THE ATLIN CLAIM.

VOL. 4. ATLIN, B. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY, 9, 1901. NO. 82.

THE STEVENDYKE HYDRAULIC MINING PARTNERSHIP.

A visit was paid last week to the well-equipped camp of the Stevendyke Hydraulic Mining Partnership on the south bank of Pine Creek, about half a mile below Discovery. Here we found Messrs. Weir and Todd-Lees—whose friends had not seen them in Atlin for four months or more; and whom rumour had finally buried and laid away under ten feet of snow—sitting out their noonday siesta "four feet on the leader," with an air of placid contentment, which one only associates with the possession of either a good conscience and poverty or—bedrock. Mr. Frank Weir, the leading spirit of this organization, is one of the pioneers of the camp, and save for a few months passed in Victoria in the winter of '98, has resided here continuously, watching its development closely in the interests of the Company. His two partners and himself are firm believers in the future of the Pine, Spruce and McKee valleys as deep lead propositions. That this belief is based on ascertained facts rather than on simple faith was made fully apparent to us ere we left their hospitable and well-ordered camp.

To our inquiry as to what the Company had done and projected doing in the development of their property, Mr. Weir said:

"We have found it necessary to adopt as our motto the soldier's three 'P's' 'Patience, Precaution, and Promptitude.' Up to the present we have been able to put in exercise only the first named of these virtues, but we have been for some time prepared to act with promptness when the moment arrived to enter upon active exploitation. The proximity of our ground to the working shallow placers on the creek has forced us to make haste slowly, otherwise we would have seriously inconvenienced the individual miner still working in our vicinity. In order to secure the ground we now have and which we have had in view ever since the first discovery of the camp we naturally deemed it in our interest to get an early start in the race for title, but having once obtained the desired send-off, we have been well content to 'rest on our oars' and win out at our leisure. In staking our original group of four Stevendyke leases we ran our north side lines so as to skirt and exclude the shallow bench ground which could easily be worked by the ordinary methods, and which would have been of little use to us as a hydraulic company, save as a dump in connection with our higher ground.

"I was impressed with the situation and possible value of this property as a deep-lead proposition during my first visit to the camp in August, '98; so much so, indeed, that, although I arrived early in the excitement spent the rest of the season in camp and prepared a report on the district for the Mining Department at the request of the Provincial Mineralogist, I did not become a Free Miner until I reached Bennett on my way back to the coast. I may say that I have staked but once in the Atlin district as an 100-foot claim holder, and that claim, staked in June '99, immediately after my return, now forms the nucleus around which our property has grown and extended. Some things are worth waiting for, and my partners and myself have felt from our first survey of the ground that we could well afford to exercise the patience necessary to get our affairs to the point of actual development; our prospect work has proved to us that we have made a lucky hit, and next season's work will, we hope, expose one or more leads of equal value to that already uncovered. It seems clear to us that the pay channels of the lower Pine and Spruce valleys are the wash of glacial streams, heading in the south-east, but as you have kindly asked me to prepare a few notes on this general subject for the CLAIM I will not elaborate on this point at present.

"As regards development, the past season has been spent by us in prospecting our ground, completing preliminary work in connection with our water ditch and adding to our original leaseholds by purchase and otherwise such property as we deemed necessary to put our proposition on a practical and business basis. The limits of our ground are now as follows: commencing in the vicinity of Discovery claim on Pine creek, we run nearly to the Junction bridge, thence southerly to No. 157 below on Spruce, thence easterly, following its north benches to No 110, thence northerly in an irregular line to point of commencement on Pine, an area of about 500 acres. In addition to the bench ground enclosed within these boundaries, we practically control a mile of the creek bed of Pine fronting directly on our property. Our water right is for 2000 inches to be diverted from Pine creek at the head of Gold Run, and conducted by a series of ditches and flumes to a point on the ground, which will give us an average head of 200 feet on the bedrock of the lead found. This lead is a continuation of the high level or 'Lytle' channel, first uncovered on the south or Stevendyke benches, opposite No. 30 below on Pine, and subsequently encountered in the tunnels run by Mr. Lytle and others, about 1600 feet up stream, in the winter of '99 and since. We consider this the main glacial stream of the Pine side of Pine-Spruce valley. It is intact on our ground, being first struck at a depth of 12 feet, immediately adjoining our camp, and gradually deepening as it proceeds westwards. Its average grade would give it a depth of between 50 and 60 feet at the lower line of our property, where a shaft has been sunk 44 feet without encountering it. We have reason to believe from the indications at hand that this stream was joined by one or more similar streams from the direction of Spruce and Little Spruce, and this point will be definitely ascertained by us next season. Notwithstanding over 1000 feet of expensive drain ditching, we have been unable to uncover more than a foot of the pay gravels, so that the balance of account is to date considerably on the wrong side. Our plans for the coming season, when carried out, however, will expose a large area of bedrock which will enable us to form a fair estimate of the values in this channel as a whole. It has paid as high as $54.00 to the 'set' in drifting."

