Matsqui Council Meets

Councillor Keay presided at the meeting of the council held on Monday last.

Reeve McCallum was absent from the chair he usually fills with dignity owing to the call of jury duty at New Westminster. It was stated this was the first meeting of the council the reeve had missed during his term of office.

Two shining colt automobile pistols, one unsulled pair of handcuffs and a resplendent police badge were inspected by the councillors before being set aside for handing over to the policeman at Matsqui.

Whilst the examination of these aids to the law and order was proceeding the reading of a money bylaw providing for an advance from the Bank of Montreal of $6000, part of a loan previously arranged, was also being carried out. It so happened that when the question was put "All in favor of this bylaw being adopted" by acting reeve Keay, he was trying the action of one of the new Colts, which he held pointed rather wavcringly across the table, around which the councillors sat. The response of "Aye" was very speedy, and it was followed by laughter when a councillor remarked "A regular hold-up."

The application of James Downie for a loan of $2000 under the better housing act provisions was approved, on the motion of Councillors Bell and Benson, and the signing of the necessary documents to give the applicant quick use of the loan, in order that he may build his house ight away, authorized.

As the outcome of trouble that has been experienced in connection with the collecion of costs and fees in regard to court proceedings, it was decided to request the police commissioners to notify the magistrate to collect all costs for police and magistrate fees from the interested parties in every case brought by or before them in futue.

Whilst on the subject the clerk was instructed to write Andrew Calder regarding the collection of an amount due for fees incurred in connection with police matters.

The widening of the Yale road has had the effect of rendering almost impassible for vehicles, the approach to the Aberdeen school, and after discussion of the matter, during which the urgent need of rerediate action was emphasized, the council agreed to notify the road superintendent, E. H. Verner, of the circumstances, and ask that the approach be put into better shape immediately.

A communication of length was read from the provincial inspector of electrical energy regarding notification of intention to blast being sent in when the work was proposed to be done near the power lines of either the B. C. E. R. or Western Canada Power Companies. At least twenty-four hours' notice should be given in such cases: and the council was asked to co-operate in the matter, as danger and expensive delay was due in many cases to non-observance of this requirement.
tlens.

It was decided to enforce the pound regulations as affecting horses in future, this decision being the outcome of complaints regarding the danger and damage done by straying horses in the municipality.

The recommendation in favor of Peter Grant being made a J. P. is held in abeyance owing to the absence from Victoria of the Attorney-General, the council was informed by a letter from Victoria.

The C. N. Railway authorities, who had been requested to put in a siding at Rottluff road crossing, wrote declining to agree to that request. Their letter stated that as the crossing referred to was only a little over one mile from the station at Matsqui they could not see their way to go to the expense of putting in another siding in such a close proximity to a regular station.

A bylaw to regulate the speed of automobile traffic in the municipality was passed. It provides for a maximum speed of 25 miles per per hour on main gravelled roads, and 15 miles on all other roads.

RIDGEDALE NEWS

The many friends of Mr. Horace Robinson are glad to see him back again.

The Tennis court is in fine shape now and the club will be re-organized this week for the summer's sport President Bert Sanders has matters in hand.

PICNIC AT SUMAS LAKE

On May 24th a party of Ridgedale people wore the guests of Messrs. J. Saunders and C. Farr on a motor boat picnic to Sumas lake. Two boats carrying about 45 persons left the landing at 9 a. m. with Capt. Kelleher at the wheel of the leading craft. The weather man favored the day with his best goods and the sail up the river and lake weremost delightful. All were ready for the picnic dinner which was spead on Spoon island, after which the party moved to the head of the lake where there was a delightful picnic ground. Games were engaged in bysome of the younger people, while many of the gentlemen were busy with hook and line. A slight shower slightly shortened the day of sport. Laden with wild flowers and thespoil of the day, the return trip was made in less than two hours, a choppy sea on the lake adding to the excitement.

All agreed that a most enjoyable day had been spent and that Claude and Johnny were "jolly good fellows."

