Fish and Game Men To Visit Oroville

At the regular monthly meeting of the Princeton Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association, held in the Parish Hall on Monday, with G. M. M. Harman in the chair, it was decided to pay a fraternal visit to the members of the Fish and Game Club at Oroville, Washington. The date set for this visit is Saturday, September 28, and all who plan to join the visiting party are asked to leave their names at the Star office, not later than Friday, September 20, so that arrangements can be made for transportation.

It was decided to hold the next regular meeting, on Monday, October 7, at Copper Mountain. A joint meeting at Coalmont, early this year, proved a great success, and it was felt that this experiment should be repeated, so the October meeting will be held at Copper Mountain.

Some discussion followed retelling of the story of Al Hartfiel, who was lost eleven days in the Similkameen Canyon, until discovered by Mrs. Gabry, and rescued by Dr. Paul Phillips and party from Copper Mountain. Apparently Mr.Hartfiel, not suspecting any mishaps, did not tell anyone just where he was going when he left on a fishing trip on Wednesday, August 28th. The result was that when he suffered serious injury in a fall, and lay exposed in the open, no one knew just where he was. With this in mind the members of the Princeton Club felt that it would always be wise for anyone going on a fishing or hunting trip, especially if going alone, to notify someone before departure.

The club members have had a successful year. Many projects have been undertaken, and the membership has reached the highest peak in the club's history.

WEDDINGS

Mansfield—Robinson

Kenneth Davidson Mansfield of Princeton and Edna May Robinson of Penticton were united in Holy wedlock in St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church, Princeton. The ceremony was performed by the vicar, the Rev. P. J. Brownlee, on Sunday afternoon, September 8th, at 1.30 p.m. The bride was attended by Mrs. M. Callette of Hedley, and the groom was supported by H. McInroy of Princeton.

Shortly after the ceremony the newlyweds left by motor for a week's honeymoon trip to the Okanagan. On their return they will take up residence in Princeton.

Baird — Mahoney

St. Peter's Rectory was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Saturday, August 31st, when Rev. Father Franks officiated at the wedding of Ellanore Frances, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mahoney of Allenby, and Jack McCabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Baird of Princeton.

The bride, gowned in white satin with coronet head-dress and floor length veil, was attended by her sisters, Mary K. Mahoney, as maid of honor, and Vera Schofield as bridesmaid, who were frocked in matching models of rose and turquoise jersey silk. Howard Baird was best man to the groom, while ushers were Robert Baird and Frank Mahoney, Jr.

A wedding supper was served to the immediate family at the home of the bride's parents, after which an open house reception was held in the Allenby Hall.

The happily married couple left shortly afterwards on a honeymoon trip to the Okanagan Valley.

LEGION NEWS

The local branch of the Canadian Legion is sponsoring a veterans' re-union smoker to be held in the Elks' Hall on Saturday, September 21st.

Now that practically all of the veterans have returned from service, the Legion executive feels the time has come to plan a re-union get-together. It is hoped that all Active Service veterans of all wars will be able to attend.

A special entertainment committee has been appointed and in addition to local talent, it is hoped that a professional magician will be in attendance. Refreshments will be served and a good time can be anticipated. Tickets for this smoker will be on sale at the regular meeting on Friday, September 13th.

MORE APPLES THIS YEAR

Apples were scarce in Canada in the 1945-46 season due to an exceptionally short crop in 1945. This year a bumper crop is expected, says the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Trees, heavily weighed down with fine fruit as the one shown in this picture, are to be seen in many orchards.

LETTER to EDITOR

Sir:

May I be permitted to suggest that publication of the very able and thought-provoking letter from the pen of Mrs. Dunningham in your last week's issue was ill-timed? As a newcomer to our community the writer cannot be expected to have knowledge as to the historic past of the important question she discusses. Otherwise she would, I am sure, have awaited a more opportune moment for the purpose of resurrecting the buried skeleton. For spite of and notwithstanding the fiendish operations of the "synagogue of Satan" we remain steadfast as a democracy, fundamental to which is the inherent right to be heard in rebuttal. And since our Gilbert and our Perley, as rebutters-in-chief, are absent in the flesh, the former revisiting the scenes of his youthful exploits in Ontario and Quebec, while the latter revels in the joys of a long - deferred honeymoon with his recently acquired and wondrous bride up and down the vast expanses of that most glorious of waterways—the Metapedia River —I submit, Mr. Editor, that common decency and fair-play impel us to a postponement of further discussion of an already much debated subject till their return — particularly as I am sure that, then, another newcomer, Mrs. Perley, will also wish to be heard upon a question that will affect her future destiny equally with our own.

