LOCAL ORIGINS

THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

The Printer's Devil may not be local history yet (though a good many no doubt wish he were) but in the absence of a more interesting topic, it may not be amiss to learn the nature of the beast.

Contrary to general belief, the term did not originate with Perley Russell. As a matter of fact, it had a very interesting origin.

The first flunky of the fourth estate to be dubbed the 'devil' was a little darky boy, way back when the world of type was very young.

It was originated by Aldus Manutius, probably the greatest and most scholarly of all who have been proud to call themselves printers. He labored in Venice between the years 1450 and 1515, and despite your doubts, was even busier than your present devil.

He revolutionized printing, and first gave it the dignity of a profession. Perhaps his most noteworthy contribution was the invention of the style of type we call italic.

Second only to this masterpiece, in Perley's opinion at any rate, was his inauguration of the fiendish line of type-lice chasers.

It so happened that a little African negro boy had been in some manner or other left ashore when a trading ship called at Venice. The kind Aldus gave him a place in his household, and subscribed to him those duties only too well known to his successors.

In those suspicious times, however, the new invention of printing was eyed with scrutiny at best, and the appearance of the ebonite urchin was the signal for a storm of protest that Aldus was invoking the black arts.

A practical man, the printer of Venice at once set out to dispel this notion. He accordingly exhibited the little black boy in public, with this prominent sign: "Be it known to Venice that I, Aldus Manutius, printer, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All who think that he is not flesh and blood may step up and pinch him."

But as, parading our vices, Perley has told you we are human, the invitation is hereby revoked.

Obituary

EVANS

News of the passing at Bemudje, North Dakota, of her brother, Mr. Luke P. Evans, has been received by Mrs. S. Rossiter of Coalmont.

It appears Mr. Evans was driving a tractor on his farm, when in some mysterious manner it reared up and tipped over, killing the unfortunate man instantly. A passing motorist who happened to witness the accident immediately went for help, but nothing could be done. Mr. Harry Evans of Princeton is a brother ,and another brother lives in Syracruse, New York.

KEREMEOS HAS MAY DAY FETE

WITH characteristic ceremony he lower Similkameen greeted the coming of May in the traditional style Friday.

The May day observance is an institution in the lower Valley, and an event always eagerly anticipated.

This year's celebration took the form of a festival in the Victory Hall, with a program of real merit.

The opening number set a high standard for the artists who followed, and hey did not default or disappoint.

It was an operetta, entitled "The Rose Dream" and introduced nearly all the young artists, with May Parsons in the leading role.

Most picuresque, however, was the ceremony of the crowning of the May Queen, which immediately followed. Escorted by Prince Joan Sykes (in silk costume) , Patricia Hanley, the retiring queen occupied her throne, surrounded by a bevy of lovely attendants, to graciously vacate it in favor of her equally charming successor, Ruth Sorge.

MAY QUEEN RUT HSORGE

Queen-elect Ruth as graciously accepted the crown and sceptre, and as the rafters rang with applause, was installed as Keremeos' bonny Queen of the May for another year.

Lastly came a rendition of the well known Cinderella story, which the unimaginative call a fairy tale.

Muriel Smith made a very real and very charming Cinderella,, with Joan Sykes as the prince, and Elizabeth Advocaat as the fairy-godmother.

EXCELLLENT PERFORMANCE

When the scene changed from the woodland to the Prince's ball room May Carleton, E. Harris, D. Mattice and E. Lintott were seen in a very gracefully executed minuet. They were in typical rococo garb

They were followed by six 'gypsies' in another exquisite dance number.

The audience crowded the hall to utmost capacity, and was appreciative of what was easily the very best performance the Keremeos children have given yet.

May time is blossom time, and Nature had fixed an exquisite setting for the picturesque event . The expanse of orchard land never appearing more lovely, all about.

A great deal of credit is coming to Mrs. Findlay for her successful efforts in training them. The audience included a large number from Hedley and Cawston.

