A PECULIAR CASE.

Editor Claim:

Sir,—You will pardon me for troubling the Claim in a matter which may seem to some a trivial offence but as my case has been discussed both in court and on the street, it would not be amiss of me giving my version how I came to be charged with stealing powder and how I was acquitted.

On Sunday, 5th Aug., W. C. Robinson laid information against me for stealing one box of giant powder from M. J. Heney. On this day I was told that a man had been looking for me in my absence, and thinking that it was the agent of parties interested in my property, I went to him and asked if he had been looking for me, but he said "no." A description being given me of the man corresponded in detail with the constable, H. Heal, and I went to him at the Police office and they told me he was down at my cabin. He explained he wanted information about a claim on Taku Arm and never mentioned anything to me regarding the theft, (the warrant had already been issued.) On Monday Constable Heal called at my cabin. I was sick in bed, but got up, and thinking it was quartz he was after, I showed him a piece of rock to compare with the rock he showed me at the police office. After half an hour's needless talk he informed me he was on a serious charge, and charged me with stealing powder. He produced a document which he would not let me see, and then put me under arrest. I told him I could prove there and then my innocence by producing the receipt for two boxes giant powder, having bought the same from Mr. Heney's agent. He told me it was not necessary to show any papers, and after introducing him to John Neil, who stated to him that he (Neil) brought the same boxes of powder Donovan had all the way from Bennett to Atlin and got same at the magazine at Bennett from Mr. Phelps, agent for M. J. Heney. There and then the constable took me to the police station after I had notified my wife of my arrest. My wife brought with her a bondsman who wanted to see the warrant or have it read, and my wife and I, also demanded the same, but Constable Heal absolutely refused. Then I wanted to put up bonds for my appearance to the magistrate, but Constable Heal's reply was. "Young man, it all lays with me whether you get bonds or not." After some delay my bondsman went and got the magistrate who granted bail for $250. I understand under British law a man is always innocent until he is proved guilty, but I was condemned at once. Should the constable or my accuser not have made full inquiries on the ground before laying such a serious charge against me or arresting me? Why did the constable absolutely refuse my bondsman to show him or read the warrant, so that he would definitely know what I was charged with? Does it lay with the constable to grant bail or not?

My case ultimately came up for trial on Tuesday and after my accuser detained me in court all morning and knowing well that I was innocent all the time, and on my wife putting up bail the second time, the agent for the prosecutor (Mr. Grant) on seeing that my principal witness was waiting to be subpoened and that bonds had again been put up, finally came forward and stated that "they had received a telegram that morning from Mr. Heney that two boxes of powder had been sold to Donovan by Mr. Phelps, agent for Heney." They then withdrew the charge without my consent or the consent of my solicitor.

I have been up in this country for three years now and am one of the pioneers of Atlin, holding property in this district since August, '98, and I defy any man to prove me as being a thief.

Had the constable or any persons whatever asked information or made any inquiries as to where I got the powder, I would have instantly told them and I have already told all those who asked, and satisfied them by producing the receipt.

What I complain of is a constable or my persecutor arresting me, a citizen and property owner, on such a serious charge without making sufficient inquiries.

P. DONOVAN.

Atlin, Aug. 9, 1900.

THEY SAY THAT LOVE IS A PLEASURE.

Yes it is, no doubt, but what a pleasure it is to buy your outfits at the Exchange. We can outfit everybody from a miner to a New York dude. We sell axes, shovels, picks, stoves, tents, cooking utensils, gold scales, overalls, jumpers, working shirts up to date, all-wool pants, laundried shirts, underwear, gloves, watches, clocks, blankets, hosiery, harness, etc. Give us a call. We have something to tell you.

AN ELEVATING INFLUENCE.