T. J. GUINAN.

P.S.—I have tried to take this matter up with Kit, but all I could get out of him was a grunt.—T.J.G.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gowetor of Saskatoon were visitors at the Diamond H ranch guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. McLaren, at the week end. They are motoring home by way of Edmonton after attending a convention at Portland, Oregon. Other visitors at the Diamond H. were Art Forbes of Princeton, Bill Jasman of Cloverdale; also J. Stewart and John Guichon of Merritt.

Al. Hartfiel Lost Eleven Days in the Similkameen Canyon

An epic story of courage and determination in rescuing a fisherman lost in the Similkameen canyon for eleven days has just been added to the annals of our valley. Al Hartfiel of Copper Mountain is now recovering in the Princeton General Hospital after his gruelling experiences of eleven days' exposure after falling over a cliff and smashing his leg. The story of his discovery and rescue reveal how narrowly tragedy was averted.

On Wednesday, August 28 Al Hartfiel went for a fishing trip up the Similkameen River, and at 10.30 that morning fell over a cliff and smashed his right leg. Unable to walk, he crawled along the rocks until stopped by sheer cliffs, and swift water. He managed to crawl to the river for water for a few days, and then was too weak. On Sunday he saw another fisherman, who waved to him and went on. Words were drowned by the noise of running water in the canyon. Hartfiel then gave up hope, and for the next seven days lay out in the open, exposed to rain, frost and sun. At times he was delirious. At other times he was painfully rational. At times he could see men on the trail half a mile down the river, but could not succeed in attracting their attention.

On the afternoon of Sunday, 8th, about 2 o'clock, Marie Gabry, her son George and party, were fishing by the river. She was startled by a low cry. Thinking one of the party must have been hurt, she investigated, and found Hartfiel, across the river. Ken Stevenson, one of the party crossed over, and decided that Hartfiel needed medical attention before being moved. Jack Stuart, the fourth member of the party, and young Gabry, returned to Copper Mountain for aid. They negotiated the thousand feet of steep canyon and two miles of K.V.R. branch line to the Mountain in record time.

The rescue party was made up of Dr. Paul Phillips of Princeton, J. C. Cloke, R. J. McKinnon, K. C. Fahrni, George Hallinan, W. Gourlay, and J. E. McMynn, assistant mine superintendent. Supplied with stretchers, ropes, blankets, medical supplies, hot tea and chocolate, they headed down into the canyon. Jack Stuart and George Gabry accompanied the rescue party.

The trail led down from the KVR branch line tracks to a point on the Similkameen opposite the old Red Buck mine. The river had to be forded, and the opposite bank ascended to the spot where Hartfiel was lying. While the doctor, aided by First Aid men, McKinnon, Hallinan and Gourlay, administered plasma and drugs the rest of the party slung ropes across the river to assist in bringing the stretcher over. Waist deep in fast water, six men with the aid of the ropes, made the ford. From here four men packed the stretcher down over a quarter of a mile of river, part of the time over rocks, and part of the time wading the river.

The next river crossing was easier, and with one man acting as an anchor upstream, six men made the crossing without mishap. The 1000 feet climb from the river to the railway track was made by tying a rope to the stretcher, and with Dr. Phillips and J. Cloke pulling on the rope, and keeping a snap around a stump or tree. The rest of the party lifted and guided the stretcher straight up the bank, catching toeholds and handholds wherever possible.

The track was no sooner reached than darkness fell, but from there the two mile trek to the foot of the inclined skipway was comparatively easy. An ambulance was waiting at the top of the skip, and the injured man was soon after in the Princeton General Hospital. During the whole trip Hartfiel never complained, and he was rational most of the time. He seemed more concerned with the difficulties encountered by the rescue party than with his own condition.

Nancy Pollock Honored by Shower

The Orange Hall was a festive scene last Thursday evening, when Mrs. Bloom, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Howarth and Mrs. Lawrence entertained about 65 ladies at a shower in honor of Miss Nancy Pollock, popular bride-elect of Roy Lind. Games and singing were enjoyed during the early part of the evening with Mrs. Gene Macdonald presiding at the piano. A beautifully decorated "wishing well" was presented to the bride-elect, full of beautiful gifts from her many friends. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, after which the singing of "For She Is a Jolly Good Fellow" brought to a close a delightful evening.

