Dr Robinson Quits Education Office

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 3.—Dr. Alexander Robinson's connection with the provincial department of education will cease today. An order-in-council giving effect to the severance and appointing a successor was passed at this morning's meeting of the Oliver cabinet. He will be granted a gratuity of three months' salary and a retiring allowance of $133 per month. His successor will be Samuel J. Willis, B. A., at present principal of King Edward High School, Vancouver.

Dr. Robinson is a native of the north of Ireland. He came to British Columbia from Nova Scotia in 1890, and was principal of public schools and of high school in Vancouver up to 1898, when he was appointed superintendent of education. His high standing in education affairs was recognized in 1907 by his election to the presidency of the Dominion Education Association.

Mr. Robinson belonged to the old school of curricula, and was a man of firm convictions as to policy. While education under his direction made rapid strides, in later years he was much in the limelight when he expressed himself as strongly averse to such educational developments as domestic science.

Samuel J. Willis received his education at McGill University, Montreal, where he graduated in 1900, and received his M. A., at Charlottetown, P.E.I. where he led in classics and of McGill tied with his nearest competitor for the Chapman medal in classics.

Coming west in 1900 he taught in the Victoria High School, and later became principal. In 1915 he was transferred to the University of B.C. as professor of classics. With the resignation of Principal S. W. Mathews at King Edward High School Mr. Willis was apopinted in his place on July 4, 1918. Since then he has had charge there and has created a very favorable impression both on the students and the teaching staff of the school.

Peardonville

Peardonville is to be the latest link in the chain of jitneys now growing through the valley. Mr. Moody ,mail carrier on R. R. I from Abbotsford having bought a new car is applying for a license to establish a jitney service through Pinegrove, Peardonville and Abbolsford.

A Cannery For Huntingdon

A large canning company is said to be interested in the greater production of raspberries in the Huntingdon district, now proved to be so favorable for these berries. Ten acres next to the Curtis ranch will be cleared this winter and planted next spring if a contract can be let for the clearing.

Abbotsford looks prosperous these days with all the new settlers coming to the surrounding country and doing their business in town here. The town now looks in better shape than it has since 1910, when everybody said it was going to boom.

An Ohio girl who is unable to speak above a whisper has had 147 offers of marriage in the past six months.

SUMAS COURT OF REVISION

The Sumas Municipal Council have set December 10 at 12 o'clock noon as the day of the Court of Revision of the voters' list. The reeve, with Councillors DeLair and Austin will constitute the court.

Hearing that the Land Settlement Board would be asked to hold their dyking meeting on the lower side of the lake, the council are sending an invitation to the board that the meeting take place in the Municipal Hall where all previous dyking meetings have been held

As finally passed the Sumas Motor Traffic By-law limits the speed of autos in this district to 20 miles an hour. A reduction of speed to 10 mile per hour is demanded when meeting or passing horse-driven vehicles and 15 when they are passing other cars. The object of the bylaw is contained in the clauses which stipulate that a full half of the road width shall be given by cars when meeting other vehicle s. Had this been done in the past there would have been little cause for the present restrictions.

VICTORY LOAN NOW REACHES $208,000,000

Toronto, Ont. Nov. 5th.—E .R. Wood, chairman of the dominion executive of the Victory Loan made the following comments on the success of the campaign to date: "The campaign is now practically half finished. The success to date has been due in large measure to the fact that investors who have so far purchased bonds have bought more than they did in previous loans. The fact that experienced investors large and small, have subscribed early and have taken more bonds than ever before, indicates that they recognize the attractiveness of the Victory Loan as an investment as well as appreciating the patriotic necessity of cleaning up our war obligations and maintaining prosperity. The total subscribed reported so far aggregate $208,000,000. It must be remembered however that this amount includes a very large proportion of the big subscriptions, available and in order to make a success of the loan it will be necessary as in previous years, that the medium and smaller subscribers shall come forward in great numbers.

