MODEL FARM FOR ALBERNI

Land Company Plans the Putting Into Shape of Such a Place Across Somass River.

Alberni is to have a Model Farm, well equipped and up to date in every particular.

For a long time past the Anderson interests in the Alberni valley have had this idea in mind, and now the matter will have to materialize in the near future. It appears that there is a portion of the land across the Somass river that was included in the proposed limits of the City of Alberni, now applying for incorporation. This land, Sir Kenneth Anderson has pledged, will be used for the purpose of establishing a model dairy and general produce farm, if it can be excluded from the limits of the proposed city. The committee in charge of the incorporation matters has made an inspection of the land in question, and has promised to try and meet Sir Kenneth in regard to the matter in such a manner as to throw no obstacles in the way with regard to the farm. It is a part of the programme that the lower end of this land will be set aside for a public recreation ground, and the upper portion, in behind the old "Davis Place," to be used for the farm.

For a long time the company has felt that such a place would be of the greatest value to them in their efforts to settle up the valley, and thus render their town holdings more valuable. They propose to place this work in the hands of experts who will bring the place into such condition as to become a general object lesson to all who come into Alberni with regard to the agricultural and dairying possibilities of the district. At the same time it is felt that the venture will become a paying one from a purely commercial standpoint. There are good markets right at the doors for every pound of the products of such a place, and the entire scheme should be of the greatest value to all parties.

There is a large amount of the very best land in the district that is not being cultivated at the present time, and it is a matter of record that many would-be investors, who have come into this place lately, have been turned away owing to the fact that they could not see a proper demonstration of the possibilities of the place along the lines in which they were interested. With such an institution as that proposed by the Alberni Land Company, these people could have been taken to the farm, and shown in a few minutes more with regard to the possibilities along these lines, than could be demonstrated to them in a week of rambling around the valley.

It is to be hoped that the company will let no unnecessary time pass before putting into execution the present plans for the model farm. In fact it is only by getting the work in hand at an early date that they can keep faith with the people of Alberni, if they see fit to meet the demand for the exclusion of the land in question.

In connection with this place it will in all probability be found that something in the way of a poultry section will be introduced. The Alberni District offers the very highest attractions in the way of an almost ideal place for the poultry business, and no model farm in this part of the country would be worthy of the name if it did not include an up to date section that would be able to show what can be done with selected and high class poultry when handled right.

A LOG JAM

The sportsman who makes a trip to the interior of Vancouver Island rarely has to complain of the lack of variety in the experiences which he encounters. Often a stroll for a basket of fish up a stream along which there are places where one can step from one bank to the other, will bring the traveller to a situation like that shown by the artist in the above cut. However small the stream may be now there has been a time when its banks were running raging torrents to turn, twist and pile up those forrest giants like so much cord wood. If you are fishing never pass one of these log jams without making a try at the water around them, for the trout find favorite lurking places under those big logs and the deep pools that almost always form around these jams.

TOFINO

(Special Correspondence.)

A gasoline launch from Alberni with a party of men going into the Kennedy Lake had the misfortune, during a fog, to run upon a sandbar at the entrance to Clayoquot Sound. Every effort to float her was used by the parties on board, and, after many attempts, they had to abandon the Launch and go to Tofino for help.

Two large launches were taken out but, owing to the heavy surf they could not get close enough to her to do any good. The owner then got a gang of men under Mr. Murdock McLeod, who made a skidway and soon had the launch afloat, which was but little the worse for being pounding on the bar for a couple of tides.

Capt. J. N. Thompson, who was employed last year as night watchman at the Clayoquot cannery, will again take hold of the same position, keeping an ever watchful eye over the plant and those that slumber.

Mr. M. C. Pease has purchased the rain-bowed launch from J. Nakamura and is now open to meet all comers.

Four pupils belonging to the rural school here wrote for the examination to High School in the early part of the week, and a public examination was held late in the week for the rest of the pupils. Most of the parents of the children attended the examination and it was the universal opinion that the teacher, Mr. Drader, had spared no effort during the past term to bring the pupils of the school to a form of proficiency. Mr. Drader will spend his vacation in Victoria, and will return at the expiration of the holidays to open school.

Most of the residents here celebrated Dominion day by attending a dance in the evening, given by one of our young patriotic bachelors. From reports next day they spent a most enjoyable time.

