MAIN SEAM STRUCK AT TULAMEEN COAL MINE

Coalmont And Princeton Must Pull Together Delegates Are Agreed

PRINCETON DELEGATES FACE BARRAGE OF WELL MEANT CRITICISM

An appreciable step towards consolidating the interests of the Tulameen end of the valley with those of Princeton, its natural center, was taken Saturday when the feelings of both parties were frankly aired in open forum at Blakeburn, at a banquet under the auspices of the Coalmont-Blakeburn,Tulameen Board of Trade in the Blakeburn dining hall.

The meager Princeton delegation was far outnumbered, but came through a heavy barrage honorably. Kid gloves gave place to the six ounce variety, but Marquis of Queensbury rules prevailed throughout.

As might be expected, the Tulameen road to Hope was the big issue, but the Coalmont end of the valley chose to see in Princeton's general attitude, if not rank discrimination at least cool and almost calculated indifference. The dumping of refuse on the Coalmont road, and the failure of Princeton interests to do more by way of securing proper road connection with Coalmont were stressed.

Princeton on the other hand, vigorously denied any such attitude, and claimed to be always ready to give leadership to any part of the valley in any object that was in the interest of the whole valley.

"All right," said Mr. Geo. Murray, chairman, summing up the feeling that seemed to be the outcome of the gathering. "We accept your attitude of co-operation, dating from tonight." It was unanimously agreed that there was only one way—co-operation, one for all and all for one.

DOING FINE WORK

The splendid local work the Coalmont-Blakeburn-Tulomeen board was doing was also emphasized, especially by Vice-president Jerry Brown, who paid glowing tribute to the work of President Murray and Secretary Lucas. The board has now nearly 50 members and has really achieved something, including improved mail service for interior mail to Victoria, Coalmont cemetery improvement, lights at Coalmont depot and other matters. The place to air grievances was not at the street corner, Mr. Brown said.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, member for the Similkameen, was accused of ignoring the Coalmont end of the valley, which is Liberal in its political affinity.

THAT ROAD

The whole matter of the road to Hope was brought under the microscope. Coalmont, Mr. Murray and other speakers emphasized, was not being unfair in its demands. It believed it had a more practical route, and saw no reason why the cheaper and better road should not be built. It was felt the Coalmont claims had not been given due consideration, especially by the Associated Boards of Trade. The government, after promising a thorough investigation of Coalmont's claims, was now apparently ignoring them. If the Roche route was better, Coalmont would support it, but it wanted to be convinced first.

In a defense of Princeton's attitude re the road, E. E. Burr excelled himself, and gave a complete and comprehensive review of the whole 30 years history of the affair. The main thing was to get a road, and his 33 years in the valley had convinced him that the Roche route was the best.

One thing certain, there must be unanimity. Indecision had cost the interior this vital connecton for many years. He reviewed the situation under the Sutherland ministry when the Roche, Harrison, Bella Coole and Fraser Canyon roads were simultaneously mooted, and showed how wire-pulling had unfairly secured the Fraser Canyon road. There was no use knocking one road to help another, and the Similkameen endorsed the Fraser Canyon route when it was seen it could not have its own choice. Similarly, now that the Roche route had been adopted, the whole valley shounld work for this, and later all could work for the Tulameen road.

COALMONT-PRINCETON ROAD

Assurance was given that Princeton was greatly concerned in securing better road connection with Coalmont. The proposed road off the Nine Mile road would bring Coalmont as close to Vancouver as Princeton. Princeton appreciated Coalmont's business, and naturally it was in its best interests to get as much as possible of it.

Road Foreman Gibson stated that true to promise Mr. McKenzie had asked him to report on the Coalmont-Princetond road matter. Mr. Gibson reported that this should be considered by an engineer. Mr. Markle and Mr. Barnes decried the Tulameen section's virtual isolation for lock of proper roads. Mr. Worgan, who had been in the valley 25 years, thought the Tulameen route very feasible. Mr. McKellar considered Coalmont's relation to Princeton a parllel to Princeton's former relation to Kamloops. Mr. Rhodes also supported the Tulameen road. Mr. Sherriff wanted to give the ministers a sample ride over the present roads.

