LOCAL ORIGINS

HEDLEY CITY

Hedley Townsite was located on Twenty Mile Creek, about one mile from its junction with the Similkameen river in the year 1900.

It was designed as the supply point for the famous Nickel Plate and other mining properties. Mr. R. H. Parkinson, the principal owner, had completed the survey by July, 1900, and by that time developments which have long since taken place were already planned.

Ancient Skeleton Is Found Near Hedley

Bits of a human skeleton, believed to be many years old, and which may offer interesting anatomical study, were recently found near Hedley.

The bones, which were dug up by Mr. Einer Nelson, a recent visitor from Calgary, comprise a jaw bone, a part of the skull, the lower part of the mouth, and a few minor bones, together with a few teeth, which seem to be in perfect condition.

Mr. Cody accompanied Mr. Nelson to pick up the remains. They are in Mr. Cody's possession, and may be examined by anyone interested.

Asks Support For Cenotaph

Editor, Star,
Dear Sir:

The members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion will esteem it a favor if you will kindly open your columns so that the residents of Princeton may make suggestions as to how the Memorial Park and Cenotaph should be kept up, and the expenses met.

Last year a sum of $127.50 was collected, which was partly expended as follows—water, $31.92; painting, $16.00; cutting grass $2.50; advertising $7.80; sundries $2.90, leaving a credit balance of $66.38.

The expenses for the present year are estimated at $190.00, viz: water $50.00; mowing, etc., $120.00; painting $20.00; and after deducting the amount on hand would leave a DEBIT balance of $123.62.

How is the budget to be balanced?

The reason the estimated expenses are increased is on account of having to pay for labor in cutting the grass, the gentlemen who have hitherto undertaken this work not being available. The water bill is also very heavy, and on a repuest being made to the water company for a reduction or rebate, the same was met with a courteous but firm denial.

It has been suggested that the railing round the plot be taken down, and the town cows allowed to graze on the grass, thereby saving the cost of mowing.

May I add that this subject may one day have a considerable bearing on the Incorporation Question.

Thanking you,

Yours very truly,
G. C. HASELDEN,
Secretary, Princeton Post No. 56,
Canadain Legion, B.E.S.L.

More About That Long Rope

Editor Star,
Sir:

The ad writer for the F. P. Cook Estate in your last issue presumes to say that the secretary of the Keremeos Board of Trade will save from drowning any Tories who should happen to fall into the Similkameen river when in flood next month.

Reports from Bert say there is no such "animale" as a developed Tory in Princeton. But should there happen to be a lone one, his faith will be so highly developed that to walk on the water will be very simple.

Yours,
SECRETARY KEREMEOS BOARD OF TRADE.

P.S.—Bert says there are some Tory eggs in the incubator, but they are all addled (in the head)

NO CONTRACTS FOR OUR MINES

Board of Trade Asks Minister To Make Plea For Local Mines

Unless action started by the Princeton Board of Trade brings results, the local coal mines will not have a single provincial government contract for the coming year.

This will mean a heavy loss to the district, where coal mining is for the present the chief source of pay-roll revenue.

Last year the Tulameen Collieries had a number of government contracts and had been counting on a repitition of this success, as it was generally accepted that both the quality and price of local fuel had given utmost satisfaction. The Blue Flame Collieries were also hopeful of obtaining some of this business.

If all this busines is lost it will have a severe adverse effect on local employment conditions, which are already strained.

On Monday morning President P. W. Gregory of the Princeton Board of trade wired Hon W. A. McKenzie, the Similkameen representative at Victoria and Minister of Mines, urging him to do his best to secure fair treatment for the coal mine of his constituency.

There were no developments in connection with last week's safe-cracking episode, when unidentified yegg-men blew the safe of the Princeton Drug and Book Co. and escaped with loot of over $300.00 in cash, cheques and narcotics. Provincial Police still have the case in hand but simply reported "nothing new".

Proving, however, the old adage "it's an ill wind that blows no one good, Ged. Lyall informs the Star that he has received solicitations from three manufacturers to replace the strong-box.

Rode On Tender; Had Two Hundred

Those who hold that hard times are a convenience as well as a dire reality will find some support in the official police blotter for Princeton Police Court for the week.

Brought before Magistrate E. W. Waterman, three men were found guilty of trespass on railway property under section 443 sub-section 3 of the Railway act.

The men were riding the tender.

If every such case of trespass were prosecuted, magistrates would have their hands full these days; but—

The men were well dressed in travelling in good attire, and had between them soomething like $200.00

The C. P. R. is facing the depression too.