A Pleasant Visit.

The advocate this week received a pleasant visit from Miss A. L. Mullen, publisher of "The Week End," the Vancouver Island journal of recreation. The Week End is a bright and clever little journal devoted to the fads and fancies, social and otherwise, of the Island, as well as the more serious side of the general development of the section which it champions.

The July 2nd. number contains articles on both Alberni and Port Alberni that are well written, and indicate a desire to promote general interests rather than unduely favor any particular place. The Week End appears to be one of those little papers that are really "worth while."

Court of Inquiry.

The court of inquiry regarding the incorporation of the city of Alberni will be opened by Mr. Thornton Fell, at Alberni, on July 25th. at 10 a. m.

HOPE TO BEGIN WORK AT ONCE

It is Thought That Work on the New Water System for Alberni Will be Started Next Week.

"We hope to begin work on the new system within the next week or ten days" was the answer of Mr. Hill, engineer for the Canadian Pipe Company, when asked as to the date, "and from that time every effort will be used to push the work to completion within fifty to sixty days."

From what could be learned as to the present state of the affairs of the Roger Creek Water Works Company, it appears that there is now only the signing of the formal agreement. All the details have been agreed upon, and a slight hitch in the financing of the scheme has been removed, so that from now on, it is only a matter of counting the days until the work will begin. This should be some time next week, according to the present arrangements.

The line will be slightly changed in a few places, and an effort will be made to keep closer to the old road so that the delivery of the pipe will be easier and quicker. In all probability the VanDecar addition will be cut out of the plan, and the water brought more direct to the town. The main line will also be changed to Johnson's Road, and counter for the lateral at Victoria Quay. In all some four miles of these four-inch laterals will be put in, and the entire district surrounding Alberni will be served with water as fast as it is found to be a paying proposition to put down the service pipes.

In connection with the present plans of the company, is the idea of putting in a reservoir at the top of the school house hill to take the strain off the main pipe line. This is advised by the pipe company, and is a common practice all over the country. In case of fire, where there are several streams playing at the same time, there is a great shock to the main pipe in case these are shut off suddenly, and a reservoir takes this off the big pipe. Then there will be a bypass pipe that will enable the main line of pipe to supply the town in case there is need to shut off the reservoir at any time. With these additions to the system as at first proposed, it would appear that Alberni will soon have a system that will be second to none so far as modern conveniences are concerned.

Two and three way hydrants are provided for all over the town, and at some of the important points throughout the district, so that there will be the best of fire protection, and it is thought that the insurance rates will be materially lowered in consequence.

The present Board of Directors are working hard to get things in shape for an early start on the work, and with this idea in mind have arranged for Mr. J. G. C. Wood, one of their number, to meet the representatives of the pipe company in Victoria this week, and have all the papers looked over by the company solicitors before the signature of the water company is affixed. When this is done the contractors assure the water company that only a few days will be allowed to pass before the first gang of men are put to work. It is the intention to have just as many men on the work as can be used to advantage, so that several camps will no doubt be busy by the middle of the month.

HAS A STRANGE IDEA OF HUMOR

Some person or persons are abroad in the land who seem to possess a very strange and perverted sense of what constitutes "humor" within any proper limits of the term. On Tuesday morning it appears to have occurred to these pinheads that it would be particularly unfrithful to turn loose a number of horses belonging to local people. As part of this programme several stables were visited, and the horses taken out and turned loose. Naturally the owners were at a loss to know just what steps to take, and the police were notified in case it should prove to be a case of genuine stealing. During the day most of the horses were recovered, but as might have been expected some of them were in bad shape from the running through the bush.

To enter a place with closed doors and take an animal out of the premises, and away from the property, constitutes a very serious crime, and one that might be punished by a long period in jail, no matter what was done in the way of turning the animal free later on.

It is to be hoped that the police will succeed in locating the joker or jokers, and that during a term of seclusion as guests of the government, they may have time to fully reflect as to just how "funny" such escapades really are.

The editor of the Alberni Advocate, who was one of the victims of this "joke," offers a reward of twenty-five dollars for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who took a hand in this raid on his stable, and took therefrom a horse on Monday night or Tuesday morning.

A New Firm.

