SOCCER MEN PUT OVER A 2-1 SCORE

Great Game Was Played Against Cedar Cottage Saturday; A Varsity Victory

Before a large crowd of fans Varsity defeated Cedar Cottage, 2-1, in an overtime game at Cambie Street grounds last Saturday. The Collegians fielded a team greatly weakened by the loss of Mosher and McLeod, and the extra time was played before the winner of the fracas was determined.

Mosher was on the sick-list and his place was filled by Buckley. In spite of the fact that the latter had little experience in playing in this position he turned in an extremely creditable performance, and stopped what looked to the spectators almost sure goals.

Varsity lost the toss and was forced to play with the sun in their eyes. In spite of this disadvantage, however they soon forced the going, and the elongated Cox had his work cut out to stop a fusillade of hot shots. The Cottagers' reply was weak and Buckley easily cleared when called upon to do so. In spite of the hard work of the Varsity and Cedar Cottage forwards the half ended without either side scoring.

Shortly after the change over W. Cox penetrated the Varsity defense. From such a short range a goal was inevitable and gave the College goalie no chance.

In response to the encouragement of half-a-hundred Blue and Gold rooters Varsity redoubled their efforts and it was not long before Jock Lundie beat Cox for the equalizer. The goal was an extremely pretty one and brought a tumult of applause from the Brockton Point, next Saturday afternoon, will be the scene of the Varsity McKechnie Cup team's second encounter with the Cowichan Rep. The first game between these two squads resulted in a win for the Blue and Gold by the score of 17—0. Coach McLachlan, although not making any over-confident predictions, looks to his cohorts for another win, and given any kind of a decent field believes Varsity can make the score more decisive. The Varsity team is in good condition and is ready for the battle. The final work-out of the team will be held on Thursday; the team will be without the services of "Gee" Ternan and Penwill, both of whom are laid up with minor injuries.

VITAL TOPICS CONSIDERED IN THE EAST

U. B. C. Delegates To Toronto Present Report to Mass Meeting

The first general meeting of the Student Body for 1923 was held Friday noon, in the auditorium, when Mr. Jack Grant, and Mr. Lloyd Wheeler, two of the delegates from U. B. C., presented full details of the Student Conference held in Toronto.

Mr. Wheeler stated that while in Toronto the delegates lived at the colleges, and were within easy distance of the Convocation Hall where the meetings were held.

A definite program had been drawn up previous to the conference, and a series of excellent addresses were given by such prominent men as Sir Robert Falconer, His Excellency, Lord Byng, Dr. Herbert Gray, Senator Balfour, Dr. H. F. Oliver and Dr. Roberts. Sir Robert Falconer in his opening remarks to the 500 delegates, spoke of the diversity of beliefs and ideals, of the necessity of a unity of purpose, of sympathy, of understanding, and of toleration in the University. Lord Byng expressed his opinion on the subject of character in relation to conduct. He laid stress on the importance of leadership, and the duty of the university to produce leaders for all branches of public life.

Other topics on which addresses were given—topics of vital importance to all Canadians—were "The Rural and Industrial Situations of Canada," "The New Canadian Question," "The

RELIGION IS DISTINCT FROM CHURCHES

Dr. Gray Speaks to Noon Meeting On the True Value of Religion in Life

Tuesday noon, Dr. Herbert Gray gave an inspiring address to the students of the U. B. C.

Until eighteen months ago Dr. Gray had a church in Glasgow. Since then he has been travelling in the interests of the S. C. M. in Great Britain and Ireland. Dr. Gray will remain in Canada for three months; in April he will go on to the States to continue his work for the Student Movement.

In his address, Dr. Gray stated that churches and ministers, and dogmatic theology were not religion. Religion is strictly a personal matter, it is the relation of the individual to God. There are many people who doubt the absolute need of religion, but stated Dr. Gray,—even if these people may possess everything their hearts desire, that is, everything in a material sense, nevertheless they will never find perfect satisfaction and happiness, without first having God in their lives. Religion is the source of high vitality and sustained energy, qualities which are so essential for life's great tasks.

VIRULENT ATTACK BY THE CANON

History Books Again Subject Of Address By Worthy Member of Legislature

Canon Hinchcliffe, M.L.A. for Victoria, who has on several occasions both in the House and outside of it, made the charge that history text books authorized for use in this University are tainted with an anti-British bias, has not yet ceased to make public his opinions in this regard. On Tuesday evening, at a meeting of the Child Welfare Association in the City Hall, he delivered an address on Educational problems in this Province and gave over a great part of his time to a virulent attack on the use of the text books in question.

The Canon, after tracing roughly the educational system of British Columbia and mentioning particularly some of its defects, laid down some maxims which he said should govern the handling of the whole educational problem. He disagreed in large measure with the idea that the prime purpose of an education was to teach one how to live, rather than how to make a living. On the other hand, for a boy or girl to learn how to make a living, how to do honest, productive work, was the essential thing. Proceeding, the Canon said that a further aim of education was to make young people good citizens of the British Empire, which stood for the highest type of ideals, justice and civilization that the world had ever known. Further eulogies of the Empire evok-

INJURIES TRUST FUND PASSED BY COUNCIL

In answer to the urgent need for a fund for injured players the University has now instituted one. The idea originated in 1921 and the proposal was submitted by the Students Council to the Senate. The Senate decided that it was 'up' to the Students' Council and it was that body that finally passed the regulations regarding the fund. The idea is a departure in the realms of sport in Vancouver, and should it prove a success at the University, it will doubtless to taken up by other organized athletic bodies in the city.