DEFENDS PRINCETON AND ASSOCIATION

Mr. Wagenhauser struck a note of optimism re the future of the valley. It must be remembered that the towns were inter-dependent, and that Coalmon coal was used in locomotives to haul Allenby concentrates. He was sure there was no antagonism between one section but what was needed was a better appreciation.

PRESS AND PARTY

To allegations that the Star shared the coolness of Princeton towards Coalmont, Mr. Dave Taylor made a clear and vigorous denial. While admitting that the Star had not championed Coalmont's cause against what was advocated against other sections of the valley, he made it plain that he had neither opposed them. It was the function of the local press to report, not to originate. The Star could not undertake to think for Coalmont, but it would, as in the past, give it full consideration and fair treatment.

What seemed to be needed in this situation was the allaying of the feeling of competition. Really there was no such antagonism, and a better appreciation of both points of view would show this. All sections of the valley must learn to make local sacrifices that the whole might prosper. What was needed was a common understanding. Unity, coherence and emphasis were the three points that spelt success and harmony. The Star was vitally interested in the promotion of this harmony. He urged that the movement started at this banquet be carried farther, and that representatives from the two communities get together and plan together for the common good.

Mr. Murray announced that better timse were ahead for employees of the Coalmont Collieries.

Mr. Lucas paid tribute to the work of Mr. R. A. Pope, who wired felicitations from the coast.

STARTED SOMETHING

Good has already come of the Blakeburn open forum. Princeton Board of Trade Monday, considering the report of delegates, decided to invite conference on matters of common interest and will take steps regarding the matter of dumping.

Various songs and recitations were given at Blakeburn. The spread was a credit to the able chef. Present were E. E. Burr E. G. Lucas, G. Murray, A. E. Whish, G. Sootheran, W. A. Wagenhauser, S Gibson, A D. Worgan, Jos. Thompson, R. N. Caulfield, W. H. Markle, F. M. Barnes, E. J. Rhodes, W. H. Logan, B. Robinson, R. M. Armour, J. C. H. Davies, John Osborne, Whalliam Watson, Robert Clare, G. Pollock, S. Cunningham, P. Mullen, J. S. Colby, Nick Popovich, William Richardson, Crawford Paterson, A. R. B. Ewing, J. McKellar, Geo. Sreriff, Joe Petrosky, Jas. Logan, Cecil Rhodes, Charlie Johnson, W. E. Leighton, W. T. Barr, W. Matheson, Jerry Brown, W. H. Markle, F. M. Barnes, E. J. Rhodes, W. H. Logan, R. N. Caulfield, J Thompson.

Mrs. Beer was fined $10 and costs on Wednesday for backing into Billy Hazzard's hearse and pleasure car, which was parked opposite her garage. Mrs. Beer paid her fine cheerfully and while she was waiting for change, she endeavored to thank Mr. Hazzard for his kind manly courtesy to her, but failed to find proper words to express just what she meant to say. However, she hopes his action in the matter will get him lots of admiration, prestige and many more friends than he already has.—Contributed.

CLEAN UP NEXT WEEK

The week commencing May 18 will be clean-up week in Princeton. Thursday, May 22, is "Clean-Up Day," when the pilgrimage of refuse from the town will be wagned. he Board of Trade seeks the full co-operation of the citizens.

STEWART INCORPORATES

A long battle between the advocates and opponents of self government was ended Friday, May 2, when at the polls the town of Stewart decided 72 to 47, in favor of incorporation under the Village Municipalities Act. Because of the parallel situation, the progress of the battle for self government in Stewart has been watched with interest by Princeton.

A. E. Howse Is Delegate

Armed with a weighty file containing full data regarding the Hope-Princeton road, A. E. Howse is at Cranbrook attending the twenty-first annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, representing Princeton Board of Trade.

Mr. Howse will also extend ,on behalf of the Princeton board, an invitation to the association to hold its 1931 convention in Princeton, and it is generally accepted that Princeton stands a good chance of securing this honor.

