INTERNATIONAL EGG LAYING COMPETITION

Arrangements are being made to hold an egg laying contest commencing November 1st, 1911, and continuing for one year.

The contest is being financed by the North American of Philadelphia. Steps are being taken to enlist the services of some of the best equipped and most capable men in the whole field of poultry husbandry to serve asan advisory board and acting in this capacity, formulate the rules and regulaions under which the competition is to be conducted and have constant oversight of the details of management. The advisory board consists of nine members, including men who have at heart the best interests of the fancier and the utility poultryman. As now constituted the membership is as follows;

Prof. F. H. Stoneburn, Storrs Agricultural College, Storrs Conn

Prof. Thomas F. McGraw, International Correspondence Schools

Prof. Homer Jackson, State College, Pa.

Dr. A. A. Brigham, South Dakota School of Agriculture, Brookings, S. D.

Dr. Prince T. Woods, Managing Editor, American Poultry Journal Chicago Ill.

Prof. F. C. Elford, Macdonald College, Canada.

George A. McDevitt, The North American, Philadelphia, Pa.

It is hoped that many Canadian pens will be entered. There are a goodly number of breeders in Canada who have hens that know how to lay that ought to be represented in this contest. The climate in Connecticut is ideal, the thermometer seldom goes much below zero, little snow and plenty of sunshine,so that a good Canadian layer should do just as well or better in the competition surroundings. The houses are being constructed for the purpose and therefor will be all new. There are to be 50 houses 12 x 12 feet, 6 foot walls and partially open front with plenty of windows. Each house will be divided into two allowing two pens of five birds each This will give fourteen square feet to a bird. The rations will be whole grain and dry meal.

Liberal cash prizes will be given also cups and trophies of various kinds.

Rules and Regulations

1. The first egg-laying competition has been inaugurated and will be conducted under the auspices of the North American, a newspaper published in the City of Philadelphia and shall be known as the Phildelphia North American egg-laying competition

2. This competition is to be held on the grounds of the Storrs Experimental Station, Storrs, Conn

3. The time of beginning of the petition shall be November 1st, 1911, and extend over a period of one year from that date. Entries will be limited to 100 pens.

4. Each entry to consist of six pure-bred females. either hens or pullets; no males to be included. Five layers shall constitute a competing pen the extra female being held in reserve as a substitute in case of death or incurable malady

5. All fowls must be shipped express prepaid.

6. Fowls, will be received at any time from October 2 to October 25 It is advised that shipment be made as early as possible after October 1st in order that fowls may become acclimated previous to the date of opening.

7. The right is reserved to return fowls if they are deemed unsuitable for the purpose of competition and every specimen sent must be full-sized, healthy and vigorous. The right, of course is

A Pretty Home Wedding

A pretty home wedding was celebrated at Burnside, Aldergrove, on Friday, July 28th, at 1.30 p. m. when Elsie Telfer, third daughter of the late Mr A. F. Goldsmith and Mrs Goldsmith, was united in marriage to Mr James Owen of Mt. Lehman

The wedding which was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. George of Langley took place in the drawing room which was beautifully decorated for the occasion and was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of thecontracting parties The bride looking charming in her travelling suit of navy blue chiffon broadcloth, and carrying a shower bouquet of white sweet peas, and maiden hair, entered the room on the arm of her brother, Mr A. K. Goldsmith. She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna, who wore a graceful gown of white silk crepe, while the groom was ably supported by Mr. Arthur Gladhill After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the lawn where an informal reception was held.

The young couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents which testified to the high esteem in which they are held by their numerous friends The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch and chain, and gold cuff links; to the bridesmaid a gold watch fop.

Hotel Changes Hands

Mr Harry Freeman has disposed of his interests in the Abbotsford Hotel to Messrs J. R. Peckham and T L. Hutton of Vancouver who took possession the first of the month When these gentlemen decided to go into the hotel business they visited many parts of the province to secure a proposition that had a future to it but on arriving in our little town they decided that they could not do better than invest in Abbotsford and "Watch Abbotsford Grow." A conversation with either of the new proprietors will convince you what they think of their newly adopted home.

Messrs Peckham and Hutton intend to keep up thereputation of tend to keep up the reputation of the Abbotsford as a comfortable home for the travelling public when they stop over in this town

Mr Freeman who has spent a number of years in the hotel business in the Fraser Valley intends to retire from the business and devote his time to some other business. It is hoped that he will decide to locate in Abbotsford for good and build that palatial residence he has been planning for years.

A $100 TROPHY CUP

Mr Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, for Alberta, has notified the managers of the International Dry Farming Congress, which meets in Colorado Springs October 16 that the province of Alberta will give a $100 trophy cup as one of the premiums at the dry farmed Exposition.

The cup will be awarded for the best exhibit of forage crops and grasses made by any county or district, and is open to the world's competition It will be a handsome affair of sterling silver Canada took the grand sweepstake prize at the Dry Farming Congress exposition last year

Agricultural practices known as "dry-farming" are beginning to be universally used in this part of Canada, where thef armers are plowing deep and summer fallowing.

A New Business

Mr Less Murray of our town has opened up a photo gallery and is prepared to do satisfactory work A glance at his photos, taken of some of our citizens, should convince the most fastidious that for artistic work and up-to-date finish, the home brew is simply all right as a picture maker.