The Police Court has been doing a rushing business and has been held in the school tent during the week. On Tuesday three cases of giant powder were produced as evidence in a case being tried, and a general feeling that something might happen was the result. One lady, of more than average avoirdupois, who had dropped in to hear the proceedings, was sitting quietly in a corner, and must have felt prickly when the judge suavely remarked to her, "Madam, are you aware you are sitting on a case of dynamite? A hasty removal followed and a new seat found, when again came the warning voice, "Madam, you are sitting on another." About this time the reporter, thinking absence of body was better than presence of mind, discovered that he had to chronicle a dog fight out in the suburbs.

HAS NO LICENSE.

C. Overgaarde Fined $25 for Practising Without Authority.

C. Overgaarde, of Pine, claims to be a regularly qualified medical man, and to have served as such in the navy of His Majesty, King Christian of Denmark. He admits, however, that he has not passed the board of medical examiners in B. C. and is ineligible to practise for money, gain, or the hope of personal profit, either in this world or the next, which, by the way is rather hard on a philanthropist, who, whatever he his rewards in the next world, invariably gets it where the chicken gets the axe in this. Nothing daunted by this paucity of rewards Mr. Overgaarde started a private hospital in Pine, and this excited the ire of Dr. Morrison, who properly considers that he is licensed and amply competent to do all classes of bleeding himself. The thing was to catch Overgaarde accepting a fee for medical services. The old and stale plan of engaging a stool pigeon and informer was the only one the medico's mighty brain factory was capable of evolving. So thought, so done. The informer, provided with a fake case of rheumatism and a dollar, consulted Overgaarde, who prescribed for the supposed complaint, and in a moment of abstraction pocketed the coin. For this, an information was laid against Overgaarde by Dr. Morrison, and the case was disposed of by Judge Woods at the Police Court on the 7th inst. In defence, the accused stated that five-fifths of the population of Pine did not pine for Dr. Morrison's services and that his charges were beyond all legal bounds. As a consequence sick people came to him. He made no charges.

The judge had no scruples about making charges, however, and fined Mr. Overgaarde $25 and $10 costs.

FOOTBALL.

The football match last Saturday, Atlin v. Pine, again resulted in a tie, each side scoring two goals. At this rate the match for the medals will never be decided. In future contests the time limit should be disregarded in case of a tie and playing continued until either side scores. Several brilliant individual plays were made during the day's game, among them being the goals by Norman Rant and C. R. Bourne. In the latter case, however, the referee disallowed it on the ground of his having fouled the ball.

The ball given under the auspices of the club in the evening drew out a very select party, and was much enjoyed by those present.

The return match will be played at Pine this afternoon and will be followed by a tug-of-war, Scotch v. French in McDonald's hall, for $100 side.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The Chinese situation is one of rumors. The allied armies started from Tien Tsin on their proposed march to Pekin, Aug. 1st.

At Monza, Italy, on the evening of 30th July, King Humbert was shot and killed by an anarchist.

Prince Alfred Ernest Albert, second son of Queen Victoria, died of paralysis of the heart on the evening of the 30th July.

The big fishermen's strike on the Fraser is all over. The men have agreed on 19 cents per fish.

The Boer war has nearly collapsed, three generals and about 4,000 men having surrendered during the week. Over 12,000 rifles, 2,000 horses and an Armstrong gun have been given up.

Anarchy rampant in Europe. An attempt was made on the life of the Shah of Persia at Paris on the 2nd, and the murderer of King Humbert declares it is the Czar's turn next.

FORMAL OPENING.

The Government Buildings to be Opened with Concert and Ball.

The handsome new Government buildings will be formally opened on Tuesday evening, 14th inst. Gold Commissioner Graham and staff invite the public to be present. There will be no special invitations issued. A most elaborate musical programme has been got up, embracing all the available talent of the district. Afterwards a ball will be given and refreshments served. The proceedings will commence sharp at 9 o'clock. In connection with this notable event we may state that lovely souvenir programmes are being prepared. They will contain a photograph of the buildings, concert and ball programme, names of officials, etc. These will be disposed off for one dollar each, and the receipts donated to the Atlin Literary club for the purpose of aiding in furnishing the reading and recreation rooms.

TUG-OF-WAR CLALLENGE.

