SUMMARY OF THE LATEST CANADIAN EVENTS.

Dr. Wild Intends Making a 2-Year's Tour—A Daring Thief—The Canadian Pacific Increasing Their Facilities for Business—The Turning of the First Sod of the C. & E. Railway.

TORONTO, July 22.—It is reported here that the Rev. Dr. Wild has resigned the pastorate of the Bond Street church and that he will travel for a couple of years in Europe—also stated he has received a call from a large church in the United States. The church authorities deny that Wild will retire.

R. Hay, ex-M.P., is seriously ill.

A bold robbery was perpetrated here today at the Union Savings Bank. A young man called on Manager Verney and told him a clergyman was outside and wished to speak with him. The manager went to the window and while his back was turned the thief went behind the counter quietly and took the manager's private cash box, containing $100 in cash and over $6,000 in debentures.

A special London cablegram to the Globe says: The Canadian Pacific issue of debentures mentioned in Saturday's cable was publicly announced in the form of £1,000,000 4 per cent. perpetual debentures at 97½ per cent. of this £720,000 is applied to the Pacific steamship service and the remainder for rolling stock. There is some comment on the fact that the issue was made by the company direct and not through Barings as heretofore.

The president of the Ladies' True Blue Society has issued a circular to the loyal upholders of Protestantism of North America setting forth that the sisterhood of the church of Rome is ever on the alert to care for Protestant orphans and educate them in the Roman faith, and appeals for financial aid for the Ladies' True Blue Orphanage.

WINNIPEG, July 22.—The turning of the first sod of the Calgary & Edmonton Railway at Calgary by the Hon. Mr. Dewdney was the event of the year in Alberta. A roast ox was carved for the crowd. Numerous addresses presented and general rejoicing indulged in. Hon. Mr. Dewdney left Calgary for Banff this morning and proceeds from there to the Pacific coast.

Ninety-one emigrants passed through the city today for British Columbia.

A fraternal union meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the northwestern states and Canada opened this afternoon with a secret session at which F. M. Arthur, Chief Engineer of the order, was present. A public meeting was held in the Bijou Opera House tonight, at which Chief Arthur delivered an address on the work and aims of the order. Among the delegates from the Pacific division of the C. P. R. are C. J. Barrett, Revelstoke, and J. McKessley, Kamloops.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., July 22.—Early this morning the Dunn skating rink was burned. The flames spread to the old planing mill adjoining and it too was burned.

BRANTFORD, July 22.—Thomas Webster, of this place, food inspector for Ontario, died suddenly of heart disease in Montreal.

GUELPH, July 22.—The Bell Organ and Piano factory, of this city, has been sold to an English syndicate. The price is said to be $750,000.

MONTREAL, July 22.—The girl Lavoie Branchamp has been released by the court unconditionally from Longue Point asylum, where she was confined for 8 years, it having been proved she was never insane.

A. F. Gault has returned from England. His mission to negotiate for the transfer of Canadian cotton mills to an English syndicate was not successful.

QUEBEC, July 22.—The Bishop of Rimouski is dead. He was a brother of Sir Hector Langevin.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Colonel Prior cabled today that the winnings of the Canadian team today were $120.

The mortuary statistics for June show an extraordinary death rate in Montreal, 31 per thousand. Victoria ratio is 13.5.

The Great Northwest Central will award a contract for the construction of a hundred miles of the road.

HALIFAX, July 22.—Three women, named Devine, Harris and Jones were seriously injured tonight by a runaway horse.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., July 22.—John Robertshaw, an old and respected citizen, suicided today with arsenic.

Saved by a Miracle.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 22.—The pleasure steamer H. which runs from Port Day to Buckhorn Island was obliged yesterday to run around Green Island on account of low water in the river. The island is only a short distance above the cataract. Just as the steamer was rounding the island in the swiftest part of the river at that point, the engine gave out. The anchor was heaved overboard but failed to catch for some distance, dragging along the rock bottom, when it did finally get hold the boat was under such headway that the bulkhead to which the hawser was attached was torn from its fastenings, when nearly the whole chain had been run out it became knotted in the hole in the bulwarks and held the boat. The trouble with the engine proved to be a defective valve which was soon repaired and the boat was again got under headway, but so great was the force of the current that it took 15 minutes to get where the anchor had caught 100 feet up stream from the boat. There were about 120 passengers on the steamer and a pleasure large attached to it. There was a terrible scene of confusion, women fainted, children screamed, and the men bade each other good-bye. The boat was only a short distance above the falls when it stopped and it was a miracle which saved the lives of the 120 people on the boat.

Catholic Conference.

BOSTON, July 22.—The annual conference of the Catholic archbishops of the United States takes place in this city tomorrow. The officers of the Catholic University of Washington will hold a meeting at the seminary at Brighton. Cardinal Gibbons will preside. A number of church dignitaries have already arrived here and the Cardinal is expected tonight.

The Duluth Regatta.

DULUTH, July 22.—At today's Duluth regatta the attendance was nearly double that of the day previous. The open Amateur Junior Fours was rowed over again by order of the referee with the Lorlines barred. It resulted in a narrow but splendid victory for the Minnesotas with the Duluth club a close second, the St. Paul's third and the Winnipegs played out near the finish and stopped rowing. The time was 10:20, 10:30 and 10:50. The Winnipegs were distanced on account of a slight foul by the St. Paul crew. The race will again be rowed tomorrow when St. Paul will be barred. The senior doubles was won easily by the Minnesotas, of St. Paul. Time, 10:53½; the Lorlines second, in 11:07; and the Winnipegs 3rd, in 11:26. The great professional four-oared race came next with five entries. 1st crew—Albert Hamm, F. G. Gaudaur, John Mackay, J. Teeryck. 2nd crew—Geo. Hosmer, Hugh Wise, John Teemer, Edward Hanlan. 3rd crew—Eries, of Buffalo. 4th crew—West Ends, of Buffalo. 5th crew Wallace Ross's picked crew. The course was 3 miles with turn and was the most magnificent exhibit of four-oared work ever seen in any country. The finish was: Gaudaur's crew, 18:06; Hanlan's, 18:08; Ross, about 18:39.

The Land of Revolutions.

BUENOS AYRES, July 22.—There is much agitation in this city over the discovery of a plot to overthrow the Government. The place is garrisoned by 4,000 troops and 3,000 armed police.

LONDON, July 23.—A Buenos Ayres despatch states that further arrests have been made of persons implicated in the military conspiracy. Guards were stationed everywhere and the streets were patrolled by cavalry. The populace were much alarmed and a semi-panicky feeling prevailed on the bourse. The premium on gold advanced to 212 at Montevideo. The formed paper was a failure.