AN EXCELLENT REPORT

Almost every farmer in Canada is interested in some phase of the agricultural work carried on by the Dominion Government Experimental Farms. System both at Ottawa and on the tewnty branch farms distributed between the Atlantic and the Pacic. The work covered on these farms includes investigations with live stock, field crops, fruit growing, tobacco, bees, poultry and, in fact, all branches of agriculture adapted to Canadian conditions. The report of the Dominion Experimental Farms for the fiscal year 1919 is obtainable from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. This report records many valuable and interesting experiment s that are under way. Among these are experiment s in feeding lives tock for market, and summer and winter experiment s in fattening swine: the Bee division gives a preliminary report of its experiments with two queens in one hive, and in the division of Economic Fibre Production the variety test and the prairie flax straw experiments are outlined. Throughout this publication there are many valuable conclusions stated which are based on the experimental work conducted at these farms.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bates left on Saturday on a visit to Toronto and other eastern cities. While in Toronto Mr. Bates will attend the Dominion Press Association's contention as one of the delegates from B. C.

CRUICKSHANK-CRUICKSHANK

The wedding took place at "Maple Gove" Clayburn, of Miss L. E. Cruickshank, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cruickshank, and Dr. Cruickshank, son of Mr. Alex. Cruickshank, inspector of city schools, Hamilton, Ont. The bridal party made a very charming pictue on the lawn under the trees—the natural surroundings lending themselves beautifully to the occassion, and enhanced by masses of mauve lilas tastefully arranged. The bride, in white georgette, was was attended by two small flower girls, Misses Betty Seldon and Doris McCulloch, in pale pink, and carrying baskets of pink sweet peas. Miss Mary Winram, of Vancouver played the Bridal March from "Lohengrin" as the bride came out of the house leaning on the arm of her father, and after the ceremony Miss Jessie Drew, of New Westminster sang, "Beloved, It is Morn." The groom was attended by Mr. Wallace Cuickshank ,and the ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Angus Cameron, of Vancouver. About fifty guests sat down to supper, afte which the bide and bridegroom left by motor for a short honeymoon, prior to returning to Toronto, where the bridegoom has recently been appointed director of laboratories of that city. Previous to her marriage Miss Cruickshank studied law with Messrs. Wilson & Jamiesn, of Vancouver, and was admitted to the bar April 12 of this year. Dr. Cruickshank went overseas in 1914, and saw considerable service in the military hospitals in France during the war.

"The Western Idea" is a new weekly which will be published towards the end of June. It will be run on independent and up to date lines, and wil cover general news of the world at large and B. C. in particular, with original articles, cartoons, verses, etc. as features. It is being run by a number of journalists and business men of Vancouver.

St. John, N. B.—There were extraordinary runs of gasperaux during the week with a drop in the prices realized to less than half. It is estimated that the weir of Belyea Brothers took nearly 100,000 gaspereaux in one night and 60,000 the following evening. Boat fishermen working with drift nets took from 1,000 to 3,000 on a tide.

Fredericton, N. B.—The lumber drives on the Bartholomew stream, a branch of the Miramichi river, have been brought out safely in record time. Included were six million feet of logs for the Nashwaak Pulp and Paper Co to be manufactured at Blackville and two million feet for the Nelson mill of the Fraser Companies Ltd.

V. O. N. AT ABBOTSFORD

On Wednesday evening in the Alexandria, hall Miss J. Forshaw, Victoria, gave an addres on Provincial organization and operation of the Victoria Order of Nurses. There was a good represenetation from Matsqui and Sumas districts and also our own town. The mind of the people seemed favorable for organization. Mr. J. Brydges was appointed chairman and Mr. A. C. Sault secretary of an organizing committee. The chairman was asked to select his committee, which he did as follows: Mr. J. W. Ball, Mr. J. A. McGowan, Mrs. Hannah Fraser, Capt. Whitchelo and Rev. W. Robertson, with president and secretary.

A large attendance is anticipated in the Alexandria hall Abotsford, on Saturday evening, June 12, when a lantern lecture, entertainment and dance wil be given, the feature being the lecture "Lucky Dips from My Memory Bag" by Mr. J. Francis Burrill (Felix Penne) Those who have heard Mr. Burrill will be aware that they have a treat in store and he will be assisted by several Vancouver artists. The evening is given under the auspices of "The Western Idea," the new weekly publication about which there is a good deal of conjecture.

Mr. A. C. Andrews a retrued soldier, having faith in Abbotsford's future, is opening up a "Cash and Carry" grocery store in thebuilding formerly occupied by the postoffice. He will specialize in tea. See his adv. on page four.

The Abbotsford May Day committee take this opportunity of thanking the many friends for their kind assistance in various ways, which all tended to make the day so great a success, with special mention to the teachers who so ably trained the children.

Capt. Whitchelo and Mr. Brydges were Mision City visitors on Thursday.

