This month we are able to send to Vancouver the sum of $55.70; viz: From the Circles $19.00; Anonymous donations $4, $1, $1; Raffled Table Cover won by Mrs. Weatherhead $25: Proceeds of Library for last month $5.70. Total $55.70.

From the circles we should have had $20, but all did not come in, in time; so the remainder will be added to this month's.

Mrs. Silliitoe writes: Thank you so much for the splendid contribution, you have sent for the relief of the Prisoners of War. I think it is truly wonderful the amount you and Mrs. Keeves are raising by your circles. Will you please convey our best thanks to all who are helping." I would like to publish a list of samples of the parcels sent to Prisoners, so that everyone may see what they are helping to send them.

The following is a cutting from a Vancouver paper, I think speaks for itself:

"There is a good deal of pathos in Sergeant Wells' remarks. He speaks to the people not to forget the prisoners of war who were left behind wounded on the field at Ypres. He urges that Canadians should send them parcels of food and clothing, and he assures us that the parcels are delivered. When he was exchanged as a disabled prisoner of war, his comrades implored him to take that message back to Canada, and Wells is doing his best to arouse interest in this matter."

Parcels Sent to Prisoners

1. 1 tin of Corn Beef, 1 tin of Assorted Biscuits, 1 tin of Coffee au lait, 1 tin of Dripping 1 tin of Golden Syrup, 1 tin of Fruit in Syrup, 1 tins of Fish Pastes, 4 Meat Soup Cubes.

2. 1 tin of Pork and Beans, 1 tin of Fruit and Cherry Cake, 1 tin of Mackerel in Oil, 1 tin Margerine, 1 tin of Jam, 1 Box of Cocoa, Milk and Sugar.

These boxes are varied every fornight, but these are two very good samples.

Your Ad. in This Paper

Will Find the Right People

BECAUSE THE RIGHT PEOPLE ARE LOOKING FOR YOUR AD.

If you COULD (although, OF COURSE, you can't) stop every man you meet on the streets asd ask: "Do you want to buy a pair of shoes?" (Or any other kind of goods) You might find half a dozen who would say "Yes." Perhaps not one of these, however, would want to buy the article you want to sell.

If your advertisement, however, were to be printed in these columns this week, it would "stop" EVERY MAN IN TOWN WHO WANTS TO BUY SHOES, OR CLOTHES, OR ANY OTHER ARTICLE—and it wouldn't "stop" anyone who didn't want to buy- That's the beauty of the advertising way of finding a buyer. The ad. finds the buyer through the simple process of being easily and readily found BY the buyer - And if, among the prospective buyers of goods, there is one to whom your goods would be a bargain, and your ad. is a convincing one, you'll sell what you want to sell.

Knight-Thompson, that the resignation of Mr. Abbott be accepted.

Clark-Macdonald that the reeve and council of the Corporation of the District of Mission have received with regret the resignation of Mr. V. H. C. Abbott, who has with credit to himself and advantage to our interests,, filled the important post of Clerk and Collector for over one year; but we apreciate his practical patriotism in intending to become a soldier of the king.

Macdonald-Clark that Mr. J. A. Barr be appointed clerk and collector of Mission municipality at $75 per month.

Could Be Profitably Discussed

Now that the annual meeting of the school district will take place shortly it would be an excelent oportunity for the people of Abbotsford to discuss the introduction of manual training and domestic science into the Abbotsford schools. The training for the boys and girls is of an excellent standing and will be of great benefit to all, were it introduced. The cost is not such a large amount, and Mr. Kyle would be only too glad to address the people on these two subjects at any time.

Don't forget ladies that the Red Cross work is next in importance these days. The boys are fighting nobly and getting wounded and any little attention that they may get through the Red Cross of Abbotsford would be highly appreciated. It is impossible to see the results just now, but the soldiers need the help of the Red Cross.

