NOW YOU CAN GET SICK FOR NOTHING HERE

But You Had Better Pay Up Your State Health Insurance Premium Or It May Cost You Double

OFFICE IN PRINCETON

Field Representative Here To Explain New Plan

YOU are now o.k. for hospita —or jail.

State hospital insurance is now in effect in British Columbia and you should be covered; if you aren't, instead of protection, you're liable to penalty.

They're being very nice about it as the new and somewhat complex social legislation swings slowly into gear, and Mr. W. S. Oliver, Field Representative for the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, here this week, personified the service angle, explaining the new scheme to you. But compulsory insurance is now law, and the protection has teeth. You should be insured by now. In Princeton district the man to see is Mr. K. G. Houghton at the Court House.

The local office has been opened for your convenience, and Mr. Houghton can take care of you in full detail. Government Agent Nichols is the nominally responsible local representative.

The Princeton office serves Similkameen, from Brookmere to Cawston.

There seems to be some confusion about registration, Mr. Oliver observes. Some people are sending their forms in to Vancouver or Victoria, under the impression that they can make payments locally. In fact, payments must be made where the registration is filed. If you wish to use the local office and have sent your forms away, either write where you sent and request a transfer, or give the particulars to Mr. Houghton and he will arrange it.

Of course, as long as you are paid up, you could seek admittance to the local hospital, no matter where you were registered—or to any hospital in B.C. on a doctor's certificate.

HELP FOR HOSPITALS

Some firms — Granby among them—make registration a condition of employment, and deductions are made at the source.

But if you have not registered either at work or privately, you had better see Mr. Houghton. Otherwise, you will not only have to pay for hospital — you are also liable to penalty.

This applies to heads of families and all other adults.

You should have received in the mail a booklet and form. But the local office has everything you need.

Mr. Oliver is lining up the administrative functions of the local offices, of which there are some 60 throughout the province

Shortly now an expert will make a survey of the various hospitals and the government will equip them for an adequate standard of service.

The plan means that everyone will be protected with free hospital treatment in return for the compulsory levy. It will also virtually mean government maintenance of hospitals at a prescribed standard, though local administration of hospitals will continue as before.

In principle the plan finds general favor, though hospital authorities and experts generally are waiting to see how it works out. It is expected to precipitate a rush for hospitalization, especially in the larger centres, and some think that at least at first the hospitals may not be ready to meet the demand

Dr. Hershey, head of the department. had previously visited Princeton.

The service starts from 1st January next year.

TUESDAY IS A $200,000 NIGHT

Building Project Likely Main Topic At Annual Ratepayers' Meetings

YOU have a $200,000 date at Tuesday night's ratepayers' meeting. The trustees elected then will be responsible for the biggest school building program in Princeton School District history, and this will be the crucial ratepayers' meeting on it.

These meetings—at Princeton, Coalmont and Tulameen — will not decide or vote the money; that depends on a separate plebiscite; but there will be opportunity for explanation and discussion, and, realizing that an important sum is involved, the officials are hoping for good turnouts.

Actually very little it left to the once almighty — and often stormy—annual meeting, beyond hearing reports and electing trustees, who then take care of all the rest.

But building levies must be approved by special plebiscite, and this meeting becomes the preliminary to the ballot.

The government would put up half of the building budget. The rest would be borowed, to be charged against taxes.

The proposal is an auditorium and gymnasium, and two new classrooms. The assembly room would be a new building to the north of the present block. The classrooms would be provided by extending the old school building. The whole series of buildings will be connected by passages in one block.

The project has been hanging fire for some time, but completed plans are expected soon now and it is hoped to proceed with construction in the spring.

Our Women vs. A Minister

MR. CARSON is as good as finished. He has the ladies cross with him. Mr. Carson is the works minister and the ladies are the Princeton P.T.A.

They consider the Tulameen road dangerous to school children and they asked him to do something about it. Between meetings nothing was done, not even a reply. So they are going to be sharper, and those of us who have experience, Mr. Carson has our sympathies.

But, to show that their hearts are in the kiddies' stomachs they are asking the board to co-operate in serving hot lunches to pupils coming from a distance. They hope to begin on 1st November.

A Constructive Hallowe'en

IN settling for a "shell-out" ur youngsters have again given a tacit guarantee, on their honor, of constructive Hallowe'en this year. Last year they kept faith pretty well, after an orgy of petty destruction the year before.

The "immunity for treats" campaign is sponsored by Rotary with the co-operation of the schools and—it is hoped—the youngsters. Last year about $70 was cleared.

Just In Case

IT will be a model and mischief free Hallowe'en. Unlike Good Friday, it falls on a Sunday and none of our little angels (except possibly Pop Irwin) would go out on the Sabbath.