Injuries received while playing for the University and requiring medical attention, will be payed for from the fund, subject to the approval of the Alma Mater Society. According to the amendment recently passed, if there is more than $500.00 unallocated at the end of the session that money shall forthwith be returned to the Alma Mater Society. The fund is drawn from twenty per cent. of the net receipts of the activities under the control of the A. M. S.

The University is greatly to be congratulated on the inauguration of this idea, which will undoubtedly be a great success.

RUGBY

The Rugby Football Club, at their meeting on January 15, decided to enter a team in the Tisdale Cup series. It is sincerely to be hoped that they will be as successful as the McKechnie Cup squad has been up to the present. The Cup is well worth having, and Varsity is fielding a strong team.

The Club also went on record as being in favor of establishing a sinking fund for the erection of a gymnasium at Point Grey. The erection of such a building would satisfy a much needed want of the University, and the Rugby Club is to be congratulated upon the good work which it has started.

fans. The suburbanites tried hard to get in another goal and the whistle for time found them pressing hard, but unable to break the tie.

The first overtime period was but half gone when a scrimmage occurred in the Cottagers goal mouth, after a corner. Crute who had played remarkably well all afternoon put the game on ice for Varsity when he headed the ball past Cox for the Collegians second goal.

The final period was interesting, but on account of the dim light, little good football was served up. The suburbanites were fast tiring and an extra goal for the students would not have been suprising.

The work of A. Cox in goal for Cedar Cottage, was outstanding. For Varsity, Cameron played a sterling game, while the hard working Crute and the redoubtable Phillips also played extremely well. The students deserved their win on the afternoon's play, and by virtue of it enter the semi-finals of the Mainland Cup.

THE TEAMS—Varsity: Buckley, Baker, Crute, Say, Phillips, G. Cant, Emery, Jackson, Cameron, Lundie, Dean.

Cedar Cottage: A. Cox, Hales, Stiles, Marshall, Elliott, Badnoch, Morgan, Coles, W. Cox, Neilson, Andrews.

WOMEN'S INTER-CLASS SWIMMING MEET

Swimming enthusiasts and those who delight in keen sport will have an opportunity of seeing some close contests at the Women's Inter-class Swimming Meet next Wednesday afternoon, from 2 to 4 at Chalmer's Tank. The women of Arts '23, '24, '25, '26 and the nurses will contest for points for their respective years towards the Spencer Cup.

By present indications the honors should be fairly evenly divided between the Freshettes and the Seniors, whose relay teams especially are reported to be equally matched. The breast-stroke and back-stroke are the strongholds of the 2nd and 3rd year mermaids, although as in the sprints and plunges, the contest with the other years is sure to be keen. Competition for the diving, which will probably include fancy diving, should offer some surprises; the Freshettes and Seniors are, however, equally sanguine as regards the result.

A record attendance at this meet would show our appreciation of Mr. Steedman's article in last Sunday's Sun, extolling swimming as one of the most important of university sports.

MARSHAL'S RESIGNATION

The student body as a whole will regret to learn that Mr. Al Buchannan has resigned his position as Marshal. Mr. Buchannan held the position throughout last term, but owing to a heavy course he is forced to let the work drop. Rugby and the track meet will occupy the greater part of "Buck's" spare time. Nominations for a new Marshal will be received by the Students' Council until Friday noon.

ANNOUNCEMENT

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a rifle association is to be held in the Physics Lecture Room on Friday noon. All those interested in rifle shooting whether they have had any practical experience or not are urged to attend.

COUNCIL KEPT VERY BUSY

The Council has lately been doing very heavy work, the last two meetings being of over three hours' duration. Besides the ordinary topics of the meetings many minor details must be settled, such as the assignment of rooms, permission for dances, etc. The meeting last Monday night did not nearly dispose of the Council's business and a good deal had to be left over to the next meeting.

A general meeting of the student body was called for this Friday.

BATTLE WILL BE CLOSE

The Varsity team, as the league-standing shows, is leading the parade, being one game to the good over the Van. Rep. Varsity's remaining games are all home games and after the Cowichan game Varsity is scheduled to meet Nanaimo, Victoria, and finally to bring the season to a close with the game with Van. Rep. on Feb. 24. This game with the Van. Rep. will be the climax of the rugby season, and a win for Varsity, provided both Vancouver and Varsity have won all their games in the meantime, will give Varsity the cup. Should Varsity lose then a draw would result, and another game would be necessary to decide the leadership.

Hockeyists Defeated By Ex-King George

The Varsity Intermediate aggregation of puck artists were turned back last Friday by the Ex-King George team by the score of 4-2. Varsity at one stage in the game was leading 2-0, but could not hold their lead, being overcome by the dazzling comination rushes of their opponents in the last period. The first two periods were productive of fair hockey, with Varsity having perhaps an edge on the play, and getting the better of the breaks. Varsity combined well and went through the King George defense only to be beaten by Bryson—the Ex-King George goal tender. McCutcheon, who played a bang-up game for Varsity, scored after about five minutes of play in the first period.