BURR MOTORS LTD. START MODERN GARAGE BUILDING

A fully modern garage, facing Bridge street and Angela avenue, with a 75-foot frontage on the one and an 80 foot frontage on the other, will be commenced at once for Burr Motors Ltd., the contract having been let to McLean and Glidden. Preparations are now being made by way of removal of old buildings on the site.

The building will be fully concrete. The showroom will be nearest the present building, with office quarters in the rear. On the street corner will be a service drive way, and a workshop and storage room will occupy the remaining portion of the building.

We Want to Tell The Ministers

That We Want

The Hope. Princeton Road

Business and industrial interests and all progressive citizens who have vision are thoroughly disappointed with the attitude apparently taken to date by government officials regarding this sacred promise.

It is long past the time when spades and graders should have been at work. This dallying and befogging the issue are absurd and intolerable in the face of the government's promises, and in view of the vital necessity of this work.

This is no purely local demand. It is a matter of provincial importance, endorsed by public opinion throughout the whole southern interior, and failure to proceed as promised will not be taken lightly. The southern interior is tired of words. It wants

SHOW-DOWN DEMANDED ON HOPE-PRINCETON ROAD

A show-down is being demanded by Princeton Board of Trade on the matter of the construction of the Hope-Princeton road.

A letter from Mr. Pat Philip, deputy works minister, caused a flare of resentment among members at Monday's meeting. In effect, it referred to the whole matter as a prospect and stated that full investigation would be required, whereas the announcement last fall by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, works minister, practically signified the government's final decision in the matter, as a fully completed plan.

A. S. Black, whose conversation, recently reported, made definite assertion that the work would be proceeded with at once, materially discounts Mr. Philip's communication, which he states, was written a day previous to his conference with the ministers.

Alarmed, however, by this letter the board decided to make a strong representation at the Cranbrook convention of the Associated Boards of Eastern B.C. Secretary Hooper and E. E. Burr were instructed to draft a strong resolution, a copy of which is to be considered at tonight's meeting of the Associated Similkameen boards.

It was taken for granted that Mr Lougheed would be at Cranbrook but it is since developed that instead he will be right here in the Similkameen, attending tonight's banquet and his stand tonight will be watched with immense interest. A show-down will almost certainly be demanded.

WORK HEDLEY ROAD

It has been stated that preparations are being made to continue relocation and improvement of the Hedley-Princeton road.

It is feared in some quarters that this may be used as a substitute for HopePrinceton road work this season, though there appears to be no official statement on the matter.

Delegates to Kamloops include Messrs. Wilkins Mitch, Guinan, Dr. McGregor, Reeve G. A. B. McDonald, A. C. McKenzie, G. G. Lyall, and members of the executive ex officio. Alternative, J. W. Thompson.

Dr. J. J. Gillis, M.L.A. for Yale, adressed the convention and was heartily applauded.

The matter of the venue of the next convention was left to the executive generally conceded Penticton will secure the honor.

PURCHASE PRINCETON TO [illegible] EQUIPMENT FIRE FIGHTING

To supplement present inadequate apparatus, it has been practically decided to purchase from Kelowna about 500 feet of hose, and certain other apparatus for which the fire department of that town has no further use.

A very attractive price has been given, and a sample of the hose brought over this week stood up to a strenuous test very satisfactorily.

Representatives of the local fire brigade will visit Kelowna Sunday, empowered to close the deal if satfied.

New Tunnel Success Sure

WILL MEAN PROSPERITY IN FORM OF EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS

Drilling in connection with exploratory operations being carried out at the property a mile from Princeton, workmen intercepted the main seam of the Tulameen Coal Mines, Ltd., holdings Wednesday.

The announcement was hailed with delight by officials of the company and by the general public at large.

The striking of the main seam in the new slope means that the question of the success of the new development work has been solved. The new slope is now "spudded in."

PROSPERITY

This means in concrete terms, prosperity for Princeton from this major operation. It means an output this winter and in subsequent busy seasons, of 500 tons a day, with employment accordingly.

Development work will be pushed during the summer with this object in view.

