AMS President
Michael Duncan

Imagine stepping onto the bus and your U-Pass doesn't work. Imagine going to the clinic, but you don't have a health and dental plan. Imagine a Wednesday night without the Pit Pub.

It's a scary thought, life without the Alma Mater Society (AMS) ... but don't worry, the AMS is here to stick up for what students care about. Despite daily use of the AMS, students don't always realize how many activities or interests the AMS supports. Here are a few things that the AMS does for its members (i.e. you):

- Provides services, such as an Ombuds office, Tutoring and Minischool
- Keeps the U-Pass going and lobbies to improve transit options to and from UBC
- Operates and runs the Student Union Building and many businesses inside it
- Supports over 300 student clubs and all the faculty undergraduate societies
- Provides and manages the Health and Dental plan with the GSS
- Ensures the continuation of free student swim times at the UBC Aquatic Centre
- Lobbies the University along with the Provincial and Federal governments
- And so much more ...

The really great thing about the above is that you have a voice in what the AMS focuses on. Whether you run for office, or just vote in the annual elections, you can help direct what the AMS does for its members.

This is a University; a place of academic learning, but it is also a place to meet like-minded individuals, a safe haven for personal growth and is YOUR new home that you can be proud of. I encourage you to make the most of this exciting time. The opportunities here are limitless and can at times be overwhelming, but if you are looking for your own niche at UBC, this book is an excellent starting point. Remember that students who get involved report being the most satisfied with their university experience. I hope the pages ahead will help you to find direction in your newfound journey. If you are looking for someone to support your interests, remember the strength that exists in the 44,000+ voices of our membership and make sure that the AMS is doing everything it can to make your voice heard.

Michael Duncan, AMS President

UBC President

Stephen J. Toope

This year, the University of British Columbia commemorates the March 7, 1908 passing of the University Act in the Province of British Columbia—the great act of foresight that created UBC. The University is in the midst of a yearlong celebration with a variety of events scheduled across campus.

As we celebrate, UBC is truly proud to say "the best is yet to come" for this once modest provincial university. Today, UBC is consistently ranked amongst the world's best universities, attaining this admirable position based on the firm foundation of our first 100 years. Where we will go next, quite frankly, is as open as the destinations that our alumni may choose! As I travel in Canada and beyond, meeting with people at institutions of higher education and in private businesses, I am consistently impressed with the new opportunities created when our graduates explore career options here in the Vancouver area or in other cities, provinces and countries around the world. As a member of the UBC community, which includes the Robson Square, Great Northern Way and UBC Okanagan campuses, you are part of this tradition of excellence and the University takes pride in preparing you for your future role in society.

The pursuit of excellence in teaching is as essential as excellence in research. UBC is actively committed to providing a rich learning environment and experience for undergraduate and graduate students and to transparent reporting of our progress in these pursuits.

More than academic pursuits, UBC also offers numerous recreational and social opportunities on campus. As you pursue academics at UBC and define your goals for the future, I hope you will take the time to fully explore the student experience not only through your studies and research, but also through your participation in community service learning, sports, clubs and student administration. In addition, I hope you will also find time to join in the celebration of the centenary.

Tuum est!

Hello and welcome to the 2008 – 09 edition of the AMS Insider! Just at a glance, you'll notice that this year's student planner looks and feels different compared to the previous years. For starters, the current binding and layout of the entire booklet is environmentally compatible with our Lighter Footprint Strategy initiatives at AMS. Each page is composed of FSC certified paper, promoting sustainability and good global forestry practices. So flip through the pages; check out what the Insider has to offer and take a breath of fresh air. Life is good right?

The AMS is the student society of UBC committed to improving the quality of the educational, social and personal lives of students at UBC. The Insider reflects this mission statement. Each tabbed section is dedicated to guiding you to get the most from your student experience at UBC. Explore the numerous options and resources offered to you by the AMS. Our first section, "Campus Resources," gives you a welcoming one-on-one introduction to AMS Executives and highlights the student services available at UBC. "Clubs & Activities" lists all the AMS student clubs and constituencies to inspire your active participation. The third section, "Student Life," assists in familiarizing you with the rest of UBC campus including campus media, housing, transportation, sustainability and food options. Finally, our day planner portion is divided into two academic calendar terms for your convenience and efficiency.

Kudos goes to Bill, our Graphic Designer, who worked long hours to illustrate and draft together the Insider. Also, a big pat on the back goes to Kelli, our Communications & Design Services Manager, who oversaw the Insider project, assisted in editing and proof-reading many articles before it went to print. We'd also like to thank Lyanne for her hard work in advertising. A big thank you goes to Michelle and Ale for compiling the AMS clubs content. The Insider is a composition that comprises everyone's efforts at the AMS and continues our tradition of team effort from start to finish.

Meet Our AMS Executives

These individuals work hard to represent you and your needs at UBC. AMS Executives also oversee daily operations of the student society at both internal and external levels. While each person is responsible for different portfolios in the AMS, they all work together with Council to respond to the needs of students and other campus communities. Our Executive offices are located upstairs on the second floor of the Student Union Building. Come meet the folks who will enhance your university experience. Annual elections take place every year at the end of January to give you the chance to choose your AMS Executives.

President | SUB 238L
president@ams.ubc.ca | 604.822.3972

The AMS President has the privilege of leading the largest student society in the country. It's a society you'll probably use everyday, through your use of clubs, the SUB, the U-Pass and the AMS/GSS Health & Dental Plan or by caring about those issues we lobby about. These issues include student debt, campus development and academic quality.

Leading the AMS means coordinating activities and goals of the exec team, and making sure that we're accountable to AMS Council, which is the representative body of students on campus. If you have an idea or a problem, the AMS can help you take action. Using the AMS means making sure our priorities are your priorities. I encourage you to come by our offices on the 2nd floor of the SUB whenever you get a chance.

Alex Lougheed

VP Academic & University Affairs | SUB 238K
Vpacademic@ams.ubc.ca | 604.822.3092

Welcome back, and for a quarter of you, welcome for the first time. University is an opportunity to change your life. At no other time will you experience the unadulterated freedom to explore and transform as you will here. I encourage you to reach inside yourself, pull out your deepest held beliefs and look at them from a new perspective. I also encourage you to never accept anything people tell you at face value. This is one of the few places on Earth where unfettered skepticism is not only allowed, but encouraged. So seize the opportunity while you're here to learn about yourself and the world. You won't be here for long!

As the VP Academic and University Affairs, I deal with all issues and communications at the University level. My role is to liaise and build partnerships with the University on various projects and initiatives. I also lobby the University for student priorities and advocate for diverse and marginalized interests in the following areas:

Academic Issues: Quality of teaching; calendar; senate; innovative programs; diverse curriculum and professors; teacher evaluations; academic support programs; budgeting; etc.

Campus Development Issues: New buildings and development; student housing; University Town and non-institutional development; Campus Plan process; biking and transportation issues; student social and learning spaces; green space; etc.

Campus Community Issues: Health and wellness; Access and Diversity; discrimination; campus crime and safety; community-building; governance; UBC Greek system; residence; international student issues; First Nations students; Ombuds services; advocacy; etc.

You are welcome to drop by my office hours, which are posted on the AMS website and I'm available for lunch if you ever want to let me know your opinion on any of the above issues. I appreciate all the input I can get.