THE ABBOTSFORD POST
Published Every Friday
J. A. Bates, Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY JUNE 4, 1920

The head of our provincial government, he who can do no wrong, politically, accompanied by one of his right-hand men is to tour the country in the interests of his party. It looks absolutely nothing more than a real campaign trip. It was not done last year nor the year before, but now that an election is nearing the people are to be camouflaged into think that the Oliver government has the interests of the people at heart. And a trip now looks to be just right. They will speak at different points in the southern part of the province. The people will be told many things that it would be interesting to hear, and of course absolutely correct, for our premier, with such a record of correct doings, should have something of interest to tell the people. So much has ben done for the province (?) during the past years of the war, in making the taxes light and a generous (?) voting of monies for public works, that the heds of the provincial government ought to receive a grand reception.

For once this paper agrees with Premier John Oliver and thinks he is absolutely right when he sends word to the agent-general at London that he should not talk back to Cowper—in other words that a civil servant of the province should not enter into a press controversary with or to criticise a member of parliament, who has had anything to do with his appointment. The agent-general is nothing more nor nothing less than a civil servant of the B. C. government; and why should he attempt to bite the hand that helps to feed him?

On the other hand why should not a member of parliament take into consideration the wish of the electors who have placed him there? But then that is different the member of parliament is only a servant of the people until such time as the last vote is cast. If elected, from that time on the member takes it that he is a free lance and chats back to electors should they at all differ with him on any matter that affects their welfare—just the way Premier John does himself.

TROUBLES OF THE PHONE OPERATOR

When business men convene meetings to press for improved telephone service and newspapers publish many paragraphs about the way in which things telephonic are to be made better, the exchange girls want to know whether subscribers and their manners are to be included in the general scheme for improvement.

It is not subscribers en bloc who are objectionable. Some of them are charming. In the main, however, there is the greatest resemblance between the folk whose names are in the telephone directory and the curates memorable eggs—some are good and some are bad, and the bad ones are horrid indeed!

The work of a telephone girl may be all the nice things which you think it is, but it is not all honey by any means and there are some subscribers whom every exchange girl knows to whom she must ever be courteous though she longs to "let fly at them".

Nobody outside knows how often it happens that when a subscriber is advised that a particular line is out of order, back comes the indignant reply "Can't be out of order! It's my private house." And nothing—let alone the exchange girl—will convince such a man that the telephone people are doing their work properly. He swears that they could connect him if they chose.

Another well-known character is the impatient subscriber whose call is answered after girls have returned from fire drill. The I. S. will never listen to the exchange girl's explanation of the delay, but demands, with varying degrees of politeness to be put on to the clerk-in-charge to complain of in attention, cups of tea, novels, crochet and other fallacies.

Let us try to improve telephone and telephone exchanges and telephone girls by all manner of means; but, at the samet ime, let us hope that subscribers will try to improve themselves. As a beginning, it might be well to start a school for subscribers, at which the use and the misuse of a telephone should, be taught, and a certificate granted, before anyone was allowed to have a telephone to play with.—Exchange.

ONE VIEW OF THE MATTER

The following was written to a country newspapor re mail order house advertising:

If you will allow me to say to, I think you should not refuse mail order advertising, and I am a country merchant.

In the first place it would not keep the firm in question from advertising by some other means,—by circulars, etc., which would certainly not be printed locally; and there is no reason why you should lose the business. If we retailers are unable to supply the public as cheaply and as satisfactorily as the mail order house then the sooner we close up the better, because the world most decidedly does not owe us a living because we are local merchants, but only because we are of use and service to it; and the living we get is in direct proportion to the measure of use we are to the public.

To refuse the offered advertising would merely increase the prevalent opinion that retailers are afraid of the mail order house, whereas the exact opposite is the case,—unless you expect your patient storekeeper to see you through till harvest. Otherwise there is nothing so wonderful about them. One example will perhaps be allowed: Eaton's catalogue page 322 "16 oz. bovril at $2.45," whereas our price is $2.37, and not a special at that, but carrying our regular and reasonable margin of profit. It is not in their free delivery section, so the comparison is a good one.—3 1-4 per cent. in our favor, plus the cost of sending for it.

HIGHER RATES RECOMMENDED

OTTAWA, May 22.—The Board of Railway Commissioners yesterday issued judgment in the telegraph companies' rate case. The judgment of the chief commissioner holds that the telegraph companies are not prohibited from sub-dividing the existing rate zone east of Sudbury and extending it into Quebec.