The seam was encountered much as expected, but about one day sooner than was looked for.

Friends are congratulating Mr. John Bennett, manager of the local operations, and Mr. Misak Aivazoff, head of the New Method Coal Co., promoters of the property, on the happy discovery.

Obituary

POPULAR HEDLEY YOUNG MAN IS SUDDENLY CALLED

The death occurred with startling suddenness Monday at Hedley of Richard Henry Hambly, aged 29, one of the best known young men in the Hedley district.

Circumstances as mysterious as they are tragic surround the death of this popular young man. He first complained Sunday of feeling out of sorts. He drove to Princeton, however, and took in the football game. On Monday he was forced to go to bed. Dr. D'Easum who was called, failed to diagnose the complaint, but the condition of the patient was not considered serious. Late Monday he rapidly fell, however, and stimulants failed to bring the usual reaction. Almost before it was realized he was seriously ill, he had passed beyond.

Everyone is puzzled by Mr. Hambly's passing, relatives report. An autopsy failed to give enlightenment, and parts of the body have ben sent for analysis.

VERY WELL KNOWN

Few of the younger men of the valley were better known than Henry Hambly. In the employ of the Hedley Gold Mining Co. he had been in the district since coming from his native Cornwall over ten years ago. He was a member of the Nickel Plate football team.

Besides his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hambly, who reside in Hdeley, the late Henry Hambly is survived by four brothers and a sister, namely Billy and Mrs. Enckson of Seattle and Percy, Charles and Sidney, at home.

FUNERAL

The funeral will be held today (Thursday). It is reported that the Nickel Plate mine may close, and the football club has cancelled its game Sunday, out of respect to the departed comrade.

RALPH HIDY HONORED

The many friends he made in the Similkameen during the last two summers he has spent here while on vacation form his academic work, will feel that they have a share in the signal honor recently bestowed on Professor Ralph Willard Hidy, who has been awarded the Ralph Sanger scholarship to complete his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Harvard.

This is one of the outstanding awards of the year at America's most foremost university, and climaxes a successful academic career.

In consequence of this award the young professor is resigning from the faculty of Norwich University at the end of the present term. Prof. and Mrs. Hidy have secured quarters on the University estate at Holden Green, Cambridge, where they will take up their residence in September, and remain until Prof. Hidy has completed his studies leading to Harvard's highest honors.

During the last two summer Mr. and Mrs. Hidy have been the guests of Mrs. Hidy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wagenhauser, Princeton.

Looking It Over

[Our own and other people's views.]

The Star got into a jack-pot this week.

BITING THE DUST

The details of the affair have been exhaustively thrashed out to the edification of all concerned, and it will suffice here to refer to the incident as the most regrettable and unfortunate of our short journalistic career.

These are testing times. You are put into the dock in the court of public opinion, and you face a speedy barrage. Glaring though our faults may be, we are never afraid to account for our actions. If the difference is an accident, we apologize in the best grace possible to a Scotsman; and if we are fundamentally rooted in our difference, we stick to our guns and take the consequences. Call it stubborness or call it honor, we make neither classification nor criticism of it. We may not be a saint, but we are no hypocrite.

There are strange faces, stranger souls, in the gallery of that court of public opinion. How the scandal-mongers prick up their ears at the slightest scent of imagined scandal! How the righteous ones jump into the arena, urging justice.

Justice! What irony there is in that word. There have been strange travesties in the history of the world's courts, statutory and self constituted.

The first thing to do when a newspaper makes a mistake is for the righteous ones to sound the battle cry. Not a trumpte blast, but a low stealthy whistle. They meet somewhere, concealed, and mix strange potents. Justice must be done. Oh yeah! Such noble judges. Of course they comb the known world for evidence, carefully examine the facts, look into both sides of the case, and bring in an impartial verdict. No, The verdict comes first. The guilt is pre-established, and vengeance is the cry. The Klu Klux Klan, the court martial, are enlightened beside this cabalism of small town righteousness. These, damned hypocrites, are the scum of the earth. It is they, not your honest but erring miscreant, who should be run out of town.