The men paid fines of $5.00 each.

SEEK SUPPORT FOR CENOTAPH

An appeal for funds for the maintainence of the Princeton cenotaph and triangle is being made by the Canadian Legion, Princeton branch.

The triangle and cenotaph were acquired some years ago from publicly subscribed funds, and their upkeep has always been a problem. There is no civic organization in Princeton, and no regular source of income for the support of such projects. For a number of years the board of trade undertook the cost of this work, but two years ago it decided that finances would no longer permit. The local branch of the Legion thereupon undertook to attend to the triangle, which houses Princeton's war memorial.

Last year it successfully canvased for funds, and hopes to be accorded imilar support this year.

Secretary G. C Haselden of the Legion advises the Star that approximately $125.00 will be necesary.

The Star will be very pleased to cooperate by acknowledging all subscriptions.

THE CAPITOL

Joe E. Brown one of the first rating stars in filmdom, in the local opinion, appears at the Capitol again this week end. His motto is "Sit Tight" and judging by the pretty legs on the posters, we don't blame him.

Next week-end John Boles, a favorite o fthe serious type of picture, is presented in "Seed."

111, And Near The End

'DAD' QUICK

DAD QUICK, veteran Vancouver saddler, and British Columbia's oldest resident, celebrated his 111th birthday in hospital Wednesday. The venerable old gentleman is drawing near the end of a remarkably long life, and is taking it philosophically. "I only attended two schools ,he said, "my mother and the world."

Election primaries in the two eastern states are expected to have an important bearing on the Roosevelt presidential campaign, and indicate that Al Smith will now play an important part.

SANDESON IN NEAT VICTORY

Preliminary Event Provides Rare Action For Fans

A Japanese Arm Scissors in the sixth round of the match gave Sandy Sandeson a popular victory over Billy Reynolds in their return encounter at the Princess Theatre on Saturday. He won the first fall with a series of reverse hammer locks in the fourth round of an interesting battle.

It was, however, left to Babe Belanger and a very active young man who went by the name of "Curly the Wop" to provide the biggest feature of the evening's entertainment in the form of an express-speed draw which kept the fans on their toes every

In the other event on the first pachydermic card to be staged here in months, Bill Garrison and Johnny Sullivan clowned to a coiorless draw, according to Mr. Ringworm.

There was plenty of action in the main event, and it was fought out at a fast clip. Mr. Reynolds held his own in the opening rounds, and gave a fair display of legitimate holds and some of the new fangled stuff that seems to appeal to the lust for blood of these barbarous times, but is neither good sport or good wrestling. Towards the end, however, Mr. Reynolds was very much in the background, Sandy warming up to his task ,and giving the visitor his meed of punishment.

Reynolds was most succesful at the beginning of the match, but at no time was the local man in difficulties and on the whole his margin was considerably greater than on the occasion of their previous meeting here.

Along about the third round Sandy began to lay on, and Reynolds was in difficulties in an increasing degree. A series of punishing holds poeceded the first fall, and when it came, Reynolds had shot his bolt and the match was won and lost.

Reynolds made a game effort at recovery when they came back, but Sandeson kept relentlessly after him, and a strong arm scissors ended the battle in the sixth.

YOUNGSTERS GOOD

Belanger and Curly treated the fans to a storm of action. Their speed was something to marvel at, and their bout was one of the fastest and most interesting ever seen here. They all sorts of skill, and the whole-hearted manner in which they went to work made a big hit with the crowd.

Belanger was the better man at the start, but at the finish he had his work cut out to prevent Curly from carrying off the spoils. Belanger got one fall in the second and Curly evened up in the third and but for excellent defensive work there would have been many more falls.

GOOD PERFORMANCE

The card generally was very interesting, and pleased so well that while the crowd was small the promoters feel justified, in view of the impression made, of planning further entertainment of this type.

Change Of Boundary Is Strongly Protested

A NEW PREDICAMENT

Where and how are Coalmont, Tulameen and Blakeburn? The cast-outs are beginning to wonder, in connection with public works appropriations.

"Recently," said Mr. Geo. Murray, President of the Coalmont-Blakeburn-Tulameen board of trade, We phoned District Roads Engineer McKay and requested some maintainence work.

"Sorry, but you're no longer in my district," was the alleged reply.

In that the date of the next election has not even been set, and since it is provided that the re-allotment provisions do not come into effect until that time, the orphans are wondering just where they will be meanwhile. " There will be no indecision about paying taxes", they say.