Following the hearings extending from Halifax to Victoria, judgment by the assistant chief commisisoner finding rate increases necessary, also has been issued. The increases are on commercial business, there being no increase on press service or leased wires. The zone rate is permitted to be increased from 25¢ to 30¢. The sub-division of the zone east of Sudbury to the added zone rates works out for an average increase of 32 per cent. on the business carried east of Fort William. West of Fort William the average is 20 per cent. This averages rates east and west.

The existing $1 rate on transcontinental movement is permitted to be increased by a maxmum of 25 per cent. Shorter distances covered on the $1 rate are to be graded on increases of 10, 15 and 20 per cent.

The judgment sets out general directions which the companies are to follow in framing their tariffs.

In 1916 the board reduced telegraph rates 17 per cent. Between 1915 and 1918 wages have increased 60 per cent. materials 85 per cent. The increased wages resulting from the application of the McAdoo award in 1918 have so increased the burden of wages as to necessitate increased rates.

Carlyle and Work

While Carlyle still holds his own upon the shelves in the libraries of the intellectual, one hears much less about him now than formerly. It would, perhaps, be too much to expect this author ever to become popular, but if it were possible at this crisis which the industrial world today is facing, to place Carlyle's essays "Labor" and "Happy" where they would be read by those now forcing the issue beyond the point wheret he balance can be maintained it would be a wonderful accomplishment.

Thee is a "battle of ideas going onnet only in this country but throughoutt he world." This is particularly true in theh present attitude of Labor toward Capital, and Carlyle above all other writers, in the two essays mentioned, correct s the false idea that the wage ist he real reward of labor.

"The only happiness a brave man ever troubled himself with, asking much about," Carlyle writes, "was happiness enough to get his work done. Not 'I can't eat', but 'I can't work!' That wast he burden of all wise complaining among men. It is, after all, the one happiness of a man That he cannot work; that he cannot get his destiny as a man fulfilled. Brief brawling Day, with its noisy phantasms, its poor payer crowns, tinsel gilt is gone; * * * What hast thou done, and how? Happiness, unhappiness; ah that was but the wages thou hadst; thou hast spent all that in sustaining thyself hitherward; not a coin of it remains with thee, it is where is thye work? Swift out with it; let us see thy work!

Again Carlyle writes: "There is a perennial nobleness and even sacredness in work. Were he ever so benighted, forgetful of his high calling there is always hope in a man that actually and earnestly works; in idleness alone is there perpetula despair."

THE HEART OF A BOY

From among his blocks on the nursery floor
He lifted his eyes to me,
His eyes that are full of the freshness of life
And the wisdom of half-past three.

And he said, "I will build you a really house,
Wis windows and doors and things,
And a train and a boat 'at will really go,
And a flying machine wis wings.

"And anything else that you want, Muzzie, dear,
Just tell me; I'll make it you know—
A big water tower or an automobile
And a sewing-machine 'at will sew."

And all through the day he talked and talked
Of the wnderful things he could do
Till he fancied himself a big, strong man,
With all of his dreams come true.

From the depths of the chair by the nursery fire
He lifted his eyes to me.
His eyes that are full of the wonder of life
And the sadness of half-past three.

And he said, "You know, Muzzie, I can't build a house
Wis windows and doors and things
And I can't make a train and a boat 'at will go
And a flying machine wis wings.

"Nor anything you want, Muzzis dear,
And he cuddlest his oldest toy,
"And I'm not a big man who can work and build;
I am only a little boy."

Oh, dear little laddies, the years fly fast
And day after day you must grow
But "Muzzie" would rather her own little boy
Than all the machines that go.

And some day, dear, to this busy old world
You will bring much good and much joy,
If you work with the strength of a great big man
And the heart of a little boy.

—Frances Ebbs Canavan.

THE BUSY MAN'S CREED

I believe in the stuff I am handing out, in the firm I am working for, and in my ability to get results. I believe that honest stuff can be passed out to men by honest methods. I believe in working, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of my job. I believe that a man gets what he goes after, that one deed done today is worth two deeds tomorrow, and that no man is down and out until he has lost faith in himself. I believe in today and the work I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and in the sure reward which the future holds.

I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and in honest competition I believe there is something doing somewhere for every man ready to do it. I believe I'm ready—RIGHT NOW!—Elbert Hubbard.

BY AEROPLANE TO PARIS.

A distinctly novel attraction has now been provided in the C.P.R. office windows at Charing Cross, an attraction which has been much admired by the crowds who have gathered to make inspection. The fine windows usually devoted to the exhibition of things Canadian is being occupied by an excellent model aerodrome of the Aircraft Transport and Travel, Limited, at Hendon, together with scientifically accurate models of various types of aeroplanes and airships.