Tristan Markle

VP Administration | SUB 238 G
vpadmin@ams.ubc.ca | 604.822.3961

As VP Administration, my time is divided between the present and the future. I'm responsible for the operation of the existing Student Union Building (SUB) as well as the consulting, visioning and designing of the new SUB—the construction and financing of which were approved by a student referendum in spring 2008.

The current SUB, students' home and the university's heart(h), is a unique public space operated by students through the AMS, UBC's student union. This allows community control over the resources here. Our almost 300 clubs are provided with guidance, room bookings and office space through the Student Administrative Commission (SAC—which I chair). Our ten student-run businesses employ students and are increasingly incorporating fair trade and local options. Our student-run services, resource groups, film, news, and radio societies, including food and bike cooperatives, have a safe home.

The future SUB will be located around University Square, safeguarding the public character and university feel of the centre of campus. Following Gandhi's dictum of being the change we wish to see, our team will ensure the new green building achieves the highest possible sustainability objectives. We are currently negotiating with the University to secure their financial contribution. There are many ways for you to be involved in the SUB Renewal project (stop by my office, or email me). Be prepared for dynamic design consultations in the fall!

Through the Impacts Committee and Business Operations Committee, I'm working on a supplier rating system to expand and facilitate implementation of our Ethical and Sustainable Purchasing Policy in order to win our autonomy from multinational corporations, to reward socially and environmentally-conscious businesses and to better integrate ourselves into the local food system; thereby bolstering the future of the UBC Farm.

Through these and other initiatives (such as cooperative housing), students can not only be empowered to control their own destiny but can also, as idealistic leaders, create a community that can act as an inspiration to others.

Chris Diplock

VP Finance | SUB 238M
vpfinance@ams.ubc.ca | 604.822.3973

Hey guys, my name is Chris Diplock and I am your VP Finance. "My VP Finance? Quoi?" Yeah that's right, I'm YOUR VP Finance. As a member of this student society called the AMS, I work for you. Now that you know I work for you, you'll probably want to know who I am and what I do.

Straight out of Toronto, I came to UBC for the atmosphere and community. I started attending AMS Council meetings in October out of concerns for the development on campus. At my first meeting, I was so impressed with the atmosphere and the level of discourse that I've kept returning ever since. As a second year student with a keen interest in Economics, I felt my efforts would be well placed in the VP Finance portfolio.

If it has to do with the finances at the AMS, then it probably involves my participation. I'm deeply involved in this Society's finances whether it is chairing or being a member of the committees.

It is my pleasure to be chairing the Impacts Committee (Environmental Committee), which will allow me to bring environmental issues to the Business Operations Committee, the Fundraising and Sponsorship Committee, the Renovations Planning Group and other committees.

Lastly, the student clubs and constituencies are assisted by the Finance Commission. As the chair of the Finance Commission, we offer financial assistance to various clubs, constituencies and individual initiatives. Got an idea that needs some money to get it started? The Finance Commission is your place to start. For more information on AMS and UBC funds available visit, www.amsubc.ca/index.php/student_government/category/finance_commission.

The money that you pay in fees and business purchases goes towards running your student society. You have already made an investment in your Student Government; it is up to you to utilize it. Take a class with Minischool, apply for financial assistance, join a club, attend an event but whatever you do, enjoy yourself.

Be good to each other,

Dip

Stephanie Ratjen

VP External | SUB 238J
vpexternal@ams.ubc.ca | 604.822.2050

In my first year at UBC—on unceded Coast Salish territory—I had no idea what the AMS was. Over the years, while I became involved with the Student Environment Centre and Students for a Democratic Society, I chose to stay outside of the AMS political circus. Governance structures such as AMS Council and even the Executive (ha!), were intimidating and didn't address issues that resonated with my student experience.

As I became more active with student politics outside the political structures of the AMS, I began to see the ways in which the current AMS were failing to address the issues that myself and countless others were engaged in. I began to realize that in order to affect change, it is critical to work from both the "outside" and the "inside" of formalized power structures.

I ran for the VP External position with this idea in mind. For the AMS to be a true student union, it is especially important for students who do not see their interests represented to be active within the Society.

Students have the power to influence their education, both inside and outside of the classroom. Through our active and critical engagement, there is the potential to use the AMS to advocate for students' multiple and diverse interests. Everyone has a right to not only an education, but to influence how that education is experienced. Everyone has a right to access, be respected, feel included and to have a voice within their student union.

Within the mandate of the VP External office, I deal with issues relating to:

- The U-Pass and Translink
- Tuition and Student Financial Assistance/Student Debt
- Government Relations and Post Secondary Issues
- Provincial and Federal Student Associations

I believe that education should be free, public transit should be accessible, governance of our university should be democratic and that students should be united.

For more information on issues affecting students, as well as initiatives coming out of the AMS external office, visit www.studentsunitedbc.ca

Peace!

Jacqueline Bell

Executive Coordinator of Student Services | SUB 249 D
services@ams.ubc.ca | 604.822.9949

Hi there, I'm Jacqueline and I'm this year's Executive Coordinator of Student Services (ECSS). What's the role of the ECSS you ask? The Executive Coordinator of Student Services oversees the eight student services offered by the AMS. These include Safewalk, Speakeasy, Advocacy, AMS Connect, the Sexual Assault Support Centre, Tutoring and the Food Bank. I bet you didn't know the AMS offered so many amazing services! As the ECSS, I offer training, guidance and support for service coordinators, student staff and volunteers who manage the daily activities of individual services. I sit on Council and the Executive Committee as a non-voting representative. In all my roles, I speak on behalf of the services and work to ensure the services benefit students while promoting awareness of the services within the Society and the wider UBC community.

In addition, I co-chair the Learning Enhancement Academic Partnership (LEAP). This project is a partnership between the AMS and UBC that fosters academic learning through the promotion of online and physical resources. If you've ever had a question related to academics (and what student hasn't!), it's definitely a site worth checking out. It offers everything from study tips, stress tests, information on tutoring resources, learning opportunities beyond the classroom to general information you'd wish you'd known about since you began your studies at UBC. I definitely encourage you to visit www.leap.ubc.ca.

As the ECSS, I'm committed to making significant strides this year in heightening awareness of student services on campus. One of my main goals is improving campus partnerships with other service providers to make resources available to students that are better advertised and delivered. If you're interested in exploring services as a student or are seeking ways to partner with a club or constituency, we are always ready to meet and make ourselves as accessible as possible to the student body. If you're interested in learning more about student services on campus, please don't hesitate to contact me. You can reach me by email, by phone or by dropping by my office anytime. The services offices are located on the second floor of the Student Union Building.

Annual AMS Elections

Someone once said, "Bad officials are elected by good citizens who do not vote." Someone also once said, "If you don't vote, you can't complain." Who doesn't like to have a say in school matters? But before you do, make sure you vote!

Vote online at www.ams.ubc.ca elections or in person with your UBC student card in late January at any of the polling stations.

Run for it!

Besides voting, you can also run for these positions by following these steps:

Act fast!

AMS Elections happen near the end of January, but to run in these elections, you need to get in the game earlier on. You need a campaign, promotional materials, speeches prepared for platform presentations and so on.

Research and choose a position!

You can run for President, VP Academic and University Affairs, VP Finance, VP External, or VP Administration. During the elections, you can also run for Senate or Board of Governors.

Get nominated!

The form from the Administrative Assistant (adassist@ams.ubc.ca) is available at the AMS Executive Offices (SUB Room 238) in late November.

Go50!