Then you have one or two men—yes, men—who come straight out and let you know what they are thinking. Your first impulse is to tell them to mind their own business, but you have to admit their interest in a private or public wrong. You may resent their attitude, but you have to admire their courage, compared with the slinking prototypes of back-room virtue. You may lose their friendship, but not their respect.

But the Shylocks are at work. The usual weapons are hauled out. Boycott, kill my ad., start another paper.

If anyone thinks now or ever that by giving this paper business they control its policy, they are sadly misinformed. While we admittedly need business to get along, we want you to know it is business and nothing else. We have a commodity to sell that has a price and value just as has tea or soap, and you don't have to give us business on principle any more than you have tt a grocer. We admit a duty to our advertisers and to our readers, but that duty is not controlled by any set or faction, nor is it measured in dollars and cents. And in that every business transaction has two sides, you are spiting yourself just as much as you are us when you make business subservient to sentiment.

The paper gag is an old one. Every time a village pedant finds his hopes stumped by the failure of the town cryer to become his mouthpiece he starts it. There was a time when every man of consequence had his own paper, but today the newspaper game is a business rather than a convenience.

The other paper stuff never worries us. In the first place, running a paper is a business, and though all of us who are in the business have our trouble, God help the man who plunges into it from the blue. In the second place, there is no need for a new newspaper to start up every time there is a little explosion. Generally speaking the integrity of the paper is above that of the righteous one whose sole inspiration for starting a newspaper is one of vengeance. Vengeance has very little place in the ethics of journalism.

In this case the thing was funnier than ever. The man would start another paper if he had the money. In view of the fact that he made such a glorious mess of his own business, we pray for him when he tries ours especially if his clients are not better in paying the printer than he has been us.

Men and women, we want you to know right now and for all time that we are honest and honorable enough to make just settlement for mistakes, just as we are human enough to make them. We want to act like men at such times, and to be treated like men. We may have queer ways, but we mean right, and if we slip, we stand ready to be corrected. If that does not suit you, then we cannot hope to get along together.

Thsi little defense is not made in the spirit of defiance, but rather of vindication. We make our mistakes, and they no doubt become very trying. Believe us, they are to us also. But editors must be tolerant, and must be tolerated. They are—at least, some are—men.

Sympathy has not entered much into our "wanted" column. Neither do we claim infallibility. All we want when we make a mistake is to be told of it in a manly way. And if there is proof that we have been, or persist in being unmanly, then we invite you to hog tie us, and dump us in the mire, as they did to the bad boys of the newspaper business in the days of old. Meanwhile, however, we want any of the tar and feather brigade to know that we sleep with our door open.

Mrs. Freeman is seriously ill, and her condition has given some concern.

BLAKEBURN AND PRINCETON WIN SOCCER VICTORIES

Blakeburn and Princeton secured victories in the Similkameen Football League Sunday. At Copper Mountain Blakeburn ran up a five-nil score to again assume th ir wonted position at the head of the table. Princeton got into the win column with a creditable victory over Hedley at home.

Copper Mt. went pretty much to pieces against their dour rivals of last year, and the colliers made most of their chances. After flattering the week previously by a fine win over the strong going Copper Mt. team Hedley failed to live up to the hopes of their supporters. Blakeburn thus has a clear lead in the standings even at this early stage.

CHAMPIONS GO ON RAMPAGE

Changes made necessary by the indisposition of two players did not prove much of a handicap to Blakeburn, and the team hit the high spot at Copper Mt., where last year, it will be remembered, in the corresponding match, they lost their first league game in history.

Dickson was once more a deadly marksman, and scored his second successive hat trick. The veterans McWhirter and Nesbitt also counted. Copper Mt. kept pegging away, and it was a game all the time. The visitors however, were far more forceful, and it was no discredit to Moore that the score was so one sided.

The first half produced the better football, and at the interval Blakeburn crossed over two goals to the good.

COPPER MT—Moore; Foster and Thompson; Nelson, Loberg and Wilfon; Pitt, Parker, Kelly, Hibberd and McKinnon.