Just the same, you had bette anchor your rear mansion.

Former Pastor Here Passes At Coast

MINISTER at St. Paul's Princeton 1915-17, Rev. James A. Leslie has died at the Coast following a long illness.

While here — St. Paul's was then Presbyterian—he met and married Miss Stephens a school teacher. Besides her, he is survived by a daughter, Betty. Rev. J. C. Goodfellow, present pastor of St Paul's, attended the funeral at White Rock.

Wedding bells ring Wednesday for John Huey and Minnie Wharton. Ceremony at St. Cuthbert's at six o'clock.

SCHOOL SITE IS CONDEMNED

Impregnated With Sewage, Says M. H.O. on Eve of Ratepayers' Meeting

PRINCETON school site, where it is proposed to spend $200,000, is "impregnated with sewage", tests of wells in the area show, and Dr. Pau Phillips is in record as opposing any addition to the school until passed by a comepent sanitary engineer

The local M.H.O. told Rotary this on the eve of tre ratepayers' meeting to discuss the proposed $200,000 addition.

There has been agitation in some quarters to move the school to an available site near the hospital, equally opposed by an other faction, and this bomb shell may throw the whole issu wide open.

Liquor Store: 'Bum Service'

AT 11:30 Monday night h banged at Princeton liquo store. "I'll get service," he told a passer-by; and took a club, broke the glass door panel. When Const. Neff arrived he still demanded to be served. He may have to serve: he is charged with drunken disturbance.

Two Car Crashes

ON Coalmont and Copper Mtn. roads private cars were in collision with taxis. No one was hurt. Both drivers of private cars will be charged.

NEW Sterling Creek bridge on the Hedley highway has now been opened to traffic.

Our Ex-Servicemen Honor Guard For American Fallen Comrade

Flags and sentiments of two nations mingled on Thursday when Princeton ex-servicemen formed a guard of honor for a fallen comrade of the American army, whose remains were returned to repose in his adopted Similkameen home.

It was a colorful and historic occasion.

Frank Prpich, who once was employed at Copper Mtn., was killed in action in the Aleutians. Under the American scheme to repatriate their war dead, Mrs. M. Pavich of West Princeton, as sister and next of kin, was approached by the American authorities. She could attend a burial in a military cemetery in Alaska, or the remains could be brought here.

When her health did not permit the journey, the event took on an international aspect. The Americans stipulated military honors. If they could not be arranged locally, the Americans were prepared to send their own color guard. Princeton Le-

And so at 14 hours Thursday Legion men and Auxiliary women mustered for special parade a parade unique in local history.

At St. Paul's there was a simple but impressive service. Rev J. C. Goodfellow noted the universality of comradeship inherent in the occasion, hoped tha it could be an instrument for peace, or sacrifice and sentimen alike were vain.

Probably for the first time in a Princeton church, The Star Spangled Banner was the overture, played by Mrs. G C. Allen at the organ. Hymns were Rock of Ages and O God Our Help in Ages Past.

And what opened with the American anthem was closed with our own, honored by the official American representative, Sergt. Richard E. Davis, who escorted the casket from Oakland.

Soldiers' requiem was read at the graveside by K. G. Houghton Legion president. Last Post was sounded by bugler Harry Cunliffe. There were wreaths from the family (the chief mourners) from the Legion and friends.

Pallbearers were Messrs Dick Gregory, Henry Granberg, Robt Mitchell, Frank Gore, Jas Grieve and Rab Miller.

Soldier rest, thy warfare o'er,
Sleep the sleep that knows no breaking,
Dream of fighting fields no more
Days of danger, nights of waking
. . Hands unseen thy couch are strewing,
Fairy strains of music fall,
Every sense in slumber dewing—
Soldier rest . . .

REAL ESTATE BOOM BULGING PRINCETON

Legion Votes $30,000 Structure; Tulameen Hotel Sold; New Laundry; New Dairy

THE Hope Highway may still be—and as we go to press still is — more hope than highway, but in budding Princeton, bulging at the seams, hope is still high—reflected in another bevy of new enterprises

Tulameen Hotel has changed hands and is due for a rush renovation. We have got ourselves a new laundry. The bank is to be remodelled in an effort to relieve the crush, and a dairy new deal is in prospect.

The Canadian Legion has decided to erect a new building to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000 soon. Bill Thomas is erecting a new paint shop for Emil Schmidt, the last of the Hope houses has been moved and the water is on at Allison Townsite.

Tulameen Hotel Changes Hands

Tuameen Hotel has changed hands and is to be revamped to modern specifications. A Princeton and a Vancouver Island man are associated in the new enterprise.