Fill out the form and get fifty other UBC students to sign it. Once this is complete, submit it as per the directions on the form.

Be campaign ready!

Spend your winter break creating your campaign, posters, flyers and speeches.

Meet candidates!

Go to the All-Candidates Meeting in early January.

Showtime!

Show them what you've got! The process usually takes two weeks. Make sure you are familiar with the rules because you want the Elections Administrator to sanction your campaign!

Last but not least ... Get elected!

Check out Celebrate Research Week March 9th to 15th, 2009

Celebrate Research Week showcases an exciting week of events that highlights forums, lectures, seminars, open houses and symposia on topical and timely issues from every discipline across campus. For more information visit: http://www.100.ubc.ca

Student Administrative Commission (SAC)

SUB 238F | 604.822.2361

The Student Administrative Commission (SAC) works closely with the VP Admin, Tristan Markle, in overseeing Student Union Building's operations and is primarily a resource for its constituents. These include AMS Clubs, Constituencies and Resource Groups. SAC also ensures that subsidiaries are functioning smoothly both independently and as a whole by providing room bookings, locker rentals, consultations, club constitutions and much more! SAC meetings are held every week and you are most welcome to attend!

Finance Commission (FinCom)

SUB 238F | 604.822.2361

The AMS Finance Commission (FinCom) works closely with the VP Finance in overseeing all financial matters of your student society, including Financial Aid Awareness Days for students, auditing clubs and constituency finances. We also review student grant applications (the Clubs Benefit Fund, Constituency Aid Fund and Student Initiative Fund) to financially help subsidiaries and individual students with various innovative projects. For more information or questions, email us or check out our website.

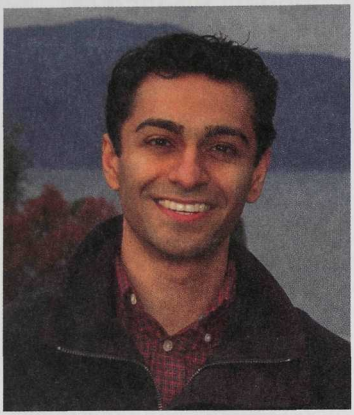
SUB 238R | 604.822.6868
avpexternal@ams.ubc.ca

This year, the External Committee was converted to an Associate Vice-President (AVP) position to assist the VP External in her work. The AVP External's focused aims are to actively engage students in the AMS external lobbying initiatives. This includes lobbying for lower tuition, a student loan program that is fairer, an expanded U-Pass system and improved transit service. Along with the VP External, the AVP External will be developing AMS policy, creating an online presence and planning events throughout the year. Look out for these opportunities and be sure to get involved!



Bijan Ahmadian

Tim Blair

Board of Governors

Bijan Ahmadian, ubc@bijan.ca
Tim Blair, tjblair@interchange.ubc.ca
www.bog.ubc.ca

The Board of Governors is the highest decision-making body at UBC. It is responsible for managing, administering and controlling the property, revenue and affairs of the University.

The Board is composed of the Chancellor, the President, three student representatives (two from Vancouver and one from Okanagan), eleven persons appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, three elected faculty members and two elected non-faculty members. More information, including minutes, schedules and agendas of Board meetings, is posted on our website.

The student representatives from UBC Vancouver are Bijan Ahmadian and Tim Blair. Bijan is a second year law student and Tim is completing a Masters in Applied Science.

UBC Senate

Chair, Rob McLean
senate@ams.ubc.ca
www.students.ubc.ca/senate

The UBC Senate manages academic affairs from financial aid and admissions to curriculum reform and academic review. Sounds abstract but it affects you more than you would think. Let's say you receive a grade in a course that's grossly unfair. After a faculty appeal process, your claim might go all the way to the Senate and they would ultimately decide if your grade was actually unfair or if your complaint was invalid.

The Senate is made up of 89 representatives, 18 of whom are student representatives, five of whom are students elected at large during AMS elections and the rest of the student senators are elected during constituency elections for their respective faculties. The other representatives include some university administrators, deans and faculty members.

The Senate usually meets on the third Wednesday of every month in Room 102 of the George F. Curtis Building (Faculty of Law) at 7:00 p.m. from September to May. You can attend these meetings, or attend the pre-senate Student Senate Caucus meeting, where you can voice your concerns to student senators. Alternatively, you contact them at their email address.

Canadian Alliance of Student Associations

www.casa.ca

The Canadian Alliance of Student Associations (CASA) is a coalition of 22 student associations representing universities, colleges and technical institutes across Canada. CASA meets regularly with Federal Members of Parliament, Cabinet Ministers, Senators and Public Servants, and attends relevant committee meetings and hearings. They also represent and defend the interests of post-secondary students to inter-provincial levels of government.

CASA's lobbying efforts are aimed at pressing the Federal Government to invest more into higher education—to ensure that Canada has an accessible, affordable and high-quality post-secondary system. Issues that CASA works on include the Canada Student Loans Program, the Canada Student Grant Program, Canada Study and Access Grants, the Canada Millennium Scholarship Foundation, access and affordability of post-secondary education (PSE) for under-represented students, Debt Reduction in Repayment, Interest Relief, interest rates on student loans, indirect research costs, graduate students, under-graduate research, the granting councils, protecting intellectual property, CST funding, tuition, public vs. private institutions and the Pan-Canadian Accord.

The AMS is one of CASA's two member societies from British Columbia and we helped found the alliance in 1995. Our VP External, Stefanie Ratjen (vpexternal@ams.ubc.ca), is the contact for information on CASA and post-secondary education issues as they relate to the government.

AMS Support & Services

University life can be difficult and stressful. The AMS offers all kinds of helpful services to get you through these rough spots. Various programs and events are designed to support your personal, academic and social wellbeing. In addition, UBC also offers a number of services for its diverse student population from the International House to the First Nationals House of Learning.

AMS Advocacy

Coordinator: Krystle Gill
SUB 249G | 604.822.9855
advocate@ams.ubc.ca
www.amsubc.ca/index.php/services/category/advocacy

The Advocacy Office provides confidential, free representation to students who are engaged in conflict with UBC, regardless of guilt or innocence. Our mandate includes supporting, assisting and guiding students through UBC's appeal or complaint structures. We advocate for students in preparing and attending formal meetings, hearings and appeals against UBC. Specifically, we help students with matters of student discipline (e.g. cheating, collaboration or plagiarism), assigned standing, admissions, financial assistance and appeals of decisions by UBC Library, Parking or Housing. You are not alone—we are here to help!

As the MLA for Vancouver - Point Grey, I am pleased to have the opportunity to wish the students and faculty of UBC a great 2008-2009 academic year.

AMS Connect

Coordinator: Emma Ellison
SUB 249A | 604.822.9268
volunteers@ams.ubc.ca
www.ams.ubc.ca/vex

AMS Connect is one of several great services provided to all students by our student society. We offer a variety of ways for you to connect with your campus, your city and places around the world! We provide online listings of local volunteer opportunities and internship placements to help you get involved with the AMS, engage with your community and gain valuable job experience outside of the classroom. The Connect Office also facilitates volunteer placements abroad. Check us out—get connected!

Firstweek

Coordinator: John Cullen
SUB 249K | 604.822.1989
firstweek@ams.ubc.ca
www.ams.ubc.ca/firstweek

Known at other universities as "frosh week" or "welcome week," Firstweek is UBC's version of a week-long festival dedicated to welcoming new students to UBC and re-introducing old ones to campus life. Firstweek is designed to take a typical year-long UBC campus experience and jam it all into one week of fun and insanity!

