IF YOU WERE

If you were busy being kind,
Before you knew it, you would find
You'd soon forget to think 'twas true
That someone was unknd to you
If you were busy being glad,
And cheering people who are sad,
Although your heart might ache a bit,
You'd soon forget to notice it.
If you were busy being good,
And doing just the best you could,
You'd not have time to blame some man
Who's doing just the best he can.
If you were busy being true,
To what you know you ought to do
You'd be so busy you'd forget
The blunders of the folks you've met
If you were busy being right,
You'd find yourself to busy quite
To critize your neighbor long,
Because he's busy being wrong.

THE WORD KAISER.

The word "Kaiser," says an exchange, is coming to have as evil a significance to-day as the name of Napoleon had for certain of our ancestors. Nurses, we have good authority, used to frighten children into obdience by threats of "Boney," who took place of more familiar and effective nursery bogeys. Just in the same way I have heardl naughty youngsters threatened with the imminent appearance of the "Keyser." The habit of attributing minor misfortunes to a far-off menace is one which grows, and, naturally, develops into quaint and unconscious absurdities. The other day, for instance, a clothes-prop gave away and a lot of clean linen was dumped on to a patch of very damp and muddy grass. And the attendant laundry-woman said, as she went to put matters right, "Dash that Keyser!" And she said it without a smile.

WAS UP AGAINST IT.

Going into a telegraph office one day Snapper Garrison, the Jockey, saw an old sporting friend enga ged in writing a telegram.
Be a good fellow and
"Garrison," he said, "I'm sending a telegram to my wife, but I'm broke Be a good fellow and prepay it for me."

Garrison took the message and glanced at t. It read:
"Cook up everything you've got in the house today. I'm coming home tomorrow to hock the stove."
Garrison sent the message.

Prevention of Coal Shortage

This winter we have had a coal "famine" and that suffering has accompanied the shortage of this necessity is undeniable. Average citizen has a notoriously short memory, but now is the time to impress upon him that, in many cases, the suffering was due to lack of foresight. In Canada many people buy in small quantities—often only one ton. If for any cause there is a shortage of of coal. improvident householders demand that the coal dealers do the impossible, namely, that they supply fuel that is unobtainable. Where as had they purchased coal in the summer or autumn, there would be ample supplies available.

While some large consumers, such as manufacturers cannot store a six months' supply, most bins or with enlarged bins, store coal to meet requirements till arch or April.

In recent years, we have had two coal "famines", first in 1901—02, the year of the coal miners' strike and second, this year, when the severity of the weather and the extraordinary prosperity in the United States caused an unprecedented congestion of freight. A survey of conditions in the United States demonstrated that in the future there will be more coal "famines" than in the pat ad there is onlly one remedy BUY YOUR COAL IN THE SUMMER. IF YOU HAVE NOT SUFFICIENT STORAGE, ENLARGE YOUR COAL BIN.

In addition to selling the small fruits of the Creston district and the apples, etc., from the Nelson section the O. U. G. is now endeavoring, it is reported to handle the 1917 strawberries of Gordon Head and Keatings on Vancouver Island.

PERSONALS

The sad news of Pte John Gillen killed in action was receied here by his mother, and many friends Pte. John Gillen was a favorite among the young people, always having a pleasant smile and word. He was one of the first to enlist from the Young People's Society and will be sadly missed by all. The public of our town and district sympathize deeply with his mother and sisters. Another brother is serving his country.

On Friday night three of our soldier boys, Ptes. Gillen, McCallum and Wallace came home for their last leave. Henry on Thursday afternoon., The fish-pond was a centre of interest to all who attended and some wonderful catches have been reported. Although it may seem incredible, and we have every reason to believe it to be true, some of the anglers were actually seen getting bottles—sh!—the regular sized, likely looking kind that you often see Jiggs toting around on his hipp. But listen! There wasna a drappie of goats-milk in them, No Sir, honest to goodness. Treat this confidential—it was homemade cider vinegar brewed on the premises: Those who were thus fortunate in their fishing, it is needless to say, did not imbibe but appeased their appetites with the more delectable comestibles at hand. The proceeds amounted to $18.50 which sum will be given to the Prisoners of War Fund adopted by the local institute.

Mr. T. Catherwood has been confined to the house with a severe cold.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

What is a Nationalized Government?

Quebec's idea of a Nationalized Government is much different from that of Ontario. But what about the unvarnished idea of the Socialist?

There is a chance after all that if some people can't make both ends meet that some will will be able to make one end potatoes. The Canadian government will not put an embargo on potatoes—at least not for the present.

The soldier goes to the front and leaves his wife and bairns to the tender mercies of those who stay at home. What will he say when he comes home and finds out that some people do not believe in the Patriotic Fund, and do not give?

Teddie Roosevelt kicked against the conditions as they were; Joe Martin conducted a campaign against the railways in B. C. Somehow reformers are not always appreciated. A man may be great in his own opinion, but what of the public.

The fruit growing season is again approaching. Are the fruitgrowers any better organized than they were last year? The system of "help yourselves ladies and gentlemen" after shipment, does not always bring the dollars rolling the fruitgrower's way.

"United we stand, divided we fall" The workers to-day are more united than fifty years ago. Consequence, better conditions and higher pay.

The bright sunny days remind one of the conditions of the back-yard—how about the winter's ashes and others things?

The spring poet must have died a natural death. So far we have had no contributions.

Being of a rather economical turn of mind a publisher of a weekly in Alberta is using the pages of T.E's. catalogue for wrapping his papers and the other evening as we were taking the mail out of our P. O. box a lady says, "Oh, I had one of those catalogues the other day."

