ABBOTSFORD FAIR TO BE THE BEST EVER

Abbotsford Fall Fair takes place on September 21 and 22, and President Harrop is working tooth and nail to make it the best ever held in Abbotsford by the Abbotsford-Sumas people. One feature of the fair last year was the exhibit of the best collection of ranch produce, including any of everything that is produced on a ranch: cured meats, dairy produce, etc. This proved a very interesting part of the fair last year and the number of exhibitors this year may be larger than ever.

This fair will give the visitors to it a very good idea of what can be produced in the Fraser Valley to perfection, and with greater interest this year the prize money will be in big demand.

Exhibitions to be successful, must be as varied in their appeal and interest as life itself. In a province which is a storehouse of natural wealth, and which is ambitious to become a great manufacturing state, the exhibits of raw and manufactured products have a basic value. But life is more than meat and the body more than raiment. In the list of "attractions" all tastes must be met. One man is more interested in pigs than in poetry; one woman is more interested in pugs than in babies. We all respond to the human admiration for beautiful, quivering horseflesh and to the glory of green grass and cloud-wreathed mountains. Even the skidway is not without its devotees. A successful exhibition is education, enjoyment, recreation, social cultivation, long-range civic advertising and the exercise in public virtue, all in one.

NO DIVERSION OF PORT MOODY ROAD

MAILLARDVILLE, July 27.—At the regular meeting of the Coquitlam Municipal Council a communication was received from the Port Moody Council to the effect that they do not see their way clear to divert the existing location of the Old Port Moody road for this year.

Moved by Councillor Watts, it was decided that the agreement between this municipality and the Provincial Government as to secondary highway be signed, sealed and delivered

Last year the local police court took in in fines and forfeitures something like $1000, and since January this year the court has netted something like $1200.

The pic-nicers to Belrose on Tuesday had a most pleasant time.

Ministers View Peace Portal

The federal ministers visiting at the coast were given a view of the Peace Arch at the International Boundary on Saturday morning. The visit was arranged by Captain Jas. H. McLennan, White Rock, one of the members of the executive of the Memorial Association. In his automobile were Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior; Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. M. E. Smith, M. L. A., and Mr. Duncan Scott, deputy minister of the Indian Lands Department. There also motored down from Vancouver, Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, and Hon. W. R. Motherwell, with M. A. MacDonald, K. C., F. R. McD. Russell, K. C., R. Rowe, Holland, president of the Peace Memorial Association, and several friends of the ministers.

The visit created interest in the Peace monument, and Hon. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Scott were also shown the area of the Indian reserve, application for which portion for Peace Park purposes as an historic park site is being made to the Indian Department over which Mr. Stewart has direction as minister of the interior. The visitors saw that the surroundings of the Peace portal were not what they should be and of the need for part of the Indian reserve as a parking area for motor cars in connection with the annual celebrations on the anniversary of the dedication. The minister expressed his appreciation of the international feature of the symbol of a hundred years of peace between the United States and Canada, and of the objects of the Peace Memorial Association which has been working to establish proper surroundings for this memorial to international good will.

The party was photographed at the arch, and then proceeded to Crescent where, arriving at 12.15 they were entertained to lunch by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gale, afterwards motoring to Newton where they joined the excursion to the Sumas Reclamation works as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Duncan.

Peter Vergrin, of Brilliant, was in Abbotsford and district to-day. After completing his business of arranging about some lumber at the Abbotsford Timber and Trading Company he was shown around Abbotsford by Mr. J. A. McGowan. Later Vergrin left for Mission and Hatzic where it is said he was disappointed in securing 50 tons of raspberries to be shipped to Brilliant jam factory.

Dr. Barrett To Be Head of Hospital

WHITE ROCK, July 21.—Another step has been taken in the matter of establishing an up-to-date hospital at White Rock. It is now announced that the institution will be under the direction of Dr. H. A. Barrett, well known medical practitioner of Armstrong, B.C. From a recent letter to local residents interested in the enterprise it is learned that Dr. Barrett will arrive almost any day and will at once open an office. As soon as he is settled he will commence preparations for opening a sanitorium which will have all the latest X-ray and other electrical equipment.

A start will be made with the present five cottages and main building, but as soon as business warrants, a fine structure will be put up which will be a credit to the community. The plans contemplate serving a large public including that of the Prairie provinces. It is likely a joint stock company will be organized and local and other people interested will be given an opportunity of becoming shareholders.

J. A. BATES, Editor and Proprietor

FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1922

While not everyone will agree with all the great things that is going to happen to British Columia as a result of the visit of prominent Liberals to the big Liberal pic-nic held last week one cannot help but think that some good is bound to follow in the trail of so many politicians from Canada's capital coming out to our province and 'looking her over'.

