Strike Settlement Near

LOOKING IT OVER
AND OVERLOOKING PLENTY

A man from Duncan is fed up. He gave unto Caesar until it hurt; he honored and obeyed where he could not love, when it came to giving up his half-a-pint. But there is always a last straw. There has been a new law prohibiting poppy culture. He suggests he has some foxgloves in his garden, and as they are the source of digitalis, a poison, he fears he may be prosecuted.

Can you tell me, he writes to the attorney-general, where I can find a country where I can have a drink without being regarded as a criminal; look at a game warden without being accused of insulting the Lord's annointed, and grow a poppy without incurring the charge of being a dope-pedlar?

Mr. Pooley referred him to the R.C.M.P. They will likely refer him to Essondale or St. Peter.

DESBIENS

Death occurred early this week at the Princeton hospital of David Desbiens, aged 68, who had for some time past been resident in this district. He was admitted to hospital a few weeks ago on account of a leg injury sustained while employed on the Hope-Princeton road. This injury was not the cause of death.

The funeral was held on Wednesday. Deceased was unmarried ,and there are no known relatives locally

LACY FOUND GUILTY HERE

James Lacy, alleged unemployed agitator, was found guilty of creating a disturbance when his case was heard by Magistrate Guernsey of Penticton Monday.

But while police claimed victory after a keenly contested hearing, this much was not conceded by the strikers, who through their lawyer, Mr. Gordon Grant of Vancouver, immediately filed notice of an appeal, despite the fact that the victory was largely a technical one, the fine being only ten dollars, with fifteen days' jail option.

The appeal will not be heard until March by which time most local folk hope the present crisis will be quite forgotten.

The case, which was the first legal action brought in the present impasse, occasioned wide interest, the court room being filled to capactity, and a number of people being unable to gain admittance.

Lacy sat in the dock without saying a word during the entire case. Mr. Evans was at the lawyers' table with Mr. Grant Gordon well known criminal lawyer of Vancouver, who had been engaged to defend Lacy. Inspector John McDonald of Nelson, at present in charge at Princeton, handled the case for the Crown

CASE SIGNIFICANT

The case arose out of a demonstration which occurred last Friday morning when a number of miners and sympathizers took up positions on the road leading to the Tulameen coal mine. Lacy, who was said to be the ring-leader, gave offence to the police by his words and actions, and was charged under section 238 of the Criminal Code, commonly referred to as the Vagrancy Act. Appearing before Magistrate Waterman the same day he successfully applied for a remand.

While the arguments were confined to the case at bar, it was evident that there was more at stake. On the one hand the defense alleged that Lacy was a victim of discrimination against the workers in the interests of the operators; and on the other police insisted that Lacy was not a miner, but was bent on arousing others to make trouble, which it was their duty to depose.

In passing judgment, Magistrate Guernsey, while dissociating himself from all participation in tht affair outside the performance of his duty, held that the evidence showed clearly that there had been a disturbance. Though in normal times Lacy's offense would be considered so trival as to be overlooked in times of stress such actions often had important consequences, and hence he found that there was sufficient evidence to warrant the apprehension and conviction of the defendant.

There was little or no divergence of evidence. Matthew Sandeson was the only witness called for the defense, and he simply interpreted the incident from the point of view of the striker.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

There was, it was conceded, a good deal of strain and excitement. Trees were placed across the road; strikers and police gathered; crimson flowed, if only from a hefty wallop to the nose of a would-be strike-breaker; but it was music, which the poet said had charms to quiet the savage beast, that put the fat in the fire.

No doubt inspired by the stress of the occasion, a new epic was born, the burden of which, oft-repeated during the colorful hearing, was:

"The cops are having a hell of a time,
Trying to break the picket line.,,

It was not set to the music of Beethoven or Mozart, nor even to the battle-inspired air of the Marseillaise, but to the immortaal tune of "Inkey Pinkey Parlez-Vous"

Though thepolice deny that it discomfited them in any way, it was one of the bases for the charge.

The other was a generally hostile and defiant attitude which the defendant assumed when the police attempted to disperse the band.