Starting before Imagine Day, events continue all the way until the end of the week. Firstweek is not your typical campus tour—unless your idea of a campus tour includes huge concerts, dances, live comedy, improvs, a massive indoor/outdoor pool party and more chances to meet your future best friends than you can shake a stick at! Check out our website for more info!

sasc@ams.ubc.ca
www.ams.ubc.ca/sasc

SASC offers support to survivors of sexual assault, abuse and other forms of violence, as well as their friends, family members and partners. They are committed to education and the support of student, staff, faculty and visitors of all genders. SASC offers support, accompaniments, information and referrals. They also facilitate specialized workshops and training sessions, develop public education campaigns and hold special events related to anti-violence work. All services are free and confidential. For more information on programs and services or on volunteer opportunities, please visit our website.

Shinerama

Coordinator: Emma Ellison
SUB 249A | 604.822.9268
volunteers@ams.ubc.ca

Shinerama is an annual event that occurs during the first week of classes. This year, we'll be hosting car washes, pub nights and the "Bling Bling" competition to raise money for cystic fibrosis—the most common genetic disease affecting young Canadians today. Watch for us at Thunderbird games and at the UBC Bookstore. Shinerama wraps up Saturday, September 6, with the famed Shine Day, which is your chance to get out on the streets of Vancouver to shine shoes and get creative to raise money for Shinerama!

Access & Diversity

Brock Hall 1203 | 604.822.5844
www.students.ubc.ca/access

Access & Diversity works with the University to create an inclusive living and learning environment in which all students can thrive. We provide leadership in examining policies, processes and programs to build a community for all students, faculty and staff with disabilities, women students, students of all racial and ethnic backgrounds, and students of all sexual orientations and gender identities.

Access and Diversity determines and facilitates disability-related accommodations for students, faculty and staff with disabilities; produces alternate format materials for people with print disabilities. We also provide study and social spaces for students with disabilities at Crane Library and a social space for women students through the Women Students' Lounge.

UBC Writing Centre

604.822.9564
writing.centre@ubc.ca
www.writingcentre.ubc.ca

An indispensable part of succeeding in university is being able to write well. The Writing Centre is here to help you un-split your infinitives and un-splice your commas. We provide a free tutoring service for UBC students, where you can get feedback on your essays, help with grammar, or strategies for passing the LPI. The Writing Centre also offers non-credit courses in grammar, style, scientific writing, business writing and writing for graduate students. Visit our web site for details.

Resource Groups at Your Service

The Resource Groups Centre, located in SUB 245, is a safe space where you can feel free to discuss issues that tend to be neglected by the broader university or where you can just relax and hang out! The Resource Groups themselves are a community of young scholars, activists and generally rad folk who work together to finally put an end to all forms of oppression and to facilitate social change on campus, in the community and throughout the world. Whether you are looking for a positive space environment, research and publication experience or are generally interested in environmental, feminist and social justice issues, make sure you come by the offices and make yourself at home. This is your university and your student union.

Allies

allies@interchange.ubc.ca

Allies is a group of men who work with men to end violence towards women. We do this by critically evaluating masculinity, relationships and sexuality by looking at the power dynamics of society. We hope to make men more aware of the driving forces that condone violence against women and learn how to improve relationships. We hold regular group discussions where we explore and examine critical issues. We also conduct outreach workshops with a variety of campus groups, including junior residences where we educate men on how to improve relationships and improve their sex life. Allies is most famous for its White Ribbon Pancake Breakfast in late November, which raises funds for resources that benefit women's groups and survivors of sexual assault.

Colour Connected Against Racism

SUB 254E
Contact: Rob Parungao
rob.parungao@gmail.com

Colour Connected Against Racism (CCAR) is a member of the UBC Resource Groups that supports and organizes events dealing with issues on race, ethnicity, culture, or any multifaceted topics that play into these themes. While our main goal is to confront issues of racism and inequality, we are just as interested in supporting initiatives that help facilitate understanding, sharing and plurality on campus and in the Lower Mainland.

AMS Student Environment Centre

SUB 245B | Resource Group Space | 604.822.8676
Weekly Meetings: Tues. 12:30 p.m.

If you are concerned about ecological problems facing the planet, the Student Environment Centre is the place for you. We connect students with environmental resources, educate students on ecological problems, fund student-driven initiatives, support and foster a community of concerned and informed individuals on campus, and provide a forum for sharing ideas. Everyone is welcome to attend our weekly meetings and special events, including Buy Nothing Day and a three-day conference on environmental issues. Feel free to drop by our office anytime.

PRIDE UBC

PrideUBC

SUB245C | 604.822.4638
prideubc@interchange.ubc.ca
www.prideubc.com

We provide peer support to members and friends of gay, lesbian, bisexual and trans communities at UBC, assist those who are coming out by providing a forum for discussions on sexuality. We also educate the greater UBC community about the variation of human sexuality and gender along with the rights of queer and trans people. We host events, including beer gardens, dances, parties and discussion groups. Members of the group come from diverse backgrounds and everyone is welcome regardless of sexuality or gender identity. Drop by our office to volunteer or just hang out on our comfy couches.

Social Justice Centre

SUB241K | 604.822.9612
sjc@clubs.ams.ubc.ca
www.ams.ubc.ca/student_life/resource_groups/social_justice

The Social Justice Centre aims to serve all students interested in finding progressive solutions to societal injustices. We work toward progressive social change by raising awareness about social justice issues and providing contacts to socially-active people and organizations. We provide a forum for discussion about social justice issues, facilitate concrete actions in response to discussions and foster student engagement and activism. Check our website for monthly events, displays, workshops and much more! There are lots of opportunities to get involved, so please contact us!

AMS Womyn's Centre

SUB245H | SUB245G | 604.822.2163

Student Life

AMS History: Who We Are

The Alma Mater Society (AMS) is the somewhat misleading name of the student society at the University of British Columbia (UBC). Our constituents are close to 45,000 students currently at the University, including both the undergraduates and the graduate students, as well as about 1,000 students at UBC's affiliated theological colleges.

The AMS dates back to 1915 – 16 when the student population numbered in the mere hundreds. In its early days, the AMS focused on social events and pep rallies. When the student population reached 2,000 in the 1930s, the AMS raised money for the first Student Union Building (now known as Brock Hall), which opened in 1940.

In the 1960s, with the student population rising over 10,000, Brock Hall was found to be inadequate and the current Student Union Building (SUB) was built.The opening of this building in 1968 transformed the AMS from a student council into a multi-million dollar business.

The AMS today is a far cry from the tiny organization it began as (with a Student Council of just eight members and a handful of clubs). There are now about 300 clubs overseen by the AMS; the governing Student Council numbers over 40; the Society runs businesses that gross millions of dollars; and it offers a wide range of services that most universities provide through University administration.

A Trek Through UBC Student History

Pre-History

1899 – 1900: Vancouver College, offers post-secondary courses accredited by Montreal's McGill University. Six students enroll in the program.

Fall 1906: McGill University College of British Columbia opens and replaces Vancouver College to offer university-level instruction to 48 students.

Fall 1907: McGill BC's students organize a student society known as the Alma Mater Society (AMS).

Early Days, Fairview Campus

September 27 – 30, 1915: Opening of UBC, is temporarily housed in old buildings ("Fairview Shacks") at 12th and Oak. First lecture starts September 30.