We want many things in B. C. besides a decent government at Victoria. There are many things that an Ottawa government can do for the province that a Victoria government cannot do for us; and there are many things that can be gotten by co-operation of the two governments.

Situated as British Columbia on the western boundaries of the Dominion, away from the centre of big business of the country, and with growing pains it is often a difficult matter to impress the Ottawa government with the ever increasing demands of a new province. Letters are not always effective, while delegations sometimes fail to function for various reasons, which are known to many who have taken the trip; but seeing cannot help but be believing, especially when the goods are on display. Ministers of the crown pay too few visits to B. C. to become familiar with the importance of the growth of the province.

A certain New Yorker who has carried out many schemes in the United States is a frequent host at a banquet, and when he has an important scheme to float. When he has done the duties of host to perfection, he always appears to have 'something on his chest, which he might as well get rid of now as any other time' and he proceeds to get enthused with the important idea. Everyone is in the humor, and his pet hobby gets a good send-off, and it is said that he has never met with disaster yet. The big pic-nic might be considered to be on the same plan, as we notice by the daily papers that some of the suggestions put forward by prominent Liberals are meeting with the aproval of the two ministers who are now wandering around the province.

Let the good work go on; and let the Liberals entertain oftener while a Liberal government controls affairs at Ottawa.

When another government takes their place let the followers of that government map out a similar plan and watch the province get fair play and just treatment.

Want of rain and poor roads are some of the big topics in all parts of the Fraser Valley these days, not that the question of roads is not always an open subject for discussion in B. C., but poor roads appear to be commoner this summer than ever especially where there is heavy hauling going on.

The road beds in the Fraser Valley in many cases have not been built on solid foundations. A few days ago it was the privilege of a representative of this paper to have caught up to a heavily loaded truck, where the road was apparently not wide enough to pass by without going to the common danger. The big truck wheels were making their impression on the road-bed, which sunk under the heavy weight and rose back to its former position—giving the impression that the thin crust of the road was riding on a sponge. In places the road was breaking through where the gravel had become lossened.

That road was evidently not built for heavy traffic, but if we are to have the big trucks on our roads we must make the road bed solid no matter what the cost is, as it is a waste of public money to tear a road up to build up another piece of road. Since the car has come into use more care has been taken of our roads but so far as building permanent roads is concerned there are few of them in the Fraser Valley.

Had the money that was used in extending the P. G. E., and the gambling on the Sumas Dyking scheme, and a few other pet hobbies of our provincial government been used in making paved roads in the province it would have most probably brought in more money and business to B. C.

VALUE OF ADVERTISING

The action brought by a retail grocer against the daily newspaper of a town in the Western States, for failure to print its advertisement, alleging loss of sales to the extent of $1,000, is indicative of the value he places on advertising as a means of stumulating business.

In his statement of complaint he declares that he does depend very largely on advertising for business, and on account of the no-apperance of his advertisement his sales were $500 less than they would have been had the advertisement appeared. He asserts that on the Saturday preceding, and on which day a similiar advertisement appeared, the sales made by the plaintiff amounted to $650, and that while on the following Saturday, the day on which the advertisement was not run in te paper, although furnished and requested to be run by the plaintiff, the sales were $350. On this day business was generally better, due to Labor Day following on Monday, and on account of the failure to insert the advertisement, the plaintiff claims he was damaged in the sum of $1,000.

The outcome of the suit is not yet known, it is interesting to note the definite turnover that this merchant credits as directly due to his advertising. The use of newspaper space as a means of stimulating sales and keeping the name of a merchant before the public cannot be underestimated, and when coupled with display of the proper sort and effective selling talks, is always productive of results.—Canadian Grocer.

The jam makers are disappointed in the shipments as only about 10 per cent. of the promised consignments are turning up. The slow ripening means that more are going in crates to the northwest where the market prospects are excellent this year.

Unless rain comes in a few days the raspberry crop may again fall short of estimates and show a reduction on the 40 per cent of normal which was expected at the beginning of the season. "Berrymen do not care how much it rains nor how soon."

Now that berry picking has become an annual institution it is attracting young women from various walks of life who are out for a profitable vacation. From high school girls to trained nurses, teachers, office girls and family-supporting widows, the boarding houses are bright with animated interest. Neighboring farms—and farm boys—welcome the summer visitors with every show of hospitality, joining in the evening recreations and Sunday services.

C. H. Sawle, editor of the Omineca Herald, says that a newspaper whether a weekly or a daily, is regarded as the one institution in the world which continues to draw manna from Heaven, and thus exists purely for philanthropic purposes.