Hogs reached the $14.35 mark last week, which is somewhat of a record. A year ago they were hovering around $9.30. Truly the war is working great changes, for the hog, which in past years has been looked upon as being of a low order, is now able to hold its head up with an air of distinction and gaze with contempt upon those to whom pork has now become a luxury.—Ex.

One reason the War Loans of Canada have been such a success is that almost every paper you pick up these days calls to the attention of "Investors" the advantage of purchasing. Everybody knows about the next War Loan.

A slacker should be branded as a slacker th world over.—Ex.

William Blakemore, mining engineer, publisher of The Week, leading citizen of Victoria, platform orator and a fearless advocate of progress, and a bitter critic of sham, died last Sunday morning at his home in the Capital City of heart disease. A protege in politics of the great Chamberlain while he was a young man in England, reared in the atomsphere of the iron and coal industry of his native home, a lover of books and a reader of the best that was written. Mr. Blakemore was in a class by himself as cosmopolitan citizen of Canada and a woker in the public auairs of British Columbia. A trenchant and classic writer, with the world as his subject, his front page of comment in the Week was read with interest and pleasure by the people of the old world as well as the New. There was only one Blakemore, one Blakemore style in writing, one Blakemore personality. There will never be another. From his point of view he worked for the best interests of the country and he worked intelligently and effectively. He wil be missed and mourned. May his ashes rest in peace.—Kamloops Standad.

ABBOTSFORD DISTRICT BOARD OF TRADE

President, Hope Alanson Secretary, N. Hill of Abbotsford, B. C.

Meeting Held First Monday of Each Month

Write the secretary regarding manufacturing sites with unexcelled shipping facilities and cheap power or information regarding the farm and fruit lands of the district, and industries already established.

We all enjoyed the reading of Mr. Blakemore's editorial comment, and showed our appreciation by often quoting the "Week".

THEN AND NOW

The modern Huns (if they can be olated territory conceded and tristyled as modern) differ very little from the Huss of ascient days, who were under the leadership of Attilla In perusing an article on the life of Attilla, we find that the chief delight of this leader was to pillage and destroy cites and to lay waste the country. For a time all went well, but after a number of cities had been destroy cites and to lay waste the country. For a time all went well, but after a number of cities had been destroyed, tributes paid to the conqueror, we find on the plains of Marne in a battle with the Romans the Huns were routed on every side and Attila escaped with difficulty. The present day Huns under "Attil II" have followed out the example set by the first Attilla. The tide is now turning and the day is not far distant when the news will be flashed far and wide that they too have been routed on every side. The ancient Huns although pursued as far as the Rhine were allowed to return and in a year following the battle Attila had recovered his strength and again commenced his work of devastation.

But the history of the present age will differ in one respect. The Allies will see to it that the Huns will never again have strength enough to commence their barbaric acts.

THE SALVE FOR LINING.

A Riverside mother was injured in a motor car accident lately and a few days afterward her little boy said: "Mamma, I am glad you were hurt." "Why?" exclaimed his mother. "Because," he replied, "now you are always home when I get back from school."

PICKED THE RIGHT SPOT

"I see where a rich man has built a lake and flower garden on top of an apartment house."

"That would be just the place for a truck garden."

"Why."

"I don't see how the neighbor's chickens could ever get up there."—

RED CROSS REPORT

In the latest Red Cross monthly report to hand still another plea appears that women should not let this work slacken as it has. "Last month in London the Red Coss had calls for 7615 cases of supplies. They had but 2812 on hand. "such is the appalling statement that is made. What is causing women to slacken their efforts in this fashion? Has the war been so prolonged that what at first was almost a fashionable fad has now become just "uninteresting work"? This can not be. But the truth remains, Red Cross workers need some rousing. However Canada is not the only slacker. From London a correspondent writes: "Just as there are black sheep in every fold,so there is a certain number of slackers among the aristocratic war workers—fair ones who do just enough nursing or canteen work or munition making or labor on the land to have the right to wear the pisturesque garb associated with these industries and to get their photographs in the illustrated papers. this satisfactorily effected, the enthusiasm of these swankers as they are dubbed by their scornful and earnest sisters, soon suffers a perceptible wane and the hospitals, factories anad workrooms that knew them for a brief space know them no more. Such triflers, however, represent the smallest minorities, the thing that chiefly strikes one in connection with the fair ones, titled or otherwise, who are doing heipful work in connection with the war, being the determination and doggedness with which they stick to it. A good example is pretty and quaintly named Lady Mary Cecilia Rhodesia Hamilton, eldest daughter of the Duke of Abercorn, who has kept on with her munitions work at the pickers works for over a year, in spite of one rather bad accident, and who apparently has not the slightest notion of quitting." It is interesting to note, by the way, that this lady's engagement has just been announced to Col. Kenyon-Slaney, aide-de-camp to the Duke of Devonshire.

BRITAIN— CALLS TO CANADA—

THE FACTORY — THE FARM

She must have Food—

for her Armies in the Field—for her Workers in the Factory—in the Munition plant—in the Shipyard—in the Mine.

THERE'S DANGER IN SIGHT—BUT YOU CAN HELP

DO YOU KNOW—
that the rapidly rising price of food stuffs means that the World's reserve supply is getting small?

DO YOU KNOW—that a world-wide famine can only be averted by increasing this supply?

DO YOU KNOW—that a "food famine" would be a worse disaster to the Empire and her Allies than reverses in the Field?

YOU CAN—help thwart Germany's desperate submarine thrust on the high seas.

YOU CAN—
do this by helping to make every bit of land in Canada produce—the very last pound of food stuffs of which it is capable.

AND REMEMBER—that no man can say that he has fully done his part—who having land—be it garden patch, or farm, or ranch—fails to make it produce food to its utmost capacity.