RED CROSS TO HEAR PRINCESS ELIZABETH IN BROADCAST

For the first time in history, Princess Elizabeth will directly address the 875,000 members of the Canadian Junior Red Cross, via a trans Canada broadcast on Sunday, September 29th, 3.38 to 3.45 p.m. Pacific standard time. As patron of the Canadian Junior Red Cross, Princess Elizabeth has been closely connected with the work which these thousands of students are carrying on all across the Dominion.

The broadcast will be carried by the Canadian Broadcasting Company.

Another interesting Junior Red Cross broadcast is scheduled for October 2nd, 3.30 to 3.40 p.m. Pacific standard time on C.B.C. This will originate in Montreal and will be an interview with Rampersad Jaggernauth, the 17-year-old boy from Trinidad who is now in the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal, his expenses paid by the Juniors of the Quebec Division.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Croxford and I wish to thank the Hospital staff, and Drs. Vosburgh, Phillips and Hall; also the many friends in Princeton, Allenby and district for their many kindnesses to Mrs. Croxford during her long stay in the Princeton General Hospital.

A. CROXFORD.

Trials of a Minister

One of the hardest jobs in Canada today is that held by the minister of labor. It is being made harder by the barrage of unjust criticism under which he must work.

This was shown last week in Mr. Humphrey Mitchell's evidence before the Industrial Relations Committee. "I find," he said, "that whenever it suits the purpose of a particular union, a prompt attempt will be made to bring about what I can best describe as organized criticism of my actions." He then told of receiving floods of telegrams, many of them in almost identical terms, from unions all over the country and all denouncing him for something or other.

Many public men trying to do their duty will know all about such telegrams. Filled with "demands" and vilification, they reflect little credit upon the senders; and the repetitious flow serves no practical purpose except to increase the revenues of the telegraph companies.

One such case was cited by the minister. In an effort to avert a costly strike in the rubber industry, he had mailed to each employee a copy of the Conciliation Board's report and had advised them to accept its recommendations. Somebody got busy, and he was assailed from all parts of the country for this action. He was accused of trying to break up the unions. He should not have dealt with the rubber employees except through the union officials.

The truth, stated the minister, was that his course of action had been previously discussed at a meeting with the union's officials and Mr. Pat Conroy, secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and fully concurred in by them.

Last week Mr. Conroy undertook to give the minister a lecture on moral stamina. "It takes more courage to face the facts," he said, "than to run away from them as the minister has been doing." But running away does not appear to be a habit with Humphrey Mitchell. This was made clear last week in his evidence on wage control.

Rightly or wrongly—and the great majority of Canadian people will say rightly—the Labor Minister for some years has stoutly maintained that price control is not possible without a reasonable measure of wage control. During the war years he played a leading part in setting up the wages boards throughout the country, to see that wages did not rise to levels that might force rises in prices.

A life-long trade unionist himself, it takes some moral courage on the part of the Minister of Labor to maintain wage control now that the war is over. But he is convinced that it will be necessary for some time yet if the dollar in the worker's pay envelope is to be expected to buy more than fiifty cents' worth of goods. Holding that conviction, there seems to be little likelihood that he will be stampeded by telegrams, resolutions, innuendo and plain abuse into taking any contrary course.

When the present industrial tumult and shouting dies, the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell may then be accorded his due as a better and more long-sighted friend of the workers than those little sawdust Caesars who are now so active in sniping at him.—Editorial from The Ottawa Evening Citizen, August 12, 1946.

Evidence of the widespread interest in the Government's loan scheme to assist university students is revealed in the number of applications received by the Department of Education. More than 400 applications have been received to date, it was announced by the Honourable Dr. G. M. Weir, who has returned to his office following a long illness.

Maximum allowances under this scheme are $500 for university; $330 for Normal School and $160 for student nurses. Up until the end of August when applications closed, approximately 425 students had applied. Of this number 265 wish to attend university, 58 desire training at Normal School and 60 require assistance to attend medical and dental institutions.

A total of $100,000 has been set aside to assist students. Certain scholastic standards have to be maintained, however, before the assistance is granted.

Text Book Distribution

During the past week, the text book branch of the Department of Education has been busy distributing thousands of text books to schools throughout the Province.

Last year, this branch of the Government service, distributed $400,000 worth of text books. This year, it is expected that the figures will reach $500,000.