Combination and Goal-Play

The second period was featured by good combination rushes on both sides, and by the sensational goal keeping of Stoodly in the Varsity nets. Stoodly played a steady game throughout and seemed for a time to have the number of the Ex-King George forwards. The beginning of the third period gave no indication of what was to come. Varsity started well and McCutcheon and McPherson combined for Varsitys' second tally. McCutcheon carried the puck up the left wing, drew out the King George defense and passed to McPherson who easily beat Bryson with a pretty shot. With two goals down, Ex-King George seemed to take on new life, and Russell Clark scored soon after from a melee in front of the Varsity net. A pretty combination rush netted them another, and from then on Varsity teamwork seemed to go to pieces. Varsity seemed unable to cope with the combination of the King George forwards, and they were able to bore right in upon Stoodly who had no earthly chance to save. After the goal rampage was over King George emerged victors by a 4-2 score.

Team line-up: Goal, Stoodly; defense, Newmarch, Lipsey; Forwards, McPherson, McCutcheon, Demidoff; substitutes, Rowen, McKinnon.

J. B. A. A. RETURN "INVASION"

Varsity, through the Athletic Executive, and with the sanction of the Alma Mater has offered the J. B. A. A. a chance to wipe out the defeat suffered at Varsity's hands, and incidentally to have an enjoyable trip to Vancouver.

The programme arranged for the Island Athletes follows the line of that adopted by the Collegians when they invaded the Capital. Up to the present no reply has been received from the Island but Doug. Rae, when interviewed yesterday, said he was positive that the James Bay people would accept the University's invitation.

Arrangements will be made, as soon as a reply is received, for two Rugby matches, including the scheduled McKechnie Cup game with Victoria, two basketball games, and rowing races for novices and seniors. The hoop games will be played with Victoria College or the J. B. A. A., while the Varsity ladies may try conclusions with the Victoria High School girls.

The Executive has suggested that the rowing events be conducted on Saturday morning, followed in the afternoon by the two Rugby games. The Basketball games would be played in the evening followed by a dance in the visitors' honor. Such a programme would be enjoyed by visitors and hosts alike and it is extremely probable that several strong teams of Victorians will invade Vancouver in the near future.

Good Series of Basketball Games Last Week

Varsity Basketball quintettes turned in a fine series of games during the past week, losing but one game in four starts. Varsity lost to Senior A game to the Native Sons 22-18, after a desperate struggle, but the ladies team and the two intermediate squads won their games handily.

A Victory for Native Sons

The Senior A game with the Native Sons was replete with fast and snappy combination play. The Varsity squad played a hard game throughout, and at one stage during the proceedings drew even with the Natives, but they could not hold their fast stepping opponents. The first half was featured by good combination play and the erratic and hard-luck shooting of the varsity forwards. Varsity simply could not get the breaks and the ball would roll everywhere but through the basket. The period ended with Varsity down 11-3. After the interval Varsity came back with a bang, and boosted their stock by scoring repeatedly, while holding their opponents to a few scattered points. However, Varsity was not able to keep up the good work, and a comeback by the Natives later on gave them enough points to win 22-18. McKenzie replaced Bassett in this frame and showed up well, working to good effect with Bickell on the forward line. Lewis and Carlisle on the defense turned in a good exhibition, while Bickell on the forward line was too closely watched to show his usual effectiveness. "Buck" Buchanan made a comeback with the Varsity team, and played a steady game at centre. Varsity lined up as follows:—Bassett, Bickell, McKenzie, Buchanan, Carlisle, Lewis.

The Senior Girls' Game

The game between the Varsity Senior Girls and the Bank of Commerce, played at the Normal gym last Saturday night proved a walkaway for Varsity, as did the two intermediate games with Normal and the Bank of Commerce. The Varsity girls were far superior in all departments of the game, and played a dazzling combination game which had their fair opponents continually baffled. The Varsity ladies team has been playing steady Basketball and except for the reverses suffered in Victoria have won all their games this year. The team—Helen Tatlow, Isobel Russell, Gladys Weld, Doris Lee, Isabel McKinnon.

An Intermediate Victory

The University Second Intermediate quintette brought defeat home to the Normalites to the tune of 50-15, in a one-sided exhibition in which the Normal squad were clearly outclassed, McKenzie led the scoring with 24 points to his credit. Varsity line-up—McKenzie, Gross, Harvey, Boomer, Grauer.

Bank of Commerce Defeated

The Intermediate Firsts had little difficulty in disposing of the Bank of Commerce Intermediates. When the final tally was counted, the score was 86-14. The Firsts tried hard to beat the scoring record made by their brother seconds against the same team, but failed in their attempt. The Arkleys starred for Varsity and netted enough points for Varsity to win two or three ordinary basketball games. The team—H. Arkley, S. Arkley, Henderson, McKay, Choate.

TOLERANCE

"The spirit of tolerance which prevailed," say the student delegates who have returned from Toronto, "was to us the outstanding feature of the whole Conference."

Tolerance is merely freedom from bigotry or too great severity in judging of the opinions or beliefs of others. Tolerance consists in trying to see the other person's point of view as well as one's own, in attempting to weigh carefully the evidence on all sides before passing judgment, in not forming an opinion on grounds of personal bias alone. Tolerant people will almost always see something of good in the arguments of others; they will almost invariably find some common ground upon which to settle any difference that may arise between them; they will at least understand one another's viewpoint and be able to live together peacefully, even although they cannot agree on all subjects. Tolerant men and women will not rail at Socialists as traitors to society; they will not accuse all people of means of being heartless expropriators of the labouring masses; they will not call the unemployed shiftless and lazy, the Bolshevists murderers and thieves, the Germans everything that is bad, or all politicians crooks and rascals; nor will they apply to the University such terms of opprobrium as "hotbed of Socialism" or "capitalistic institution." Something of the spirit of tolerance does much to make the most vexed problem seem simple of solution.