A new firm of real estate dealers will operate in Alberni from now on. Messrs. H. Frank and E. H. Debruyne have formed a partnership for the purpose of dealing in real estate and insurance, and have opened offices in the building formerly occupied as the Bird Furniture store, at the corner of Johnson Road and Elizabeth street. The new offices are well equipped, and a number of fine photos from the studio of Mr. Leonard Frank adorn the walls. The new firm have already secured a fine list of Alberni and district properties, and are in line for a good business.

Dissolution of Partnership.

The partnership heretofore existing between R. McKim and W. E. Ryder, under the firm name of McKim & Ryder, has been dissolved by mutual consent. All monies owing to the firm are to be paid to W. E. Ryder. The business will be carried on in the future under the firm name of W. E. Ryder & Co., Architects, Port Alberni. Mr. McKim left this week to take up his residence in Kamloops, B. C.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT CAUSES THE DEATH OF WILLIAM N. CLARKE

A fatal automobile accident, which occurred in the vicinity of Alberni on Tuesday morning, has cast a gloom over the entire community. As the result of the overturning of the car William N. Clarke, and George Clarke were pinned beneath the vehicle, and the former so badly injured that death came before the machine could be lifted from his body. The other man was badly bruised but not seriously injured, and was able to run for medical aid shortly after being taken from under the auto. The car was turned quite over, and when the people who were attracted by the cries for help of George Clarke, came on the scene it was found that both passengers were pinned fast to the ground by the weight of the machine. The auto was quickly lifted from them, but on investigation it was found that William Clarke was already dead.

The accident happened near the south end of the Roger Creek bridge at about two o'clock on Tuesday morning.

At the opening of the afternoon session of the inquest Mr. R. J. Burde appeared on behalf of the Attorney General's Office, and asked to have the case adjourned until Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, in order to have a number of additional witnesses called, and at the same time announced that in all probability a representative of the Crown would be in by that time to take the case in hand.

When the case was called on Thursday morning, Dr. Pybus retired and Dr. Drysdale, coroner for the Nanaimo District, took charge of the inquest. Mr. J. A. Aikman appeared as the legal representative of George Clarke, Mr. V. B. Harrison watched the proceeding on behalf of the widow of the deceased and Mr. D. Stephens appeared on behalf of the Crown.

There was really little in the way of added information brought out at the examination on Thursday, and after the evidence was all in the jury rendered the following verdict:

The Verdict.

We, the jury sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of the deceased William Nicholas Clarke, find from the evidence submitted, that the deceased came to his death through the overturning of an automobile driven by George Clarke, of Alberni, and that the upsetting was caused by the bursting of a tire on the left rear wheel thus causing the machine to swerve and upset into the ditch near the Roger Creek Bridge.

We would recommend that all persons holding drivers licenses of automobiles be required to exhibit a badge, and that the law regarding supplying intoxicating liquors be more rigidly enforced.

G. A. Huff
Foreman.

The Inquest.

Dr. Pybus, as coroner for the district called an inquest to inquire into the circumstances of the death of William N. Clarke.

A coroner's jury, consisting of G. A. Huff, foreman, E. M. Whyte, J. R. Motion, P. A. Watson, M. Campbell, and Wm. T. McAllister, was empanelled, and the taking of evidence was began with the viewing of the body by the jury, which reported that they found that the deceased was born at Ottawa, on June 3d., 1877; was married and a painter by trade.

Dr. A. D. Morgan was then called, and testified that at about two o'clock Tuesday morning, George Clarke had called him up, and asked him to hurry to the other side of Roger Creek Bridge. There had been an accident. It had taken him about five minutes to dress and run to the place. Clarke had kept ahead of him, and was at the ground first. Arriving at the scene of the accident he had found the body of one William Clarke. Life was extinct. The automobile set upright, and was badly broken. There were present two men from the Norman Woods' camp, and a Mr. Peebles. The indications were that life had been extinct for something less than one hour. Certainly not over that time. There was no blood showing, but a slight tinge of color in the froth of the mouth. The cause of the coloring was a compression on the chest caused by the weight of the automobile. Immediate cause of death was the fracture of the neck at about the sixth cervical vertebra, and the compression on the chest. This latter was very great.