Bad Christians.

CANEA, Crete, July 22.—A detachment of Turkish soldiers who were en route from their camp to a well near here to draw water were fired upon by a party of Christians to ambush. Five of the Turks were killed.

PROVINCIAL JOTTINGS

What the Scissors have Found in Our B.C. Exchanges.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Lemmens, by the request of the Victoria Trades' Assembly, preached at the pro-cathedral on last Sunday on the eight-hour labor movement. The discourse was well worthy of so eminent a divine and his interpretation of "Labor, Union and Religion" as the theme of his text, was very forcible, and was listened to with marked attention. Other ministers will advocate the same doctrine from the pulpits, Rev. Mr. MacLeod having already announced his intention to do so.

Some campers out on an island at the foot of Shuswap Lake let their camp fire get the better of them and the whole island, which is several acres in extent, was soon burning fiercely. The blaze after a time burned itself out, but had it been in the forests on the shores of the lake, much damage must have been done. Campers cannot be too careful of their fires at this time of the year.

Captain G. M. Young, who for some time past has been acting as Inspector of Customs for British Columbia, leaves for the east tomorrow morning, he having finished his labors in the Province. Mr. Clute of Westminster, who some time ago received the appointment, has been installed in his new duties by Mr. Young and he will now take charge. Mr. Young, during his short residence in Victoria has made several important changes in the custom department which will make the work easier, by the addition of three clerks and other changes.

H.M.S. Warspite boasts of having the finest string band in the service. It consists of fifteen pieces and is lead by Mr. Lidley, bandmaster of the ship, who also conducts a fine brass band of twenty instruments. They may be expected to be heard in Victoria in the course of the next few weeks.

A keen competition is being carried on between the stone quarries on the Pacific coast of the United States and British Columbia, but very little inducement is offered by our neighbors to enable the quarries in this Province to ship their stone into that country. Only last week the C. P. R. R. lost a large contract for rock from Newcastle Island quarry, for Seattle, through the high tariff that is placed on this rock by the laws of the United States, and which in consequence compels the builders in Seattle and other Sound ports to buy an inferior quality of rock from their own quarries.

H.M.S. Amphion has received orders to proceed to the Mediterranean shortly. She will be relieved by the Melpomene, a twin-screw steamer of the second class, 2,960 tons and 2,000 horse-power. She was fitted out for service on this coast and went into commission therefor on June 17th of this year. Her official staff is composed of Captain Alfred A. A. C. Parr, whose exploits in the Arctic are matters of history; lieutenants, Archibald F. Stoddart, Edmund H. Davenport, Henry I. W. Neville, Ernest C. Hardy; staff surgeon, Alfred Patterson; paymaster, David J. Thomson; assistant paymaster, William K. Stephens; engineer, Walter J. Graham; assistant-engineers, Peter T. Crichton and William A. Wilson; gunner, William J. Crothers. She will reach here about the end of September.

The steamer Barbara Boscowitz, Capt. Williams, arrived from the north on Sunday—a little later than usual, having lengthened her trip by going to Gardner's Inlet. She brought down 22 passengers and a full cargo, including 50 cases of salmon—the first of the season—from McLellan's, a quantity of furs and a supply of box lumber. The northern canners have more fish than they can handle, the sockeyes running well and filters still being scarce. The Naas canneries now have up about 5,000 cases on the average; those of the Skeena have 8,000 each with the exception of the Balmoral, which has packed two thousand. On the day the Boscowitz left the Skeena one cannery is reported to have on hand 14,000 fish, the result of one day's fishing.

The West End Methodist Church.

The tenders for the erection of this sacred edifice, which is much needed to meet the growing demands of the Methodist population of the city, have been awarded to Mr. S. G. Tidy, the well known contractor. The building, which is to be completed in September, will be situated in the near neighborhood of the West End School, with a seating capacity for 200 persons, and will be a neat structure. The committee of laymen from the Methodist church, who have the superintendence of this church in hand, held a meeting last evening when it was decided that another church should be erected at Sapperton and accordingly, the lot having been chosen, tenders will be called for within the next few days.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—South African farmers are greatly annoyed by baboons. The animals kill their sheep, rob their beehives and tear down fruit trees.

—The smokeless powder that Austria is using makes such a fearful smell that it will have to be abandoned. At a recent practice shoot several men fainted from it.

—There are always about a dozen police row-boats afloat patroling the Thames, in addition to a steam-launch which plies between the bridges.

PITIABLE CONDITION

THE NEWFOUNDLANDERS HAVE BEEN ILL-TREATED.

The New Chairman of the London County Council—Large Shipments of Canadian Cattle—Russia Constructing an Immense New Naval Station—The Mutinous Grenadier Guards.

LONDON, July 22.—In an interview today, the Newfoundland premier, Sir William Whiteway, stated that delegates recently arriving from that province were not authorized to represent the people. They belonged to the minor party and their views could not be taken as fairly reflecting those of the people at large. The premier declared that England had been shamefully remiss in regard to protecting the rights of her Newfoundland subjects. There could hardly be a doubt that, looking at the matter from a purely material standpoint, Newfoundland would consult her own interests if she should join the United States. He hoped that annexation would never take place but such an event was certainly possible unless England failed to redress the wrongs of the Newfoundlanders, who had hitherto been among the most loyal of her colonists.

The election of Sir John Lubbock as chairman of the London County Council is an unmistakable set back for the progressive element of that body. Sir John is a much less liberal thinker than his predecessor, Lord Rosebery, who recently resigned the chairmanship. The council has done some good work, but on the whole has not thus far realized the expectations of those who had placed great hope in the new agency of the local government. Instead of its powers being dangerously great, as was at first feared by the more conservative politicians, it has become evident that the council is too hampered by limitations in certain directions to enforce reforms which it proposes and would fain enact. The progressive element will endeavor at next parliament to secure an enlargement of the council's authority in respects where it has been found deficient.

Large cargoes of Canadian cattle are arriving in Scotland and a still greater influx is expected next month—charters having been taken for the bringing of several thousand during August.

Russia has completed arrangements for the immediate construction of a great naval station at Libau, on the Baltic and a considerable enlargement of the fortifications there. Several military railway lines will also be built connecting Libau with the principal interior cities and making it possible to throw a large force into mobilization through these strategic facilities.

A troop ship will call at Portsmouth tomorrow for the purpose of taking on board the families of the exiled Grenadier Guards who are to follow the men to the Bermudas.