It is good to learn that a representative group of young men and women from the Universities of Canada should have been guided in their deliberations and discussions by such a broad principle. When they come to hold positions of leadership and of responsibility, as they will in years to come, it will be well for the nation if they have retained the spirit of tolerance with which they have been imbued during their early years, as one of their fundamental guides to action.

THE IMPERIOUS "THEY"

To what extent should the individual consider public opinion? It is an interesting question. Not only that; its answer is of practical importance. In the first place our minds must be relieved of a huge misconception—that public opinion is always right. Valuable and desirable things have been allowed to slip through our paralyzed fingers because of the threatening shadow of "what people will say." Public opinion though amazingly loud in its pronouncements, is notoriously weak in its premises; when the individual does not agree with it, what could be more harmful to his self-respect than that he should waive his convictions, or having none, should fall into line, hypnotized by that dangerous fallacy, that public opinion must be obeyed?

The wording of this question, as it has been brought up by the recent meeting of the W. U. S. is: How far should a university body be influenced by the ideas of the world outside its walls? In reference to the decision of that meeting it appears that the actual merits of the case must count for more than the hypothetical ruling which covers it; and the W. U. S. in deciding in favor of public opinion took the step which will be applauded by public opinion—and this being the end in view, its action is justified.

We might only suggest that perhaps a different end in view would have been more dignified.

CANON HINCHCLIFFE ON THE WARPATH

Canon Hinchcliffe's remarks to the Child Welfare League regarding History text-books do not give any indication that the gentleman has made any effort to ascertain the true facts of the case since he first aired the subject in the Legislature some two months ago. In his address on Tuesday evening he gave an absolutely distorted and incorrect view of the question to a group of worthy and patriotic citizens, who would naturally attach some importance to the opinions of one who is not only a member of the Legislature but also a dignitary of the Church. Were it not for the mischief that such a man might cause and no doubt has caused his inane and childish utterances would not be worthy of notice.

It is futile of course and unnecessary for the Ubyssey to answer his ridiculous charges in its editorial column. For the students of this University are well aware that they are not being "Americanized," as the worthy Canon would have people believe, by the history that they are taught here. The students have absolute confidence in the desire for historical truth and accuracy being the prime motive that guides the professors of the History department in their choice of text-books. They well understand that no book has been chosen, or would be chosen, which bears evidence of American bias or Anti-British sentiment.

Canon Hinchcliffe has had adequate opportunity of informing himself accurately on the matter, yet by failing to come for his information to the only men who are able to give it to him, he has not availed himself of the opportunity. He has not met these men openly and given them a chance to refute his statements. He has even failed to reply to the latest invitation, now six weeks old, to address the students on the matter. We must conclude that he does not wish to learn the facts of the case; that he is unwilling to hear the other side presented, and that he even fears to appear before a student audience. On the other hand he seems to prefer to present his mischievous and pernicious argument to credulous people who have no means of hearing all sides of the case. If the Canon were to fortify himself more with facts before he speaks we believe that he would be of more service as a member of the Provincial Legislature.

We are sure that we express the feeling of the students when we say that they are indignant at the aspersions which have been cast upon the Department of History by Canon Hinchcliffe and that they are quite confident that all his charges will prove groundless if they are properly investigated.

By the Way

We know the Freshmen are meek after the Christmas exams, but we wonder how long they are going to stand being called "Boys."

Several of the women have unexpectedly found that a short-cut to notoriety is to ally yourself with a lost cause.

The Institute lecture this evening should attract those of us whose interest in universities is not entirely provincial. The subject is "Cambridge."

It is our unpleasant duty to inform the credulous that Dr. Coue's well-known formula loses its magic when translated, so for practical purposes we supply the following:

"De jour en jour, de toute maniere, je vais de mieux en mieux."

THEN AND NOW

We had an idle hour to spare,
And fluently we gossipped there
About Suzanne Marie,
Tore her to pieces! I admit
I didn't curb myself a bit,
But when it comes to doing it,
And coining cutting words that fit,
There's no one worse than she.

By "she" I mean Belinda Jane,
Who spoke of her with high disdain
And savage mirth unkind;
But now, from all the news I hear,
She often says, "Suzanne, my dear";
It's not that she is insincere,
But much may happen in a year,
And she has changed her mind.

Mens' Lit. Hear Keen Argument

At the meeting of the Men's Literary Society last night a larger attendance than usual was recorded. The debate set for the evening "Resolved that the Lloyd George Government's attitude in connection with the Bosphorus and Dardanelles was justifiable" was keenly contested. Burton, Miller and Goodwin ably upheld the negative while the team from the Y. M. C. A. met the U. B. C's arguments every inch of the way. Owing to the lateness of the judges' decision the result of the debate has been posted in the main hall.

In a short impromptu address the president of the society, "Chink" McKay, outlined the programme for the year and explained many new points in the Society's policy. An address of appreciation was then given by Mr. Baines of the Y. M. C. A.