Six men, employees on Messrs. Harrigan & Sabin's claims at Pine, are out with a challenge to pull any six men from any other creek in the district for the championship and $150 a side. Match to take place 15th August.

The Court of Assize will be held in Atlin on the 28th inst. Mr. E. M. N. Woods is appointed clerk of the peace in connection therewith.

In an interview with Mr. Bromley, published in the Vancouver World, July 31st, some rather interesting comments are made upon current life and doings in Atlin. Mr. Bromley is engineer for the Nimrod Syndicate, and announces that his company have fallen out of the contest for the Yellow Jacket, not being desirous of mixing up in a six or seven-sided squabble for its possession. He points out, with some reason, that the besetting sin of the camp is the mania for staking out mineral claims by parties who have no intentions of developing, but only hold for a chance customer. He suggests that the recording fee be raised from $2.50 to $20, in order to choke off this class, and that a new survey be made every month and plans kept in the recorder's office for reference. Perhaps Mr. Bromley's most valuable suggestion is that the powers of the Gold Commissioner be increased to a level such as is enjoyed by the Gold Wardens in Australia. As the camp is apparently not going to have a permanent County Court judge, but only a two months' visit from one once a year, this suggestion appeals to us as being a most reasonable one. People who are willing to open up claims cannot, and will not, stand to be put off eight or ten months waiting the advent of a judge to settle disputes about ownership, boundaries and so forth. Our present Gold Commissioner enjoys the confidence of the mining community to a very high degree, and any extension of his powers, such as that indicated above, would have its warmest endorsement, besides being a long move in the right direction and a decided incentive to the early opening up of our undoubtedly rich resources.

The case of Regina vs. Donovan, charged by the White Pass and Y. Railway with stealing giant powder, presents some features which call for remark. Here is a hard working man, arrested on a criminal charge, forced to put up $250 for bail or go into durance, subjected to all the mental trouble such a terrible charge must necessarily cause, kept for days from his labor and incurring heavy legal and other expenses besides. He appears in court when called. The case is postponed. He appears again, when the prosecuting attorney declines to proceed against him as the Railway Company had meantime found out that Mr. Donovan had purchased his giant powder in a perfectly open and legal manner. What had Mr. Donovan done that he should be subjected to all this? Absolutely nothing. Where does his recompense come in? The railway company in all justice owe this man an apology and material solatium. If their own sense of fair play does not prompt them to take the step, then means ought to be found and employed to force them to it. Not one of us but is liable to be put through a similar experience like Donovan's unless the makers of such charges are held strictly accountable when they harrass the wrong man as was done in this case.

JAPS FOR MANITOBA.

The New Westminster Columbian in a late issue, said:

A new departure in the employment of cheap labor, an experiment which will be watched with the greastest interest by every man in the Province, not to say the whole Dominion, is the proposed shipment of 1,000 Japanese to Manitoba, to take part in the season's harvest As a matter of fact, there will not be a community on this continent but what may be affected by this new movement, if it proves a success, and just now there appears to to be no reason why it should not.

A gentleman, who for the present wishes his name to be withheld, has been through Manitoba, with the object in view of pushing this scheme, and states that he believes that there will be no difficulty whatever in placing between 800 and 1,000 Japanese with the Manitoba farmers, at about one-half the wages at present paid to the farm hands who come up from Ontario each season on the harvest excursions. During the winter, he says, they will find employment getting out and cutting wood, fence rails, etc.; for with the introduction of cheap labor, the farmers would be able to go into fencing, erection of outbuildings, etc., on a much larger scale than heretofore. For these reasons the Manitoba farmer will welcome the introduction of the Jap, certainly preferring them very much to the Doukhobors, and they are willing workers, and will have no difficulty whatever in learning the ordinary routine of the farm. The people who are likely to object to the scheme are the Ontario boys who come up for the Manitoba harvest each summer. If they do, they will be brought face to face with the cheap labor question, and will be able to understand the struggle that has been going on at the Pacific Coast, and will sympathize more heartily with their brethren who are carrying on that struggle out here, practically unaided. But this result will be further reaching than that. Through the medium of these farmers, this question will be brought home very forcibly to the Eastern members of the Dominion House, who have seen fit hitherto to oppose restrictive Asiatic legislation, with the probable result that the next session will see a strong anti-Asiatic Bill introduced and passed. Agriculture is an important pursuit in Japan, and although they have not been accustomed to the use to modern machinery, it would not take them long to pick it up. Several of the important business and professional men, when seen this morning consider the scheme a good one, for, besides bringing the Asiatic immigration question home to the Easterners, it would serve to relieve the present congested state of the British Columbia labor market.