BLAKEBURN — Craig; McIntosh and Bell; Hackwood, Brown and Rae; Lewis, Sim, McWhirter, Dixon and Nesbitt.

PRINCETON SCORES IMPRESSIVE WIN

It was real cup-tie football that was served up at Princeton, where the home team triumphed over Hedley's challengers, 3-1. It was a hammer and tongs battle, productive of some fast football.

Bontain opened the scoring for the home team with a smartly taken goal, but Hedley's persistence was rewarded by a Richards goal. The teams were deadlocked at the interval.

In the second half Princeton gradually obtained the upper hand, and it was not against the run of the game when they drew ahead by clever goals through Bontain and Sampson.

PRINCETON—Bloor; Sewell and Bintoul; Cowden, Davidson and Nowell; Jones, Rossi, Bontain, Sampson and Dobie.

HEDLEY—Corrigan; Sampson and Luxon; P. Hambly, D'Easum, and Pearce; Neill, Saunders, Richards, Trudgian and Thomas.

HEDLEY GAME OFF

In view of the tragic passing of Henry Hambly, one of the best known members of the team the Hedley club has given notice that they will not fulfill their Blakeburn fixture this week. The game will likely stand as a postponement.

T. P. O. Menzies, curator of the Vancouver museum, spent several days in Princeton, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hedley. He left Monday. While here he visited the Columns near Keremoes and was greatly impressed.

AN EXPLANATION

We regret very much that the name of Mrs. Thomson was brought into an article in last week's Star in a manner which has given offense to a good many. Its insertion was unwarranted and we tender sincere apologies for same. We have no thought or wish to cause hurt to Mrs. Thomson, for whom we, in common with all who know her, have the greatest respect, and we hope this apology will be accepted in the same sincere spirit in which it is tendered.

KEREMEOS NOTES

Following the practise in its other factories the Dominion Canners B.C. Ltd. has decided to do away with the Oriental at its Keremeos plant and use nothing but white help. Between forty and fifty women and girls will be required and, in this respect, women of the valley will be given preference.

at 7:30 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend and help the promotion of this humane community service

Be proud to say:
"This is where I live"

YOUR home is where you spend the greater part of your time. It deserves your most careful attention!

Some houses are bright, charming, worthy of the pride their owners show in them. Others just miss attractiveness . . . through lack of tasteful and sufficiently frequent painting.

Decide now that this spring you will smarten up your home and re-beautify it with the help of B-H "English" Paint and other Brandram-Henderson products.

You have, we know, often imagined gay and pleasing colour schemes. This is your opportunity to put some of them into effect in your own home. Visit our store today and ask for a card showing the full range of shades of B-H "English" Paint available.

FORSYTH WINS EXCITING BATTLE FOR MEDAL

Though two playoffs were necessary before the first monthly medal winner of the Princeton Golf Club for the 1930 season was known, J. B. Forsyth finally came through to annex the hoonrs. In the original series a triple tie between Forsyth, J. Nathan and E. C. Lansing resulted. In the playoff Forsyth and Nathan again tied, Lansing being eliminated. In the second playoff Forsyth triumphed.

WON FOURSOME

Rod MacDonald and Mrs. E. C. Lansing took the season's first foursome honors from a small field Sunday. Their net score was 87, handicap 27. Other scores were T. B. Hooper and Mrs. A. Sorenson gross 114, net 92; A. Sorenson and Mrs. A. W. Smith gross 117, net 93 J. B. Forsyth and partner, gross 131, net 100.

DID WELL BUT FAILED

Alf Sorenson, one of the most consistent of Princeton's golfers, faired moderately well at Kamloops in the commercial men's tourney. He qualified, with 15 others, with the creditable score of 45, whereas 49 was required.

It was his fortune, however, to be drawn in the first round against T. Clark of Kamloops, interior champion, and he lost 7 and 6.

PREPARE FOR BIG TOURNEY

Preparations are now practically complete for next week-end's interior titular tourney which will be held here. The serious complication of accommodation arrangements resulting from the loss of the Princeton Hotel has been met by the arrangement to bring a special sleeping car here. Entries close May 23, and will likely come in in volume next week.