Returning to the question of their water supply, Mr. Weir stated that the three miles of ditches and flumes have been laid out by Messrs Brownlee & Lowry of Atlin—and a mile and a half of the right of way cleared. Early in the season, Messrs. Blunck and Griffith, of the Sunrise Company, who had projected a line of ditch for a short distance on the south side of the creek, inadvertently invaded the right of way belonging to the Stevendyke Co. Considerable work was done on this line before the error was detected by the Company and recognised by the invaders. Once this point was conceded, however, the difficulty was immediately adjusted to the satisfaction of both companies, and re-surveys, made on an agreement for a single ditch to be constructed at joint expense so far as their lines coincided. A ditch, capable of carrying 500 inches, was thus excavated for a mile and half before the close of the season, and a 500 foot trestle, 40 feet in height, erected, spanning one of several gullies crossed by the line.

The Stevendyke Hydraulic Mining Partnership is an example of what a small number of level-headed miners can do by earnest co-operation and continued attention to their joint interests. Unlike other of the hydraulic companies in camp it is an ordinary mining partnership organized under Part VI of the Placer Act. Two full interests, the one represented by Frank Weir, and the other by D. Todd Lees and W. M. Brook, constitute the membership. In addition to their Pine creek properties these gentlemen are largely interested on Spruce creek in connection with those other staunch upholders of the camp, Messrs. Brownlee & Lowry.

BOARD OF TRADE AND FIRE PROTECTION.

A meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade was held at the Bank of B.N.A. on Tuesday evening last. In connection with Fire protection, the following letter was drafted and forwarded to the Provincial Secretary:

The Honourable
The PROVINCIAL SECRETARY,
Victoria, B. C.

SIR:—At a meeting of the Council of the Atlin District Board of Trade, held yesterday, I was instructed to lay before you the following matter:

The town of Atlin is in continual danger of being completely destroyed by fire.

Our only method, at present, of fighting a fire is by means of the primitive "bucket brigade."

We are unable to obtain insurance except at the exorbitant rate of 10 per cent.

We are desirous of obtaining a manual engine for our better protection. An effort is being made to raise $1000.00 in town for the purpose of purchasing an engine and we beg to ask you to use your effort towards obtaining for us from the Government a grant of $1000., which, with the money raised here, will complete the purchase of said equipment.—Your obedient Servant,

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9th, 1901.

WE have reason for congratulation on our transportation prospects for the coming season. From recent Coast papers the announcement is made that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has purchased the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company's fleet of steamers. As the C. P. R. never does things by halves we may depend on getting a thorough efficient service from Vancouver and Victoria to Skaguay. Although the policy of the purchasers has not been made public, we understand that all the services, the west and east coasts of Vancouver island, the Skeena river and Skaguay routes will be much improved; while on the latter it is more than likely that a new steamer will be placed, which will be equal, if not superior, in comfort and speed, to any on the route.

It is also stated that the White Pass & Yukon Railway Company has recently purchased two steamers in England for the Vancouver-Skaguay route. These steamers will have a capacity of 600 tons and be able to accommodate 200 first-class passengers. It is expected that they will reach Vancouve, in time for the opening of navigation. Vancouver is to be the home port.

Now, with the C. P. R., the W. P. & Y. R. Co. and the Dodwell Co., to say nothing or others, there is more or less possibility of considerable rivalry for the Yukon and Atlin trade. We can stand it, and if we do not get reasonable rates this year we will be lead to believe that a "corner" has been formed in the freight business.