They have not yet applied to Dr. Gillis for a share of the Yale road appropriation, and are none too sanguine about what reply to expect if they did.

Humbled At The Feet of Eve

Powerful Potentates On A Very Special Mission

Boards of trade may be virulent and haughty, and board-of-traders may be pompous and their eloquence may move mountains(and perhaps political boundaries), but they are powerless before the hand and skill of woman.

On bended knee, more or less, solons of Similkameen's progress will wait on the women of Keremeos, acknowledged the best cooks in the valley, and urge them to entertain for the third successive year the annual Associated Banquet. In fact, these proud makers of Similkameen destiny will be ready to capitulate entirely, and to admit they are unconditionally at the mercy of the talented gourmandes of the lower valley.

When the idea of the annual banquet was originated three years ago, it was the intention to have the event alternate between the various centers. The first was held in Princeton—and then the mere men tasted the Keremeos delicacies. Now they cannot conceive of having a banquet anywhere except Keremeos. "It's so central," they say.

A spell of gloom fell over the council meeting on Monday when Messrs Innis and Morrissy of the Keremeos board expressed doubts about having the event at Keremeos this year. At once these men fell from the exalted place they have held in the esteem of their colleagues, and Associated Trades stock catapulted several points.

Whereupon Mr. Morrissy broke down and confessed that perhaps his charms were on the wane. It was then and there that thecouncil decided to throw its big guns into action, and President Wagenhauser and vice-persident Murray deputed to wait upon the ladies in person, and to convince them that the kind things said about the cuisine at the last banquet were not in flattery but in dead earnest—and not to return without having arranged matters, on pain of something worse than death.

If the fates and their anticipated charms are with Messrs Murray and Wagenhauser ,the banquet will be held Thursday, June 9.

The attendance is expecetd to be larger than ever, an especially large number of visitors from Washington being expected. The banquet will be preceded by the annual meeting of the council.

Annual Banquet May Be Held June 15

President W. A. Wagenhauser of the Associated Boards of Trade of the Similkameen this morning advised that he was in receipt of a communication from E. A. Morrissy of the Keremeos Board of trade, and that the annual Associated banquet will likely be held at Keremeos Wednsday, June 15.

Strong Resolution Forwarded To Victoria Against Change

COMMUNITY AS A UNIT

"The loss is Princeton's. No change can possibly adversely affect the Tulameen end of the riding."

In these words of Mr. John Ovington the attitude of the Coalmont-Blakeburn people , as expressed by its board of trade repreentatives, can be summarized, as regarding the provisions of the redistribution bill, which takes this section from the Similkameen electoral riding and annexes it to Yale.

"For years the Tulameen end of the riding has been made a political football,its interests hardly considered. We have had nothing, and we can lose nothing."

While they made no comments regarding their feelings towards their new political associates, it was quite obvious that their attitude was one of resignation rather than exuberance. They recognized that the change was contrary to natural and geographical premises, but circumstances had proven stronger than common sense affiliations.

The Tulameen end of the riding is genuinely sorry that such a situation has arisen, said Mr. George Murray, but it is new only as it affects political boundaries, and its consequences are important chiefly as they affect Princeton.

Princeton is the chief loser by the failure of the Tulameen section of the riding to receive the consideration it deserves, because the consequence is that the payroll and the loyalty of the Tulameen section do not mean so much to Princeton, the natural center, as they otherwise would, Mr. Murray continued.

Blakeburn's payroll, the most considerable in the district, looked to Princeton for an outlet. Even now when conditions are dull the monthly payroll averaged over $20,000. A recent check-up by the Coalmont Collieries showed that of $34,000 paid in wages,only $2900 was spent at Blakeburn. With good roads and a better feeling much of what was going to the mail order houses would come to Princeton.

For years Coalmont had been asking for public works until they had pretty well given up hope. Princeton should have fought tooth and nail with Coalmont, and so for her own good.

HAVE TRIED

Various speakers sympathized with the attitude thus expressed, but pointed out that Princeton and other sections of the valley had supported Coalmont's demands. Mr. Wagenhauser pointed out that a few years ago Princeton merchants dug down into their own pockets to make the road fit for travel.

This the Coalmont delegates countered by saying that it should not be necessary for Princeton merchants to make such contributions, and commented that recent instances showed how the Tulameen end of the riding was being neglected.

"On the section of road between Granite Creek and Coalmont, with a mountain of gravel on either side there is one man filling the holes with a shovel." they said.

