monday forenoon. Mr. Leggett was one of those who followed the building of the C. P. R. through B. C. and was well and favorably known to most of the oldtimers throughout the southern interior of the province. He held interest in a number of mineral claims near Fairview and Hedley. He was 66 years of age at the time of his death.

OLALLA NUGGETS

By R. W. N.

Thirty-three Free Miner's certificates were issed by the deputy mining recorder at Olalla for the current year, which shows that there are still a few claim owners left in the valley. In former years the number has usually been twice as many.

* * * *

Mr. Peter Bromley, a well-known old-timer in the valley, has leased the Willis ranch and is now domiciled there with his wife and—I was going to say family . But the family (Elwood, Ethel and Joe) have married and set up homes of their own. So Peter will have his hands full working a 300-acre ranch all by his lonesome.

As an instance of the vagaries of the weather in the dry belt it is interesting to note that last Sunday and Monday, the 1st and 2nd of the month, the thermometer stood at 88 and 90 degrees in the shade. On Friday the 6th it dropped to 52 degrees and all the highest mountain points in sight were mantled with snow. How's that for variety? Can you beat it?

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Irwin and family arrived here by auto from Princeton last Saturday and are staying a day or two. This is their second visit since they moved to Princeton a few weeks ago. Olalla certainly does seem to have a great attraction for Bert. Somebody suggested that he take a run over every now and then to see that his land gets its full share of the aqua pura that is being so plentifully dispensed just now.

The cemetery is beginning to take on the appearance of a necropolis. Two more headstones were placed in position last week, one at the grave of Mannie Barcelo and the other over the twin babies of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Innis, while a third stone was erected in the private burying ground of the Suprenen family over the grave of little boy Melville, who was drowned in Keremeos creek about a year ago. A fine stone will shortly be erected over the resting place of James H. Hayes, "Our Jim."

* * * *

Miss Dorothy Horton, who has been teaching school since the resignation of Mr. C. W. James at the end of April, has given such satisfaction to the trustees that they have engaged her as principal for the ensuing term of 1924-25. Her mother is at present on a visit here, and it has been arranged that they will occupy the two-storey house recently erected by P. T. Williams and which was tenanted by the James family before they moved to Summerland about six weeks ago.

* * * *

Mr. Eugene Janvier, returned soldier, of Vancouver, is here at present taking a look around. Mr. Janvier has been thinking of re-opening the Olalla store. It is a large store and it would cost a lot of money to fill all those empty shelves. But there was a time when the big store was fully stocked and did a large business. The last owner made several thousand dollars here. But times have changed since then. Mr. Janvier has with him an expensive radio outfit and is quite an expert in its manipulation.

* * * *

I was very much surprised a few days ago to see an old-timer that I had not seen for many years walk in at my open door. It was Jim McDougall, who was here all through the busy time of Olalla's early mining days, "when things were doing." When he left here he took the position of timekeeper on construction work of the Grand Trunk Pacific and stayed with the job to the end. He obtained several subcontracts and made quite a bit of money. Later on he became mine manager at Ainsworth, on Kootenay Lake, the oldest mining camp in B. C. He is coming now from Portland, Oregon, where he has been under an operation. He is looking strong and healthy, but of course older than he appeared twenty years ago. He is a cousin of W. C. McDougall.

Earl Howes has bought out the interest of Peter Bromley in the group of mineral claims on Green Mountain at Tenas Creek located last year by four Keremeos men—W. R. Dure, Chas. Cottrell, P. Bromley and E. Mills. Mr. Howes went up last week and examined the property with the result that he invested his money in what he believes to be a winner provided enough work is done to develop it. And this work he went up last Saturday to do, accompanied by Billy Dure and young Mills, who drove the wagon load of supplies and returned empty on Sunday. There is a fine roomy, newly-built cabin on the property situated near the creek and about a mile above the wagon road. Some assays of the quartz taken from the workings have gone over $500 per ton in gold.