TRADE with the northern gold fields is today largely controlled by the United States; and British Columbia points of supply should pay more attention to that fact. Our merchants are certainly less progressive and too independent. For instance: orders leave here for certain goods and Vancouver fills the order with whatever they may have in stock, irrespective of the fact that such and such brand or mark was ordered. This should not be and the sooner the evil is remedied the better for the Province. Already we learn, from many of our merchants here, that goods are being ordered from Seattle and other American points where better attention is given and better prices obtained. Look to it! Vancouver and Victoria, you ought to get our trade, and will to, if you treat us fairly. *

We are authorized to state that Mr. Featherstonhaugh is prepared to accept ore from prospectors and make mill tests for them for the actual cost of running the mill. All ore—which must not be less than ten tons—is to be delivered at the Munroe Mountain Mill by the prospector.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

PLACER MINING ACT

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CLAIM:

SIR:—Your recent editorial on the Placer Act advocates such sweeping changes in the present "wretched piece of legislation under which alluvial mining is today conducted," as you say, that I may be pardoned a few words in criticism. That the Act in its present shape is more or less unsatisfactory is apparent to every practical miner. The need is urgent for its speedy and thorough revision, and I am glad to learn from your columns that our legislators are at last alive to the fact. In considering how best to remedy the defects which the experience of this camp has found so detrimental to its proper development, we should bear in mind that the proposed Commission will be in effect a duplication of that committee by which the present Act was originally drafted. The effects we now observe could not have been anticipated in the original framing, being largely due to the rapidity with which this Province and its immediate neighbor have come to the front. Our first set back was due to the fact that the pioneers of the camp were practically old Yukoners, conversant only with the Yukon regulations of the Dominion Government. Any change therefore that may be suggested as to the size of claims should not be based on the fact as we know it, that 100 foot claims are unworkable unless grouped, but with the end in view of assimilating our law in this respect to that of the parent government. One has but to study the Yukon regulations and to watch them in operation to be made clearly aware of the great care with which they were considered and drafted. There should be uniformity in our Canadian laws so far as concerns the acts necessary to establish title, etc., and we should follow the Dominion enactments in this respect. Instead of doing away with all distinction between "creek, bench and bar," our legislators would do well to follow the provisions governing mining ground in the Territory, so that the creek claim owner should have first claim on the bench ground immediately adjoining him.

Your proposal that the Gold Commissioner's power be extended to "enable him to settle mining disputes," is, I fear, impracticable, however advisable. It was undoubtedly owing to the exercise of such powers by the Gold Commissioners of Cariboo days that that and other camps reached their full development without the friction so noticeable here. In granting such powers to their Commissioners, however, the Provincial Legislature exceeded its authority, and these clauses in the Placer Act were declared "ultra vires" by the Court about the time the present Act was being drafted. The administration of justice is

Your suggestion that upon recording a "lay," the owner of a claim should be relieved of all debts incurred by the party taking the lay, during its continuance, has two sides, one of which you do not seem to have observed. A claim should justly be held liable for the wages due to the laboring miner. The extinction of this lien is rather a step backward than an advance along modern lines.

In connection with the proposal to confine the royalty to the "net" proceeds, I may say that this would be rendering the Government liable to incur loss of revenue from the operations of inexperienced or extravagant miners. Royalty should be exacted, however, only from claims that paid more than wages to the owners and should not be collectible unless the total product exceeded, say, $1000.—Yours respectfully,

A. MINER.

GOLD RUN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CLAIM:

DEAR SIR:—Local opinion has given Gold Run the first place in the minds of the people in the district. Why? In the first place, Gold Run is all and more than it has been given credit for. A year ago it was considered a "moose pasture," but today it is the liveliest moose pasture in the Atlin district. Work is being prosecuted with a vim that is a surprise to the natives, work that will bring more prestige to the camp than any work done in the whole district during the past two years. I venture to make the assertion that within the next two years Gold Run will furnish employment to as many men as the entire district put together. My partner, W. A. Bruner, who has had considerable experience in mining on large rivers, and myself were fully satisfied that there existed an old channel, yet undiscovered, and at once began prospecting for it. After examining the gravel on Nugget Point we saw at once that the gravel consisted of granitic rocks. We then set about to find, if possible, its source; this we found eight miles above the mouth of Surprise lake, where we found the contact between granite and talcose slates, which is identical with the gold-bearing slates of California. It was then a mere matter of tracing the course of the gold channel at the present mouth of Surprise lake. We found the water flowing over bedrock, which was once the side of a canyon, the original channel having been filled in by the washing down of the moraines of two glaciers—these moraines can be distinctly seen yet—these glaciers likely had their origin in mountains, having an elevation of from 5000 to 7000 feet east of Surprise lake. Gold Run is part of the original channel, deriving its gold from the same source as Wright, Boulder and Otter creeks. Moreover, the gold which has been found in Pine creek, Willow creek and their benches has all passed through Gold Run. As the development progresses, and as each shaft is sunk to bedrock on the channel, where good pay is found, there is but little doubt that Gold Run will be the liveliest spot in the Atlin district next summer.—Respectfully, CHAS. R. HOWARD.