The Emperor of Germany is expected at Cowes on the 3rd or 4th of August and in St. Petersburg on his visit to the Czar about the 10th of August. Grand preparations are being made in Russia for his reception.

As an instance of the improved relations between Germany and France it is stated that a French commander was recently allowed to inspect the fortifications at Kiel and was very cordially received.

The score by which Sergeant Bates of the the First Warwickshire Volunteers won the Queen's prize at Bisley today was 278. Prizes were also won in the contest by the following Canadians: Lieutenant Smith, 258; Captain Bakon, 256; Quartermaster Ogg, 249; Sergeant Hill, 247.

Joseph Chamberlain and his wife, who leave early in August for America, expect to spend three months in a tour of that country.

The House of Commons tonight by a vote of 286 to 269 rejected Baron Lonsdale's proposition that questions as to religion be included in the next census interrogatories.

Another Factory!

NANAIMO, B.C., July 22.—(Special to TRUTH.)—Westminster won the cricket match today by an innings and 40 runs.

A Grand Procession.

Preparations are being made for the grandest trades and societies procession ever given in the Province to take place on the first day of the exhibition celebration in September next, and if the merchants actually do what they have promised toward making it such it will be all that could possibly be desired. The committee had an important meeting last evening which, being of a private nature, we were unable to inform the public what business was gone through, but we are informed that a number of good workers have been added to their numbers. The procession will be, it is expected, fully three times the length of the one held last year, and there will be more societies, including the Knights of Pythias and Sons of England, in full regalia, which will undoubtedly be a pleasing sight to behold. The merchants of the city intend having several wagons besides those of the various industries in and about the city, while several comic carriages will afford amusement along the line of march. It is the intention of the committee to offer several valuable money prizes for the best and most original feature in the procession.

Laying the Corner Stone.

We have received a cordial invitation to be present at the laying of the corner stone of the new Young Men's Christian Association building on Church and Columbia Streets, which takes place sharp at 7 o'clock on Friday evening next. The ceremony will be performed by His Worship Mayor Brown, who is to be assisted by Mr. H. E. Brown, secretary of the International Association; Mr. Noel H. Jack, secretary of the Portland Association; the secretaries of all the other associations on the Sound and in this Province, together with a large number of local and visiting clergymen. The city band has been engaged for the occasion and will produce music appropriate to the occasion, while the singing by ladies and gentlemen will be made a feature. The ceremonies promise to be of an imposing nature, and, doubtless, will be witnessed by a large crowd.

Weather Report.

Captain Poole has kindly furnished us with the following observations taken yesterday. Thermometer, max. 82, min. 56, barometer 29.82, and falling; indications of westerly winds and fine weather during the next 24 hours.

A Fortunate Hero.

Father Cornellier, O.M.I., arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on the express, bringing with him the sad particulars of the heroism of Brother Wolff, of the same order, who was drowned in the Fraser River, while endeavoring to rescue a lad from a watery grave, on Monday evening last. It appears that a number of the pupils were bathing, when one of them got into an eddy and was in imminent peril of drowning. Several of his comrades and Brother Collins made desperate efforts to reach him, but failed. It was at this critical juncture that Brother Wolff went boldly into the stream and quickly raised the almost exhausted lad out of the water, holding him until a boat arrived. With that despairing energy characteristic of the drowning, the lad struggled to get to safety, and that struggle sent his preserver to his death. Search was at once instituted for the body by a number of Indians led by Rev. Father Cornellier, but the quest was in vain. Brother Wolff was highly esteemed by all who knew him, and his heroic self sacrifice will endear his memory the more to those who by intimate acquaintance appreciated his many estimable qualities.

WESTMINSTER WHISPERS.

(Communicated.)

The Anglican diocese has now lost the Rev. W. Croucher, who has just left for England, where, it is understood, that he will make a rather long visit, occupying part of his time in lecturing on behalf of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel which makes large grants in aid of church work in almost every colony and dependency of the empire. It is not unlikely that Mr. Croucher may afterwards re-engage in church work in Tasmania, a colony like this of fair surroundings and genial climate.

It is rumored that other changes in the clerical staff of the diocese—working, however, outside this city—are also likely to take place at an early date. One active up-country cleric is anxious to help the Bishop of Corea in his dangerous work on a far away Pacific island inhabited by a very intelligent eastern race. The last English Church missionary in Corea lost his life there, but a bishop is, nevertheless, now proceeding thither, accompanied by a medical evangelist, a few lay workers, and two or three clerical helpers. With their aid he hopes to lay the foundation of a strong Christian Church in Corea, which is in many respects a very progressive state. It is, moreover, a land which as adjoining their territories, Russia and China both covet.

Another member of the clerical staff of this diocese is expected to set out for Central Africa early in the autumn. He will, the climate being deadly, "carry his life in his hands," but this is generally to a man of his type only a further incentive to action.

Vacancies thus occurring and arising from a gradual extension of church work in British Columbia, will, doubtless, soon be filled by good and able men. A country like this has great attractions for energetic clergymen of robust physique and fond of the open air exercise which is a necessary accompaniment of ministerial work in the vast districts into which for parochial purposes most of the Mainland is divided.

The cricket team which today represents the city at Nanaimo against the local eleven is unfortunately weakened by the absence of several able players who have often done good service in the past, but are now detained by business or professional engagements. Those who have gone will, however, doubtless give a good account of themselves, playing up to win if possible.

The present spell of hot weather suggests that much may be done at little cost to shade the streets of New Westminster by planting avenues of trees. By this means Toronto has become a very beautiful city, although its natural situation is less picturesque than ours. Is there any reason why trim lawns and branching trees should not soon fringe the broad streets of the city, and thus pleasantly recall in miniature the woodlands not long ago displaced. Young and suitable trees can be easily obtained at little or no cost, and a lawn of grass and clover would almost spring up of itself. Objection can hardly be taken on the ground of obstruction to light. The streets are broad enough to obviate such risk. The people of many large cities in England are now at great cost and with doubtful result, planting their streets with trees in order to add to their health. Yet the streets of English towns are generally much narrower than ours.

The bringing of a new water supply to our city might well be accompanied by the erection of swimming baths. They would prove a great boon and might surely be made to pay.

The probable early completion of the electric tramway between this city and Vancouver will prove a great boon if only the principle of "small fares and many of them" be adopted. The present rather costly and very devious and slow railway communication has become inadequate to the needs of the two communities. The C.P.R. which has done such wonders in its transcontinental transit is apparently somewhat tardy in cultivating a large local traffic over short distances by means of low fares and large return ticket facilities. Yet, the highroads being difficult as they are, such a system would surely soon pay in a district like New Westminster Vancouver. There is now not half the inter-communication between here and the Terminal City that there would be with better railway or with new improved facilities.