Re-Union of Old U. B. C. Students

One of the pleasant features of the recent Student Conference was a dinner held by former U. B. C. Students in the Faculty Union dining room, Hart House. More or less homesick students were reminded of home and unanimously agreed that U. B. C. was still the college of their hearts.

Correspondence

This column is maintained for the use of students and others who wish to express themselves on any topic of general interest. The Ubyssey does not assume responsibility for any of the views expressed.

All contributions must be written legibly, in ink, on one side of the paper only. They must not exceed two hundred words in length, and must reach this office not later than noon Monday, in order to appear in the issue of the following Thursday.

"WHERE THERE IS SMOKE"

EDITOR "UBYSSEY".

Dear Sir:—

I wish to call the attention of your readers to the grave and irreligious attitude of a certain group of students, as indicated by their formation of a Devil-Woshipping Society. Although we understand that their action was merely prompted by that puerile agnosticism which believes that spiritual emancipation consists of ridiculing all that is most sacred we nevertheless consider their levity most inappropriate, indecorous, and irreverent.

It is not to be wondered at, if some of the clergymen who signed our petition should wish to cancel their signatures after learning that students of the University actually abandon themselves to at least nominal adoration of the Evil Principle. We do not feel, Dear Editor, that we are overstatng the case. Where there is smoke, there is generally fire. Rumour describes the meetings of this Devil-Worshippers' Society as demoralizing mental orgies. Certainly the atmosphere of mystery with which the whole affair is surrounded lends to it a most sinister aspect

After the self-sacrifice exhibited by the W. U. S. in forbidding the women smoking—purely as a concession to public opinion—surely the good name of this our University demands that we leave no stone unturned to drive back this ominous shadow.

We should "avoid even the appearance of evil."

Yours very truly,

H. McL. A.

TOPICS DISCUSSED IN EAST

French Canadian-Anglo-Saxon Question" and "Studies and Religion."

Mr. Jack Grant spoke next on the impressions received while at the conference.

Tolerance, fairness, frankness, and a desire to get at the heart of things form the keynote of the whole conference. The addresses, educational, and interesting, encouraged free and sincere discussion—in fact, the greatest appreciation was shown in the assembly for clear, unbiased expressions of opinion.

Mr. Grant stated that the unanimity of views was the occasion of great surprise to him. One and all seemed to feel that in order to solve the problems of to-day a new spirit must be developed. All saw the necessity of banishing prejudice, that is, of understanding and sympathizing with both sides. Thus the idea of a tolerant spirit had full scope, and a spirit of goodwill and fraternity was manifest towards all,—in other words—"Unity in Diversity."

Mr. Grant was very enthusiastic about the S. C. M. in the East. As evidence of its value we have only to realize that it was responsible for calling a conference where students from all parts of the world met, and agreed to co-operate in bettering the existing conditions of humanity.

Miss Bollert stated that of all the universities sending delegations, none was more faithfully or satisfactorily represented than U. B. C., the youngest university.

Italy Subject of Illustrated Lecture at Women'ss Lit.

With the aid of lantern slides Mrs. A. F. B. Clark gave a most interesting talk last week on her recent tour of Italy.

After the long sea-voyage the travellers were delighted with the luxuriant gardens and quaintness of the rocky Azores. From here they went on to Lisbon, a city of hills, picturesque streets and colourful houses.

In the Straits of Gibraltar the peculiar appearance of the dark Atlantic lying above the blue, saltier Mediterranean was striking.

Palermo was made the headquarters of the party, and for several days most interesting trips were made through the city itself and the outlying districts. The city, hill encircled, stretches down to the Mediterranean in a luxuriantly vegetated crescent. From the top of one of these shrub-covered hills, there is a most wonderful view, the city, sea, and cloudless sky.

The churches in Sicily are noted for the wondrous beauty of their mosaics, but in them, unlike the northern Gothic cathedrals one feels no breathless awe. Familiar to all is the view of the most beautiful city in the world, stretching along the curve of the Bay of Naples, overshadowed by the smoking Vesuvius. Like Palermo the wide stretching bay is encircled by hills, but so close to the shore that the picturesque city runs up them with flight of stairs and narrow twisted streets.

An equally wonderful view was obtained from the Monastery of Carmaldi As women are not allowed within the holy precints, Mrs. Clark had to be content with the view from a rocky ledge outside the walls.

The road to Sorrento, a marvel of road making, is carved out of the red-brown cliff and made a striking picture contrasted with the deep blue of the Mediterranean.

Time forced Mrs. Clark to end her lecture here though Florence and Rome were just around the corner. The meeting was extremely enthusiastic and only wished that the talk could be continued.

CANON HINCHCLIFFE

ed applause and marked sentiments of approval from the audience.

From this the speaker went on to make specific references to the American Textbook, Hazen's Modern European History, which was formerly prescribed for use in History I classes, stating that it minimized the part played by Britain and by Canada in the Great War and that it over-emphasized the part played by the United States. He quoted, from memory, various extracts to prove his point and stated that, although the book might be all right for American schools, it was not the kind of history that was wanted in Canada. "We want our boys and girls to know that Britain went to war in 1914," said the Canon, "to uphold her sacred pledge to maintain Belgian neutrality; yet in this book there is no reference to Mr. Asquith's statement made in August, 1914, as to the reason we entered the war, while a considerable amount of space is devoted to President Wilson's utterances on the Fourteen Points and kindred matters."