After an absence of about two months Arthur Smitheram has returned from Canyon House camp, about five miles east of Brookmere junction on the Kettle Valley Railway, where about a score of men, under the charge of George Allison, have been employed cutting out and destroying the forest trees affected by the pine beetle. Most of the trees were already dead and many others showed signs of attack from this destructive pest, a small black beetle, which bores through the bark and works its way up and down and all around underneath. Many hundreds of trees, chiefly bull pine and jack pine, were cut down and burned. The men had to live in tents because the camp had to be shifted sometimes for long distances, and the tree victims were scattered over large areas. Arthur liked the work and said the pay was good and the grub excellent, a first-class cook being provided by the government.

Recent occurrences, events and happenings have made it possible to send you another batch of Nuggets. Up to the last few days there had been quite a dearth of news, at least news that would be of interest to your readers. And of course "village gossip" cannot be allowed to broadcast itself through the medium of the Nuggets column. First in importance, perhaps, amongst the recent happenings is the strenuous demonstration of old Jupiter Pluvius that he is still carrying on business in the good old-fashioned manner. This is certainly the first personal visit Jupe has paid to this section of the dry belt since last year. Two or three times he has sent in a deputy—once in February, once in April and again last Friday—who seemed to have had a cold in the head and merely blew his nose and wept a few drizzly tears just barely sufficient to lay the dust. But yesterday (Sunday) about noon there sure was a downpour. It came down straight, bored holes in the hard-baked soil and dived down almost to the roots of the deep-growing alfalfa. In a few—all too few—minutes the deluge ceased and the sun showed his smiling face behind the murk as usual, but the hue of the entire landscape was changed from a dusty gray to a vivid emerald green. The whole vegetable world lifted up its head in grateful thanks and the flowers filled up their parched stems and stunted bodies with the life-giving fluid that had been withheld from them so long. Thanks, Jupe. Call again soon!

What about the fruit this year? Is there going to be any? As far as Olalla is concerned it can be said thus early in the season that it is the worst on record. First, our usual fine showing of lilacs did not materialize, the first time since lilacs were grown here. This was blamed on Jack Frost, who paid us a visit one night. Then the currants, both black and red, flowered and dried up on the same. That was blamed on the drought. The apple blossoms, plentiful and beauteous in most cases, fell away in handfuls, leaving a solitary apple here and there amidst the leafy luxuriance. That could not have been the drought, as the trees were irrigated. Then the cherries. The Bings and Lamberts did not even trouble to put forth a single blossom, and while the small reds did make an attempt at blossoming very few of the blossoms evolved to fruit and the few cherries that resulted were soon gobbled up by the robins, who claim a heavy percentage every year, whether the crop be plentiful or the reverse. This year they have scooped the lot. Apricots and peaches, I am informed, are almost non-existent down in the big valley, but as we never had assurance enough to go in for the growing of such high-toned fruit in our rough mining camp I am not able to vouch for the truth of the statement. There will be a plentiful crop of dewberries and blackberries, and perhaps raspberries, but these latter are very late. The poets sing of " Leafy June." This year without doubt it will be "leafy" enough, for ther will be nothing else but leaves.

Olalla schoolroom was crowded to its limit last Saturday night when Mr. W. A. Mackenzie, M.L.A. for this riding, gave us a well-reasoned discourse on the Conservative aspect of the present political situation. It was a surprise to most of us to see so many present, especially of the gentle sex. Mr. Mackenzie surely did a good stroke of political business when he decided to speak at Olalla. And here's a tip to the other two candidates—Mrs. McGregor and Mr. Gregory—Don't neglect the little places. Mr. Mackenzie spoke for and one hour and fifty-five minutes without a stop, and also without invective or anything savoring of abuse of any of his opponents. Of course this column is no place for the report of a political speech, but I am bound to state that our member, after his two terms in the legislature, is quite up to the standard of political orators in this province. Many of the ladies present had probably never attended a political meeting before—at least not since their becoming full-fledged voters—and of course they became easy victims to the persuasive abilities and healthy good looks of the speaker, who was giving them their first insight into the game. I am willing to bet that Mr. Mackenzie gained at least half a dozen votes by coming to Olalla. Indeed, one lady voter told me next day that she was going to vote Conservative, whereas formerly she had always talked as a Radical. Mr. W. C. McDougall acted as chairman and spoke a few words at both the opening and closing of the meeting, which broke up at close on to 11 o'clock.