October 15, 1915: Birthday of the AMS of UBC; students adopt constitution for new student society.

1915 – 16: First student clubs at UBC are created.

October 17, 1918: First issue of the Ubyssey is printed.

October 28, 1922: The Great Trek—1,200 UBC students march to demand that the government provide money for university construction.

Point Grey: The First 40 Years

September 1925: First classes begin at the Point Grey campus.

January 31, 1940: Official opening of Brock Hall, the first UBC student union building.

December 1956: The Second Trek. A student petition campaign convinces the government to increase funding for UBC.

March 1963: The Third Trek (the "Back Mac" Campaign). Students march, boycott classes and petition for increased funding and greater access to education.

Point Grey: Since 1965

October 18, 1967: Students are elected to the University Senate for the first time.

September 26, 1968: Opening of current Student Union Building (the SUB)

October 24, 1968: Urged on by U.S. hippie leader Jerry Rubin, UBC students occupy the Faculty Club.

November 28, 1968: Opening of The Pit, the first student pub on campus.

September 24, 1971: About 2,000 students heed an AMS call to block the U.S. border to protest nuclear testing on Amchitka Island in Alaska.

December 1974: Students are elected to the University Board of Governors for the first time.

1994 – 95: The Ubyssey does not publish all year after conflicts from controversial articles in 1993 – 94. In 1995 – 96, the Ubyssey is reborn as an independent publication.

November 25, 1997: The summit of leaders from APEC (the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation organization) turns violent as protesters on campus are sprayed February 2003: Students vote to introduce the U-Pass, an inexpensive transit pass for students.

March 2004: UBC and the provincial government announce the creation of a new UBC campus in the Okanagan, on the grounds of the old Okanagan University College.

February 2005: Over 19,000 students voted in favour of continuing the U-Pass at a slightly higher price.

March 2008: Another referendum approves U-Pass at a slightly higher rate and also approves spending for a new Student Union Building.

Our Student Union Building

The current Student Union Building (SUB) opened on September 26, 1968 on the site of the old University stadium. It is the second SUB that was built on UBC's campus and replaced the first SUB, Brock Hall, which opened in 1940 but had become inadequate to serve the growing student population by the late 1950s.

To pay for the new building, students approved a $5 increase in their AMS fee through a referendum and paid about $3.5 million of the $5 million cost. When it opened in 1968, the new SUB contained business offices for the AMS, a bank, a barbershop, a games room, a cafeteria, an auditorium, meeting rooms, club rooms and a bowling alley.

The SUB at that time did not contain a pub, but a campaign in favour of a student-drinking establishment on campus soon led to the opening of the Pit Pub, which was first located on the second floor. Only in 1973 did the Pit move into its current basement location.

In those days before iPods, there was a listening lounge where students could come and listen to vinyl records. There was a reading lounge and a rest area with showers (rumour has it that the area disappeared because people were using it for things other than resting).

The SUB has undergone numerous transformations. The Bank of Montreal used to occupy a large area in the basement; now it is gone (except for their vault and a bank machine). The games room or Arcade is also gone.

Businesses have come and gone. The Thunderbird Shop, a business for supplies, sweaters, etc., was replaced by the AMS-owned Outpost. Duke's Cookies gave way to Blue Chip. The AMS used to run a convenience store called SUBcetera, but now it operates independently as the Lucky Shop.

Most of the AMS food outlets sprang up in the 1980s or later: Pie R Squared, Bernoulli's, the moon and the newest addition, the Honour Roll. The Pendulum arrived in the 1990s to replace Tortellini's, a pasta place, and derived its name from Edgar Allan Poe's story, "The Pit and the Pendulum." The Pit was already in place next door, so what was more natural than to create a Pendulum?

New SUB in the Making

It is important to notice that at UBC, students have administrative and creative control over the centre of campus: the Student Union Building (SUB). This rather rare form of self-government, allowing students the freedom to create spaces and support initiatives of their choosing, has been made possible only the by the continual pro-active assertion of student power.

In 2007, students began looking into renovating, expanding, or constructing a new SUB because the current SUB is bursting at the seams as the student population has grown from 18,000 to 45,000 since it was built in 1968.

Concurrently with this process of renewal, the fascinating political saga of the University Boulevard development project opened up new possibilities. Concerned with plans to fill the centre of campus with high-end market housing and commercial space (cutting off the SUB and removing the grassy knoll), students circulated a petition that was able to gather enough momentum to force campus "leaders" to consider a more democratic and community-focused U-Blvd development plan. Amidst these winds of change, in March 2008, an AMS student referendum for a new SUB passed, giving students the financial strength to construct a new student-run SUB as the centre-piece of campus.

The momentum created by this latter student initiative is considerable. It has allowed the student union to negotiate a financial and land contribution from the university for the new SUB, and it puts the power of development into the hands of the community. In the fall of 2008, students will be running ongoing and dynamic consultations and planning workshops so that building programming and design is generated from the bottom-up. Updates will be posted in the SUB concourse as well as updated on the AMS website. It cannot be emphasized enough that you can have as much influence on this project as you want: it's yours!

SUB|RENEWAL

The new SUB will be an open, state-of-the-art sustainable building, with more social space services and resource space, bookable rooms, eating, entertainment, recreation, resting places and many other student amenities (such as roof-top-gardens). Sustainable building design will ensure that space and energy is not wasted.

Of note to some, the future function of the existing SUB, which will be traded to the University, has not been conclusively determined—but current discussions suggest that it will likely contain student and academic spaces, and will be physically linked to the new SUB.

Broadcasting 350 watts of independent radio at 101.9FM, from the top of Gage Towers, CiTR is a progressive student-run radio society at UBC. More than Vancouver's source for local and indie music, CiTR also covers campus and community news, live UBC sports, arts and culture. We also offer free public service announcements and listings for campus clubs and other non-profit organizations. Recently, the station introduced a new podcast service that allows students and community members to access our radio shows online. Visit our website to discover podcasts of your favourite shows or to stream live radio. CiTR is operated by a small group of friendly staff and over 300 volunteers. There are plenty of ways to get involved whether you're interested in DJing, behind the scenes production, writing for our music magazine, the Discorder, or helping out with events. Sign up for daily tours of the station and broadcasting training. For more information or to listen online, check out our website.

Spawned in 1983 as a program guide and printed supplement for CiTR 101.9FM, Discorder has evolved under the influence of visionary editors and public hecklers alike into a media institution in its own right. Driven by a small core production staff and a sprawling diaspora of music lovers, aspiring writers, visual artists and CiTR personalities, Discorder harnesses raw volunteer power and converts it into edgy and informative newsprint. Our content includes music reviews, film and literature analysis, artist interviews and full-length features—all under the umbrella of independent music and culture. Published monthly (with the exception of the mysterious Jancember / Decembruary issue) by the Student Radio Society of UBC, Discorder has a print run of 8,000 copies and is distributed throughout Vancouver. If you'd like to contribute words, pictures, ideas or baked goods to our cause, come by our office in CiTR in SUB 233 or email us.