Such a display in a railway and shipping office may seem rather unusual at first sight, but is really a sign of the times, also marking much enterprise on the part of the Dominion Express Company of Canada. Realising the importance of maintaining a really "Express" service, if its name is still to be justified, the Dominion Express Company, the premier Express Company in Canada, made arrangements to act as Passenger and Parcels Agents for the Aircraft Transport and Travel Limited on their London-Paris daily air service.

It is thus possible for either passengers or parcels to be booked for conveyance by aeroplane to or from London and Paris through any of the Dominion Express Company's offices in Europe, and these, in addition to London are to be found in important cities such as Liverpool, Glasgow, Manchester, Birmingham, Bristol and Paris.

The advantages of this arrangement are many, for the Dominion Express, holding as it does the exclusive right of shipping Express parcels over the entire C.P.R. system, as agents for the Aeroplane Service can ensure that an Express package scheduled to catch a certain ship actually reached its destination in Canada in the shortest possible space of time. As time is money nowadays, more than ever it was, it is easy to realise what an important adjunct an Air Service is to an Express Company.

The time-table shows that only 2¼ hours is occupied on the journey to or from London and Paris—urgent letters are carried at 2 shillings and 6 pence per ounce over the ordinary letter rate.

Parcels for delivery in Paris on the same day have to be handed in at the London office of the Dominion Express Company, 62-65, Charing Cross, London, S.W., before 10.30 a.m. The parcels rates range from 1s. 6d. to 2s. 6d. per lb. according to quantity, while special rates are quoted for large and regular consignments. The single fare for passengers is 15 guineas which includes a car to convey the passenger to Hounslow, the starting point. The Dominion Express Company's officials at Charing Cross have every reason to believe that a large proportion of Canadian visitors to Europe this year will take advantage of the ease with which it is now possible to book seats for a real flying visit to the Continent through their offices [illegible] feet, if they so wish, a motor car can pick them up in Trafalgar Square, and in under three hours they can be walking along the Champs Elysees.

MISSION AND HATZIC GROWERS PREPARING FOR SEASON

Fruit growers of Mission and Hatzic will this year again secure their pickers through the Provincial Government Employment Bureau at Vancouver. The strawberries will be ready for picking in a very few days now and between 150 and 200 pickers will be required. It is thought that steady work can be given throughout the remainder of the summer, as the various berry crops ripen.

In order that the best results can be obtained the fruit growers are sending their own representative to Vancouver to personally engage the help. The position will be filled by Mrs. E. F. Ferguson, of Mission, and Col. Powley, provincial superintendent of employment bureaus, is providing her with desk room in the woman's department at 58 Homer street. She will be found there from now until the necesary amount of help is secued.

Wages have been set thes year so that the average picker may earn $2.50 per day. At most places board is being provided and regular camp equipment for lodgings. At some places the pickers will be allowed to form a group and cook for themselves.

An improvement over conditions existing last year has been araged fo by the appointmtnt of an officer from the fruit growers who will visit all fruit farms to receive and investigate all complaints, the idea of the growers being to make things as comfortable as possible. This representative will also adjust wages, it is understood, where crops are such that the pickers are not able to make a fair wage. This arrangement, it is expended will remove much of the cause for complaint that has existed in the past.

In addition to the regular prices for picking bonuses have been provided to be paid at the end of the season. This has been done to financially aid the picker and to ensue the growers steady help in the fields.

At a general meeting of the Growers' Association held on March 9 the following prices for fruit picking 45 cents per crate; bonus, 15 cents per crate. Raspberries, 75 cents per crate; bouns, 15 cents per crate.

Black and red curants, 60 cents per crate; bonus, 15 cents per crate. Loganberries and blackberries, 50 cents per crate; bonus, 15 cents per crate. Gooseberries, 3 cetns per pound, no bonus. For jam berries, 4 cents a pound with 1 cent a pound bonus will be paid excepting loganberries and blackberries, when 3 cents a pound with ½ cent per pound bonus will be the price.

Plenty of Time

A Scotch minister one misty evening fell into a deep mudhole from which he could not climb out and shouted for help.

A passing laborer hearing him, loked down and asked who he was, and then remarked:

"Weel weel, ye needna kick up sic a noise. Ye'll no be needed afoe Sawbath, an' this is only Wednesday nicht."