Alleged leader of the entire dis-

OLD MAN WINTER COMES TO VALLEY

Blown up by a stiff north-west wind the Smilkameen's first cold snap of the winter arrived under wraps in mid-week. After days of soft weather the mercury dropped to three below Wednesday morning, and this morning it went to 12 below. Prospects are for continued cold in the banana belt.

The coast is also experiencing a cold snap, which should be good news for the local coal mines.

RESPONSIBLE

(An Editorial)

PRINCETON'S general strike has drifted into its second week.

It is high time its significance was being realized. The situation should now be past the point where temper dictates, and reasoned comment should be priveleged.

Thinking citizens, devoted to the welfare of their community, have come to realize that this situation is more than a difference between employer and employee. It is an infection that is gnawing at the very heart of our basic industry.

It is disastrous that our coal mines should be idle at this time.

Every day that this difference between master and workman keeps our mines in idleness is costing this community thousands of dollars.

Dollars of potential income in the development of a basic industry a development that is vital to the welfare of this community. Miners and operators are not merely fighting against each other; they are fighting against themselves; alienating a privelege which is not theirs; wrecking the future of this community, a responsibility which is not theirs to govern as they will, but of which they are merely the custodians.

These may seem hard words; but they are given in no spirit of bitterness, but rather in one of profound appreciation of the situataion. We say with our chin up that all concerned, on either side—any who are either by sins of omission or commission are delaying a peaceful settlement will yet live to regret their action, if they have the true interests of the community at heart.

To say this is not to hurl the blame at any group or individual: it is rather to impress the true import of the situation on those who have it in their power to affect a settlement, in the hope that they will realize their duty and responsibility.

It is not ours to say who is in the right or who in the wrong. It is our hope that those concerned will see that the issue is not a personal one but a struggle in the interests of the betterment of this community—a purpose which should not be clouded with personal opinions and animosities.

It has been our part to portray the story, which we have endeavored to do fairly, truthfully, and with no ulterior motive, in the hope that out of the full presentation of the facts intelligent judgment would be born. We must now emphasize the importance of that judgment.

Through this unnatural complication this community is drifting towards chaos. What is mere personal gratification alongside that?

Two years ago when the depresson closed the Copper Mountain mine this community was thrown back upon a single, and to that time a minor, resource. The loss of a payroll of a million dollars annually was a blow severe enough. It was fortunate that there was another to fall back on to tide over a period of stress. Now that sole prop is in danger of being blasted.

This strike is strangling the coal industry of this community; and this is a case where homicide is suicide. Take away your coal industry at the present time and you take away the life-blood of your community; hand it a reverse from which it will be years in recovering Princeton cannot afford at any cost to lose its coal mines at this time.

For years the Princeton coal basin suffered from an eclipse sustained in the infancy of its development. Against adverse economic conditions in general and an especially acute crisis within the industry itself generally the local mines have made gratifying gains in recent years. At a time when it should be consolidating its gains and figthing tooth and nail to improve its foothold, the local industry is threatened with a

NEW CONCILIATORY TERMS PRESENTED BY OPERATORS

Settlement within the next 24 hours of the strike which has tied up production in the Princeton coal field since last Wednesday was considered distinctly possible by well informed men on reasonable views, late Thursday.

Negotiations between workers and operators ,which closed abruptly and unsatisfactorily last week after a deadlock had been reached, were reopened amicably today, and workers are considering a new proposal by the operators which it is expected by those who are in touch with both sides, will find favor with the majority of the men.

Arrival in Princeton to-day of three of the prominent directors of the Tulameen Coal Mines, Ltd., the principal property affected, paved the way for the re-opening of negotiations. The views of both parties were sounded, and they were brought together at a meeting Thursday evening in the office of Mines Inspector J. G. Biggs. The management and directors met a group representing the miners, about twelve being present.

While the meeting was a private one, and it is desired that the discussion be not published for the present, a statement was given out to the effect that the negotiations were most cordial. Directors and workers talked frankly, and appreciatively.

The directors proposals were in the nature of a compromise. They offered the men an increase, recognition of a bona-fide committee, and other concessions which are not to be disclosed. They made a frank statement of the position of the company, and showed by personal offers that they were in sympathy with the present situation.