At the close of Canon Hinchcliffe's address the chairman stated that members of the audience might ask the speaker questions and a group of University supporters, including several students, requested permission to be heard. One gentleman asked the Canon whether he had endeavoured to obtain accurate information on the subject from any of the few men who might be expected to have such information at hand. To this the Canon returned an evasive answer, saying that he had asked the Minister of Education for information and had been met with a reply which failed to satisfy him that his accusation were unjust. Several students endeavoured to ask further questions, but were ruled out of order and the chairman, who evidently did not wish to have further discussion, suggested that a vote of thanks to the speaker be passed. In presenting the vote of thanks the chairman apologized to Canon Hinchcliffe for the disturbance which had been caused by visitors.

To a delegation of students who met him after the meeting the Canon expressed his willingness to speak at the University on the subject of History text books. He mentioned the two invitations to speak which he had already received from the Literary and Scientific Department and said that he had not replied to the second one, written on December 4 last, because he considered no reply necessary. He promised definitely to speak here at an early date, however, and when Friday, January 26, was suggested said that he would come at that time if it was at all possible.

The Canon, who is a burly, jovial appearing man, jokingly asked what kind of a reception he would get at the University and, when saying goodnight remarked, "I am opposed to everything American, you know."

W. U. S. Holds Largest Meeting Of Year

"Resolved—that the Women's Undergraduate Society go on record as being entirely opposed to any smoking by women students on the University premises." This was the motion brought up by Miss Wilma Morden at last week's general meeting of the Women's Undergrad.

There followed a live and interesting discussion centering about the two opposing views—(1) that such a motion was an unwarranted attack on personal liberty; and (2) that considering the fact that women smoking on the premises was harmful to the University (on account of the prejudices of the community), the welfare of the University should be considered before that of the individual.

Several women students prominent in college activities gave their views, the majority in defence of smoking, and Miss Anderson called the Vice-President to the chair while she gave her opinion. The resolution was passed.

This does not mean that any ruling has been made prohibiting smoking; this is beyond the powers of the W. U. S. It shows, however, that the women of the University, as a whole, disapprove of the practice, in view of public opinion.

What Are You Going To Do When You Graduate?

The executive of the Women's Undergraduate Society is holding for the first time in this University a course of lectures that has proved an annual success in other colleges. The object of the course is to group together eight or nine short talks of an eminently practical nature on some of the professions open to women with university training. These talks—none of them over thirty minutes in length—are intended to outline the special training necessary for each profession, its approximate cost, the demand for women workers in the field, the remuneration to be expected and the possibilities of advancement.

The W. U. S. executive has been fortunate in securing excellent speakers—among them Miss H. G. Stewart of the Victoria Public Library—and it now remains with the women of the University to show that their efforts have been in the right direction, and that the Vocational Conference deserves to become an annual event in U. B. C.

The Conference will take place on the afternoons of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 30, 31 and February 1, from 4 to 5:30 in the auditorium. The programme:

GENERAL TOPIC: "VOCATIONS FOR WOMEN"

January 30th—

1. Social Welfare Work in Industry, Miss M. L. Bollert.
2. Work in Bacteriology and Laboratory Research, Miss Marion Mounce.

January 31st—

1. Nursing, Miss E. I. Johns.
2. Y. W. C. A. Work, Miss Helen White.

February 1st—

1. Journalism, Dr. S. D. Scott.
2. Library Work, Miss H. G. Stewart, Victoria.
3. Teaching, Miss Jamieson.

The Glamour of Glass

[Complete with a Moral]

They glinted in the rays of the electric globe as she threw back her head, and my eyes, weary of straining over the blinding print of a thick French novel, instinctively fastened upon them. And then, suddenly, everything changed before my sight.

I found myself in a strange, old-fashioned boat on a great, slow-moving, blue tropical river. In the waist of the craft, ten powerful negroes with barbaric silver ornaments on their muscular wrists swayed rhythmically over their heavy, noiseless oars. As they rowed they chanted a weird, savage boat-song; words and music were alike strange to me, but the plaintive minor cadences were not unpleasing. And as each bent forward in the light of the blazing sun, ear-ring and collar and bracelet launched a little shaft of dazzling radiance towards me.

I turned and faced the canopied stern of the barge. I gazed into the shadowy depths beneath the embroidered awning, and at first I could see nothing. Then the violet dusk cleared away as my eyes became accustomed to the shadows, and I saw Her. Oh, there were others—slaves, I suppose: I had a vague idea of a moving fan of peacock feathers, and I heard a soft voice which could only be that of a teller of stories. But who could have given either of these things more than a passing thought? Great black eyes that yet seemed to shine in the gloom—gleam of the royal asp-circlet on her forehead—a daughter of the Pharaohs, evidently. She leaned forward, about to speak. . . . .

Perhaps I might have understood her, even if she had spoken Egyptian, but another voice rang in my ear:—

"How many pages have we got to do for to-morrow?"

MORAL: If you are at all imaginative, don't sit opposite that Freshette with glass ear-rings.

S. C. M.

There will be a meeting of the Women's section of the S. C. M. on Monday noon, January 22, in Room 23. This meeting is called for the purpose of hearing the report of the 1st National Students' Conference held at Toronto in the Christmas holidays, given by Miss Mary Bulmer.