KEREMEOS NOTES

The Rev. F. Coad arrived from Cloverdale on Friday to take charge of the United Church at Keremeos in place of the Rev. E. C. Curry who left for Milner, B. C.

* * * *

Mrs. Geo. Sproule went to Penticton during the week to meet her sister who has just come from Scotland and who will make her residence in Keremeos for some time.

* * *

The weather has taken a decided change for the better, from the farmers' point of view, as we have received a number of good showers, and the temperature has moderated from the abnormal heat, which while thoroughly warming the soil, was perhaps bringing on too rapid a growth and development.

* * * *

The festive grasshopper is very much in evidence this year. So far there has been no serious damage reported and it is hoped that the heavy showers we are having will reduce his ranks. At other points we understand, systematic poisoning is being carried on, and it will be well to keep an eye on his activities here and concerted action taken if necessary.

* * * *

On Wednesday last Sybil S. Ring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ring, was united in marriage by the Rev. F. Coad to Mr. August Pedy. Both of the young couple are well known in the district and the good wishes of all the community go with them in their journey through life. Mr. and Mrs. Pedy are leaving for the coast, where, we understand, they expect to remain for some time.

The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Tweddle, when Cawston Institute members were the guests of Keremeos Institute. The regular business was held over and the meeting made a purely social one, a very good programme being given. Mrs. Echlin gave a recitation, being accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Innis. Mrs. Willis and Mrs. J. A. Brown, who is at present the guest of Mrs. Cargill Armstrong, rendered vocal solos, being accompanied by Mrs. Sproule, which were very much appreciated. Miss Giegerich gave a most interesting and all-to-short account of life and conditions in the Hawaiian Islands. The girls of Miss Schofield's class gave two songs and some of the girls in Miss Walker's class two little dialogues. Mrs. J. L. Armstrong gave a very amusing reading, which caused much laughter and came very near home to most of those present. After tea had been served by the hostesses Mrs. Tweddle and Mrs. Loudon, a walk was enjoyed round Mrs. Tweddle's lovely garden, when Mrs. Tweddle was kind enough to present a rose to everybody there.

On Monday afternoon the Premier, the Hon. John Oliver, and Mrs. McGregor addressed a large audience in the Victory Hall. The usual plea of a request to be returned to power was made but little in the way of a constructive platform was laid down. The lower freight rate policy was brought forward with much emphasis, but there are two strange points in regard to this, is the fact that everyone in B. C. wants this and has been working for it for years and also that the Hon. "John" has already made two or three pilgrimages to Ottawa and in spite of the fact that there is a friendly government in power, he does not seem to be able to produce any results. If a friendly government will not do anything on the eve of an election what can be expected after the election. We will have to get in and hit that government in their own back yard, as N.B. and N. S. have done recently in the bye elections, over similar questions, vital to them. Gen. McRae came in for his usual plaster of mud, which he is receiving daily from both the old parties, who both foresee the coming deluge.

* * * *

On Tuesday evening Mr. Gregory and the Rev. Wm. Ogden addressed another large audience in the interest of the Provincialists. Mr. Gregory laid down the well defined platform of the party and pledged himself to support this and use all his ability to see that it is carried out when elected. Mr. Ogden's address proved a rare treat for the lareg numbers that turned out to hear him. Seldom have we had the privilege of listening to a speaker with the fluency and control of expression as he displayed. His points were well taken and driven home with force, but at the same time his vein of humor kept all in fits of laughter, seldom heard at political meetings. Mr. Ogden has only been in the province for four years, but his grasp of the situation shows an extremely observant mind and he has voluntary taken the political platform, in an endeavor to rescue the province from the quagmire of political inefficiency which has brought it near the breaking point of debt and taxation. He is heart and soul with B.C.; its natural beauty and its huge resources, but believes its only hope for recovery is in the establishment of an entirely new order under efficient and trustworthy men. Mr. Ogden finished amidst a tremendous burst of applause. It was announced at this meeting that Mrs. C. R. Townley of Vancouver would address a meeting on Saturday night in the hall at 8:00 p. m. with special reference to the women's point of view of the election.