There will ere very long be some difficulty in treating the solid sewerage of the city. In the Old World this waste material of cities is now successfully applied to the reclamation of moss or swamp land. This suggests a method that may perhaps ultimately be adopted in these parts, with the view of converting almost worthless swamp land, of which there is some even here, into valuable agricultural property.

The last British emigration returns show how great is still the need of publishing widely throughout Great Britain the great advantages offered to thrifty settlers by the almost boundless resources of the Dominion generally and this Province in particular. There have during the five months ending May 31st last been only 14,507 emigrants from the United Kingdom to British North America as against 19,601 during the same period of last year. The number of foreign emigrants from English ports has also fallen in much less proportion than that of British voyagers, for whilst the number of British settlers has fallen from 14,599 to 10,135, the foreigners have diminished only from 4,902 to 4,372. Better conditions of home trade have doubtless reduced largely the number of British emigrants to Canada but those settling in the Dominion ought surely to bear a much larger proportion than they do to those seeking "the States." Wrong notions as to the Dominion climate, and inferior conditions of Canadian ocean transit, are probably in part responsible for this. The fact remains, that in the five months quoted there were no less than 21,789 British emigrants to the United States. It is curious to note how few Irishmen emigrate to Canada. Only 738 in all came over during the last five months of the above statistics.

It would seem from the above figures that if there is to be any great early growth in the population of this Province the increase will result from an immigration from the east of Canada or from the border States of the American Union.

The Truth

Daily Edition.

AN AMERICAN VIEW OF ENGLAND.

Those of us who read Mr. SHAW's article in the Outlook on Glasgow, were not surprised to find that the writer's ideas of the English race, as revealed in a still more recent paper, are full of hope, and firm faith. It is too often the manner of American journalists of the baser sort, to decry England in quite an unnecessary manner, and for no other reason seemingly, than for the purpose of flattering a vulgar sort of vanity, in a certain class of their readers, which they make a gross mistake in terming patriotism. The incessant, and loud talk which we hear about England being on the broad road leading to the breaking up of her greatness, the annihilation at no distant future, of the mightiest empire which the world has yet seen, finds no echo in the observant culture of the writer we are noticing. Upon the contrary, he sees no sign of decay, but both in the institutions, and the social life of Great Britain he is impressed with "the marvellous tenacity and recuperative vigor of the English race in England. Courage and virile buoyancy in the face of grave problems, and in the prospect of agitation, and turbulence, Mr. SHAW declares, are so marked in the character of the people, as to have no parallel in history. England is an old country but she has "all the vitality and constructive energy of a new one." Like her own typical oak tree, she has braved all kinds of change and storm unmoved, through long centuries, and still there is no sign that her youth is past. The racial exhaustion, so noticeable among many of the European peoples is not to be found among the English. No, even his own countrymen, says Mr. SHAW, "seem farther from the jagged out point, than the English." Their strength is as their day. Slow to move, perhaps, yet cum convicted, they move with irresistible force and decision. The continued, and important, almost revolutionary changes, in their political constitution, have appeared one by one, merely to pave the way for yet other steps, and finality seems as far off as ever it was. During the past, and particularly the past century, England has led the world in stupendous industrial achievements, and she will probably be the pioneer in the social reforms which the modern economic system has rendered necessary. The most significant fact, in the social condition of England today, is not to be discovered in the wretchedness, misery and degradation of a large part of the population, the more especially in the towns, but in the earnest and resolute manner with which the work of remedying this state of affairs, has been taken up by all classes, denominations, and political parties. Throughout English society from the throne and its surroundings, to the workshop, and the street, there is a very evident sense of justice, and of an obligation to make all members of the community, as far as possible sharers in the fruits of modern civilization. Conservative and slow moving as England has the reputation of being, she is evidently preparing to accept socialism, at least to some extent, as being the practical and statesmanlike solution of many of her difficulties. When we find the eight hours movement for instance supported not only by advanced politicians, but men of conservative lineage, and conviction, like CHURCHILL and DERBY, it may at once be taken for granted that socialism has made a large forward movement. England is taking her position in this movement, not by adopting any specified cut and dried theory as to the proper function of the state or the individual. Where it is perceived that a certain course has to be pursued, England takes it, "using private and voluntary, public and official means, in more often a combination of the two in a manner peculiarly English, and incapable of successful imitation any where else." Such is the opinion of one, evidently a very shrewd observer, and capable critic. Mr. SHAW is an American whose keen sense shows him that Great Britain reveals not a sign of national loss of vigor, but much vitality, and healthy growth in accord with the democratic tendency of the age. It is refreshing indeed, to perceive so large a breadth of view in an American writer dealing with English subjects. It is a pity that the disposition of Mr. SHAW is not more widespread, for it may be safely said that a very large portion of the popular fallacies prevalent among well disposed Americans concerning England, her people, and her institutions, is in no small measure due to the untruthful and narrow minded prejudices of many writers engaged in the unwholesome task of endeavoring to keep alive international jealousies and disputes.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

In the latest report of agent for Dominion lands in this city, it may be seen that settlement in all portions of the 40 mile railway belt has steadily increased. It is a satisfactory proof of the progress of the country that nearly all the surveyed land in this district is now in occupation, and under the transforming hand of the settler. No fewer than 437 homesteads, covering an area of 65,371 acres have been granted. Besides this, 53 homestead sales, at a dollar per acre, aggregating 7,508 acres have been completed, and 43 general sales, aggregating 6,567 acres were made. The highest bid for a single sale was $15 per acre. Our readers will readily agree with us, that these figures are most satisfactory, and show very clearly that our farming lands are very greatly in request. Any person who has during the past year taken a trip along the Yale road and through the country on either side of that thoroughfare, could not fail to appreciate the fact that a most desirable class of settlers are located throughout the district. Nothing can so surely give stability to a country as a yeoman proprietary. The land which is divided up into small freeholds, is the land which in the long run must be the most secure, contented and prosperous. The people who own the fields they plow are certain to be patriots per condition. The enemy of the commonwealth is the enemy of these men's homes, and if it ever comes to a question of defending the land by force of arms, then they may be relied upon to stand against the foes of their hearths, and the robbers of the fruits of their labor.