Mr. Murray, although just opening up now as one of ourselves has been making photos for the past ten years and should certainly know now it should be done Besides patronising one of our citizens you spend your money at home and it will go towards helping to build up Abbotsford

A representative of this paper visited Mr Murray's gallery yesterday and found him busily engaged finishing up some pictures and asked how business was he said he had no time to talk but would be pleased to have a call some other day when business was not so strenuous, and talk for an houn if necessary.

A glance was taken around the gallery and it was deemed wise that the readers of this paper should know that Mr Murray was well patronised.

THE MARKET.

New Westminster Sept 28th—In all sections of the market the offerings were much below the mark, and the result was that would be buyers had to leave without connecting with the small shipments which sold immediately bidding started.

New potatoes experienced a drop in themajority of instances, as much as fifty cents less being accepted for the tubers which were not of the same even qulality as last week

Fruit, with the exception of raspberries was conspicuous by its absence. The berries sold at $2.75 and were rapidly bought up at that high figure. Flowers of all varieties added a brilliant touch of color to the otherwise sombre building and good average prices were received. In the poultry section the offerings were much below the usual grade, the demand as a result being weaker.

Where are all the cigarette stubs thrown? It is a well known fact that cigarette smokers are a very careless bunch ofpeople It is only yesterday that while the editor of thispaper was standing talking to a citizen of Abbotsford that he espied a small smoke coming from a dry log not ten yards from our main street and close beside a building He went to where the smoke was emerging and he found a cigarette stub still burning In a short time it is just possible that many citizens of the town would have been called out to witness a small fire threatening the town with destruction Fires do not go out until they have stopped burning and there is a good chance of a lighted cigarette doing some damage when it is thrown on material that is very dry We quote this incident to call attention to the careless practice and as a warning against leaving a cigarette burning any place whatever after being disposed of The danger is great but with a little care can be avoided.

There is a grandopportunity in this riding at the present time for someone with political ambitions and the necessary qualifications. We don't like to say it out loud but it is nevertheless a cold fact that when the time came the Liberal aspirant for this district got "cold feet" and backed down—his business having increased so enormously since he received the Liberal nomination about a month ago at New Westminster, that now it would be an injustice tohis clients to leave them for the sake of political fame at Ottawa Moral; If your business is on the hike get the political nomination if there is talk of anelection By the time the parliament dissolves you may be able to retire It is always well to knowwhere We-ar-(a)t ——o——

There is sure some class to McKenzie King, Minister of Labor! This statement is not made of him as an admirer of his political creed but as a Minister of Labor in regard to the Fernie strike. There has been a prolonged strike in the south eastern part of the province. It has been clearly shown that the matter cannot be arbitrated this time. A perusal of the daily and weekly papers show that Socialism has become so imbued in the minds of the miners of Fernie and district that they are going to hold up the workings of the mines until they get their demands knowing full well that the winter is drawing near and that the prairie provinces must have coal or practically freeze to death The want of coal makes the working man suffer more than the capitalist. About the same principles were to be carried out in Vancouver but failed. But the coal strike is to be settled, and settled very soon unless we are very much mistaken. This is how it is to be done McKenzie King has suggested and an order in council has been passed that after August 7th bituminous coal will be admitted free into British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba until such time as miners are in a position to fill the demands of the people along this line. This would appear a tip to the miners to get busy and settle the grievances with the mine owners and that before August 7th, or the very thing they are attempting to do will be removed Strikes have been rather frequent in the mines at Fernie. The people of theeastern part of the province have suffered on that account, so have the people of the prairie provinces. All this in face of the fact that three years ago when the miners of Fernie were deprived of earthly goods by fire citizens of British Columbia, the prairie provinces and the governments of the dominion and the provinces came to their aid with large subscriptions of money and clothes Surely when the miners in their demands, and knowing the results of a strike have not thought how good the general public have been to them in the past. Taking all things into consideration, although the order in council takes away from the miners their grip of the strike, it cannot surely be looked upon otherwise than right and just that the same people who helped in time of trouble should not now suffer to satisfy the whim and the fancy of some Socialistic idea.

A coal strike is a serious matter, not only for the miners themselves, but for the town in which the strike is, as well as all those who depend upon the output of the mines for winter's warmth and comfort, and for business purposes. It seems a pity that hose strikes cannot be avoided, but it appears there is a somebody who calls out miners on the least provocation and makes them stay out until that power sees fit that they should work again. The order in council in regard to the strike is entirely a new innovation and should prove effective.

The proceedings of the Revelstoke police court disclosed in a very glaring manner the fact that the by-laws of that city were ostensibly made to be broken Magistrate Hamilton having before him no less than twenty cases of fracture of the by-law in respect to the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks

The magistrate who is also the mayor of the city fined himself $5 and costs; Twoof the aldermen were fined $2 50 and costs apiece, while seventeen private citizens each paid $1 and costs

The unusual activity on the part of the police was actuated by certain statements made at a recent council meeting when Alderman Abrahamson criticized the police for their inactivity in enforcing the city by-law in this respect Another curious fact was brought to light in this case as to the name of the alderman to whom is attributed this activity appeared first on the list.