BIG SALMON.

Murray Cameron has received a letter from G. G. English, dated Big Salmon, July 9th. Mr. English advises no one to go to that district, as it is overcrowded, and the only really good creek yet struck is Livingstone. This is yielding well, the gold being very rough and free from quartz, one nugget unearthed on the 8th July being valued at $302.55.

Messrs. Brownlee & Lowry have completed a survey for a mill site near the falls at Halfway House for the Paris Exhibition mine on Monro Mountain. The mine is the property of the Nimrod Syndicate of London.

As will be seen from the full-page advertisement in the present issue, Mr. J. St. Clair Blackett has bought out the entire stock of the B. A. Corporation stores for something like $25,000. For some time previous to removing the stock Mr. Blackett proposes to give the public a benefit in the way of low prices.

During a little pleasure trip to Taku on Monday last, three Atlin ladies took a walk along the railway looking for flowers and berries. They found something they were not looking for, which was a live bear. Consternation reigned supreme and a hurried retreat was the order of the day. One lady screamed so that the bear was the worst scared of the lot and made a bee line for Yukon Territory, which we believe he has safely reached, as a party of hunters who went for his scalp returned baffled.

Mr. A. E. Jenns, of New Westminster, is one our late arrivals. He purposes staying a few weeks to investigate the mineral resources of the district. Mr. Jenns has been at White Horse for some time with the same end in view.

A very brilliant meteor was observed in the northern sky early on Monday morning. It will be well for our readers to note that to-morrow, 12th August, the earth's orbit crosses the ring of the Leonides and the displays of 12th August and more especially of the 14th Nov. are this year expected to be the finest in 33 years.

Our main street has been adorned during the past week by a band of Teslin Indians. The bucks displayed on their manly persons some fine examples of embroidered buckskin suits, and, after visits to the stores, the squaws blossomed out like flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la. Money seems to be very plentiful in the gang, and they have been spending it royally, much to the benefit of store-keepers.

We take the following from the B. C. Review, London, Eng., of a late date: "Nimrod Syndicate—A cablegram received from Atlin, dated July 9th, states that a trial crushing of 60 tons from the Paris Exhibition claim has yielded 27 ozs. 17 dwts. of bullion."

The Police court was held in the school tent on Tuesday. The remanded cases of Regina v. McDonald and Donovan for theft of giant powder from the W. P. & Yukon Railway, and Regina v. Muskett for illegally purchasing the same, were disposed of. The case against Donovan was dropped by the prosecution, they having in the meantime found out that he had purchased his powder from them in a perfectly legitimate manner. The prosecution utterly failed to substantiate their charges against McDonald and Muskett and a verdict of not guilty was returned in each case. We understand the trouble is not finished by any means.

MINERAL CLAIM RECORDS.

The following locations have been recorded during the week:

FOR PASTURES GREEN.

Mr. Archie W. Shiels, the popular manager of the B. A. C., which has just sold out its commercial branch here, leaves on Tuesday for Vancouver. The departure of Mr. Shiels is a matter of universal regret, as, aside from his great popularity, he has always taken a leading part in everything appertaining to the district's advancement. We trust to have the pleasure some time of welcoming him back again to the north country, where men of his stamp are always in request.

Mr. L. M. Richardson, who has been with the Merchants' Bank of Halifax since it opened here, left last evening for Vancouver. He was given a good send off, being immensely popular. His ever-cheerful presence will be missed sadly.