Cross examined as to the condition of George Clarke, Dr. Morgan stated that Clarke appeared to be clear in his mind that something serious had happened when he first called. He had hurried back, and reached the scene of the accident ahead of the witness. He was greatly excited. He had a slight odor of alcohol on his breath. Later he appeared less under control, becoming excited and irrational. He did not appear to know just who came in the car with him, and kept calling for Porritt, whom he appeared to think was in the bush. They searched for Porritt but did not find him.

Mr. Frank Colburn was the next witness called. He testified that he was awakened about two o'clock by cries for help, and in connection with the cook of the camp, went to the scene of the accident. Here they found two men under the auto. The cook and the witness lifted the auto before Messrs. Ellis and McKinnon arrived, and released George Clarke. Witness had examined the other man and found him dead. George Clarke had hurried off for a doctor as soon as the car was lifted. It was about fifteen minutes before the doctor came.

Crown Steps In.

At this point the inquest was adjourned for an hour, and in the afternoon Mr. R. J. Burde appeared, stating that he had been asked to appear on behalf of the Attorney General's Office. The witness Colburn was recalled and reviewed the evidence previously given. He had not smelt any liquor on the breath of George Clarke. The man Clarke had stated that Mr. Porritt was driving, and witness had made a search for this man but did not find him.

Mr. Norman Wood was then called and stated that he had passed the scene of the accident about 6:30 Tuesday morning. He had noticed the marks of a motor car on the road. These marks indicated that the car had not been driven in a straight line. It had swerved from side to side of the road. Could not swear that the marks had been made by the auto that was wrecked. They might have been made by an auto turning out to pass a rig or avoid a rut or stone.

Here Mr. Burde, on behalf of the Attorney General's office, asked to have the case adjourned until Thursday at 11 a. m., and this request was granted.

Thursday Session.

The session of the Coroner's court on Thursday was under the direction of Dr. Drysdale, and a number of witnesses were called, but very little more than that which was developed at the first inquiry came out.

George Clarke, testifying on his own behalf, stated that he had met the deceased at the Arlington Hotel, and had travelled back to Port Alberni to take home some men who were in the party. Dick Porritt was driving down to the Port, but witness drove the car back.

Near the scene of the accident a blind tire blew out. The car skidded and turned over. It fell on top of witness and the deceased. Witness had called for help and two men came and turned the car over. Had then run for a doctor, and when he returned found his companion dead.

The tire was then brought into court and examined. The inner tube contained a long slit. A number of technical questions followed. Clarke stated that he had two licenses, one for private use and the other for vehicles intended for hire. Was not driving for hire on the night of the accident.

Dr. Morgan, Frank Colburn, James Peebles, Robert W. Sheffield, A. E. Gordon, R. Porritt, E. W. Stevens, Alex. King, Hand Gibbons, K. McKeddie, Albert Myers, S. B. Johnston, and Frank Willett, were all examined, but nothing special was added to the evidence already in hand, and the jury, after some deliberation returned the verdict above noted.

It is understood that further action will be taken by the police department against the Somass and Arlington hotels today.

Gains Promotion.

Mr. E. Frost, local fire warden, has been promoted to the charge of a division, and for the remainder of the season will be located at Vancouver City. Mr. Frost will have under his care from now on the east coast of Vancouver Island and the islands of the gulf, so that a great portion of his work will be done in a launch, cruising from one point to another. The excellent work which Mr. Frost has done in the Alberni District while acting as fire warden, has earned him this promotion, which comes as a timely recognition of his hard work in the past.

Alberni, B. C., Canada - July 12, 1912

POSTAL COMMUNICATION.

WHAT has become of the movement to provide better postal communication between the towns of Alberni and Port Alberni? This matter was taken in hand some time ago, and as the need of such an increase in the means of postal communication is admitted by all, there should be no difficulty in securing the service. It is a fact that the wait in getting letters between the two towns forms a serious handicap in the transaction of business, and that there would be no better way to bring the two places into closer relations than that of a daily mail.

In this connection there is also the proposal to provide better postal facilities between Alberni and the various points along Alberni Canal and Barclay Sound, as well as the West Coast generally. The need of something of this kind has been keenly felt for some time. Now that we have rail communication with outside points, there is no reason why these West Coast points should not share in the increased facilities.