"The rate of interest carried by the bonds namely 5 1-2 per cent is same as on the loans issued in the dark days of the war, all of which loans are selling at substantial premiums. As a matter of fact, this new loan is particularly attractive from the standpoint of the small investor and one of the gratifying features of the campaign has been the readiness with which the employees of industries have taken the loan where they had the experience of buying previous loans. This is Canada's final war effort and it is not only good business but good patriotism for every Canadian to become the owner of a victory bond. Let every man and woman in Canada buy bonds to the limit of their ability and prospective savings of the next ten months."

Messrs Wright and Johnson in the Abbotsford Garage say they are doing a rushing business.

A little girl once said she was certain she did not get her temper from her mother, for her mamma still had hers.

THE ABBOTSFORD GHOSTS

The ghosts of Hallawe'en, well drilled, well dressed and of course well behaved, were all gathered in the Alexandria Hall on Friday evening. Not terrorizing nervous folk but dancing to their amusement,they appeared as fairies and brownies, witches and Jack-o'-Lanterns. Any other day they were school children but under the direction of their teach Miss Herkin's class became witches with brooms for the nonce, Miss Saxton's were animated pumpkins of fiery mein and those under Miss Borden were changed by a spell into the most delightful brownies. All this was in the school entertainment part of the concert held to make money for the school Victrola. Intermingled with the drills and dances was a concert performance given by the music pupils of the Misses Steede. Naturally these items were chiefly pianoforte solos but as each performer had recently passed the examination of the Associated Board of the R. A. and R. C. of Music, London, there was both variety and excellence in each individual exhibition. Certificates gained by the pupils in this examination were presented during the evening, not one of the competitors failing to pass. The recipients were Misses Shirley Seldon, V. Stuart, Gladys York, Kate Parton, Lillian Ball, Kitty Taylor and Gwen Tapp with Ace Haddrell and Harold McMenemy.

In the higher division the Misses Nelson, King and McMenemy won distinction. The teachers' prizes for excellent work were won by Miss Iene King and Miss K. Parton. A feature of this annual concert now grown into a tradition, was a toy symphony rendered by the pupils who made a tuneful and harmonious medley of music from toy drums, tin whistles nightingale warblers kept in order by the full grown piano and expert violinist. This performance was as popular as ever. The audience was pleased to enthusiasm by Mr. Featherstone, who gave violin solos that were encored with fervor. It is seldom that such skilled execution with the bow is heard in the country.

Miss Audrey Mildmay, the accomplished soprano, made a special visit from Vancouver to give two songs, kindly increasing the number to four at the insistent desire of the applauding audience charmed with her fine voice. There could be no mistake about the appreciation by the rear end of the audience of the various items. The time-honored clapping of hands was discarded for whistling, an art ever new to youth. The shrill blasts in discordant semi-tones, ear-splitting and nerve racking to sensitive people were disturbing to the extreme to the cultured occupants of the front seats who prefer milder expressions of appreciation. That all the seats, front and back, side seats and extra seats were taken in full was gratifying to the directors of the highly entertaining programme and the Victrola is assured to the school.

SECOND DAILY TRAIN SERVICE INAUGURATED IN B. C.

The opening of the new terminal of the Canadian National with its daily train service marks another step in the growth and progress of the province. It was only when the Canadian Pacific found its terminal at what is now Vancouver did the Mainland of the province begin to do business, since which time it has been our pride and our boast to see grow up on the Pacific coast mainland one of the finest provinces of the Dominion, and with rapid strides. Now that a second daily train service has been inaugurated through districts not touched by the first railway, the province should make within the next quarter of a century double strides with a terminus at Vancouver of a city of a million of people.

The new daily train service of the Canadian National gives the south side of the Fraser equal advantage with the north and with its present good start the progress on the south side of the Fraser should be even more rapid than that to the north, as it has now greater railway facilities.