Princeton will celebrate the first of July as usual this year. Arrangements have not been completed but the committee appointed to solicit contributions were sufficiently successfull in their efforts to ensure the holding of the annual celebration. Fuller particulars will be given later.

W. A. McKenzie, Conservative candidate for this riding, arrived in town today and will address the electors in the Oddfellows' Hall this evening. Jupe Pluvius also selected this date for his long delayed visit. We cannot vouch that they are in cohoots but they both were certainly welcome.

BEER BY THE GLASS

Vancouver, June 10.—The electors will decide an important issue at the polls on June 20 when the beer by the glass measure will be voted on. The measure is sponsored by the Moderation League of British Columbia, and its passage is designed to reduce the consumption of distilled spirits in favor of the lighter brewed beverages. The government has promised that if the measure is favorably received by the electors the sale of draught beer by the glass will be permitted in government licensed and regulated premises without a bar. The Moderation League claims that beer thus served will be procurable at a more palatable temperature than is the bottled beer from the vendor's store, that it will be better, cheaper and more wholesome. There has been an insistent demand by workmen for a measure of this sort so that they might in warm summer weather be able to get a glass of cool beer with their lunch, while tourists also have urged that very frequently they only desire a single glass of beer but are under the necessity of buying not less than half a dozen bottles of warm beer from the liquor store. Sentiment generally is very favorable to the beer by the glass plebiscite, according to league officials, who take the stand that with better facilities for procuring brewed beverages of light alcoholic content, the consumption of the more stimulating spirits will be greatly reduced.

"A Snapper up of Unconsidered Trifles."

"NO RACE WAR"

The most statesmanlike expression of opinion on the Japanese exclusion question has been given by an individual who is not a statesman, but a retired Admiral of the Japanese navy. This is by no means the first occasion on which we have seen international affairs viewed in broadminded fashion by men of the sea, and there is a reason. "They that go down to the sea in ships" see many things which most other people do not, and their vision is wide. Admiral Hideo Takedo has travelled far, and, knowing both Europe and the United States well, sees quite clearly that his own country has not every side of the question to rely on in this mater. He says, "We must take into account the fact that the people of the United States have a big racial problem to solve, whereas the people of Japan are one united nation." In these words he puts the situation concisely and clearly, and we may be quite sure reflects the feeling of the sober men of his country. Racial discrimination of an offensive kind does not enter in to the question at all—it is merely a matter of the right of every country to decide as to the composition of its own population, and is that is not reasonable, it is hard to say what is. Talk of war in connection with the problem seems quite out of the bounds of common reason, and may be dismissed from practical politics.

There is, however, a phase of the dispute which seems likely to affect Canada very closely, and which will probably hasten the development of legislation in this country. The United States exclusion measure necessarily abrogates the gentleman's agreement between that country and Japan, and it is suggested that this will apply equally where Canada is concerned. If this is so, and advantage is taken of it by Japan, it is evident that our legislators will have to take steps to meet the increased influx which may ensue. The difference between the racial problem in the United States and in this country is simply one of degree:—our enighbors have allowed it to grow to proportions which now call for drastic handling—with us it is still in its infancy, and can be handled with a minimum of trouble. But it is imperative that it shall be no longer trifled with.

* * * *

THAT EVERLASTING CRISIS

Whenever I read of that crisis which we see announced every now and then in political, social or general affairs, I think of the feigned alarm of Artemus Ward when warned by a dolefull fellow passenger on the railway that they were in the presence of a crisis. "Where is it? —who's got it?" exclaimed the showman: "if any man in this train has got a crisis concealed about his person he'd better produce it!" "No, no, you don't understand! It's here, everywhere, in the air!" "In the air? Oh, well, let her rip!"