The impression gained was that the representatives of the men were well pleased.

The operators 'proposals will be considered at a meeting of employees under the auspices of the local labor organization, Friday at 2 p.m.

WOMAN, 3 MEN CONVICTED

Sequel to Saturday morning's clash between strikers and the police, John Beronich, John Tymchuck, and William Palmer were found guilty of creating a disturbance, and fined; a local woman who has requsted that her name be not published was given suspended sentence and Mike Kovich will face trial on a charge of assaulting a peace officer.

Kovich, who is alleged to have thrown a stone in Saturday's skirmish which seriously injured Constable Murphy of the B. C. police, is held in jail under heavy bail. The other charges were heard in police court Wednesday. A charge against H. F. Haines of creating a disturbance has been withdrawn.

Kovich's alleged offense is a serious one, filed under section 296 of the Criminal Code. Appearing before Stipendary Magistrate Guernsey of Penticton in provincial police court Wednesday morning, his case was remanded until 15th December. Bail was fixed at $2000 in deposits of $1000 of his own undertaking and two sureties of $500 each.

Charges against four of the strike party, including one woman, again packed the court room. The hearings were conducted separately.

Police gave evidence to the effect that Beronich, Tymchuck and Palmer were particularly offensive in a large group of strikers and sympathizers who, taking their places as a picket on the Tulameen mine road Saturday, demonstrated against the police.

The defence, presented by Mr. Gordon Grant of Vancouver, was to the effect that the men simply reacted against police interference, and were no more responsible for the trouble than the latter.

Fines were set at $5.00 in each case, with costs at $3.85. The fines were paid.

WOMAN TAKES STAND

Police court hearing found the wife of one of the strikers, who had objectionably expressed her views to the police, still defiant.

Police gave evidence that on Monday morning, as three officers were standing in front of the Princeton Hotel on Bridge street, the defendant came up to them and expressed her opinions of them in offensive and obscene language, and in a boisterous manner.

She took the stand in her own behalf.

She was found guilty as charged, given suspended sentence, and was warned as to her future conduct.

relapse, within itself, that may be fatal. Every day the mines are idle at this period means lost orders, lost contracts, lost ground—lost to the keenest of competition.

In face of the suspension of the Granby operation what is the strength of this community to withstand this internecine strife? Its business backbone is near the breaking point. Potentially a virile specimen of maturing strength, this community is becoming an invalided ghost.

At all cost and at any price this suicide must be stopped. We do not care which side is in the right and which in the wrong. In fighting for one principle they are both overlooking a far more important one. They must be made to realize the gravity of the situation.

This is not a time for spite and rancour, or for hot headed enthusiasm; it is rather a situation that calls for the biggest and best that is in local men: a magnanimity to subjugate personal prejudice to the common good. It calls not for civil war, but for a fight that is far more difficult: a fight against personal prejudice that will pave the way to co-operation for a settlement that will be mutually advantageous, a victory that will be for greater than a mere triumph for either side. It is the gratest, and at one the noblest battle that can be fought, but we have confidence in the integrity of our fellows to see it through. We urge them, in the interests of all that is best for the community of which they are a vital part, to be men—and to put their heads together in a truly heroic way, to iron out their difficulties by a mutual display of common sense and sacrifice, and save their industry, their town, and their bread and butter.—The Editor

LOCALS PUT UP GOOD BATTLE

Held throughout the first half without a field basket, Munro Furriers of the G.V.A.A. loop staged a second half onslaught which netted them 21 points, and ran up still another victory on their interior tour when they met Princeton Tuesday night. The score was 23-16 The half time count was 8-2 in favor of Princeton.

Princeton's narrow, low-roofed hall proved a bit of a puzzle to the New Westminster lads, and the home team, playing its first game of the season, used a box defense and fast breaking attack that ideally suited the conditions, and made the Furriers look anything but last year's provincial intermediate A champions.

Coles ran through three baskets and Gregory one, while all the visitors could get were a couple of free throws.

Princeton got another eight points in the second half, but by this time the visitors were on their mettle, and staged a great comeback, eventually overhauling the locals and drawing safely ahead in the closing stages.