Many writers amuse themselves at times by predicting coming events, and it is no uncommon thing to see, in one or other magazine or journal, lengthy articles dealing with the probable future leader of this or that party. The papacy in spite of the loss of the temporal power, is a great factor in the world, even in everyday matters, and things that have very little to do with spiritual affairs. How can it be otherwise when the Bishop of Rome is the leader of probably two hundred millions of persons of all classes, colors, and political creeds. The present Pope is probably one of the most enlightened statesmen this century has seen. Had he not been so he could never have cut diplomatised Bismarck, he is moreover a philanthropist of the first rank, a cultured man of broad views, and versed in letters. But he is aging, and in the natural course of events, must give place to another. May that time be far distant! Some have hazarded the opinion that his successor will be an English speaking cardinal, say MANNING or GIBBONS. There is little likelihood of any such choice, and thinks an observant writer, Cardinal PARACCI has the field pretty much to himself. PARACCI is the Vicar General of Rome, and has the reputation, unjustly acquired, of being a bitter enemy of Italian unity. He is a man of determination, in the full vigor of life, with a mind active and alert, looking out from beady black eyes under bushy brows. He has a lower jaw indicative of strong character. He is a great admirer of England, but cordially opposed to that country's recognition Ireland. He is a persistent reader of DRYDEN, MILTON and SHAKESPEARE. There are at the present time sixty cardinals, and of these probably only fifty would be present at a conclave. If PARACCI can command forty votes he will be elected. It is popularly supposed in Italy, that he is sure of the support of at least thirty members of the sacred college, so that it may be hazarded he stands as well for election as any other.

If anything had been lacking to increase the warmth of welcome accorded to STANLEY by the English public it would have been supplied by his choice of a bride. There was probably, no young lady in society more thoroughly liked and admired than Mrs. STANLEY, when she was plain DOROTHY TAVNEY. She is descended in a direct line from OLIVER CROMWELL, and her energy, versatility, and intrepidity, recall the saying that if RICHARD CROMWELL could have but changed places with his sister, England might have been saved from the Stuart restoration. Should STANLEY return at any time to Darkest Africa, he will find in his wife one not unworthy to play the part of a "White Queen" so familiar in the tales of Mr. HAGGARD's Africa.

Two Strings to His Bow.

The prairies of the west are great es for wind," said a wild west teleucky wind for me. At a station ut thirteen miles west my girl

d, and, as I had no Sunday trains business of any kind, I used to go there and stay over Sunday.
But a livery horse from Saturday
ht to Monday morning cost me too ch money, so I rigged up a sail on

Names That Fit Their Trade.

The death of Adam Forepaugh will call the frequency with which this ly has supplied illustrations of the rious adaptation of surnames to busiss occupations. The explanation nally found for such fitness is that great many names were originally rived from occupations, and the mber of such names is so great that r all it is not remarkable that some odern Smith should return to the oc-pation of the founder of his family.
But that the bearer of the name
repaugh and the owner of a megerie should be combined in the me person cannot be explained in is way. Nor will it account for the ually striking adaptation of the ame to the profession of that famous Philadelphia physician, Dr. Philip ng Physick. It does not explain ow Professor Hartshorne came to be physician. The ex president of sect council, Mr. Lex, is a lawyer, as is father was before him, and the me name translated from the Latin nto English has been borne by an-ther Philadelphia lawyer. The directory of any large city will furnish great many similar instances, but ot often where the persons have atained the prominence of those mentioned.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Satellite of the Star Algol.

Professor Vogel, the German astronomer, has recently made an interesting demonstration of the existence of a companion to the big variable star Algol from photographs of the star's spectrum. Algol is 134 times as large as the earth, but suffers a partial eclipse at short and regular intervals, when it loses about five sixths of its brilliancy and falls from a star of the second magnitude to one of the fourth magnitude. Professor Vogel demonstrates by photographs of its spectra, what was before suspected, that Algol has a dark satellite, 100 times as large as the earth, and moving at a speed of fifty-six miles per second, the interposition of which between us and the big star perfectly accounts for its remarkable variations.
The final demonstration that this satellite exists is scarcely more remarkable than the fact that it has been more than a century since the astronomical observer Goodricke, who discovered Algol's variations, explained the phenomenon by the revolution round it of some opaque body. It has remained till this time for the spectroscope to verify his hypothesis.—New York Herald.

Oiling Troubled Waters.

During the last five years more than 3,000 American vessels have used oil to insure their safety in storms, and at least 300 claim it prevented their total loss. The action of oil on waves was known over 200 years ago, but as oil costs money ship owners have refused to believe in its efficacy.—New York Telegram.

AN EFFECTIVE BLOW.

Tom Kelly, the Pugilist, Discovers a Blow That Is Worse Than the Jowl.

How can a man best defend himself when unarmed he is stopped on the street and told to hold up his hands?
Tom Kelly, the well known veteran pugilist, was talking about this very thing last night. He said: "In most cases the footpad has the drop on a man.
"He is well armed, and hits you before you know it. Or, you are in danger of being killed if you resist, at the point of a pistol. Thugs come armed for their work, and they know it; so does the fellow who is held up.
"Once in a while you may have a chance to save yourself by slugging the would be robber and knocking him out. Not with any weapon save your fist.
"Let me illustrate it to you. I won't hurt you."
The veteran hitter turned to the reporter—the largest and best developed man on the paper, and Kelly's equal physically. Raising his arm the ex-pugilist brought his fist slowly around, catching the reporter on the very tip of the jaw, plumb, below the end of the mouth on the left side.
The blow was gently delivered. If it struck the stomach, or any other vital or sensitive part of the body, it would scarcely be noticed.
But it didn't. It seemed as if a sledge hammer had landed on the whole side of the face. The pain was almost unbearable. It was sharp, severe and stunning. The shock seemed to jar the whole head and teeth.
Mr. Kelly offered to repeat the operation by way of a more forcible illustration, but the reporter declined.
"Now, try it on me. Your fist isn't so hard as mine, so put a little more ginger in your blow." The veteran winced and made a wry face, though the blow was simply a tap.
"That spot is the most sensitive in the body," said the once famous hitter.
"I have been struck there many a time, and know it. Astonishingly few people seem to know that. It's the popular impression that a blow beneath the ear is the most effective, but such is not a fact. This ear, or jugular blow, simply stings. Try both of these blows on yourself, and see."
"Why is this blow in the chin so effective?"
"I can't tell exactly. Physicians differ as to the cause. I think that there is a very sensitive nerve that will paralyze, or at least stun the brain. Most of the fighters you hear of being knocked out receive the unlucky chin blow.
"All the advice I have to offer to those cornered by a footpad is towing your arm quickly around, let your strength and force go with it, and be sure you strike that part of the jaw below and at either end of the mouth.
"The blow is not serious, but it stuns. Always be careful to guard yourself well with the other hand. The full force of such a blow from a light man will floor the heaviest of footpads. But never, never, never, lose your head."—St. Louis Chronicle.