Considerable improvements are planned, to be commenced at once and rushed to completion. These will give the premises a much greater attracition, also a higher official rating.

The new proprietors are Mr. Nick Popovich of Princeton and Mr. Gus Crucil of Chemainus, a well known Vancouver Island hotel man.

Tulameen Hotel is one of our oldest and most noted buildings

The original Tulameen Hotel was started in 1900 for George Aldous and Jack Budd, on the site of the present liquor store. Opened in 1902, it was destroyed in March, 1904, in one of Princeton's major fires.

In 1906 George McCoskery opened the new Tulameen on the present one—on property bought from the F. P. Cook interests.

The building has changed hands—and been changed—many times. A workers' hostel, many picturesque yarns are bedded in its walls. One of its most noted features, the pillars of the facade—went a few years ago. And one of its best-loved proprietors went last year in genial Andy Johnson. One man who will view with interest its latest change is Mr. J. J. Malone, now confined to his home. His was an old if silent association.

It was taken over in April 1946, by Messrs Farina and Young and there have been frequent rumors recently of the change that has eventuated.

But sentiment aside, noone will grudge wholesale modernization. It has been looked on as one of our most intersting—but dangerous buildings. A owl companion, the Cook warehouse figured in aspectacular fire only this month and as Squire Cook II has for months been contemplafor some time been contemplating remodelling, we may see a face lifting in this historic but fire-hazardous ehd of our street of the twin bridges.

The old shed, gutted in an early morning blaze Monday, 4th October, was built near the end of the last century for Bob Dixon as a livery barn. Neil Houston and brother continued the business, then it was the Similkameen Garage, first with Bill Dailey and then the Madores

In 1937 under Bill McIntosh it blossomed as a steam laundry but there was more steam than soap, Then it became one of Perley's glories — a storehouse And we can swear that Ted has a few nails and plenty of paint for his new emporium — and a log scaler.

It was near here that quaint Newsy Hill flourished in his piano box shop-cum-mansion which some of our sedate matrons carried off one Hallowe'en with the promoter bellowing within.

Across the way, Tug Wilson is adding more cabins to his auto camp.

Legion Plans $30,000 Building

Princeton Canadian Legion this week named a committee to go into the matter of a new building, to cost somewhere near $30,000. They expect to start construction in the spring.

The Legion has two good lots on the corner where the present clubhouse stands.

In the new building it is proposed to extend refreshment privileges to women.

School Extension to Cost $200,000

Princeton schools' operation bulge—delayed action means $200,000 growing pains.

Plans have been juggled back and forth, but the board now is just about ready to put the question to the ratepayers, hoping to go ahead with a major addition in the spring.

For Our Bank

Bank of Commerce is hafing an important interior renovation to provide greater efficiency and better service. Among the new facilities will be an additional wicket, to relieve the teller (a l he tells some of us we would rather not hear) of extraneous (that's a five dollar word) duties and so reduce the qqqs. They might also reduce our overdraft while they are at it.

Sid Atkinson—Dairy Now

The cows have been long in coming home, but they seem to have arrived at last. The dairy business, like the 'newspaper' business, has been the latest toy hereabouts, but though Sid Atkinson is not yet ready to reveal his plans, he's not the playboy type.

Modern Laundry Makes a Move

Hedley's loss is Princeton's gain where with an eye to expansion the White Laundry has been transplanted from the golden pendant to the hub.

With fully modern equipment the plant is now established just over the bridge, and in operation Mr. and Mrs. T. Prest are old timers and well established in their trade.

ODDFELLOWS' HALL has been renovated, with more room provided, entrances improved and the building made much safer and more attractive. The garage in front has also had improvements to the facade.

THREE MORE HOUSES from Endcliffe Avenue have been moved to make way for the huuses are being improved.

NEW FIRE HALL is to be formally opened with ceremony and visiting officials, but Harry seems to have mislaid the opener

BUT don't be too optimistic about the lumber on the Britton property, one of Princeton's choicest and most enigmatic. Just another garage for the telephone company. Maybe for Susie.

★FLASH—John Dearing builds pigeon house—now all we need is a couple more newspapers and a brewery — in the process, if anyone has a roof left over, please see Charlie Harman.

Card of Thanks

Princeton Board of Trade thanks the public for participation in and reception of its garden contest, with special thanks to the judges.

'Phone Shortage Problem Is Still Continent-Wide

Despite our efforts to give telephone service to all who want it, we still have a waiting list of more than 20,000 in our system.

However, the situation is continent wide. For example, the Bell Telephone System of the U.S., largest telephone system has a waiting list of more than 1,300,000.