They causticly commented on the China Creek bridge, the "official entrance to Princeton from the Tulameen"

Their attitude, however, was not so much of criticism for what Princeton had done or left undone as that Princeton as the natural center should be wide-awake of her own accord.

The Coalmont dlegation let it be known that their opinion was that the move was a purely political one, and that whatever their ideas regarding support from Princeton, they did not consider the change in the best interests of anyone.

Hosie Address Is Postponed Till Fall

The public lecture to be given by Mr. John Hosie, Provincial librarian and Archaeologist, under the auspices of Princeton Board of Trade, has been postponed until fall.

The address, which will be an illustrated lecture on "The Pageant of B. C. History" was to have been given May 23, but owing to the Similkameen Schools' track meet being held at Princeton that day, it was considered unwise to proceed.

HISTORY WILL BE PRESERVED

Would Perpetuate Local History By Publishing Report

To preserve and collate the scattered fragments of the historic lore of the Similkameen and adjacent territory, the Similkameen Historical As- likely take definite form about mid-June.

Discussed for some time, the movement was given impetus on Tuesday when at the invitation of the instigator, Rev. J. C. Goodfellow, a number of interested persons engaged in a preliminary discussion, and definite plans were made to proceed with work of organization.

It is proposed to enlist all interested in this invaluable service to the district. The association will hold regular meetings, but its primary object will be to piece together the salient points of local history, and to preserve them by publishing an annual report, after the fashion of many similar organizations now doing excellent work.

Early local history of the northwest is contained largely in the memories of its pioneers ,and in household liteters and property, all of which are likely to disappear unless sought out and saved from oblivion.

In Rev. Goodfellow the Similkameen has the ideal type of local historian

Few communities have such a wealth of colorful background, but day by day it is passing more and more beyond recall.

It has been hoped to make the organization of the Similkameen Historical Society coincident with the visit of Mr. John Hosie, Provincial Librarian, but his visit has been delayed until fall.

It was decided to take immediate steps to interest sympathetic persons, and to formally introduce the subject at the Associated Boards of Trade Banquet in June. The organization meeting will be held shortly after.

The territory it is proposed to embrace lies between Penticton and Hope, and between Merritt and the international boundary.

Mr. Goodfellow is acting as chairman and secretary pro-tem, and a committee was named to consider a constitution and by-laws, comprising Mr. Goodfellow, Mr. S. R. Gibson, Mr. R. Alstead and Mr. Dave Taylor.

Present at the inaugural meeting were Messrs Goodfellow, A. E. Howse, H. B. Meausette, S. R. Gibson, E. E. Burr, P. W. Gregory, R. Alstead and Taylor.

Son of Local People Gives Radio Lecture

Before a recent gathering of the Nelson Amateur Radio Society, J. Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G Biggs of Princeton, gave an interesting address on crystals, and their application to radio-telegraphy. Mr. Biggs demonstrated that a quartz crystal is an almost perfect mechanical oscillator ,and described the various types of crystals adapted to radio work, and showed their application. Mr. Biggs is an electrician at Cora Linn.

ASSOCIATED IN PROTEST

Vigorous protest was recorded by the Asociated Boards of Trade of the Similkameen against the action of the Provincial government in annexing the Tulameen section of the community to the Yale electoral district.

The Associated delegates Monday night deplored the severing of community interests apparently to accomodate political ends, and decided to advise the sitting member, Hon. W. A. McKenzie that they considered the change was neither in the best interests or according to the wishes of his constituents.

Speakers stressed the fact that the interests of Coalmont, Blakeburn and Tulameen were common, that their business and political affiliations had made them a unit, and that it was in the best interests of all that this should continue to be so.

The Associated refused to accept that there is any change, and the Coalmont-Tulameen-Blakeburn board will remain in membership, and the four sections of the valley thus represented will continue to pool their problems.

The Associated can claim to be the most representative body in the western end of the riding. It hopes that the government may yet decide to let the traditional boundaries stand.

A Tale of Two Sisters

ABOUT twenty-three years ago, two sisters each bought an Endowment Policy in the Confederation Life Association . . . one for eight, the other for ten thousand dollars.

The policies matured within six months of each other in 1928. The sister with the eight thousand dollar policy decided to take the proceeds in cash with dividends. The other sister decided to let the policy remain with the Confederation Life and draw the proceeds of it in the form of a monthly income for life, which the Confederation Life is paying to her at this time.