Mission City people highly appreciate—especially the friends of the late Mr. Hallam—the very quick tri p made to Mission City to attend the injured man's sufferings by Dr. Swift

FRIDAY, JUNE 9 1916

Two Entirely different views of the "plugging."

Few have not taken a keen interest in the inquiry into the Vancouver election in whilh Macdonald was elected over Tisdall. Those who have had an opportunity to read both sides to the story cannot but help thinking that the whole affair is a disgrace to our fair young province and that the parties who are responsible for the bringing into the province of the Seattle scum should be delegated to spend the balance of their days in private life as totally unfit to havee a part in the making of the laws of British Colnmbia. We are all broad-minded enough to look at this matter from an entirely non-partisan point of view and render a verdict of 'punish the plugger parties."

We have all read what the Mainland papers have to say, but sometimes it is well to read what others say. We give the view of the two Victoria dailies, The Colonist (Conservative, and The Times (Liberal):

What the Times has to say:

"The Vancouver election report charges the Liberals with wholesale plugging through the activities of J. L. Scott. Mr. Bowser, however, took mighty good care that Scott should not appear as a witness. He announced, and his press was instructed to publish the announcement in glaring headlines, that if Scott came here he would be arrested. He guaranteed immunity to the gang of Seattle witnesses, "Dynamite Jack," but there was to be none for Scott. We might ordinarily expect that the committee would have wanted to hear from Scott more urgently than from anybody else, yet Mr. Bowser was determined to keep him away at all costs. Knowing the facility with which witnesses could be induced to perjure themselves, he had every reason to be alarmed at a threat of prosecution.

Dynamite Jack Sullivan visited Kamloops a month before the election while Mr. Bowser was there. Two days before the election found him in Seattle, where he was interested in a place known as the Regina Hotel. This fragrant establishment was the rendezvous of some of the men stated to be impersonators. The same steamer that brought these men to Vancouver numbered Sullivan among its passengers. The purser of the steamer swore that he gathered from what he saw that they were Sullivan's gang. Members of Mr. Tisdall's organization kneew they were coming. They had been advised on the Monday before the election, and Sullivan sent wireless messages from the boat to Vancouver describing the party, some of whom stopped at the Irving, Sullivan's hotel, well known as a factor in the machine. Mr. Bowser ist he head of the justice department of the province; he is in the control of the provincial podice; his friends at Ottawa have charge of the immigration service, yet although the number, names, descriptions and whereabouts of these men were known to the Tisdall organizers no serious steps were taken to interfere with their operations! Some of them roomed over the store of Mr. Welsh, one of the Bwser candidates in the general election, and Mr. Welsh suffered from the same overpowering inertia.

Nothing was said about plugging by the defeated party immediately after the election; no charges were made against the Liiberals, although another contest was about to take place in Victoria. Nothing was heard of the matter until Mr. Bowser's accusation of whoesale impersonation was made in the legislature. When did the bright idea strike the desperate political gambler across the Bay that his victorious opponent, the man whom he hates so savagely, could be destroyed by the menas? How long did it take Sullivan to round up the "boys" who with "Kelly" at their head came to Vancouver to vote for the "wet" candidate to prevent a "lot of good fellows going out of business?" How long did it take these offscourings of humanity, the star witnesses, to learn their stories? Were the general public as stupid as Mr. Bowser, most of the self-deceived men, believes it to be the report might be good campaign material. But the public is uncannily alert and logical these days and will draw its own conclusion."