All Women of the University who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

UNIVERSITY UNEMPLOYMENT DAY

On account of the great amount of unemployment and its attendant misery a day has been set aside upon which the Students will endeavor to help the unfortunates. President Ab. Richards when interviewed said that all arrangements had not been made, but remarked that Jock Lundie was expected to take charge of arrangements. Students are requested to bring any old articles of clothing and leave them in the Science Common Room. The articles of clothing thus collected will be turned over to the City Relief Officer for distribution and it is expected that in this manner the distress of a great number will be alleviated.

ENGINEERING DISCUSSION CLUB

At the meeting of the Engineering Discussion Club on Tuesday noon J. Jenkins, Science '23 spoke on the operation of the sawmill of the Vancouver Lumber Co., tracing the process from the log to the finished product.

Next Tuesday, Jack Underhill, Science '24 is speaking on "Coast Triangulation."

The Literary Corner

THE DARK HOUR

Do not forget me; think of me
When light has filled the morning sky,
And, ah! remember then that I
For one more day shall think of thee.

Do not forget me; think of me
When day's forgetful toil is done,
And mindful twilight has begun
To bring old memories to thee.

Do not forget me; think of me,
Through troubled hours of sleepless night,
And pray that one revealing light
May pierce the gloom for me and thee.

Do not forget me; think of me,
Not as I am, faint-hearted, vain,
But rather see, through doubt and pain,
The higher self I strove to be.

G. B. K.

As the Ubyssey looks forward to publishing a literary page at an early date, the Literary Editor will be glad to receive verse or prose contributions. So far there has been very little enthusiasm shown for the work of this department, but we feel sure that this lack of interest will fade before our repeated warm invitation to "send in something."

Contributions left in the letter rack addressed to Miss Lucy Ingram will be treated confidentially.

The Philosophy of a College Student

Interview with the Chief Devil Deputy of the Devil Worshippers

In view of a reference to be found in the correspondence column of this week's "Ubyssey," it was thought advisable to send a reporter to obtain an authentic expression of the views of the Devil-Worshippers.

1. The Absence of all absolute standards.
2. Truth is that which works.
3. Such a principle makes all Ethics infinitely adaptable.
4. Morality is that which has worked
5. Religion is an individual matter like the brand of cigarette one smokes.
6. One can't get along at all without some form of religion—but it cannot be pigeon-holed.
7. My religion is rather vague, it consists of a belief in ultimate irreducibles.
8. Good and Evil are irreducible.
9. I am opposed to the mysticism which makes all things one.

Freshman Class-Party A Colorful Affair

One of the most enjoyable class parties held in the Auditorium was given by Arts '26 last Friday evening.

The decorations were novel and artistic. From the lights hung fringed shades of blue and gold; while the walls were relieved of their accustomed bareness by gay festoons of the same colours. On the platform tall pillars supported coloured lanterns, and were decked with streamers. Here Buchanan's versatile orchestra furnished irresistable "jazz." In another corner of the Auditorium large wicker chairs, cushions and rugs made a cosy spot for the patrons and patronesses, Miss Bollert, Mr. and Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Sedgewick and Dr. Sedgewick. A multicoloured glow from an ever-changing spot light cast a fairy-like glamour over the gay dancers with their caps and whistles.

In order to accommodate the large number present, supper was served in the Cafeteria during three dances.

One of the most unique features of the evening was the entertainment presented by the "Varsity Five," boys from the University of Montana, who recently made their appearance at the Capitol Theatre.

The success of the evening was due greatly to the work of the executive and especially to those "former members of '26" who worked so energetically. The committee in charge consisted of R. Thurston, A. King, J. Faulkner, F. Edgett, E. Nicholson, W. Patrick, E. Darts, W. Sparks, F. Fournier, and R. Palmer.

AS YOU WERE

It is a popular belief in college circles that when a certain professor arrives at the pearly portals, he will point at the nearest cherubim and say with quiet dignity. "Kindly tell Jane, I am here."

The monthly publication of the Library Index has been delayed, but we hope that all have taken due notice of the fact that Freud has gone the way of all flesh.

It grieves us deeply to be under the obligation of substantiating the rumor now current that our Dean of Women cannot enter the American Army as a private. She has failed in the requisite mental tests.

Dear Editor: Will you kindly tell us the meaning of life?

All questions on this subject must be accompanied by a photograph, age and have you read "E. M. Hull."

That's all there is. There isn't any more.

COMING—HIGH JINKS

The Women's Undergrad. executive announces that the date for "High Jinks" will be Friday, February 2; 8 to 11 p.m. There will be dancing, games for those who do not dance, entertainment in the form of skits put on the each year; and prizes not only for the best costumes but for the most successful skit. All the women of the University are invited—the passport being a "costume" of some kind.

THE NEW TERM

Act I. Scene One.

With puckered brow and visage grave,
His fingers in his Marcel wave
Entwined with a determined grip
Feet planted firm and drawn lip.
"Hot damned dog," the youth exclaimed
"Three courses here I am not named,
One, only one, I second-classed
The other two, just barely passed."
His eyes turned crosswise in his head,
They focussed on a spot of red—
"This cursed thing I must deplore."
He ripped the sheet and then he swore—
"So help me Henry, I here resolve
Into my studies to dissolve.
I mean to plug, and cram, and grind
Let nothing else divert my mind;
I won't shoot craps, I won't play pool;
STUDY shall be my golden rule;
I'll never go to a picture show,
To the rugby games I will not go
I will not flirt in the corridor,
So help me Henry—NEVERMORE."
Just as he finished—the telephone:
"Hello—speaking—yes I'm at home—
O! hello Mable. What? Having a dance.
Am I invited by any chance,
Because I can't—At Lester Court—
But I can't—I'll be a sport—
Oh! She's rung off—Well it's only one
But after that I guess I'm done.