UBC Reports is a monthly university news publication produced by UBC Public Affairs Office. It is dedicated to providing information of interest to UBC faculty, staff, students, alumni, supporters and members of our surrounding communities. Serving all members of the UBC community, it is also distributed to external groups including community centres, hospitals, public libraries and Canadian university officials. It is made available to a global audience via its website and email subscription. In 2007, UBC Reports earned a gold award for Best Campus Newspaper in Canada from The Canadian Council for Advancement of Education. It regularly features stories and award-winning photography on major UBC academic and research achievements; national and international student, faculty/staff accomplishments; and significant institutional developments. Formed in October of 1918, it is the University of British Columbia's oldest and most definitive source for on-campus news. Publishing twice a week on Tuesday and Friday, it is produced by students, for students. Unbiased, analytic and in-depth, The Ubyssey provides the coverage you need.

The Ubyssey has produced notable journalists including Allan Fotheringham, former Prime Minister John Turner and the Dean of the BC political press, Vaughn Palmer. But don't let that intimidate you; a news team needs photographers, designers, camera people and more! We've got a place for you!

If you're interested in volunteering for The Ubyssey, swing by our offices. If you don't have journalistic experience, or only have a casual or uncertain interest—that's no problem! We're students like you and we welcome everyone to come down and hang out.

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) is a self-governing body that represents the nine fraternities at UBC. Consisting of a delegate from each fraternity and an Executive Council, the IFC strives to promote all aspects of fraternity life and academic pursuits. The Council also works to achieve its common goal of membership development and service to the UBC community. These goals are achieved by focusing on chapter development, student scholarship, community service, member education as well as alumni and public relations.

Tuition Fees

In some countries, students are paid to attend school. At UBC, most domestic students are now paying $144.75 per credit, with international students paying $644.47 for the same education. Assuming you are a domestic student who is taking a full course load of 30 credits, your tuition costs close to an annual $4,343.

There is a differentiated tuition strategy for all faculties except Arts and Sciences, which means that because of the increased costs of running a program, you will be charged more per course. For engineering, it's $154.51, and for Commerce it's $214.47.

Though, tuition isn't the only fee we pay the university. We also pay for Athletics and Recreation facilities, the AMS/GSS Health and Dental Plan and our beloved U-pass.

At UBC, Policy 72 states that no student may be denied an education for financial reasons alone. If you're in a jam, contact UBC Awards, Fees, and Finances and they can start to help you.

Visit www.students.ubc.ca/finance

While grants, bursaries, and even some loans, can work to alleviate the cost of post-secondary education, the average BC student is graduating with a debt of $27,000. This is a massive burden for many young people to overcome and affects the choices that students have after graduation. Right now, the provincial government has a 2% "soft cap" on annual tuition fee increases. While this is currently under the rate of inflation, it is still a continual increase in a situation where students are falling deeper and deeper into debt. Furthermore, this capped increase applies only to domestic students. The UBC Board of Governors sets the annual tuition fee policy.

If you have any questions about tuition policy and how your AMS is working to get a better deal for students, email Stefanie Ratjen, VP External, at vpexternal@ams.ubc.ca.

Weigh the Costs and Benefits

Being enrolled as a dependant in a parent or spouse's employee benefit plan usually requires your family member to pay additional costs. The AMS/GSS Plan may provide better value. You can also combine it with your other plan to maximize your overall coverage - up to 100% - and eliminate out-of-pocket costs.

Planning a Trip Abroad?

Other plans offer limited to no travel health coverage. The AMS/GSS Health Plan includes travel benefits for 120 days per trip, $5,000,000 per incident, $1,500 for trip cancellation, and $5,000 for trip interruption.

Why a Health & Dental Plan?

The Plan is a critical service of the AMS and GSS designed to fill the gaps in government health care. As a student at UBC and a member of the Alma Mater Society, you're covered by the AMS/GSS Health & Dental Plan. The cost of the Plan is part of your student fees.

Change-of-Coverage Dates

All enrolments and opt outs must be completed between Sept. 2 - 23, 2008. Only new Term 2 students can opt out or enrol their spouse/dependants between Jan. 5 - 26, 2009 for coverage from Jan. 1 - Aug. 31, 2009.

Financial Aid

Student Loans

Eligibility for government student loans is established by your home province according to a standard means test. If you qualify, these loans are a good option because they're interest-free until you graduate. Another funding possibility is a University Loan. You do not have to be a student loans recipient to be considered. University Loans require a guarantor (co-signer).

Bursaries

UBC awards bursaries are based on financial need. In order to qualify, you must have a student loan and have additional financial needs that are unmet by your loan. You can apply for bursaries through the Student Service Centre website: www.students.ubc.ca. Applications are due in September.

Scholarships

These awards are usually based on merit, but are sometimes based on financial need as well. Financial Services select scholarship recipients with the help of faculties and departments. There's no need to apply for these awards: just get really good grades. For more information, please visit www.students.ubc.ca/finance/awards.cfm?page=scholarships.

Please visit UBC Financial Services for more information on all the financial aid options listed above. They are located on the main floor in Brock Hall. Call 604.822.5111 or email them at awards.inquiry@ubc.ca. Their website: you.ubc.ca/ubc/vancouver/finances.ezc is also very helpful.

Emergency Funding

If you find yourself in an emergency situation, or faced with an unexpected expense, contact Student Financial Assistance and Awards online at www.students.ubc.ca/finance, or by phone at 604.822.5111. You can also make an appointment with an advisor to review your current financial situation and explore funding options. The Student Financial Assistance and Awards Office is located inside Brock Hall at 1874 East Mall.

Student Housing

At UBC, the Department of Housing and Conferences (www.housing.ubc.ca) aims to build and provide first-rate accommodation for you and thousands of other students, student families, faculty and staff. Their goal is to provide an environment that helps students to succeed both academically and socially. The AMS Insider has listed all the housing services available from the Department of Housing and Conferences. For more information, please visit their website.

Getting Around: Your Transportation Options

AMS Bike Co-op

ubc.bikecoop@gmail.com
www.ams.ubc.ca/clubs/bikecoop

The AMS Bike Co-op was founded in the spring of 1998 with the help of the AMS Innovative Projects Fund. We are a student-run organization dedicated to improving the UBC cycling environment. Many services we offer are maintained by volunteers. Our mission is to expand opportunities for cycling at UBC through the use and promotion of innovative transportation practices.

Bike Kitchen

www.thebikekitchen.com

Located in the basement of the SUB beside the north doors, the Bike Kitchen is a full-service, non-profit repair shop. We're open 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on weekdays and 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on weekends. This is the most economical way to get started with cycling. Whether you need to buy a bike or to fix up your own, you can pay to use the shop or for our staff to fix your bike. We also sell inexpensive refurbished bikes with warranties. UBC students get 10% off all new items.

What is ride-sharing? Ride-sharing is when two or more people commute together in the same vehicle, "sharing the ride." Carpool or vanpool in one of our fleet vehicles. Ride-share with yours or another's private vehicle. Find matching commuters by registering on our website.

UBC TREK and Community Shuttle

www.trek.ubc.ca

The TREK Program Centre is committed to improving your transportation choices by providing you with a variety of sustainable transportation options to best suit your travel needs. Chances are, you're already well aware of the U-Pass program (your student bus pass), but just in case you need more info, visit www.upass.ubc.ca. Programs you may not know about include campus community shuttles (free access with your U-Pass), free secure bike parking cages throughout campus, free online ride-matching where you can join or create a carpool group and access to a car share program if you need wheels for that trip to Whistler! To find out more about these programs and other transportation initiatives, visit the UBC Trek Program Centre's website.