PROFESSIONAL AID TO TEACHERS

IN September, 1944, the Provincial Department of Education presented to teachers in the rural schools of British Columbia a magazine designed to give them professional advice and assistance, and to keep them in touch with new developments in the field of education. This publication, The Rural School, was received with enthusiasm and from all parts of the Province came requests that it be sent also to teachers in the schools of cities and district municipalities. This is now being done, and the magazine has become the Official Publication of the Provincial Department of Education. It is now called British Columbia Schools, and there are two quarterly editions during the school-year, one for elementary school teachers and one for secondary school teachers.

This publication is designed specifically to help the teachers of this Province. It provides a direct link between the schools and the Department of Education in Victoria. In its pages are outlined the latest professional development in the field of education and in teaching techniques. It provides teachers with information concerning new professional books and supplementary text-books, educational magazines, and the best sources from which they may obtain teaching aids and materials. The magazine also contains news of important developments and changes in education in British Columbia and in Canada as a whole. As it is the official publication of the Department of Education, notices to schools and information concerning curricular changes and new text-books appear in its pages.

BRITISH COLUMBIA SCHOOLS is sent free of charge to every teacher in the Province. Subscriptions will be received from other interested persons or groups such as School Boards and Parent-Teacher Associations. Rates are $1.50 a year for each edition. Enquiries should be addressed to The Editor, BRITISH COLUMBIA SCHOOLS.

Visitors To The National Parks

Vistors to Canada's National Parks where a day to day record is kept numbered approximately 450,000 up to the end of July according to a statement released by the Honourable J. A. Glen, Minister of Mines and Resources. This compares with an attendance of approximately 600,000 during the whole of 1945 and is perhaps indicative of the increased tourist travel all over Canada in this the first year of peace.

During the month of July alone 60,873 visitors passed through the Eastern Gateway into Banff National Park, Alberta, an increase of more than 18,000 over the same month last year. The other National Parks in Alberta also report similar percentage increases in the number of visitors. Waterton Lakes attendance figures jumped from 19,000 to 45,000; Elk Island, the home of the buffalo, from less than 10,000 to nearly 17,000; and Jasper National Park from 4,000 to 7,500 as compared with July of last year.

In Saskatchewan, Prince Albert National Park had 11,700 visitors compared with 8,000 in July, 1945, and Riding Mountain National Park in Manitoba, had nearly 55,000, an increase of more than 15,500 over the same period last year.

July reports from the National Parks in British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia all tell a similar story—substantial increases over July of last year. For instance, Kootenay National Park in British Columbia, had an increase in visitors from 8,700 to 21,600; Point Pelee in Ontario, from 19,400 to 30,800; Prince Edward Island National Park from 17,000 to 21,000; and Cape Breton Highlands National Park in Nova Scotia, from 5,000 to 7,000.

A feature of this year's attendance at the National Parks is the number of visitors bringing their own camping equipment, including automobile trailers, and making use of the campgrounds which have been equipped for that purpose in all the National Parks. Superintendents report that these campgrounds have been used to a greater extent than ever before thus relieving the pressure on other park accommodation.

IF POLIO STRIKES!

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, New York, advises that if poliomyelitis breaks out in your community the following suggestions should be followed:

Avoid new contacts. Try not to mingle with crowds unnecessarily. (Schools and other gathering places, however, may remain open.)

Watch these symptoms. Headache, unexplained fever, a cold, even upset stomach may be the first symptoms of infantile paralysis.

Call your doctor immediately if any of these symptoms appear. Expert medical care may help prevent crippling.

Remember. Carry on your normal activities. Infantile paralysis cannot be prevented but few of those stricken develop serious illness and, with good care, the majority will make satisfactory recovery.

Also remember that quick action often prevents crippling.

THANK YOU
for waiting for delivery of your
NEW GENERAL MOTORS CAR

We are doing our best to see that you get your new car as quickly as possible

We want to thank every one of our customers — and every prospective customer as well — for the friendly patience with which you are awaiting your new General Motors car, whether it be a Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick or Cadillac.

That patience will be more than rewarded when we hand you the keys to one of these great new General Motors cars, for here, in our judgment are automobiles ahead of their time — far and away the best in each of their respective classes.

We know how difficult it is to wait even a day for a car of General Motors exceptionally fine quality; but we believe you will understand that we and General Motors are as eager to deliver cars as purchasers are to obtain them. Unfortunately, the cars produced so far this year are far fewer than we and the factory had counted on. General Motors headquarters at Oshawa sums up the situation thus:

"Even though our rate of production normally exceeds that of any other manufacturer, we have been able to build, up to August 1, only a small percentage of the number of cars we built up to that date in 1941. Our own production, like that of the industry in general, is still far below normal, because of frequent shortages of essential materials and parts. Strike after strike at the plants of our suppliers has seriously impeded our progress toward full production, and the cumulative effect severely hampers both manufacturing and assembly."