The game was remarkably clean.

In a preliminary fixture Allenby intermediate B boys put it over the locals 14-8.

EVANS FACES SERIOUS CASE

ARTHUR H. EVANS, organizer of the workers at Princeton, was placed under arrest at 10 a.m. Wednesday, and member of the Communist organization.

He is being held in Penticton jail pending trial, which has been set for next Wednesday. Bail was refused.

Four others were arrested at the same time, on charges of creating a disturbance, arising out of a skirmish Saturday between strikers and police. They are H. F. Hayes, president of the local union; John Tymchuck, William Palmer, and John Beronich, executive members of the local miners 'and unemployed workers' associations.

A raid was also made by B.C. Police on the headquarters of the Princeton branch of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, Wednesday morning.

TAKEN IN HOTEL

Evans was taken in his room in the hotel, th information and complaint being sworn to by Inspector John McDonald of Nelson, who is for the present taking charge here.

The charge is under sction 98 of the Criminal Code of Canada, the charge being that Evans "was a member of an unlawful association, the Communist Party of Canada, to advance and defend the use, with out authority of law, and force as a means of accomplishing any governmental change."

Evans gave his address as 27 East Forty-second avenue, Vancouver.

He had since coming to Princeton about six weeks ago styled himself as Comrade Evans and was the head of the local workers' and unemployed workers' association, although its officers are all local men.

It is stated that Mr. Evans came at the request of miners who wished to be organized. He held a series of meetings, and eventually a branch of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada was formed, and also branches of the Canadian Labor Defense League, and Workers' International Relief, the last named being an organization for the unemployed.

A general strike was called last Wednesday at two local coal mines.

DATA FROM VANCOUVER?

While police are silent regarding their information, it is believed that Evans' arrest comes as a sequel to a raid of the Vancouver headquarters of the same organizations, when documents and correspondence are said to have been found associating the local work with the activities of the Communist Party of Canada.

While police also declined to comment on the results of their raid of the local quarters in the second storey of the Thomas block, they stated that it had nothing to do with the arrest of Evans ,the information having been prepared prior to the raid.

REFUSED BAIL

An immediate request for bail was filed by Evans' supporters, but Inspector McDonald opposed the application, on the grounds that Evans had once before defaulted bail, when he was charged with the theft of funds from the local of the United Mine Workers' Union. On that occasion, Inspector McDonald stated, Evans absconded, and had to be brought back from the United States.

Evans appeared before Magistrate Guernsey of Penticton shortly after his arrest, and applied for an remand. The case was adjourned for eight days. Meanwhile Evans is being held at Penticton .

Hayes, Tymchuck, Palmer and Beronich are charged with creating a disturbance, under section 238 of the Code. Wednesday afternoon arrangements had not been made for their hearing. The alleged offence took place Saturday morning when strikers and strike sympathizers gathered on the road leading to the Tulameen mine ,and were dispersed by a baton charge of the police after stones had been thrown.

Raiding of the local strikers' quarters was conducted in broad day light and without a scene. Two members of the Provincial Police forced open the door and gained admittance about ten o'clock Wednesday morning. There was no one on the premises at the time.

PRINCETON, B.C., THURS DAY, 8th DECEMBER,

LACY FOUND GUILTY OF BEING DISORDERLY

turbance, and without a doubt the musical tetrarch, for in addition to suplying the air and the words, he also, according to the police, went through all the motions of the leader of a full-fledged symphony.

As to his musical abilities there was perhaps some difference of opinion. As critics the police, in any event, were hardly complimentary.

WAS DEFIANT

The case of the prosecution was, in brief, that about 7:30 on the morning of December 2, a party of provincial police went to the Tulameen mine road, in command of Corporal Cline. At various points they found the road blocked with trees and stumps, which they removed as they proceeded towards the mine. One of these, they noticed on their return, was replaced.

As they approached a group of about fifty miners and sympathizers, they were taunted with many expressions, such as "God damn hooligans" and "shug." When they came up to the group, at a point about the intersection of the mine road with the Coalmont road, Corp. Cline addressed the group, advising them to disperse. The majority did so, but Lacy, who appeared to be the leader, called for a picket of twenty men, which he obtained.