The Universal Bus Pass

www.upass.ubc.ca

The popular U-Pass program gets you around. It is an affordable, three-zone bus pass that allows you unlimited access to Translink services. At the beginning of the year, every AMS member gets a U-pass. If you didn't receive one, visit the Carding Office at the UBC Bookstore (www.ubccard.ubc.ca) to pick one up in person. This is also where you should go if you lose your card and need a replacement. This year, the AMS is working with other BC student unions to improve transit service levels and implement an affordable transit system.

Bus Loop

Zipcar

1.866.494.7227

Zipcar and UBC have joined forces to bring you wheels when you want them at special rates. Just complete the application process and then fax an image of your current student ID to 604.697.0560. Gas, reserved parking and insurance are included in all of our rates and there's no crazy paperwork and waivers to fill out. Pay as you Zip—It's as simple as that!

Safety on Campus

AMS Safety Coordinator:
Saadia Rai
SUB 100B | 604.822.9319
safety@ams.ubc.ca
www.ams.ubc.ca/safety

The AMS Safety Coordinator's portfolio deals explicitly with safety concerns and the well-being of all students. This portfolio is divided into two mutually constitutive areas dealing with safety concerns: one being the "overt" issues of physical safety such as personal preparedness and overall emergency response procedures, etc. The second being the "covert" issues of mental and emotional safety such as forms of discrimination and oppression based on race, ethnicity, disability, sex, gender and sexual diversity, etc.

AMS Safewalk

The safety and comfort of everyone on campus is important to the AMS, and that's why Safewalk is here. For a walk call 604.822.5355, use one of our Direct Line Phones or use a Blue Light Phone for Campus Security to contact us.

Blue Light Phone & Campus Security

Blue Light Phones are at various locations around campus. We provide you with direct access to Campus Security 24 hours a day. For safety concerns, assistance or general information including directions, push the button and security will answer your call. Safety phones are also located in most campus elevators.

AMS Sexual Assault Support Centre (SASC)

SASC offers support services to survivors of sexual assault and other forms of violence, as well as their friends, family members and partners. We are committed to education and the support of students, staff, faculty and visitors of all genders. We offer counselling, accompaniments, information and referrals.

AMS Sustainability Office

Coordinator: Carolina Guimaraes

Did you know the AMS has a Lighter Footprint Strategy?

We, the students of UBC, have a responsibility to find and implement solutions to reduce the university campus' ecological footprint to sustainable levels by fostering environmental justice in our own operations. Ultimately, we employ our knowledge towards the University community and broader society. After holding consultations with students, staff and faculty, we came up with nine targets that are either Interactive (together with another body) or Internal (within the AMS). The AMS is currently in the process of creating targets for the year. If you have any ideas, concerns or would like to be part of this initiative, please contact us by email.

Health at the AMS

As students, we're often faced with high amounts of stress from writing papers to cramming for final exams. We're also involved with extracurricular activities in clubs and sports on campus. Good health is very important to us and at the AMS, we believe in promoting accessible health and medical care to maintain our wellbeing. That's why we provide you with the AMS/GSS Health & Dental Plan.

The AMS/GSS Health & Dental Plan is extended health and dental coverage, designed specifically for students to cover services such as prescription drugs, dental care, travel health coverage, health practitioners, vision care and more. The Plan was mandated by student referenda in 1999 and 2001. More detailed information about the Plan, including claim forms and details on how to enroll family or opt-out is available at www.ihaveaplan.ca or at the Health & Dental Plan Office on campus (1.877.795.4421 | 6138 SUB Blvd., Room 61, UBC SUB, Lower Level).

Who is covered?

All AMS and GSS members who pay AMS fees for the Health & Dental Plan are automatically enrolled, including full-time and part-time students, international students and those auditing a course. To verify if you are enrolled in the Health & Dental Plan, please check your fee statement and look for the "AMS med/dent fee" line item. You can do this online through the Student Services Portal (www.students.ubc.ca/ssc).

What is covered and how much does it cost?

The Plan includes benefits for prescription drugs, travel health coverage, vision care, health practitioners, dental benefits and more.

Benefit improvements for 2008 – 09: no deductible for prescription drugs and annual dental maximum is increasing to $750.

The total cost of the Plan is $210.21 per student, included automatically with university fees each September. The policy year is from Sept. 1, 2008 to Aug. 31, 2009. Students beginning in Jan. 2009 will be assessed $140.14 for coverage from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 2009.

What if I already have health and dental coverage?

If you're covered by another extended plan (e.g. parent or spouse's employee plan), you can combine both plans to maximize your overall coverage and reduce or eliminate out-of-pocket expenses. You may also choose to opt-out of the AMS/GSS Plan and have the fee reversed from your student account. All opt-outs must be completed within the Change-of-Coverage Period (see below) or within three weeks of your registration date, whichever is later. If it is your first time opting out, you will need to provide proof of other health and dental coverage. Visit www.ihaveaplan.ca and follow the on-screen instructions for opting out.

Can I enroll my spouse or dependants?

Students have the option of enrolling their spouse and/or dependants by completing an enrolment process and paying an additional fee. Common law and same-sex couples are eligible. If you want to cover your spouse/dependants, you must renew your family enrolment during the Change-of-Coverage Period each year. Visit www.ihaveaplan.ca and follow the on-screen instructions for enrollments.

Mandatory Health Insurance for new International Students (iMED)

iMED is the mandatory basic health insurance program the University provides for new international students. All new international students (except those from Tec de Monterrey) are automatically enrolled in the iMED plan, which provides coverage for the three-month waiting period for BC MSP or for the entire length of a one-term exchange. Medical benefits include emergency hospitalization and medical services for an unexpected sickness or injury. Once you register for your first class, a fee of $120 (for all students except one-term exchanges students, for whom the fee is $170) will appear on your student account and your card will be sent to you via email; print it and keep it with you at all times. For more details about the iMED policy, coverage dates, opt-out eligibility, adding dependants and other related information, please visit the iMED web site at www.david-cummings.com/imed.

Change-of-Coverage Period

Students can opt-out or enroll their family during the following periods only:

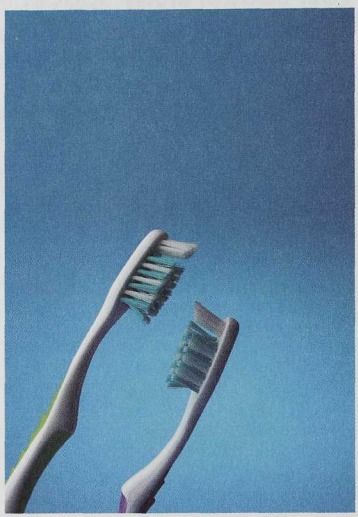
- For students starting in September: Sept. 2 – 23, 2008

- For students starting in January: Jan. 5 – 26, 2009 (New Term 2 students only)

Blackout Period

Claims processing is delayed while studentcare.net/works waits for complete enrollment lists, after opt-outs and enrollments have been processed. Returning eligible students who were covered in 2008's Winter Term 2 will not experience a Blackout Period in Winter Term 1. All other students will have a Blackout Period during the first two months of Winter Term 1. Only new Winter Term 2 students will experience a Blackout Period in 2009's Winter Term 2.

Claims can be dropped off at the Health & Dental Plan Office, but they will not be processed until the Blackout Period ends. You may also hold your claims until this time. Remember: Claims are your responsibility until they are received by Sun Life Practitioners. Pharmacists cannot accept Pay Direct or assignment of benefits during the Blackout Period.