Tear Bottles.

Before the days of la grippe, when the ladies of Pompeii were the belles of the day, posed as the professional beauties, and for all we know had their photographs taken and got a percentage on them, well bred people did not cry in handkerchiefs. They dropped their tears slowly and gracefully into vials of cut glass, that had gold stoppers, set about with precious stones. There can be no doubt that the woman with thoughts upon a graceful pose practiced with her tear bottle before her mirror, and can there be anything more touching than, when one's best young man was off to the wars, sending him by registered letter a little note saying: "You have all my heart and these are the tears I have wept for you since your absence!" The tear bottle could be inclosed as practical proof, and the maiden fair would write on the outside of the envelope in large letters: "Glass—please do not stamp. Broken hard." Those, indeed, were the days of romance. Undoubtedly, some very fetching young women, who appreciated the impression made by a bottle of tears, but didn't like getting a red nose, had their slaves do the weeping for them, and physically cultured themselves by administering to the slaves a good sound whipping, so that they might have something to weep for.—Toronto Globe.

The Proper Weight of Man.

Professor Huxley asserts that the proper weight of a man is 154 pounds, made up as follows: Muscles and their appurtenances, 68 pounds; skeleton, 24 pounds; skin, 10½ pounds; fat, 24 pounds; brain, 3 pounds; abdominal viscera, 11 pounds; blood, which would drain from the body, 7 pounds. The heart of such a man should beat 75 times a minute, and he should breathe 15 times a minute. In 24 hours he should vitiate 1,750 cubic feet of pure air to the extent of 1 per cent. A man, therefore, of the weight mentioned should have 800 cubic feet of well ventilated space. He should throw off through the skin 18 ounces of water, 300 grains of solid matter and 400 grains of carbonic acid every 24 hours, and his total loss during that period should be 6 pounds of water and about 2 pounds of other matter.—St. Louis Republic.

The Telephone in War.

It is an interesting fact, which might become important in case of war, that the telephone furnishes a simple and ready means of intercepting secret telegraph dispatches without the knowledge of the operators. All that is necessary is to run a wire parallel with the telegraph line for a short distance, when the currents induced in this wire as the message is sent reproduce the signal in the telephone. The plan is attended by one difficulty, which is that the signals would become a confused medley of sounds if dispatches were submitted simultaneously from both ends of the line. This matter has attracted the attention of the Austrian government.—New York Telegram.

A COMMERCIAL'S TRICKS.

How George Moore, the English Drummer, Won a Bet of Five Pounds.

Many are the stories still told by commercial travelers about George Moore, the celebrated English drummer's determination to get orders. He would not be denied, says Samuel Smiles. If refused at first, he resorted to all sorts of expedients until he succeeded.
On one occasion he sold his clothes off his back to get an order. A tenacious draper in a Lancashire town refused to deal with him. The draper was quite satisfied with the firm that supplied him, and he would make no change. This became known amongst the commercial travelers at the hotel, and one of them made a bet of five pounds with George Moore that he would not obtain an order.
George set out again. The draper saw him entering the shop and cried out, "All full! all full, Mr. Moore! I told you so before!"
"Never mind," said George, "you won't object to a crack."
"Oh, no!" said the draper.
They cracked about many things, and then George Moore, calling the draper's attention to a new coat which he wore, asked what he thought of it!
"It's a capital coat," said the draper.
"Yes, first rate; made in the best style by a first rate London tailor."
The draper looked at it again, and again admired it.
"Why," said George, "you are exactly my size; it's quite new; I'll sell it you."
"What's the price?"
"Twenty-five shillings."
"What! That's very cheap."
"Yes, it's a great bargain."
"Then I'll buy it," said the draper.
George went back to his hotel, donned another suit, and sent the "great bargain" to the draper. George calling again, the draper offered to pay him.
"No, no," said George, "I'll book it; you've opened an account."
Mr. Moore had sold the coat at a loss, but he was recouped by the five pound bet which he won, and he obtained an order beside. The draper afterwards became one of his best customers.
On another occasion a draper at Newcastle-upon-Tyne was called upon many times without any result. He was always "full." In fact, he had no intention of opening an account with the new firm. Mr. Moore got to know that he was fond of a particular kind of snuff—Rappee, with a touch of Begar's brown in it.
He provided himself with a box in London, and had it filled with the snuff. When at Newcastle he called upon the draper, but was met as usual with the remark "Quite full; quite full, sir."
"Well," said Mr. Moore, "I scarcely expected an order, but I called upon you for a reference."
"Oh, by all means."
In the course of conversation George pulled out his snuff box, took a pinch, and returned it to his pocket. After a short interval he took it out again, took another pinch, and said, "I suppose you are not guilty of this bad habit?"
"Sometimes," said the draper.
George handed him the box. He took a pinch with zest, and said, through the snuff, "Well, that's very fine!"
George had him now. He said, "Let me present you with the box; I have plenty more."
The draper accepted the box. No order was asked; but the next time George called upon him he got his first order, and the draper long continued to be one of his customers.—Yankee Blade.

Lucky and Unlucky Days.

It was deemed highly important among the old Anglo Saxons that a child should be born on a lucky day, upon which his whole after life was supposed to depend, for, in their opinion, each day had its peculiar influence upon the destiny of the youngster. Thus the first day of the new moon was preferred to all others for the arrival of the little stranger.

A child born when the moon is new Will some too pass eighty two,

they would chant to themselves, and be happy with the thought. The second day was not so lucky as the first. The child born on that day would grow fast, but not live long. If born on the fourth day of the moon, it would be a great politician; if on the tenth, a great traveler; if on the twenty-first, the chances were that it would be a thief or a highwayman. But of all the days of the week or month the most lucky by far was Sunday, and should such day happen to be a new moon day, the child's prosperity was destined to be unbounded. Friday was a most unlucky birthday, not only because it was the day of the crucifixion of Christ, but because, according to old time calculations, it was believed by the Anglo Saxons to have been the day upon which Adam ate the forbidden fruit. In this connection it may be interesting to mention that the Khards and the Armenians believe that Adam was expelled from Paradise on Friday, and that the beginning of the flood was the same day.—St. Louis Republic.

The Electric Candle Cure.