Then The Colonist says:

It is impossible for any right thinking man to regard without regret the disclosures made in the course of the inquiry into the fraudulent practices of the Liberals in the Vancouver by-election. No matter what his political affiliations may be, no one can have read the sordid details brought out under oath without a feeling of profound disgust. The evidence directly connects Mr. M. A. Macdonald, the Liberal member for Vancouver in the late House, with the nefarious actions. As to the extent of that connection, or of his knowledge before or after of the plots hatched in his behalf, we shall express no opinion, but if we give him the full benefit of every doubt legitimately raised by his denials under oath, there remains a residuum that forms a unique record in British Columbia politics. * * *

* * * Nnique expedients were resorted to by Mr. Macdonald and those acting on his behalf. Mr. Macdonald himself admits that he personally hired and paid detectives, giving them carte blanche as to what they should do to assist in the election. That men were brought from Seattle and paid to personate voters on Mr. Macdonald's behalf has been established beyond all chance of contradiction. That a gang of disreputable people were induced by payments of money to violate the law in order to secure a majority for the Liberal candidate cannot be questioned. That some of the persons so employed occupied more or less intimate relations to Mr. Macdonald was also shown. We are not suggesting, for there is no evidence to support the statement, that Mr. Macdonald himself was a party to these fraudulent methods, and we are dealing only with proved facts, and avoiding insinuations. It may be true, and we hope it is true, that Mr. Macdonald is to a certain extent a victim to the unscrupulous men, who seem to have possessed his confidence; but the public can only deal with things as they are made known, and the whole miserable story is one out of which the

Editorial (Continued)

Liberal candidate in Vancouver, whose monumental majority was the astonishment of the whole electorate, comes with shattered prestige and doubtless with a sore heart. We wish to say nothing to impute to him any intentional wrong, but he has learned that "one cannot touch pitch without being defiled."

The character of the witnesses, upon whose testimony these disclosures so damaging to the Liberals of Vancouver were established, has been and doubtless will be assailed by the Liberal press; but it must not be forgotten that the more they condemn these men, the more they condemn themselves for having employed them. They chose to rely upon the assistance of such men to elect their candidate, and it does not now lie in their mouths to object that these men are dishonorable. If they were not, they would not have been willing to accept Liberal money to do that party's dirty work. But whatever the character of these Liberal workers, the story told by them is substantially consistent throughout and forms the most discreditable page in the whole history of Provincial politics. We are hopeful that the lesson of the investigation will not be lost and that never again will any part of British Columbia election campaign be transacted in the dives of Seattle.

This is the same Macdonald who while speaking in the Imperial hall, Mission City, stated that the government at Victoria was "a nest of political charlatans". In the light of recent events these words do not appear to be those of a great moral reformer? But then we supose he never stopped to think what the words meant when he put them together—just sounded a little different from anyhing he had heard before.

The Liberal party throughout the province and the Conservatives who admire Brewster will be glad to know that in no way has his name been conected as yet with the Vancouver election frauds.

Charlie Chaplin has lost the first round in a suit against him for half a million dollars. Even funnny men have their sad movements.

It looks as though there would be a Bull Moose run for president again. The convention don't look as though Roosevelt could do anything else if he wants to become presdent. Eeven then?

A Busy Policeman

A man descended from an excursion train and was wearily making his way to the street car, followed by his wife and fourteen children, when a policeman touched him on the shoulder and said:

"Come along wit' me."

"What for?"

"Bla'd if I know; but when ye're locke up I'll go back and find out why tha' crowd was following ye."

Some j o eh?

"Yis sor, wurk is scarce" said Pat "but Oi got a job lasht Sunday that brought me foive dollars." "What?" said Mr. Goodman, much shocked. "You broke the Sabbath?" "Well, sor," returned Pat, apologetically, "it wus me or the Sabbath. Wan of us had to go broke."

THE STREAK OF YELLOW

With a pocket full of money
Any coward can be brave;
When the skies are bright and sunny
Any man his flag can wave.
But the test of every fellow
Is disaster's sudden blow,
And if he is streaked with yellow
It is then that it will show.

You will never find a quitter
If he's leading in the race;
It is when the fight grows bitter
And another makes the pace
That the coward starts to bellow
And to whimper at his woe;
If a man is streaked with yellow
When he's pressed it's sure to show

Can you stand the gaff of losing,
Can you battle to the end;
Take the cuffing and the bruising
And not let your courage bend?
For the test of pluck is never
When your leading in the race,
But are you game as ever
When another sets the pace?