The C. N. R. has been and will be as great a factor in the development of the province as has the C. P. R., as we are only beginning to see and find out about British Columbia. The name of the late Sir Richard McBride and his colleagues will be linked with the institution of the second daily transcontinental as much as the name of the late Sir John A. Macdonald was with that of the Canadian Pacific Railway; and there are probably good old Grits in British Columbia who today see no more necessity for the second transcontinental than did the good old Grits of Ontario see for building up into the great "sea of mountains" over thirty years ago. There are other political comparisons too—just ask John Oliver.

GIVING SIR HENRY A HINT

The daily paper published in the morning has been handing out a couple of hints how that politician should handle his department at Ottawa, in order to make it meet the requirements of the province of British Columbia in particular. We sincerely hope the Sun will have more success with Sir Henry Drayton than this paper has had with the premier of this province, into whom we have been trying to inoculate a little good roads sense for several years now. We don't seem to make much progress. However, Sir Henry is a politician with great business experience and has already been counted among the successful men.

The daily paper announce that Dr. Robinson, has been relieved of his job with three months' pay and and a pension. It is over twenty years ago that he took the position of superintendent of Education for the province of British Columbia and during that length of time he has befriended many a teacher of this province, now in the profession and many out of the profession in other walks of life, all of whom will regret to see him shelved by the present government. The growth of the B. C school system required that a firm hand should control the affairs of education, but we believe the verdict of all will ever be that while firm, Dr. Robinson was at least fair and no teacher ever suffered at the treatment meted out by the late superintendent of education for British Columbia. When it is considered that there is trouble in over half of the school sections of the province at least once a year or more and that it finds its way to the department of education, the position is no sinecure, especially when that is only a part of the duty of a superintendent. Twenty years is a long time to hold such an important position.

Statistics furnished by the Finance Department at Ottawa for the six months ending September 30th, 1919 show a most encouraging state of affairs, even though there has been a decrease in Canada's total trade as compared with the same six months of 1918. The total value of Canadian trade, export and import from April 1st to Sept. 30th. 1918 was $1,087,232,880: and for the same period in the present year $1,054,657,462 or $32,575,418 less. But the chief drop was in the value of imports. Exports fell only $11,329,805 as compared with the 1918 totals. When it is remembered that last year the war was still in progress and Canada was exporting munitions that ceased to be made so soon as the armstice was signed, the decrease in exports is surprisingly low. It is clear that our exports of a permanent character, both agricultural and of manufactured commodities, must have risen above even those of the war period.

Canada therefore has maintained a great overseas market for something more than supplies, which she has an opportunity of permanently holding. But this market was only rendered possible by the credits furnished to Great Britain and European countries. Unless the Canadian people by a generous oversubscription to the 1919 Victory Loan, furnish the capital whereby these credits and this vast trade can be maintained, the same period of 1920 will show a shrinkage that cannot be restored.

Governments like people put off the evil day as long as possible in many instances, and while the Dominion government as at present constituted may think that the question of gratuities is not an important one, yet we believe the soldiers of Vancouver expressed a thought which if put into action would settle the matter just right and to suit the people of Canada. What they said was something like this, 'we will help to put this loan over, and another one for ourselves', which means that a seventh loan—a loan to pay gratuities—would suit the soldiers and settle the matter. The politicians should take warning that this is a question that has had already much thought by the people of Canada, and the verdict favors the soldiers' wishes.

Victory Loan 1919 Is Bridge Between War and Peace.

Agricultural and Industrial Prosperity of Canada Depends on Success of the Loan.

Why is it necessary to have another Victory Loan? Have you heard this query? Or have you asked it?

The Victory Loan of this year stands out as the bridge between war and peace. The war is over. Our boys won that. The reconstruction period is dawning and we at home must win that.