Proceeds went to the Keremeos United Church and to the Victo y Hall Society.

Mr. Alstead expects to be in Fernie, where he sessions will take place, in any event, and the board may thus secure representation which it otherwise could not afford.

The convention will be the Associated's thirty-second annual ,and will be held in Fernie May 31 and June 1.

CHINESE GUILTY ON DOPE CHARGE

Believed to be connected with the narcotic traffic, Chong Wing, a Chinese who has resided for several months in different parts of the Similkameen, was this week convicted on a charge of being in possession of a drug without lawful authority, and was sentenced to spend six months at Oakalla, and to pay a fine of $200.00.

Prosecution was brought by Princeton detachment provincial police under the provisions of section 4, sub-section D of the Opium and Narcotic Drugs Act of Canada.

Funeral of Pioneer Occasion For Unique Gathering

TO MARK GRAVES

Tulameen's pioneer dead are not to be forgotten . Sunday's funeral had the happy outcome of a resoluion to look out and mark its graves. The cemetery will be generally tidied up, and the graves given attention and marked. Mr. J. Schubert will interest himself in marking the graves, and his acquiesence is fortunate, as he is one of the very few man able to do it.

Pioneers From All Sections of Similkameen and Nicola Present

ALTHOUGH simple ceremony marked the last rites for G.P. Myren, pioneer of Otter Valley, the funeral at the tiny and obscure cemetery at Tulameen on Sunday was one of the most notable historic events of the Similkameen of the past decade.

Drawn by kindred ties with the past, a most notable group of pioneers assembled, who would undoubtedly never have come together but for the occasion.

Men and women who would turn a deaf ear to the social call and would put the historian off with a shrug, found themselves miles from home at the quiet, inauspicious funeral. rites for a simple man.

Perhaps none questioned the psychology that brought them; it is enough that they were there.

There was a large representation from Merritt and the Nicola valley, including Dr. J. J. Gillis, M.L.A, Dunc Monroe, J. Collett, and Pete Marquard

There was Richard Gulliford of Aspen Grove, and J. A. Schubert, a member of the famous overland party of '62. There were many others, including the native Indians. Fortunately, photo graphs were taken.

SIMPLE CEREMONY.

The service itself was of the simplest. Rev. John C. Goodfellow of Princeton—than whom there could have been no one better suited-in simple appreciation that crystallized the thoughts of all present, paid tribute to the memory of a staunch pioneer heart that had been stilled.

The ceremony was brief, simple, but impressive.

The pall-bearers wereMessrs D. Monroe, J. Collett, and P. Marquard of Merritt, H. Hunter of Princeton, G. Badstone of Aspen Grove, and A. Lackie of Otter Valley.

Among the old-timers noted were H. Cleasby, W. Manion, A. B. Roberts, J. Nealon, H. Gulliford, J. Schubert, A. A. Price, Mr. Guichon, Joe Gladston, Mrs. Frembdt, Mr. Pierce., J.J. Marks, Mrs. Rabbitt, W. Wilson.

CAME IN '85.

G.P. Myren, who ended a typical frontier career in a white cot in the Royal Inland Hospital at Kamloops Thursday morning, May 5, was one of the real pioneers of the Tulameen country.

During the last few years of his life life he occupied a ranch-home on a rolling stretch of 1500 acres in Otter Valley—the extent of his terrestial cumulations.

He was born in Norway seventy-five years ago. His correct name was Gahr Peterson, and Myren was the name of the town where he was born. He took that name in later life because there were so many Peterson's that a less common name saved confusion.

He immigrated to the United States as a young man, and saw many examples of frontier excitement in a widely scattered number of places before he came to the Tulameen at the outset of the Granite Creek gold-rush excitement in 1885. Otter Valley appealed to him, and he was one of the several settlers in those early days.