A subscriber at Bryan, O., sends the following dialogue that he overheard in the street:
"Howdy do, howdy do?"
"Oh, fair to middlin'; folks all well, but I have got a touch of rheumatis."
"Oh, you can get rid of that; I had it so bad I couldn't raise my hand to take a chew tobacco, but it's gone now."
"What did you take for it?"
"Wal, when they put up them 'lectric lights, I got one of their candles they had dropped and carry it in my pocket. You know 'lectricity is good for medicine. Wal, there is enough 'lectricity left in the candle when they put them out will soak inter you, and that knocks it out every time. Jest try it."
"I will; where can I get one?"
"I've got a couple; take one."
"Much obliged; I'll give it a chance."—Electrical World.

Provincial Exhibit Association of British Columbia.

The benefits which have been derived for the last two years through the results of the industries and the products of the land being exhibited in the east, should encourage people to send in samples of all kinds, especially as through the hard work of the Provincial Exhibit Association so little trouble or expense is entailed. The following notices will prove of help in directing those who intend forwarding samples:
All entries to be communicated to the secretary in writing on or before Monday, August 15th, 1890.
2. Entries intended to compete for prizes must be made separately.
3. Exhibits to be delivered in Vancouver on or before Wednesday, August 27th, with the exception of such as are of a perishable nature, which will be received till Monday, September 1st.
4. Mineral and lumber samples or wood manufactures to be delivered at Vancouver on or before Thursday, August 18th.
5. Wheat, oats, barley and other cereals must be shown in quantities of not less than ten pounds in bags. Flour etc., in bags not less than 50 pounds. Malt in quantities of not less that ten pounds in bags, and field roots, such as potatoes, turnips, carrots, mangolds, sugar beets, etc., in quantities of not less than 25 pounds each.
6. Cereals should be sent in sheaves also as in that shape they may be used in decorating the court. The ears ought to be wrapped in calico not in paper for better protection in transport, and cased.
7. Spring produce and fruit generally ought to be preserved which can easily be done if the specimens chosen are put into glass jars filled with Salicylic acid and alcohol. Formula: Salicylic acid two parts, glycerine five parts, alcohol pure twenty parts, water 1,000 parts, and hermetically sealed. Care should be taken not to let the state of maturity of fruits and vegetables advance too much before bottling.
8. Should the exhibitor find difficulty in undertaking the bottling and preserving personally, let him forward the exhibits to Vancouver and they will be attended to, but in this case allowance should be made in choosing the specimens for the time of transport to Vancouver, so that they do not arrive in too ripe a state.
9. It is especially requested that exhibitors send all the specimens in duplicate, so that exhibits can be sent to the three exhibitions in Toronto, London, Ont., and St. John, N.B.
10. All exhibits, if addressed to D. Oppenheimer, Vancouver, B.C., "Toronto exhibits," will be conveyed free of charge by the railway, steamboat, express or other transport companies.
11. Exhibitors desirous of further information should communicate with the secretary, W. D. Bardin, City Hall, Vancouver.

There was a quiet day in police circles yesterday.

The case of Ah Fook vs. Alexander McLean for aggravated assault at Sapperton comes up in the city Police Court this morning.

Business Streets Extending.

On Monday last Mr. Robert Beaven, the contractor, commenced operations for excavating the foundation of a new two story building to be erected for Mr. L. F. Bonson on Mary and Clarkson streets. The building will contain two stores one of which, we have been informed, will be occupied as a plumbing and tinsmith establishment, while in the other will be an undertaking establishment. We have not as yet heard of any tenants for the upper portion of the building, though we believe they have been rented for storage purposes. Mr. James Cunningham will immediately commence operations upon his new brick block to be erected from Beaven's building to the corner of Provost street, which, when finished, will be a very imposing structure. The extension of business houses up Mary street as far as Provost is something of a new departure, yet it is absolutely necessary, for there is not an unoccupied shop along any of the other business streets. We are highly pleased at this prosperous state of things, and we predict that before another year or two at the outside, many of the residences near the central business portion will be obliged to give room for business blocks.

The S. O. E. Meeting.

The Sons of England had a most successful meeting on Monday evening in the Odd Fellow's Hall when ten more brethren were initiated into the mysteries. The order promises, and is fact is, at the present time, the largest in the city, there being in all 140 members. There are also 23 applications for membership and their initiation, after the applications have been carefully considered, will take place at the next regular meeting. One of the questions discussed was the picnic which it is intended to make the first of an annual series. A committee consisting of Messrs. Townsend, Bleaker, Mikie, Allan, and Latham was appointed to make arrangements, and invite their brethren in Vancouver, Nanaimo and Victoria to attend. Another important question was discussed in a lively and most enthusiastic manner—the advisability of ways and means of erecting at no distant date a suitable building for their lodge rooms. All spoke favorably of the scheme, and the chances are that early next spring arrangements will be made towards attaining that desirable end.

Gowan's Body Found.

Last evening Indian Agent McTiernan received a telegram from Hammond stating that an Indian named Joseph had found the body of a man floating in the river near Keatacy about two miles above the mouth of the Coquitlam. Accordingly the steamer Delaware went up immediately upon her arrival from Chilliwack and brought the body, which was that of Mr. Samuel Gowan, the steamer's late second engineer, who was accidently drowned a few weeks since. Coroner Pittendrigh was at once notified and instructed provincial officer George Armstrong to summon a jury which was done with all possible haste. The jury met last evening at the Hyack Hall from which place they proceeded to view the body in the warehouse of Messrs. Mathers & Milligan, after which it was deemed advisable to adjourn the inquest for a week in order that several important witnesses in the case who saw the unfortunate man fall overboard, might be summoned to attend. The body has been placed in a handsome casket, and last evening a telegram was forwarded to the father in Seattle, informing him that it had been recovered.

The Westminster-Vancouver Train.

Mr. Thibedeau, the civil engineer who has been engaged by the Electric Tramway Company, to survey the lines between this city and Vancouver finished his work last Saturday evening, and as soon as possible, a profile of the work will be submitted to the company, under whose directions he has been surveying. It is said that all the grades are very good, and the chances are that the line will commence at or near the post office, run along Columbia Street to Park Lane, then across the country to Vancouver. A station will be built about half way, and all the necessary plant and machinery for the operation of the line will be situated at that point, it being the most convenient locality for running successfully. It has not yet been decided whether overhead wires or the surfaced system will be employed, but it is very probable that the former will be used, it being far superior to the latter. The company will endeavor to arrange with Mr. D. Mohillivray to have their plant and rails brought with the water works outfit in a ship to this city, which preparation will undoubtedly be most convenient should the parties come to terms. A meeting of the directors and shareholders will be held as soon as Mr. Tichelaar's profile is completed when the permanent line will be determined.