While production is restricted, so — in proportion — are shipments of cars to us. As production increases, we are assured of getting our proportionate share of the total number of cars from the factory. But we want you to know that as quickly as these cars are received, we will speed deliveries to our customers.

We thank you, again, for your understanding and patience — confident that when your turn comes to enjoy the brilliant new standards achieved by the new General Motors cars, you will be thankful you waited.

"You can't tell me anything about shortages," said Mr. Building Contractor. "I am having trouble getting about everything from nails to bathtubs. The situation is general."

"That's just the point we are trying to make," said Mr. Telephone Man. "We, too, are having trouble getting material and equipment of various kinds. We don't like it any more than anyone else does, and we'll welcome the day when waiting lists for service will disappear."

Keremeos	5	13	.277
Osoyoos	3	15	.166

By defeating Peachland 10 runs to 6 on Sunday, Rutland winds up the season in a tie with Penticton for second place. These two teams will play a sudden-death contest at Kelowna on Sunday, Sept. 15th, for the right to meet Oliver in a three game series for the championship. The league season now concluded provided some exciting contests, and all teams are looking forward to a big season next year, with the league probably divided into two circuits, one in the Okanagan and one in the Similkameen, with a play-off between them at the end of the season. Princeton's entry in the league made a remarkable showing, in spite of a late entry, starting with a handicap of four defaulted games.

LOCALS DEFEAT MERRITT, 10-0.

The Merritt baseball nine came to town on Sunday and the locals shut-out the visitors, 10-0. Bill Syme allowed only four scattered hits for the winners while the Princeton bats found young Jack Hardy of Merritt for fifteen hits, including two tripples and two doubles. Errors were at a minimum in the game but the locals had too much power for the visitors to make the game closer.

Summary—Base on Balls: off Hardy 7, off Syme 2; Strike-outs: by Hardy 6, by Syme 7; Three-base Hits: T. Kovich, A. Schulli; two-base hits: W. Hoy, T. Liberatore, Puett; double plays: Kovich-Hoy, G. Currie-Kovich-Hoy, Syme-Mullin-Liberatore, Williamson-Puett-Collett. Left on bases: Merritt 6, Princeton 10.

Princeton visitors at the home of Mrs. Liddicoat are Mrs. H. Allison and Mrs. E. J. Rotherham.

The Ladies of the Royal Purple are resuming their regular meetings again after a summer recess. Meetings will now be held every second and fourth Monday of the month starting on September 9th.

Ted Miller has started on the construction of a machine shop on his lots next to the U. C. manse. In conjunction with this he plans on a large show room for Massey Harris machinery.

Keremeos Hotel, owned and operated by Mr. Nillson, is undergoing extensive alterations in plumbing, electrical work and general repairs.

Keremeos Firemen had a sandwich sign on the street carried by a good looking young girl last Saturday. They were advertising the Firemen's Ball to be held Friday next.

Rev. and Mrs. Max Warne returned this week from a holiday trip to Ontario. Chicago, Manitoba and other points. Mr. Warne was one of the lucky few to get a new car in which they came home.

Mrs. Bourget left for a week's holiday in Edmonton.

George Arrnison is leaving for Vancouver where he will enter hospital for medical treatment.

MacIntosh apples are starting to pour into the packing houses this week. Hale peaches are still coming in, but soft fruits are nearly finished for another year.

Len Innis' house is steadily taking on appearance. The new cabins of Keremeos Kozy Kabins are nearing completion.

Teen-agers will be glad to hear that a Teen Town is being planned for Keremeos. They will be renting the hall on Friday nights when available and should prove quite successful under the guidance of Rev. Mr. Warne, who is also to be congratulated for his efforts in Hedley Teen Town.

A large crowd attended a benefit ball game held in Cawston last Sunday. Sponsored by the Keremeos and Cawston ball teams the game was played for the benefit of a Keremeos player, Ray Walters, who was badly hurt in a game at the Hedley sports on Labor Day. Walters injured his knee when he ran into a parked car trying to get a foul ball. We hope he will be as good as ever very soon. Over $100 was raised. Cawston beat Keremeos in the eleventh inning 5 to 4.