Their ambitions—if such they had—have not been realized, and the Otter Valley of to-day is pretty much the same quiet, beautiful stretch, with years ago. He took up his land in'91.

He was at this time a partner of the late Fenimore P. Cook, who became one of the most successful business men of those times.

He followed ranching and stock-raising, and some years ago the Summerland Sawmills established a plant on the property. It has been inactive for several years.

Mr. Myren was never married, and of his private life there is little to say. He lived as other pioneers do.

A nephew, S. Christianson, is at present here.

Considerable Placer Activity Noted

More than average interest is being shown in the placer deposits of the Tulameen and Similkameen and their tributaries this season. A number of companies are working in the vicinity of Coalmont, and there have been a number of engineers visiting.

CLEAN UP DAY

ALL CITIZENS WHO own or occupy property are appealed to to co-operate, and to have all rubbish removed and such property generally cleaned up, to the best of their ability, by this date.

THURSDAY, MAY 19

PRINCETON BOARD OF TRADE

PROMPT ACTION BEATS FLAMES

Prompt work on the part of employees of the Blue Flame Collieries saved what threatened to be a dangerous fire situation Monday.

Suddenly, about noon, the bushes were observed to be in flame, and, fanned by the wind, the flames soon extended over an acre, and seriously threatened the mine and residential buildings. For a couple of hours the mine crew waged a relentless battle, and were eventually rewarded. Damage was nil, but the escape was a fortunate one, as the flames were checked in the nick of time.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it may have started from sparks from the mine plant or from the residences.

Princeton Against Daylight Saving

Princeton board o ftrade is not in favor of the daylight saving plan.

resolution presened by the Nelson Board failed to find much support on Monday, at the local board's regular meeting. The general opinion seemed to be that daylight saving was a fad on part of a few golfing metropolitans, and a form of self-deceit that worked a hardship on everyone else generally, and the agricultural classes in particular. Should the matter be brought up at the forthcoming convention of the Associated Boards of trade at Fernie, the local delegate was instructed to oppose it.

Some of the speakers waxed pathetic as they related personal hardships of past experience, and the motion agreed that it was a "beastly bother."

As Nelson urned the proposal down, the local decision may not carry much authority in any event.

AMBULANCE MEET JUNE 25

Despite the fact that there may be no government grant this year, the usual ambulance and mine rescue field day will be held this year, it was decided at the annual meeting of the Princeton District Ambulance and Mine Safety Association held Sunday. June 25, at Princeton, is the tentative date. Full details will be gone into at a later meeting.

Officers elected include:—

President—A. Gould, Princeton.

Vice-president—J. Cartwright, Blakeburn.

Secretary—G. M. Callaghan, Princeton.

Local Member Will Attend Banquet Here

The Honorable W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines and Labor, and member for the Similkameen is among the number of prominent outsiders invited to the fourth annual banquet of the Associated boards of trade who have already wired acceptance. The Minister will be accompanied by Mrs. McKenzie. For the first time ladies are to be present at the Associated banquet this year.

The banquet will be held in the Orange Hall, Princeton, Friday, June 10.

The inclusion of ladies as guests for the evening is proving a popular innovation, and indications are that covers will be laid for at least four hundred.

Arrangements are well in hand.

OFFICIALS FOR TRACK MEET

Final administrative details for the holding of the Similkamen School Sports Association's seventh annual track meet were settled at an executive meeting in Princeton on Saturday night, and now everything is under supervision for the field day at Princeton May 23.

Gate—P. Russell(23), Mrs. W.S. Garrison(24)

Miss Thynne, sister to Mr. Jack Thynne, has arrived for an extended visit.

St. Cuthbert's Sunday School will meet for a hike on Saturdaay May 14, at the rectory at 11 a.m.

THURSDAY IS CLEANUP DAY

Next Thursday, May 19, will be Princeton's official clean-up day. All public spirited citizens will have put their yards in order, and attended to any unsightly accumulations near their property by that time.