Heavy Rates.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The farmers are busy with their hay, and if the fine weather continues for the rest of this week that crop will be all harvested in good condition.

Mr. Robert Stewart, one of our enterprising citizens, has opened a new blacksmith shop here, where he will be pleased to renew all the old irons of the neighborhood, and also undertake anything in the line of blacksmithing from a needle to an anchor.

Mr. Andrew Anderson has a fine nursery which is a credit to the place, and second to none in B. C. in the line of fruit trees.

The C. P. R. diamond drill is still working, with Mr. E. L. Davis in charge, and prospects are now so favorable, that strict secrecy is maintained as to the borings.

Councillor Thos. Henry is having his residence nicely painted and from the blending of the colors, it may be plainly seen that he has a first-class workman at the job.

The three brickyards are all very busy, and are manufacturing the best article in their line that B. C. produces.

There is a good opening here for a man with a little capital to build and run a good sawmill. The brickyards and farmers, in the immediate vicinity, use a considerable amount of lumber, while the shipping facilities are excellent.

Hotel Arrivals.

At Hotel Dominion—G. E. McDonald, Toronto; G. Wade, Vancouver; J. E. Sulley, City; R. L. Bethen, L. G. Wing, C. A. Gedeon, Victoria.

At the Columbia—J. L. Walworth, G. F. Foster, W. L. Church, Blaine, Wash.; Mrs. Gold and child, L. Dameron, T. R. Shoebottom, Mrs. Stanley and three ladies, W. H. Hornblang, George Turner, C. E. Antwell, Joseph Arnold, Chilliwack; Mrs. Smith, Thomas Kidd, Lulu Island; F. M. Phillips, Wharncliffe; S. J. Nighton, Toronto.

The Assembly Tonight.

The dance to be given this evening at St. Leonard's Hall is a private affair, gotten up by a few ladies of Holy Trinity Church, and consequently is by invitation only. It promises to be a rather brilliant assembly for a summer dance, and all the elite have signified their intention of being present. Tickets can be had of the gentlemen composing the committee alone, as no tickets will be disposed of at the doors.

A CORRECTION.

EDITOR TRUTH: SIR,—In your issue of the 20th instant you published a letter signed, "Me and Jim," which was evidently intended to cast a reflection on the Good Templar Order and on the public picnic, which they held at Maple Ridge last week. Now it appears to me, Mr. Editor, from the tone of the letter, "Me and Jim," who ever he may be, was either drunk or insane when he wrote it, as no sane person could write such nonsense. Being personally acquainted with nearly every member of the I.O.G.T., in this city I know that not a member from this city had any intoxicants with them. But I do know that several gentlemen (so called) from this city had brandy and whisky bottles with them (I do not know whether they were filled or not) for the purpose of saying that there was intoxicants at a Good Templar's picnic. Now I take it, Mr. Editor, that any person who will accept of the hospitality of any society for the purpose of bringing that society into ridicule must be a miserable wretch, and yet this seems to be the reason that prompted "Me and Jim" and some others to attend the picnic. "Me and Jim" has endeavored to play the funny man but having so miserably failed further comment is unnecessary. In your issue of the 18th instant, there is what purports to be a report of the doings at the picnic, but which is in fact a mere recital of the insane wanderings of your informant; also in the Columbian of the same date appears the statement there were "240 sponey people on the grounds or thereabouts." While as a matter of fact there were only about 475 people at the picnic including married people and children. Now, I believe, Mr. Editor, that all the adverse criticisms of that picnic was either from ignorance of what a true picnic should be or from deliberate falsehood, and as to some not getting enough to eat I know that some refused invitations and others had to be almost forced to eat. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for so much of your valuable space, and hoping that outsiders will now be satisfied to give that much abused picnic a rest. I remain, etc.,

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

[Doubtless the Columbian will correct its clerical error.—ED.]

A CONTRADICTION.

EDITOR TRUTH: SIR,—With reference to that scurrilous communication which appeared in last night's issue of your paper over the signature of my friend Dr. "Ike" wherein he labored hard to appear witty, I presume I can well afford under the circumstances to let it pass for what the citizens think it is worth, as some of the most famous men in the world have been bastards and have had a humble birth. That I am agent for Stanley's great book in this city, I shall neither attempt to palliate nor deny. I am no stranger in this city and during my current term here I have received nothing but courtesy from the citizens save that of a few cranks from whom nothing better could be expected, and my privilege has been more appreciated than that afforded me among the luscious fruit referred to at the hours at my courteous and hospitable friend, a gentleman whom my gay a eyed "Sweetie Ike" might well strive to imitate. As to the personal reflections upon myself I may say that had the noble and classical pedagogue for a moment taken a peep into the mirror he might have well considered the adage "Those who live in glass houses should never throw stones," and as to the mean insinuation reflecting upon the humble birth and boyhood life of H. M. Stanley, Africa's great explorer, I have only to remark that his unfavorable conditions only add the greater lustre to the name of one whom all England today delights to honor.

Yours respectfully,

W. T. KIDNEY,
Agent for "Darkest Africa."

AUCTIONEERS

NEW WESTMINSTER CITY

UNDER INSTRUCTIONS from the Board of Directors of the Royal Columbian Hospital we will sell by Public Auction on Thursday Evening, 24th July, 1890, at 7:30 o'clock at the Opera House, New Westminster,

The whole of Suburban Lots, Numbered 8, 9, 35, 36, 37, and 38, Block 6, New Westminster.

Which have been divided into 66 City Lots, all of which have a frontage on wide and important streets, viz., St. George's Street, Mary Street, St. John's, Montreal and Pelham Streets.

This property is situated in the heart of the residence part of the Royal City, is elegantly situated, commanding a view of the Fraser River east and west, the Gulf of Georgia and Mount Baker, the Lots are large being generally 66 x 132 ft. The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1 cash, 1 6 months, 1 12 months with per cent interest on deferred payments.

This is a chance that never once in a lifetime and capitalists should remember that New Westminster is not a Boom City, but on the contrary has been in existence a number of years and has had a steady and continual growth, and today promises to outstrip in importance and population all of the cities of the coast. Situated in the centre of the Farming, Lumbering and Salmon Canning Industries as well as being the only city of importance on the Fraser River, the main artery of British Columbia, and being the Fresh Water Terminus of the C.P.R. and the only Terminus of the American system of railways in British Columbia, it requires no prophet to foretell the grand future that is in store for it as a city and for those who for a small capital foresight in part at the proper time. This is the upper end of that very large city again.