UNIVERSITY CONSTRUCTION

It is with a certain amount of satisfaction and pride that the student body can point to the progress which is being made at the University site at Point Grey. The student effort of last fall is now being rewarded and although the government's plans do not include an ambitious building program, at least a modest home is assured the University at its permanent site.

In all probability the present "skeleton" will be finished, and a permanent building to house the Library will be erected. Other buildings will be of a temporary nature, constructed on permanent foundations, these to be replaced with the original imposing structures at some future date.

ROWING CLUB NOTES

The executive of the Rowing Club wish to call to the attention of the University the fact that the J. B. A. A. crew has been invited over here to row against Varsity, and such races, if they come, will take place about March 3rd.

It is the confident opinion of the U. B. C. Rowing Club that it is the Alma Mater's wish to see this sport permanently established here. The Vancouver Rowing Club is keenly interested and has extended most generously to college men the privileges of using V. R. C. equipment and hot showers for a special fee, although this is an unconstitutional proceeding with them.

In a few days Varsity may hope to see the U. B. C. eight rowed here for the first time.

The executive are anxious that those men who entertain the idea of rowing next session should receive their baptism now.

SCIENCE

Science '24 has ordered all athletes to start training. The captains chosen for the teams of the class are, Jack Underhill, rugby; Scotty Rushbury, soccer; Baldy McCutcheon, swimming; Len Stacey, track; Bill Smitheringale, rowing; W. J. Heaslip, boxing. The '24 class party will be held on February 1.

Science '26 is mourning the loss of several of its members. This is another case of "Putting the heart before the course."

Science 24 is recovering from the loss of "Tiny." Never mind they still have "Pee Wee" Evans.

ARTS

Arts '23 will hold its second class party soon. The dance will be a masquerade and the draw system will be used.

Arts '25 chose H. O. Arkley as the new class marshall. He will replace J. W. B. Shore who had to resign. Harold Henderson was elected to the position of Men's Athletic Representative to succeed Jack Ledingham who is very ill. Pete Palmer will captain the class rugby team.

The election of officers for Arts '26 to replace the "grads" took place while the "Ubyssey" was at press.

Arts '23 will be the guests of Dean and Mrs. Coleman at a reception and dance to be held in the auditorium. The date will be announced later.

Arts '24 has not yet appeared in gowns.

Arts '26 sent the left-over refreshments of their class party to the Social Service for distribution among the needy.

SCIENCE DANCE

The date for the Science Dance has been changed to Tuesday, February 13th.

This change has been made to accommodate the Rugby team, as the date for the Varsity vs. Vancouver Rep. game was switched and would otherwise be on the day following the dance.

"TAKEN LITORALLY"

I went for a swim as the tide came up,
And the breakers shoreward rolled,
But my clothes were seized by a roving pup,
And now I am cold, cold, cold.

I think I shall get a gun, and shoot
That canine marauder bold,
For it stole my clothes, and my bathing suit
Is deplorably cold, cold, cold.

OUTDOORS CLUB

Several hikes were planned by the Outdoors Club for the holidays but owing to continued bad weather the greater number of these had to be postponed. A general hike had been planned for the Wednesday following Christmas but as it rained hard that morning only eight members turned out.

The cabin was reached about 1 p.m. and the climbers wet, cold, and hungry wasted no time in lighting a fire and improvising a rough but hearty meal.

The descending trip was no drier than the ascending and by the time the trampers reached the ferry they were in a rather moist condition. But it takes something more than moisture to dampen the spirits of the Outdoors Club and its members are already planning a series of hikes for the first fine weather.

A New Year's gift of $14,000 for McGill University is the project that is under way by the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. This is not to be a cash donation to the University itself, but a subscription of that amount for the permanent endowment of a three years' graduate Fellowship in Economics, Trade and Commerce.. It is not to be a direct endowment from the Montreal Branch of the C.M.A., but an endowment raised by direct subscriptions of its members.

This Fellowship is being established at the instigation of Professor Stephen Leacock.

From McGill Daily we also notice that "Pinky" Morrison is playing centre on the McGill Hockey Squad. This team has played several games with big Universities in the Eastern States and has been very successful.

WOOD'S CROSSING NEWS

About the Cow-Hop

The annual Aggie barn dance will be held in Hank Lester's barn on Davie Lane, a little ways past the path that runs in front of old man Burrard's place. This will take place on Friday, the night after the sewing bee at Mrs. Billing's place.

So that the presence of Arts and Science men might have no bad effect on the stock, Hank will have to move his cattle to neighbor Tompkin's barn. In order to pay Hank for this little trouble there will be a slight admission fee to the dance.

Zeke Lee has promised to provide the music for the evening. Zeke has gathered up all the best musicians from the neighborhood and promises to have all the latest contraptions and whirly gigs used in all the big city orchestras.

During the evening there will be a bun feed in the root-cellar.

Jonathan Woods is in charge of arrangements and according to Jonathan a good time will be had by all.

P.S.—As Hank is fixing his barn floor especially for the occasion, Jonathan, Hank and Zeke all request that nobody wear hob-nail shoes.