Much of the money that Canada is asking for will be needed to clean up the war debt. The expenses of demobilization were heavy, and there is still much of it unpaid. Now that our men are back, let it not be said that we repudiated the debt for bringing them back.

The sick and wounded soldiers still in hospitals are expecting that Canada will care for them and their dependents until they have been returned to health and strength. The hospital services must be maintained at full strength as long as there are returned men needing attention.

Many men through disability are unable to return to their pre-war occupations. The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is doing a fine work in training returned soldiers in trades and professions that they can earn a living at, and is following up the training and seeing that they obtain remunerative employment. The maintaining of this branch of reconstructive service calls for much funds, and the Victory Loan will be used to pay for it as well as the other purposes.

Under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, enough money is lent to returned soldiers to enable them to buy and stock a farm. This money will be repaid at a low rate of interest. The soldier is thus given a chance to re-instate himself in civil life, and production is given a boost. Of the total amount of the forthcoming loan, $24,000,000 has been apportioned to finance these soldier-farmers.

Pensions to the disabled and dependents of our glorious dead, as well as the authorized gratuities will be other items on the expense sheet. These are some of the obligations owing to the returned soldier who is now in health.

The maintaining of Canada's prosperity is an important reason why the Victory Loan should be a smashing success. The money is needed to finance the credits to overseas countries so that they may continue their trade relations with us. If Canada cannot give these credits other countries will, and then Canada will lose all that great overseas trade that has been the mainstay of our agricultural and industrial life for so long.

As an investment Victory Bonds are eminent. Paying 5½ per cent., selling above par on the open market, and guaranteed by the Dominion—what further reason can you have for hesitating? The Victory Loan 1919 ought to be oversubscribed, and all right-thinking citizens will do their utmost to see that such a result is obtained.

LEVELS CRITICISM AT EXAMINATION SYSTEM OF B.C.

Criticism of the public school examination system was voiced by Dr. J. G. Davidson at the annual meeting of the Canadian club, held in the Board of Trade rooms in Vancouver this week. Dr. Davidson declared the present system did not develop the imaginations of the pupils; it simply used their wonderful memories.

Premium for Pure Bred Rams

Any sheep raiser who purchases a pure bred registered ram of any recognized breed recorded in the Canadian National Live Stock records or eligible for such registration for use in his own flock, and who has not previously used a pure bred registered ram shall be entitled to the annual premium of $5.00 for two consecutive years provided he will comply with the regulations specified in Pamphlet No. 19.

It has been decided that the best way to prove the value of purebred rams is to help every sheep raiser who has not previously used a pure bred ram, to use his own flock for demonstrating the value of this practice. Therefore the Dominion Department of Agriculture will grant to bona fide applicants who comply with the above mentioned regulations a sum fo $5.00 annually, for two years, for each pure bred registered shall be permitted to receive for more than four rams. Regular forms to be used in making applications under this policy are to be found in the back of Pamphlet No. 19.

Account Books For Farmers

Plugging the leaks, preventing waste and keeping careful track of the cost of production is becoming more and more a necessary part of the successful farmers' life. There was a time when the bookkeeping farmer was the exception, to-day nearly every farmer keeps books, more or less complete. There is no line of business or industry in which the time required for keeping books yields a greater return than on the farm. The average farm has so many sources of income and such a variety of avenues of outgo that carefully kept books offer the only means of distinguishing the profitable from the unprofitable lines of endeavor. Then there is the matter of inventory, in many cases the wealth of a farm multiplies on the farm, many a farmer whose bank account shows no increase at the end of a year has made a substantial profit hat is represented in the increased holdings of stock, grain or chattels On the other hand it is doubtful if any business offers as many opportunities for erroneous ideas of profit because you do not have to pay cash for some of the food you consume des not prove that it did not cost anything. There may be more cash on hand in the bank and still a heavy loss on the year's operations. An inventory, carefully balanced at stated intervals i sthe only way a farmer has of telling exactly how much he has to show for his labor during a given period. There are several reasons why every farmer should keep books to find the cost, profit or loss on any one line of endeavor is one god reason but there are others. been paid to farmers that would have been paid to farmers by the insurance companies remains unpaid because after the fire the farmer had to depend on memory and failed to remember articles that were lost. How many farmers, if they were wiped out by fire could correctly inventory their loss from memory. Then there is the case of the farmer doing business with other business men, should he wish to sell his farm, how much easier it is to arrive at a fair price for the property,and how much easier it is to sell the place if the vendor can show the prospective buyer that the farm is at present paying a fair profit on the price asked. How many farm sales have fallen through simply because the vendor could not prove that he was making a profit. In the event of a farmer wanting to borrow some money from a loan company or a chartered bank, how it simplifies matters if he can show the manager of the corporation a complete statement of what he possesses and of what his farm has earned in a given number of years.