The intention was to have a launch ply between these places, say from Uchulet, via Bamfield, to Alberni, connecting with every train. As the service now stands there is often from ten days to two weeks between mails for these sound points, and in the present stage of the development of Vancouver Island, this is a very serious handicap to the settlement of these places.

The attention of the Vancouver Island Development League, and of the various Boards of Trade, has already been called to the need of this service, and it is to be hoped that no unnecessary delay will be allowed in providing it. All this western portion of the Island is settling up rapidly, and the people who are willing to go into these frontier places have at least the right to demand that no obstacles which are removable shall be allowed to continue to handicap their efforts.

The West Coast needs better mail facilities, and there should be no further delay in providing that section with what they require.

RED TAPE.

A CERTAIN amount of "red tape" is probably necessary in the carrying out of the business of a country, but there is such a thing as too much of this article. When there is work that demands immediate attention, and all the necessary steps have been taken to carry on that work, why should the weeks, and even months, be allowed to pass without any signs of the further progress of that work?

In this list the Advocate is of the strong opinion that the building of the wharf at Alberni can be classed. All this work has been decided on a long time ago. The money is in hand for the completion of all this work. The town needs a wharf. The delay of this work for another season will only retard the growth of the place by just that much. Why are the weeks allowed to go by, and no signs of this work being put under way? If this is being made a purely political matter, it is up to those who have the situation in hand from this standpoint to see that more speed is used in getting these important matters in hand.

As to the present Dominion member, this is not the first time that the Advocate has had to point out that he lives at the other end of a vast constituency, and that the probability of this constituency being divided before another election makes it more than likely that all the "nursing" will be done at the other end of the district. We have little to hope from that source. The only thing we can do is for those who have the local political management in hand to stand strongly together in a demand that we be not overlooked in this manner.

For the "Love of Mike" wake up and get busy.

COMMISSIONS TO BE APPOINTED

Of the three commissions the provincial government intends to institute, the personnel of two has been practically decided upon by the executive, remarks the Victoria Times, and an announcement as to the third may be expected at any moment.

Alex. Lucas is slated for the chairmanship of the committee on agriculture. Mr. Lucas is the member for Yale in the provincial legislature, and is a practical farmer. He has been one of the principal advocates of the appointment of a commission to ascertain the condition of agriculture and to make recommendations as to its improvement. But Mr. Lucas is not the only practical agriculturist in the House. There are, in fact, several farmers in the government—dilettante and professional. There is W. H. Hayward, who has been a farmer ever since he came to the province, and before that farmed tobacco in Virginia. Michael Manson is a farmer on Cortez Island when he is not canvassing. Parker Williams is a farmer, but, of course, Parker was not even a starter in the race for the chairmanship of the agricultural commission. There are two farmers on the executive, but they don't work at the industry these days. They are Sir Richard McBride, who farms by proxy on Okanagan Lake, and Hon. Price Ellison, who is the biggest farmer of the lot.

The actual competition for the chairmanship of the commission was between Alex. Lucas and W. H. Hayward, member for Cowichan, and the race was a warm one, considering the sultry weather. Mr. Hayward is reported as being very much disappointed at the way things have gone, which being interpreted, means that while he admits Alex. Lucas would make a first rate chairman he (Mr. Hayward) would be a better one. But Mr. Hayward did not write a three column letter on agriculture to the Colonist, and the omission was fatal.

And who is reported to be the favored individual for the chairmanship of the commission to enquire into the labor conditions of the province? None other than James H. Hawthornthwaite, ex-M. P. for Nanaimo, the quondam leader of the Socialist party of B. C. Mr. Hawthornthwaite should make a fairly good chairman because, having been labor man, socialist, and being now capitalist he could view the industrial situation from three distinct points of vantage. And he has not been capitalist long enough to obscure any part of the panorama. If the other members of the commission represent labor and capital respectively, Mr. Hawthornthwaite should be able to preserve a perfect balance. His appointment would indicate that the affectionate regard between him and the premier which budded and blossomed so luxuriantly in 1904 still exists, and that the upward climb of each, one to knighthood and the other to opulence, has not destroyed the recollection of services rendered and received.