Corporal Cline then addressed the workers, and instructed them as to the regulations of peaceful picketing, when Lacy shouted that they did not have to listen to him. Lacy then began singing and swearing. Corporal Cline again apealed to the men. Lacy was defiant, and the Corporal then gave orders to take him in custody. Others were willing to listen to what the police had to say.

During the same morning Ole Berger, a pump-man of small stature was going to his work in a car when he found the road obstructed and his car surrounded by strikers. He got out, and was struck on the nose.

The defense rested its case principally on the fact that the demonstration was in all respects an orderly one, and that the only trouble came when police asked for it. Mr. Grant maintained that the miners did not have to listen to the views of the police. There was no actual disturbance, he said, for there was no dwelling within several hundred feet. He believed that the police had acted tactlessly and had taken a grossly exaggerated view of the whole matter. He asked that dismissal be granted without hearing the defense, but the Magistrate declined. At several points the defence attorney raised objections, only one of which was sustained, and he was vigorous in his cross-examination.

WORKERS' VERSION

Matthew Sandeson, the only witness called for the defence, said that he was a miner at the Pleasant Valley mine, on strike. He saw Corporal Cline speak to Lacy. Cline told the men that Lacy was not a miner, but an agitator ,trying to make trouble for the men. Lacy said that he was a miner, and someone in the rear of the group of police said "maybe a kalsominer." whereupon Lacy said, "I am as good a man as you."

Prosecution witnesses had said that Lacy said,"I am better than any policeman."

Sandeson said there was no commotion, "just argument", and no sign of a fight.

Summing up, Mr. Grant claimed for the defenc that there had been no disturbance, or anything that could be classed as a nuisance within the meaning of the act. It would be straining prerogative to bring in a conviction under these circumstances. He cited a case at Prince George where 26 men had been held for unlawful assembly, and the chief justice had found that there was not a single element of lawlessness.

For the prosecution, Inspector Mc Donald defined the provisions of the act, arguing that they applied, aas far as section g went, to the case at trial. He cited various evdences of disorder, such as the barricades, the assault, the insulting language, the swearing, an,d the singing, and held that if not directly responsible for them all, Lacy was, as Sandeson had stated, the leader.

"Lacy is not a miner, and has no right to agitate in the present strike whatever", said the Inspector.

Witnesses for the prosecution were Corporal Sperry Cline, Constables Richard Meadows, Lindsay Dickson, W. J. Thomson, and Mr. Ole Berger.

Constable Thomson attested that in July of this year Lacy had given his occupation as mechanic when filing an application for relief .At the time of his arrest Lacy gave his name to police as Patrick S. Driscoll .

In answer to questions by attorney Grant, Corporal Cline said that he had only twice spoken to Mr. Tulameen Collieries, prior to Friday, and each time on official business. He denied that he had been asked by the operators to make this arrest or to break up the strike, or that the arrest was made in any way to infulence the men.

"Were you annoyed?" asked the defense attorney of Const. Meadows. "No, I was having a good time," was the rejoinder; and the gallery tittered.

DENY SINISTER SIGNIFICANCE

To the questions of the defence attorney, Berger denied that he had been offered any special reward to keep on working during the strike or that he was promised special protection. He said he was "against the strike, but not against the strikers."

The appeal deposit of $25.00 was paid.

READING—Nehimiah, 8:10-17. Mark, 6:30-32.

GOLDEN TEXT—Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."—1st Corinthians, 10:31.

The subject of the reading lessons is the Christian's use of leisure. This is considered not so much as an academic question as a practical one, seeking to help girls and boys to desire high standards in their play. Life must have its breathing spaces, otherwise the human machine will become run down. One's spare time will be either recreative or destructive, according to the way in which it is used.

Perley did noot write this. The Star is therefore worth only half price this week. Perley thinks the devil is clever. He is not nearly as clever as Perley thinks he is. In spite of the fact that it is plainly printed that in order for the one-horse force to get the paper out anywhere near on time we must start Tuesday noon, we spend most of Wednesday in fruitless canvas, and on Thursday it gladdens the heart the way copy comes in.