I wonder if there was ever a period in the history of the world when there was not a crisis, or a number of crises running concurrently. In earlier times many a crisis was undoubtedly encountered by men and nations who surmounted the troubles and problems of their day without knowing they had ever been within speaking distance of a crisis as such; nowadays every passing difficulty or difference of opinion is so labelled. Either mankind possesses an inexhaustible reserve of vitality to survive these repeated shocks, or the word is scandalously misused. In medical language a crisis in the turning point between recovery or death, and this is in strict accord with the proper meaning of the term—logically, therefore, we are for ever trembling on the edge in all our affairs, and only keep going by a series of miracles. The curious part of the situation is that, as in the Ingoldsby story, nobody seems a penny the worse for all these hairbreadth escapes. In fact, according to some people, a crisis may stretch out its long length over a century or more, and then be in much the same condition as at first. Thus, I find, in a recent periodical of progressive thought, some "ringing words" of Tom Paine, published in 1794, and referring to the "crisis" of that time, quoted as "just as apropos today as when he wrote them." More so, apparently, since "the times are even more critical" now, a conclusion which seems somewhat discouraging, or would do so if we had to accept it. Fortunately we don't have to do anything of the kind—we can preserve our mental balance, and recognize that "the times which try men's souls" and which Tom Paine appeared to think belonged peculiarly to his own day, are simply part and parcel of our daily life, and are met by the great mass of humanity as conditions which are gradually but surely being improved. And that improvement is not being brought about by declamations concerning this, that or the other imaginary crisis, but by the steady growth of human understanding.

NATURE FAKING

A publication which professedly exists for the dissemination of scientific knowledge might reasonably be expected to pass its contributions through the sieve of practical accuracy before printing them. The "Popular Science Monthly" has recently published an article on The United States Bee Farm which cotains some of the most absurd mis-statements possible to imagine, but which, appearing in a magazine of a supposedly scientific character, will doubtless fool many readers. To me, the chief mystery centres around the astonishing inconsistency of an article like the one in question being written by a man who obvously knows nothng of his subject. A writer who gravely informs the public for instance, that from "eggs taken from one hive and hatched in another, the young bees will return to the original hive as soon as they canfly," perpetrates an absolute inanity, and one, moreover, which, if true, would knock the bottom out of the beekeeper's system of building up his weak colonies. The saving clause in this writer's rubbish of course the fact that his information will amuse those who know, and may possibly do no harm to those who do not know. But one would like to feel a certain sense of security when reading a magazine to acquire practical information, and there comes a sense of dismay when we see such stuff as this offered us as the genuine article.

WHAT FINANCIERS THINK OF THE OLIVER GOVERNMENT

MacNeill, Graham & Co., Toronto, wrote as follows to Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, on March 18, 1924:

"We have been much interested in the perusal of the Financial Statement of the Province, and it is very evident that your position has been materially improved during the last seven or eight years. We are particulary interested in the sinking fund."

The Oliver Government adopted a "pay-as-you-go" policy.

Now that the finances of the Province are stable, taxes have been reduced, and further reductions are coming. For every dollar of debt, the Province has 31 cents to meet it, plus $10 in assets for every man, woman and child in the Province.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subject over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B. C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i. e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfiilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a compnay.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. HIGHEST PEAK IN CANADIAN ROCKIES

THE Alpine Club of Canada will this year hold its annual camp at the foot of Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, which towers 13,068 feet above sea level.

Mount Robson Park, named from the mountain which it surrounds, is a favorite stopping place for tourists from United States points who make the Triangle Tour of the Canadian National Railways, which embraces Vancouver, Jasper and Mount Robson Parks and Prince Rupert with a journey over the inland seas of the Pacific coast on one of the Canadian National Pacific Coast Steamships.

Among other things, Mount Robson can be regarded as the most frequently photographed mountain in the whole of Canada, the Continental Limited of the Canadian National Railways stopping for five minutes at the foot of this monarch of the Rockies in order that tourists who are passing through may secure photographs showing its lofty, snow-capped peak.

Just outside of the boundaries of the National Park is one of the finest big-game hunting grounds of the continent, where black, cinnamon and grizzly bear abound and where other big game, such as bighorn mountain sheep and mountain goats are to be found in great numbers. Hundreds of hunters annually make Mount Robson their headquarters for their excursions into the passes of this region after big game, for here excellent accommodation may be secured either during the summer tourist season or later in the fall when the hunters are out after their quarry.