BURNS' BIRTHDAY, 1901.

VERSES READ AT THE PINE CITY CELEBRATION BY THE AUTHOR.

Tonight, around the festive board,
'Mid Arctic ice and snow,
We Scots are met in glad accord
With hearts that warmer glow.

We celebrate the natal night,
And that we will in style
Of Scotia's own immortal wight
The "lad" twas born in Kyle."

No man was he of high degree,
Nor born to social part,
But plowman chield, with pen to wield
And sway his nation's heart.

He sang the folk songs of the poor,
Their lives, and loves, and toil,
With nature's heart-compelling touch
And racy of the soil.

In truth his tones are wood notes wild,
Fresh flowing from the heart.
The songs of a poetic child
With Nature all his art.

He sang the song of Scotland's dales,
Her braes, and streams, and all,
The winsome daisy on the lea,
The thistle strong and tall.

With heart as tender as the dawn,
He loved all God's creation
The rabbit lame, the homeless mouse,
He'd fain give consolation.

How canting hypocrites he scorned
And seared their puny souls,
Bear witness "Holy Willie's prayer"
Which shamed them to their holes.

For doings terrible and stark
Just turn the "Tam o' Shanter"
See "Meg" display her cutty sark
While "Clootie" blows the chanter.

Old Scotland's glory well he sang
Inspired with martial flame,
How Bruce and Wallace bore the gree
And tyrants brought to shame.

He sang of love as none could sing,
For to none has touch been given
As adorns the "Braes o' Bonnie Doon"
Or the wail to "Mary in Heaven".

His pen bedecked what'eer it touched,
The passions were as a lyre
Of which the master swept the strings
In words of living fire.

For manly, honest, upright worth,
For virtue true and tender,
God grant them age, as time rolls on,
Such gallant, brave defender.

O'er all the great round globe this eve
The kindly Scots they gather,
The haggis gleam, the toddy steams
Beneath the purple heather.

And while they toast, they well may boast
A love that never turns,
But deeper with the ages grows,
Their love for Robert Burns.

DISCOVERY NEWS.

PRESENTATION TO MR. STABLES.

On Monday evening last a meeting was held at Pine City, Geo. Pollay presiding, to present Mr. Stables, M. L. A., with a small token of respect and esteem from his constituents.

The present was a watch chain and pendant, consisting of gold pan, nuggets, pick, shovel and windlass, also a nugget pin. The charms were very prettily made and reflect great credit on Messrs Eggert & Son of Atlin, who were the manufacturers.

The presentation being made, Mr. Stables thanked the donors in appropriate terms and invited discussion on political matters.

Whereupon several questions touching on mining and other matters of local interest were put and satisfactorily answered by Mr. Stables, and an informal political discussion ensued.

Calls were made for Mr. Pringle, who in his usual happy vein, had several kind things to say of Mr. Stables.

Coffee and Cakes were served and the company gave themselves over to dancing, which was kept up till the early morning, everybody apparently enjoying themselves.

Among the visitors from Atlin we noticed, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Miss Bone, Mr. Lumsden and Rev. J. Pringle. Considering the short notice the company made a good representative meeting of the miners from the the creeks and people of Discovery.

Mr. Stables left on Friday for Victoria.

The tide has turned and people are begining to return to Discovery to get ready for the summer's activity.

Among the late arrivals are Messrs. Millar & McLaren of Discovery claim, and Mr. and Mrs. Stubblefield of the B. C. Hotel.

There are two places at the Tepee, yet Halferty has no opposition.

The concert held on Thursday in aid of the Church of England Building Fund, was a great success in every way. An interesting programme was very creditably rendered; Mrs. Blackett, Mr. Lumsden and Mr. Wollaston being in excellent voice. One of the tit-bits of the evening was a humorous reading by Mr. Pringle who kept the house in a state of laughter for half an hour. The rendering of the song, "Jonnie Schmoker," by Messrs. Williams Woolaston Fall and Lumsden, was highly appreciated by the audience. Mr. Stevenson acted as chairman, and at the close thanked Mr. Pringle and his congregation for their kind help and use of their meeting house.