BETTER ROADS FOR THE COAST

On Monday, August 5, in the convention hall of the Hotel St. Francis, San Francisco, Judge J. T. Ronald will call to order the third annual convention of the Pacific Highway Association, and from that moment until the convention adjourns the keenest kind of interest will be sustained.

The remarkable accomplishments of this association within so short a period of time are in themselves sufficient to create enthusiasm of exceptional order and when in addition to reviewing the work already done, the possibilities of the future are taken into consideration it is apparent that dull moments will be an unknown quantity at this great gathering.

In arranging the programme of the convention the officers of the association have been exceptionally fortunate, most of the men who were invited to participate in its deliberations having gladly consented to do so. This is but another indication of the extent to which the incalculable importance of the Pacific Highway is widely recognized.

Will Tell of Hazelton Trip.

Samuel Hill, the pioneer of the good roads movement on the Pacific Coast will take up the evening session of the first day by telling the story of roads he has built in this country and roads he has seen with discerning eye in lands across the sea.

The evening of the second day will be devoted to lectures upon pathfinding trips promoted by the Pacific Highway Association. The story of P. E. Sands, who made the trip to Hazelton, and the experiences of chester Lawrence and T. J. Beaudeti, the pathfinders, who laid out the Pacific Highway route from Los Angles to the City of Mexico, will be told in a graphic manner that cannot fail to arouse appreciation. Pictures of great interest will be shown at these lectures and will tell the tale of hardships overcome and difficulties surmounted more forcibly than words could ever convey it.

Another feature of great interest and of great educational value will be the address of former Governor Gillette of California, who will be the principal speaker at the afternoon session on August 6. The story of California's bond issue of $18,000,000 for a system of highways covering the commonwealth is now known throughout the civilized world—and to former Governor Gillett more than to any other man, belongs the credit.

"Good Roads" Taylor.

To have earned the title "Good Roads" Taylor, which is the synonym by which the Hon. Thomas Taylor of British Columbia is widely known suggests that his address, like that of former Governor Gillett, will be full of valuable, because practical suggestions. As minister of public works, Mr. Taylor has exerted a far-reaching influence in the cause of Canadian good roads, and has taken the deepest interest in the great Pacific Highway, which connects his country with the United States. Mr. Taylor is an intensely busy man and consequently has had to abandon his original intention of motoring to San Francisco over the Pacific Highway route. Rather than miss the convention, however, he will make the trip by train in order to tell what his province is doing for the good roads cause of the Pacific coast.

Yet another address of importance will be that delivered by F. J. Walker of San Francisco. In addition to taking a very active part in the $18,000,000 bond issue, to which we have referred, Mr. Walker, as president of the California State Automobile Association, has accomplished a great work in organizing the automobile interests of that section, proving by actual experience that "In union there is strength."

NEW DIGGINGS CAUSE STAMPEDE

Is there to be repeated in the Big Bend district the history of the sixties, when 5,000 miners stampeded from all parts of the world to the famous placer fields on the tributaries of Old Gold Stream, namely, French Creek and McCullough Creek, 75 miles north of Revelstoke. It looks so, for prospectors by twos and threes, every night for the past month, have been leaving town at all hours, by stealth, on foot, and on horseback, bound for the French Creek diggings, whilst many placer claims have been staked out and are still being staked, says the Revelstoke Mail Herald.

The cause of the stampede is the news of a rich strike of placer gold in French Creek, along an old channel, discovered by three prospectors, who for over a year have been quietly prospecting this channel. The pay is stated to be big, and the probability is that French Creek will yield millions in yellow metal.

Between the years 1890 and 1895, the old workings on French Creek yielded in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 to the hundreds of miners and prospectors who worked its rich gravels to bedrock.

For many years past miners and prospectors have been looking for an older channel on French Creek, which was known to exist from the very nature of the ground. This has been found only within the past year, and is believed to be as rich, or richer, than the workings along the present creek, from which so many millions were extracted in the sixties.

For a number of years the wellknown placer mining man, E. A. Bradley, has been constantly at work on French Creek, developing and prospecting at an enormous expense to himself and his associates. His belief in French Creek is undiminished, his faith is shown this year in the fact that he has purchased a steam placer drill which he is putting on the ground on French Creek for the purpose of more easily and expeditiously prospecting his claims, believed to be richer in yellow metal than any placer mines in British Columbia.