This is an extract from the Amendment to the Liquor Act which comes into force if the Beer Plebiscite carries.

1. The board may grant beer licenses in respect of premises kept or operated by the licensees and specified in the licenses.

2 and 3. Provides for advertising notice of application for license.

4. Upon receipt of application and being satisfied of the truth of the facts stated in the application and that the applicant is a proper person to be licensed, and that the premises in respect of which the application is otherwise in order, the board may issue to the applicant a license authorizing him to purchase beer from a vendor and to sell by the glass or by the open bottle the beer so purchased to persons for consumption on the premises in accordance with the terms of the license.

5. For the purpose of passing on any application for a license, the board may cause an inspection of the premises to be made and may consider any objections to the granting of the license filed with the board by any person. The board may at its discretion grant or refuse the license applied for; and may at any time in the exercise of like discretion, with or without any hearing, by any writing under the hand of the chairman of the board or of any two members of the board, suspend or cancel any beer license for such reason as the board may deem sufficient.

6. Unless sooner cancelled, every beer license shall expire at midnight on December 31.

7. Every beer license issued under this section shall be subject to all conditions and restrictions imposed by this Act or by the regulations in force from time to time.

8. No holder of a beer license shall keep or permit to be kept in any part of the premises in respect of which the license is issued any bar or counter over or at which any alcoholic or non-alcoholic beverage is sold.

9. No person shall have, keep, or consume any liquor other than beer in any part of the premises in respect of which a beer license is issued.

10. The powers conferred by any general or special Act on a municipality to impose license fees shall become suspended and be of no effect in respect of the business carried on by a person pursuant to a beer license issued under this act.

Form of Ballot on the "Beer by the Glass" Plebiscite

Note — This Act does not prevent the sale of soft drinks — such as Ginger Ale, etc.— except over a bar. The intent of the Act is simply to provide that there shall be no semblance of a bar on licensed premises.

Do you approve of the sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises, without a bar, under government control and regulation.

THE VERDICT

Pacific Great Eastern Inquiry

ANSWER TO PROVINCIAL PARTY SLANDERS:

Mr. Gyles, Manager for Price, Waterhouse & Company---the largest chartered accountants in the world---stated under oath:

THAT all stores were properly checked out.

THAT no important document was missing.

THAT every voucher, cheque, invoice and payroll was produced.

THAT the missing books had no effect in preventing the audit, because they only summarised the invoices, vouchers, cheques and payrolls, the originals of which were available.

Mr. Justice Galliher's verdict was:

"I find nothing in the evidence in this inquiry to warrant the imputation that there was anything dishonest, or any dereliction in duty, or disregard of the public interests, or waste, extravagance, or incompetence in the carryihg out of this work by the Government."

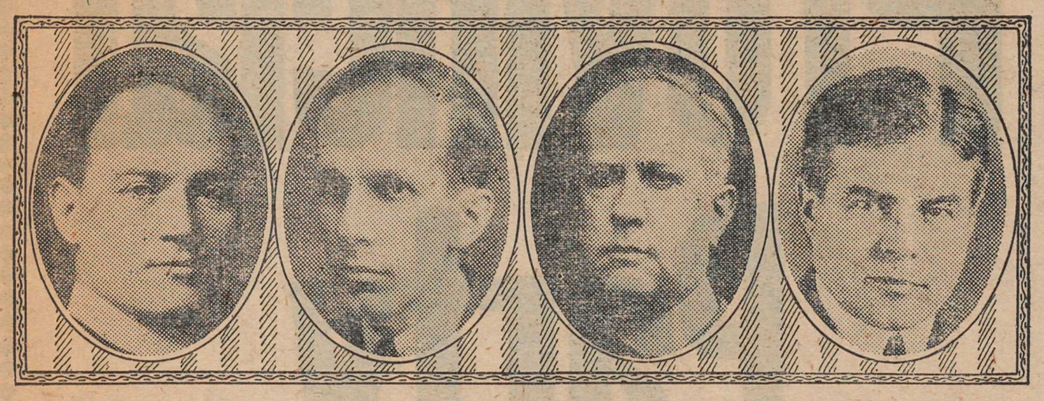
Council of Education Plans Programme



Sir Robert A. Falconer, K.C.M.G., President, University of Toronto. — Mr. Vincent Massey, Member, Board of Governors, University of Toronto. — Sir Arthur Currie, G.C.M.G., Principal, McGill University. — Mr. E. W. Beatty, President, Canadian Pacific Railway, Chancellor, McGill.