Owners of newspapers discovered some years ago that the crop of manna was a failure and that there was no seed for further sowing. In other words the press has endeavored to impress upon the general public the difference between advertising and news. Some success has been achieved, but nothing like general success.

Every person, every business and every institution loves publicity (favorable) but there are countless thousands who still ask for free publicity. The general public cannot conceive the number of requests for free advertising that the weekly press receives each week, not only from local sources, but from governments, political parties, manufacturers, corporations of all kinds, most lawyers, and wild-catters.

The press asks only for fair consideration. When money is to be made through publicity that is advertising, then the press is entitled to its services.

There are two classes of free advertising seekers, viz., the possessors or representatives of wealth who figure that their own estimate of their own importance will over-awe the press; the next big class is the timid who have no faith in themselves, ideas, ware or products, but hope to ride in at the expense of somebody else. Both classes are finding the press is no longer conducted without a cost system.

The fair, square, open and above board advertisers find the news columns of the press always open to them, in fact the press goes out of its way to advance their interests.

One of the greatest pleasures the press has is advancing the interests of individuals, corporations or instituions. But the press is a business and there are certain things money is needed for, such as wages, overhead, living expenses, contributions to everything that comes along, and then of course there are taxes—strange isn't it? Yet many had an idea the press lived by good deeds alone. The Herald tells you that running a paper is no Garden of Eden existence.

And so does this paper.

ADVICE TO CHERRY SHIPPERS

Cherry shippers would realize considerably more on their fruit if they were more careful regarding handling. This refers to both picking and packing. Cherries should be picked by the stems in order to avoid bruising the fruit.

There has been considerable discount on cherries shipped to the Vancouver market, especially Royal Annes and Ox Hearts, which are very sensitive to the slightest bruise. the bruise is not so much in evidence on dark colored Bings and Lamberts, but causes them to very quickly break down after reaching the market.

Mt. Lehman

Miss Proctor of New York, who is on her way to Corvallis, Oregon, to lecture in the state university, visited Mrs. Forrester lately. Miss Proctor was delighted with what she saw of the Fraser Valley districts.

Mrs. Hassard is on an extended visit to friends and relatives in New Westminster and points in Washington state.

Mrs. Austin, who has spent a few days here was accompanied to her home in Burnaby by her son, Master David, who will remain with her some time.

Miss Agnes MacPhail is visiting Miss Winnie Horne and Mrs. Wm. Harrower at Murrayville, B. C.

Miss Lucy Owen has gone to Ashcroft, where she intends spending some weeks with her cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Forrester are holidaying at White Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Nelson and little son of White Rock, B. C., are spending a month with Mrs. Nelson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Croy, Dennison, B. C.

Mrs. Jas. Simpson had her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. McKnight, Ladner, visiting her recently.

Mr. Wm. Spallin has gone to Jessica, in the Coquahalla. The Campbell farm which he has been managing for some time will now be under the care of Mr. Johnson.

Mrs. Jas. McEachern, with her daughters, Christina and Flora, is visiting friends in Newton, B. C.

The committee of the Women's Institute which are in charge of the exhibits for the New Westminster and Matsqui fairs, met in the home of Mrs. Forrester on Tuesday, July 18. The W. I. members are taking part in the non-competitive district at the Royal City exhibition to which all the Lower Fraser Valley institutes are sending their quota of women's work and they have many articles now ready. For the Matsqui show all work comes under the name of "knitting," and much variety is being found in the entries of the women. Another committee which met at the same place on the same day was the one in charge of the purveying at the Matsqui Fair. Plans for meals and for the booth were made and the whole is well under way. Among those present were Mrs. Mrs. Gamsby, convener; Mesdames Forrester, Coghlan, McKinnon, Owen and Oswald.

The July meeting of the Mt. Lehman Women's Institute was held on the lovely grounds of Mrs. Richard Owen on Thursday, July 13. There was a fair attendance of members and several visitors were present. The report on the Dominion Day picnic was given showing that it had been successful both socially and financially. A balance of $37 was added to the Institute funds, and the treasurer was instructed to open an account with the bank. The school committee was reappointed. As convener of the Fair committees Mrs. Gamsby reported progress. It was agreed that the September meeting would be held in the Memorial Hall and the October session at Mrs. Roy Lehman's. The July meeting usually takes the form of a musicale, but the members felt that out of respect to their fellow worker, Mrs. Jackman, whose husband had died but a few days before, no set programme should be carried out, but that everything should be informal and impromptu. Mesdames Lehman, L. Coghlan, and Athole Lehman were the hostesses. The thanks of the Institute were tendered to Mrs. Owen for her kindness in lending her home for this meeting.