The sister with the eight thousand dollars put part of it into property which she still has: but she herself told us that she speculated, not only with the balance, but with some other savings. The result has been a loss of about fifty-five hundred dollars. This tale of two sisters might be told of hundreds of beneficiaries of life insurance.

The modern method of purchasing life insurance is not only to provide money for dependants, but to provide, as well, a dependable income, so that, no matter what happens, this income cannot be dissipated, or in any other way be endangered.

We strongly recommend all those experienced, as well as inexperienced, in the management of investments to buy Confederation Life Monthly Income Insurance or Pension Bonds.
Write for the interesting particulars of these types of policies. You will be astonished to learn how much protection you can buy for so modest a premium.

STAR SPORT REVIEW

SMALLER SCHOOLS WILL HAVE BETTER CHANCE BY NEW RULE

Constitution Will Put Annual Sports On Permanent Basis

NEW SHIELD IS PRESENTED

Important changes in the regular competition and in the conduct of the affairs of the association will follow if the general meeting of the Similkameen School Sports Association adopts the constitution which will be submitted.

The constitution was drafted by a special committee which met at Hedley on Friday. It covers the ground very thoroughly.

Provision for class A and B rating of the schools, according to enrollment and an opportunity for the smaller schools to compete for their own prize without losing their privelege in the major competition is the outstanding achievement of the new constitution. A new shield has been offered by Dave Taylor of the Princeton Star, and will go to the best among the smaller schools. A simple yet fair method has been arrived at as to the award of points. In each event sixteen points will be awarded ,eight in the class A competition, and eigh in the class B. In the heats Class A and class B athletes will compete separately. In the final heat winners of the first three places will receive class A points, regardless of whether they rate B or A. At the same time, the three best class B athletes, whether they win the first three places or not, will be separately scored for class B points. Individual points will be scored for class A successes only.

The age limit has been abolished in the open class, and in other cases the athlete must be within the class at his or her last birthday. For instance, an athlete who has reached his eleventh birthday by the date of the meet must compete in the under 13 class.

Clases are unchanged, except for the extension of the age limit in the open class. They are under9, under 11, under 13 and under 15 and open, for both boys and girls.

The program is left to the executive committee, and there will likely be few alterations from year to year. In the case of ties for individual championships, an extra event will be held for girls throwing the basketball, and for boys, the baseball.

McKENZIE CUP CHANGES

The special rules governing the Mc Kenzie cup are revoked, and the same rules now cover it as govern the other the regular events. The special articles governing this event have not been followed in practice. All trophies are now brought under direct control of the association.

In the event of any trophy being won by a school three years in succession, the trophy will become the permanent possession of that school, and will be replaced.

Practical power of veto has been given the schools by an article which provides that any two schools can proceed to call a general meeting.

SPORTS GOSSIP

Foster has had a spell of activity in Coast rings since he left Princeton in the fall, and has generally been on the winning side. At any rate, he has certainly not lacked matches.

The bouts are promoted by Gordon Wallace, who fought and defeated Foster here this fall.

Buster Robinson, former Princeton boxer, is also a regular headliner at the Cavalry club.

Penticton Plays Tennis Here On May 24

Penticton tennis players will visit Princeton May 24 for a series of matches with the local club. Their visit will mark the first invasion by an outside tennis contingent in recent years.

A return series will likely be played at a later date.

President's Side Wins Golf Opener

Although President Rod MacDonald had the satisfaction of besting his right hand man in the annaul opening fixture of the Princeton Golf Club Sunday, the Vice-president's team won the event by the narrow margin of five matches to four. It was a match play event. In the ladies' series the President's side won. The opening day was a most enjoyable one. Lunch was served by the ladies. The results:

Singles—McDonald 1, Grey 0; Coles 1, Sorenson 0; Coleman 1, Field 0; Shorthouse 0, Forsyth 0; Hazzard 0, S. Ewart 1; Waterman 0, W. B. Ewart 1.

Fourbomes—Mc Donald and Coles 1; Gray and Sorenson 0; Coleman and Shorthouse 0, Forsyth and Field 1; Hazzard and Pattinson 0, Ewart and Ewart 1.

MEETINGS ALTERNATE

The meetings of the association will henceforth alternate between Princeton and Hedley. The annual general meeting will be held the Friday following the Easter holidays. The track meet will alternate, as established three years ago, between Princeton, Hedley and Keremeos in the order named.

In other respects the constitution follows regular procedure.

Decision regarding the constitution will give the executive a free rein to go ahead with the details of this year's track meet, which will be held at Princeton Monday May 23.