Perley's isn't in YET.

P. S. Thursday morning—Perley's copy has arrived, five days early for next week's paper .

"I'm Glad I Kept My Telephone"

"Hooray!" shouted Jack, as he executed a step-dance in the kitchen. "I've got a job. I'm glad I kept my telephone."

No wonder he's happy. Thanks to the telephone he's going back to work. When the position became available several fellows were considered; but he was the only one who could be reached by telephone. He got the job.

The man with a telephone has the best chance of getting a job.

Mining In B. C.

Among the Canadian provinces, British Columbia is the leading producer of Silver, Lead, and Zinc.

In this province, about 45% of Canada's Silver, 97% of the Lead, and 93% of the Zinc are produced.

British Columbia has produced approximately $1,300,000,000 worth of minerals .

About 200,000 square miles of unexplored mineral-bearing lands are open for prospecting

Practically every mineral known to be found on the Continent occurs to some extent in British Columbia

NINE MILE

The mine was thrown idle here one day last week by the red element. Whoever is responsible for such drastic action certainly does not understand the principles of labor movement when, even before organization has gained a footing they close down the mine without notifying the operators. If the way to assist the unemployed is to throw thirty men out of work against their wish, what will happen next?

The management allowed the "dis organizers" to hold an organization meeting in the rooming house on Monday night. A full attendance was present. The plea of the men was to be left alone in their satisfactory surroundings. Fortunately there were a few present who really did know the principles and ideals of unionism and could easily put the disorganizers back on the track. Needless to say, the said disorganizers were often derailed.

Throw OFF That COLD!

Some men and women fight colds all winter long. Others enjoy the protection of Aspirin. A tablet in time, and the first symptoms of a cold get no further. If a cold has caught you unaware, keep on with Aspirin until the cold is gone. Aspirin can't harm you. It does not depress the heart. If your throat is sore, dissolve several tablets in water and gargle. You will get instant relief. There's danger in a cold that hangs on for days. To say nothing of the pain and discomfort Aspirin might have spared you! All druggists; with proven directions for colds, headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism.

SAY POLICE WERE BRUTAL

Alleging brutality and discrimination by the police, representatives of the striking miners read to the Star a prepared statement, the gist of which is given herewith:

The police were, in the opinion of the strikers, entirely responsible for Saturday's clash. They "brutally clubbed down innocent men, women and children", and "set upon them without warning."

Several men, the complaint reads, were forced to run to the Tulameen river and swim across in its icy waters to avoid being clubbed or trampled down, and are ill as a result.

"Facts brought out in the trial of Comrade Lacy showed that the sympathies of the police are with the operators, and that they are here to protect the vested interests and as strike-breakers.

It is the intention of some of the alleged victims of Saturday's disorder to file judicial complaint against the police. The complaint continues that it was with the knowledge of this intention hat police made four arrests on Wednesday, so as to shift the blame to the strikers.

"The police are entirely and solely to blame for any trouble, and if it had not been for their presence there would have been no disorder."

The complaint was presented by Messrs J. Lacy and M. Sandeson.

The Star begs to point out at this time that its general reports are not dictated or inspired by the police, though of course they are regarded as an important source of information. All angles are taken into consideration and all sources investigated in so far as possible, in th presentation of these accounts. The above is a special concession to the strikers, who have been assured of access to these columns when they have any reasonable view to present—Ed.

Retirement . . . With Pay

Usually, as life goes on, there comes a time when we realize that we cannot draw indefinitely on the bank of earning capacity, and that some day we MUST retire . . . and then we begin to think ahead. Think . . . but, all too seldom, do we plan. The years pass swiftly and, before we know it, the time for retirement arrives and finds us unprepared.

But this can never happen to you if you plan now to provide for the needs of later life. Plan . . . AND ACT. Start now to build the income you must surely have, under one of the retirement income plans of the Confederation Life Association. The moderate deposits ensure that your dreams will be realized, without sacrifice in your earlier years. Do you not want to know what these plans can do for you? You can make sure NOW of a retirement WITH PAY. A request to the address below will bring you figures and full information without obligation. Write TODAY