The Merchants Bank of Canada have adopted a very practical way of helping to popularize the keeping of books by farmers by issuing, free of cost, to farmers who ask for it a book, that is the last word in condensed and simplified farm bookkeeping and yet is complete enough to show at a glance, the cost of production, the profit or loss on any particular line such as stock, grain, or vegetables, while the inventory can be quickly balanced to show a man's total possession, total increase total cost and total profit.

When a man keeps one of these books, his worries over filling out an income tax report are at an end for the book not only shows what the income is but also gives epxlicit instructions on how to make out the required papers. This great and growing financial institution deserves considerable credit for getting out such a complete and useful book printed on good paper in a convenient size for everyday use. Any farmer can secure one of these books by simply asking for it at any branch of the Merchants Bank of Canada and for the convenience of the farmers of the Fraser Valley an arrangement has recently been made whereby copies of these books will be made available, without cost to any bona-fide farmer who applies for one at the Market building at New Westminster on Friday morning of each week.

Credits Must Be Established for Sale of Surplus Products.

Success of Victory Loan 1919 Will Insure Steady Markets for Farmers.

It takes some six bushels of wheat to feed the average person in Canada annually. Roughly, therefore, the eight million people here consume about 50,000,000 bushels each year. But even in a poor year the crop is some five times that amount, and the surplus must be sold if the farmers are to get a return for their time and labor. But the sale of the crop must be financed. Great Britain, which provides our greatest market, has not the ready cash; and so Canada must find means of raising the money. Hence the Victory Loan 1919. In view of the fact that the prosperity of the Dominion is dependent to a considerable extent upon the sale of her surplus grain the necessity of the money being forthcoming is patent.

Your dollar may be the last straw that sweeps the Victory Loan over the top. Would you take the chance of making it a failure?

Lend your money that your pay envelope may be always filled, as will follow the success of the Victory Loan.

Victory Bonds are the fodder that keeps the machinery of Canada's industrial world running at full speed.

A Victory Loan Message

NO soldier who fought in France and Flanders with the Canadian Corps was doing his full duty unless he was at all times prepared to go the limit; to pay with his life, if there was need of it, for the victory of the principles he was fighting for. No one who stayed at home does his today unless he is prepared to give up his last dollar if it is required to discharge Canada's debt to the men who, by fighting for her, were disabled for life; to the widows and orphans of her glorious dead; and to the returned men who need work provided that they may re-establish themselves and their homes. Canada's honor to her own sons is at stake with the success or failure of the Victory Loan.

No Mission Traffic Yet in Sight

At the regular meting of the council the ladies of the district arranged for the use of the hall for November 12 when they will consider the advisability of forming a local Women's Institute for the district of Mt. Leiman.

A pleasant welcome was accorded to Councillor Keay on taking his seat again at the council table on Saturday after many weeks' illness.

A resident of Bradner complained in a letter of the continual trespass of a herd of cattle which could not be kept out of the writer's clearing. The fences had been broken again and again. After considering the matter the council here again felt that a pound bylaw was required.