This district has not been without its fires. Especially in the Jublee secton have the farmers had to fight the fires to save their buildings.

THE MARKET CONDITIONS IN PRAIRIE PROVINCES

WEEK IN CALGARY

Weather conditions continue favorable to the crops. Sunshine and clouds with occasional showers is bringing on the grain in a healthy condition. No rust is apparent. Fall rye is being cut and is a good crop. North of Edmonton is in need of more rain. This is exceptional.

Express shipments of all kinds of truck produce is arriving in volume. Okanagan cars heavy and Armstrong celery predominates.

Cherries have never been so plentiful on this market, prices have ruled low owing to the late raspberry season overlapping the Bing and Lambert cherries, the rasps have had a preference. Okanagan cherries are large and the pack excellent. Arrow Lake Bings ares maller and the pack usually slack. Kootenays are also on this market, prices have ruled low owing to the late raspberry season overlapping the Bing and Lambert cherries, the rasps have had a preference. Okanagan cherries are large and thep ack evcellent. Arrow Lake Bings ares maller and the pack usually slack. Kootenays are also on the small side. Royal Anns do not sell well unless on the large side. Many discolored lots are being offered for sale—spoiling the sale of good Anns. The peak is passing and within a week the opportunity to buy fine cherries will pass for a season. Preserved cherries are a cooling and healthy night-cap in a dry country. Growers will be disappointed at returns this year. Okanagan cherries have shown considerable shrinkage due to being a trifle overripe. The situation as to cherries is general throughout the Prairies.

Mr. S. J. Fee of the Vernon Fruit Co. received the first transcendent apples from Hammond. He sold them at $4.00 per box. On the same day he sold some boxes of Summerland Newton Pippins (last year's stock) No. 2, at $3.50 per box.

Very few Apricots have arrived on this market to date, and prices are not established.

The Raspberry market has been kept hungry due to the short crop. The Calgary demand has been fully supplied at a fair price to the consumer. Last week's prediction on the American car of rasps from Puyallup has been fulfilled. This car was bought by the Independents outside of Nash houses in the big pool. The size of the hallocks was exagerrated in an effort to place them to advantage. They were offered at $4.25 per crate and found slow sale. A large portion of the car was jobbed at prices below cost. About 50 crates of Logans were in the car. These did not stand up well.

We do not expect to see any more rasps brought in in car lots from the U. S. this year. The Calgary market was supplied by L.C.L. shipmeits of rasps, during the days that the American car was being sold, and any loss through it having been brought in fell to them, as the B. C. cars were rolled to other points and suffered no loss.

Local vegetables are a splendid crop and are now coming in including, beans, peas, beets, carrots, cabbage, lettuce, cauliflouer and new potatoes.

This Week's Wholesale Prices

Strawberries, still fine local stock, case	$4.00
Cherries, Bings or Lamberts, case	2.75
Raspberries, according to pack and quality, $3.50 to	4.00

PRINCE ALBERT

Prince Albert, July 17, 1922.

Fruit business rather quiet during past week. Small ots of B. C. raspberries, ex cars at Regina, arriving in splendid condition. Market well supplied with California deciduous fruit, also new apples in boxes and hampers. Lots of cherries on the market here and heavy shipments expected this week.

B. C. Raspberries, per crate	$5.25
B.C. Royal Anne Cherries	2.75
to	3.00
B.C. Bing Cherries, $3.75 to	4.25

URGE PAVING OF FILL SECTION

CLOVERDALE, July 21.—A number of local residents are urging that the provincial government permanently pave the section of Pacific Highway known as the Serpentine flats fill this usmmer. This fill comprised the building up of the road from three to five feet in height for a distance of about two miles. The work was completed late last summer and the new road-bed has been settling ever since. During all of this time, the highway has been subjected to heavy traffic and the residents argue that no more settling will occur. For a time after the completion of the fill, planks laid on top of the gravel were used as a road, but early this spring these were torn up and fresh gravel put on. The fresh gravelling process has been going on occasionally since that time.

The matter of cost is also taken into consideration by the residents who claim that with the completion of the present contract, the machinery could be moved to the proposed job at a far less cost than at some other date.

If this road were paved the whole distance between Cloverdale and New Westminster would be hard surfaced with concrete.

A warning has been sent out by the Retail Merchants Association not to cash American Express Money Orders. 36 of the six million, 20 and 11 of the nine million have been stolen in Oregon.

Up to July 15, the Naas River sockeye pack was 11,870 cases; Skeena sockeye pack, 16,877 cases.