Your Space. Study Space.

The AMS offers year-round free study space throughout the Student Union Building. Wireless internet access is available all around campus including inside the SUB. This makes for an interactive study environment where students can meet with their peers at tables over coffee in the SUB South Concourse or they can use computers provided on the premises. Students with wireless laptops are also able to access internet resources. During exam periods, the AMS offers free study rooms equipped with tables and chairs for both silent learning and group discussion.

Culture & Knowledge

UBC Museum of Anthropology

6393 NW Marine Dr.
604.822.3825 | info@moa.ubc.ca
Free Admission for UBC students, staff & faculty www.moa.ubc.ca

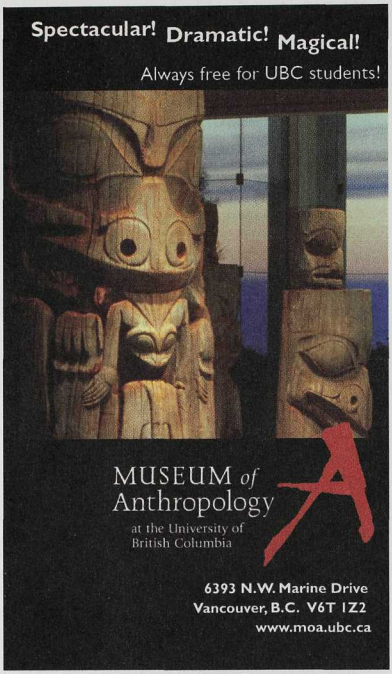
The Museum of Anthropology at UBC was founded in 1947 to collect, preserve, research, and display archaeological and ethnographic material from British Columbia and around world. It is Canada's largest teaching museum and one of the most popular public museums. Aside from its extensive permanent displays of Northwest Coast and international materials, the Museum also features temporary exhibitions designed both in-house and for travel.

The Museum's extensive visible storage galleries provide public access to more than 14,000 objects from its collections for comparison and study, as well as for community-based research by artists, elders, students and others.

University and non-credit public and educational programs complement exhibits and research projects throughout the year, which furthers the Museum's mandate both to share and to gain information through public participation and exchange. Currently, the Museum is undergoing a $58 million expansion and renewal project, which will increase the size of the Museum by 50% and result in renovation of existing spaces by 75% by 2010.

Please note: in order to accommodate construction, the Museum will be CLOSED from September 1, 2008 until March 1, 2009. For more information on the project, visit our website.



AMS Art Gallery | SUB Main Level

604.822.2361 | sacart@ams.ubc.ca

The Alma Mater Society Art Gallery provides a unique opportunity for students and local artists wishing to exhibit and promote their work on the University of British Columbia campus. The UBC campus is home to a number of the most esteemed and nationally recognized gallery and museum institutions and the AMS Gallery has held the distinction of being included among these since 1982. The Gallery's own permanent collection is exhibited twice annually and wonderfully articulates the many changes and innovations in Canadian art during the last 60 years.

The AMS Art Gallery supports all exhibitions in the field of contemporary art. The gallery provides a venue for UBC's Fine Arts Program, as well as serves students, researchers and the public on local and national levels. The Gallery accepts numerous applications every year from UBC and non-UBC artists who wish to showcase their work. The Gallery is located on the first floor of the Student Union Building in the South West Corner.

The UBC Farm is a 24-hectare learning and research farm. It is a student-driven initiative where students, faculty, staff and the local community have been working together to create a place where anyone can come to learn, live and value the connection between land, food and the community. The ultimate goal of the farm is to retain and re-create existing farm and forest lands at UBC into an internationally significant centre for sustainable agriculture, forestry and food systems. Public visits are welcome. Throughout the growing season, several community festivals are held on the UBC Farm site. These festivals coincide with our summer Saturday Markets, which typically involve live music and fun activities for kids and families in community interaction.

Nitobe Memorial Garden

1895 Lower Mall | 604.822.6038

The Nitobe Memorial Garden is a traditional Japanese Tea and Stroll garden located at the University of British Columbia. Nitobe Garden is considered to be the one of the most authentic Japanese gardens in North America and among the top five Japanese gardens outside of Japan.

Come in spring for the cherry blossoms, summer for the irises or autumn for the maples. The subtleties of Nitobe Memorial Garden can be enjoyed throughout the year: a reflecting pond with Koi, streams and waterfalls, magnificent stone lanterns and the teahouse, each unique and meaningful in its own way.

UBC REC is proud to offer one of the most innovative university recreation programs in Canada. Based out of the Student Recreation Centre, students, staff and community members are all encouraged to get active and balance the stress of the classroom with fun activities in any of the following areas:

Intramural Leagues

Running all term long, the Intramural Leagues features nine different sports including basketball, ice hockey, dodge ball, flag football, soccer, volleyball, ultimate, futsal and ball hockey. Seasons start in September and January.

Instructional Classes & Outdoor REC

Whether you are looking to improve your health and performance, craving an outdoor adventure, or waiting for the ultimate mind-body connection, let UBC REC be your guide. Offering a comprehensive array of activities, from running, yoga, Bhangra Fusion to martial arts and outdoor adventure, UBC REC is your place to play. Classes start in September, January, May, July and August. Look for a whole new level of programming in September 2008!

Don't miss out on the opportunity to try a class for free during Shopping Week!

Fall Term Shopping Week: September 8 to 14, 2008

Winter Term Shopping Week: January 12 to 18, 2009

Events & Tournaments

Distinctive in nature, over 25 events and tournaments are highlighted by renowned UBC cornerstones such as Day of the Longboat (September 27th & 28th), UBC Triathlon Duathlon (March 8th) and UBC REC's signature event, Storm the Wall (March 29th to April 3rd).

Day of the Longboat (September 27 & 28, 2008)

This event is the largest Voyageur Canoe race in North America and celebrates the West Coast culture of British Columbia. Teams compete in a challenging 2 km course starting and finishing at the Jericho Sailing Centre.

UBC Triathlon Duathlon (March 8, 2009)

North America's largest indoor triathlon, the UBC Triathlon kicks off the 2009 race season. With three different distances including Olympic, Sprint and Short, as well as the Duathlon, Kid's Aquathlon & Sprint Distance Relay event, this race is perfect for everyone.

Storm the Wall (March 29 – April 3, 2009)

10,000 people can't be wrong! Join over 2,500 enthusiastic participants in the largest intramural event in Canada as they combine communication, strategy and teamwork to swim, bike, run and 'storm' the 12-foot wall! Unique to UBC, it's said that you can't graduate until you've Stormed the Wall!

Drop-in Sports

During most days, there are drop-in sports in the 3 gymnasiums: basketball, volleyball, badminton and futsal. UBC students with a valid ID play for free. For the SRC daily drop-in schedule and more information, visit our website.

Environmental and social groups identify FSC as the best thing we can do for our forests.

"FSC is one of the most valuable tools we have for improving forest practices and protecting Canada's natural forests [...]."
Anne Levesque, National Executive Director, CPAWS

"The Nature Conservancy believes that FSC is currently the most rigorous forest management standard currently operating in the global arena."
Frances Price, Director of Forest Certification, The Nature Conservancy

" FSC has contributed significantly to developing processes that require meaningful dialogue between Aboriginal communities and the forest industry." Lorraine Rekmans, Executive Director of the National Aboriginal Forestry Association.