The board of trade set upon this date at Monday's meeting. It was pointed out that it was pretty late for a clean-up day, and that a good many citizens had already attended to this important duty, bu it was felt that the urge of having an organized effort might bring some of the less spontaneous ones into line.

The success of Clean-up day is entirely a matter of the voluntary response of the citizens. There are of course laws that compel ordinary tidiness and the elimination of fire and disease, but the matter of neatness and cleanness is generally left to the interpretation of the individual.

A few years ago a very successful clean-up day was carried out in big style, and the work of that day must have set an example for succeeding years, for it is agreed that the condition of Princeton to-day is generally good.

There is always room for improvement, however, and it is to be hoped that everyone will take advantage of this recognized opportunity to do something for Princeton.

The fact that the Similkameen school sports will be held here May 23, and the Associated boards of trade banquet early in June should prove an added inducement.

Princeton Free From Fire Hazards

Princeton is generally free from fire hazards, and the condition of the town with regard to fire danger is good.

This is the opinion of assisant Fire Marshall Oswald, who recently visited Princeton and made an inspection of the town. While here he conferred with Chief C. A. Pease of the fire brigade and Const. W. J. Thomson, who are district deputy fire marshals.

Want Grader Over Coalmont Road

That the large grader and Caterpillar be put over the road between Princeton and Blakeburn at the very earlies possible was the request made of district engineer G. C. McKay following Monday night's board of trade meeting. The road is said to be in generally bad shape, and in spots almost dangerous.

The board also asked that improvements be made at once to Princeton's side streets, and that the main streets be oiled as soon as possible.

Circus Here For Three Day Stay

Princeton is going to the circus this week end. When the circus train did not arrive until Thursday afternoon it looked as if the show would not be able to open this evening as scheduled but true to circus tradition the big canvas city sprang up like a mushroom, in lots of time for the scheduled opening.

Some efforts were made to protest the coming of the circus on account of "hard times" but evidently these have fallen through.

IN MEMORIAM

HAMBLY— In loving memory of our dear Henry, who fell asleep May 13, 1930

In our hearts his memory lingers,
But we know it's vain to weep.
Tears of love can never wake him
From his peaceful, happy sleep.
Some day we hope to meet him.
Some day we know not when,
We will clasp his hand in that happy land,
Never to part again.

Never forgotten by Mother, Father, Billy, Pero., Charlie, and Syd.and Florence . 27-p

ATHLETIC ASSN. FORGES AHEAD

Thanks to a balance of approximately $240.00 on the Christmas Tree Dance on Christmas Eve, Princeton Athletic Asociation is for the first time in its history free of debt and will likely have a small balance in hand after paying all bills many of them outstanding for several years. The Association has been in the red ever since it was organized.

Following is the report, a close approximation, as all accounts have not yet been settled, for the dance:

Receipts	$315.25
Expenses	65.70
Balance	249.55

The Association may well be proud of its success. Obstacles were encountered during the early existence of P.A.A.A. which carried it deeply into the red, and for several seasons it was unable to operate on an even basis, as often as not losing money In those days the Association operated the rink, and handled the financing of hockey, and certain other sports. Last year a new executive was elected, and with it came a new policy. The rink was let out to private enterprise, and all sports are handling their own finances. On this basis last year the Association declared its first favorable balance, and no one in the community appeared to suffer. The same policy was pursued this year, and the Association stands to realize a fair sum for the rental of its property. With a continuance of this success the Association hopes to have a fair working capital in a few years. All details of opeartion and upkeep are being covered.

R.D. Affleck, the secretary, is responsible for most of the success that has favored the late activities of this community owned Association, and especially the Christmas Eve dance which deia he fathered. Others of the epoch-making executive are W.E. Madore, president, W. B. Ewart, vice-president, and R.M. Irwin, H.G. Mc Donald, H.C. Mc Guffie, C.V Prosser and Dave Taylor, committee.