THE recent announcement that the third triennial conference on Education and Citizenship to be held under the auspices of the National Council of Education will take place in Montreal in 1926 recalls the invaluable work this organization is performing.

Under the Honorary Presidency of His Excellency the Governor-General and the Presidency of Mr. Vincent Massey, President of the Massey-Harris Co., Toronto, the Council includes many of Canada's leading citizens, among them Sir Robert A. Falconer, K.C.M.G., President of the University of Toronto; Sir Arthur Currie, G.C.M.G, Principal of McGill University, and Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It has as its principles: (1), That education should concern itself with the development of character and should provide a full preparation for life; (2), That education is a spiritual process; (3), That education is imparted by personality—its success or failure rests with the teacher; (4), That education is everybody's business, and (5), That Canada's education must be Canadian in its ideals.

The principal activities of the Council are twofold. The National Lectureship Scheme is a plan under which distinguished men and women—both Canadians and visitors from Great Britain and other countries—are engaged to speak on education (broadly interpreted) throughout Canada. The Bureau provides an organization for the exchange of information between the Provincial departments of education, for the reception and diffusion of ideas from outside the Dominion and for dispensing data concerning education in Canada to the outside world. Until the Council established this bureau, Canadian educational authorities were dependent upon the American Bureau of Education at Washington for all educational information.

The Council was formed as a result of a conference held in Winnipeg in 1919 and attended by over 1,200 persons from all over Canada. The second conference was held in Toronto in April of 1923 and was attended by about 1,500 persons, representing the nine provinces. This conference, through many brilliant speakers on the programme, among them Sir Michael Sadler, Sir Henry Newbolt, Lord Robert Cecil and Sir Robert and Lady Baden-Powell, sought to set forth the Council's conception of the role of Education as a citizen builder.

The plans for this third conference now pending were laid at a meeting held in Montreal, presided over by Sir Arthur Currie, in the absence of the Chairman, and attended by several of the leading officers of the Council in the persons of Mr. Vincent Massey, President; Mr. S. B. Gundy, Chairman of the Finance Committee, and Major F. J. Ney, Executive Secretary.

At present, the Council is engaged in preparing a programme for the second triennial period. It has secured as Educational Secretary Professor J. A. Dale, of the Social Service Department of the University of Toronto, whose duties will include the editorship of a series of small volumes on educational problems. The success of the National Lectureship Scheme inaugurated last year, which established important contact with the leading minds of Great Britain, will be followed up, beginning in September, by contributions from Dr. Finley, Editor of the New York Times and once a Commissioner of Education for the State of New York, from the Stratford-on-Avon Shakespeare Fellowship Players, under the direction of Mr Bridges Adams, and from a number of other distinguished speakers.

CLEAR THE TRACK

PEANUT POLITICS is trying to hold up the Relief Express. By your vote remove this obstruction to prosperity on June twentieth. A vote for the Liberal Candidate is a vote for John Oliver, the engineer who will bring this Relief Express bearing prosperity for British Columbia safely through. It carries Equalized Freight Rates---the one fundamental that is essential to the prosperity of every man, woman and child in this Province.

Equalized Freight Rates will bring millions to our Province; will double our population in ten years; will develop our ports; will bring to us basic manufacturing industries and their pay-rolls; will develop the necessary market for our agricultural products.

Equalized Freight Rates means more money---more industries---more people---lower taxes---lower cost of living.

Equalized Freight Rates is the hinge on which the door to prosperity hangs. John Oliver and his Liberal Government have the key in the form of the sympathetic ear of a like Liberal Government at Ottawa.

Your vote for the Liberal Candidate is a message to the industrial, financial and political interests of the East that you are behind John Oliver in his fight for prosperity. Remember this on June twentieth.