Premier Oliver has communicated with Mr. F. W. Peters, general superintendent of the C. P. R. on the urgent need for a passenger bridge over the Fraser at Mission. Various suggestions including an overhead vehicular bridge, a "wing bridge" and the planking of the present railroad track, were mentioned by the Premier, but the superintendent decided that none of them are feasible. So the ferries will continue to ply.

A much smaller bridge, one near the Stewart ranch looms just as large before the people just now, for a removal van fell through it a few days ago. and again it gave way under a horse. Mr. S. H. Clarke, secretary of the Clayburn G. W. V. A. petitioned the council by letter for its immediate repair as the land is now being taken up by many ex-military settlers. Councillor Phinney reported that arrangements had already been made for the repair of the defective crossing.

Correspondence read before the council showed that their petition had been successful in asking for a training farm to be chosen in Matsqui, as about half way between Agassiz and the Colony Farm. The government will use the Hygienic Farm for this purpose.

The B.C.E.R. spur at Clayburn will receive attention says Superintendent Elson as soon as particulars are given by the council. It looked as if a clerical error had put "square" for 'spurf and as both are at Clayburn, there was confusion without fault of the company.

When the big power line from Stave Lake to Bellingham was built through Matsqui by the Western Power Co. a condition of the franchise was made by the council that light and power be supplied to the farmers along the route.

Financial stringency and abnormal conditions in the war years have prevented the company carrying out these conditions, though repeated requests have been made. Now the people are determined to get these modern facilities. The company, intimating that revenue from this source would not pay interest on the cost of installation suggest that the case be laid before Commissioner Retallack under the Public Utilities Act After careful consideration of the solicitor's letters the council appointed a committee of the reeve and Councillors Phinney and Aish to take what action they found advisable towards securing electric light and power for the municipality.

Applications for the municipal assessorship were received from the Soldiers' Settlement Commission, but were too late to be considered as Mr. Stevenson was appointed at the last meeting at a salary of $400. Tax arrears and current rates have come in so satisfactorily that the collector was able to report all bills and notes paid off and a balance to the good The roads will benefit by extra appropriations to that extent of half the tax arrears received.

A delegation from the School Board met the council to consider a joint procedure in planting trees, round the municipal hall and adjoining the school grounds the plan to be part of a scheme of memorials to the heroes of the war.

Councillor Melander and Trustee Jackson were entrusted finally with the purchase and planting of suitable trees at once. Trees will be obtained from the Aldergrove nurseries if they are found to be suitable.

Another difficulty of less harmonious solution was discussed by the two bodies. Sale of a part of the Matsqui school grounds was under way by the council, when the School Board sent in an objection. A previous board had requested that this unused portion be sold, and the council were acting on this request. When they discovered that the present board were unwilling to release the property, the council suggested a joint meeting, which somehow did not mature. The sale then proceeded but cannot be consummated without the board's permisison. The trustees suggested that the council might conclude the sale, turn over the proceeds and give the board title to the remainder without expense to them. When both parties are assured that no slight or difference was intended on either side, the difficulty will be easily adjusted. Evidence was overwhelming that both board and council were acting in the best interests of the ratepayers and the present impasse is due only to want of sufficient explanation.

A good sign of the progress of the district came out in the recent board meeting when it was decided that an extra room must be furnished in the Matsqui High School to accommodate new scholars. Application to the government for permission to engage an assistant principal has been received favorably and will be acted upon immediately.

BUILDING LARGER AGAIN

Messrs King-Beach Manufacturing Company have started the erection of another addition to their building of 90 by 120 feet, which will probably be used for a boiler room.

Every year this firm adds an addition to their already large establishment, which shows that their business must be growing, also that they have faith in the district.

Mr. J. E. Hayes has taken over Mr F. Brown's fruit ranch.

American investors are subscribing to Canada's Victory Loan. The know a good thing.
