ROYAL CITY TO CALL FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS ON NEW MARKET BUILDING

NEW WESTMINSTER — Tenders are to be called at once by the city council on the erection of a new city market building in accordance with the verdict of the ratepayers as recently expressed for a market that will afford modern and up-to-the-minute accommodations. The new buildings are to be erected from plans prepared by City Engineer Stewardson, and one of the chief requirements in the specifications that will be put up to the contractors is that the main market building must be fully completed and ready for occupancy by Friday, December 10, so as to afford proper facilities for holding the big holiday markets.

The city council has decided to call

SPEND MILLION ON HOTEL VANCOUVER

Plans Now Here, Provide for Rebuilding of West Wing and Interior Alterations.

At a cost of probably considerably more than one million dollars, extensive changes and an addition are to be made in the near future to the Hotel Vancouver. Besides many important interior alterations, the plans for the enlargement of this big hostelry include the tearing down of the present west wing of the hotel, which is of quite modern construction and was built only about fifteen years ago, and its reconstruction on a much larger scale to conform to the architecture and size of the rest of the big caravansary.

It will be remembered that Mr. J. C. Wetmore, a noted New York architect, who designed the famous Biltmore hotel as well as a number of other modern skyscrapers in New York, was here last summer in company with two of the C. P. R. chief architects, and went carefully over

SEEK CHANGES IN PLANS

VICTORIA—Fire Chief V. M. Stewart and Building Inspector Barfe reported to the Council against modification of the existing building by-law in respect to approval of plans for the proposed Capitol Theatre.

TENDERS ASKED ON NEW GABRIOLA ISD. WHARF

The Dominion department of public works, of which Mr. R. C. Desrochers is secretary, is calling for tenders on the construction of a wharf at South Gabriola Island, Nanaimo district. Tenders will be received up to noon of Wednesday, November 10, by Mr. Desrochers at Ottawa.

Plans and specifications for the wharf can be seen at the office of the district engineer at Victoria, or at the post office on Gabriola Island. The usual ten per cent. check must accompany all tenders which must also be submitted on the forms supplied for that purpose.

ST. SAVIOUR'S CHURCH TO BUILD NEW PARISH HALL

The congregation of St. Saviour's church, Grandview, has awarded a contract to Mr. F. W. Mellish, 2327 First Avenue, east, to build a new parish hall adjoining the church, at 2001 First Avenue, east. The new hall is to cost $6,000, and will be a frame structure 31 by 81 feet in size, and one storey in height. It will be fitted up for church entertainments and also available for a class room and recreation purposes. Mr. Mellish is to start work on the structure at once and is already assembling material. He is also calling for sub-tenders for labor on the erecting of the hall.

GETS CONTRACT FOR HOLLYBURN WHARF

Wm. Greenlees To Build New Government Pier at West Vancouver For $6,600

From among a considerable number of tenders submitted to the Dominion department of public works on the construction of a new wharf at Hollyburn, West Vancouver, that of Mr. William Greenlees, 407 Cordova street, west, has been accepted by the Dominion cabinet and sanctioned by an order-in-council. The successful bid for the erection of the new pier is $6,600.

Confirmation of the passage of the order-in-council accepting the tender and awarding the contract has been received by both Mr. Greenlees and Mr. S. J. Crowe, M.P. for Burrard. The new wharf is to be erected a short distance west of the present ferry landing wharf, and is to be quite strongly constructed owing to the strong tidal currents and considerable sea which prevails there at times. It will be a great convenience to the growing population of West Vancouver, as owing to the fact that the ferry wharf was municipally owned and had to be kept clear for the ferries, there was no wharf available for the landing of cargoes which required some time to unload. It will be especially convenient in getting in fuel supplies, which heretofore were quite costly owing to the long haul by way of North Vancouver. Contractor Greenlees is to start work on the wharf at once and hopes to have it finished in a month or six weeks if favorable weather prevails.

ROAD AT SECOND BEACH IN DANGER BY EROSION

Following a report submitted by Park Superintendent W. S. Rawlings to the park board yesterday, that the road along the bluff just east of the Second Beach, in Stanley Park, was in danger through erosion, the board plans to take immediate action to protect the sidewalk and roadway from caving down onto the beach. It is estimated that it will cost between $700 and $1,000 to protect the roadway here and work will have to be started on it at once. Supt. Rawlings suggested either cribbing or building a concrete wall. The board's engineer is to examine the spot and report. It may be necessary to call for tenders for the work.

The unusual amount of erosion of late is due to the combined action of the sea in some of the recent heavy storms occurring during unusually high tides, and also the long continued rainy spell which has already caused a number of small cave-ins along the bluff.

TO PROBE PRICE FIXING BY U. S. MANUFACTURERS OF BUILDING MATERIALS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Attorney-General Palmer has ordered an investigation of charges that a price-fixing combination exists among building material manufacturers.

This was learned when Representative Isaac Siegel, of New York, who advocated such an investigation, made public a telegram from the attorney-general. Mr. Siegel was asked to place any information that he had regarding the matter before Francis G. Caffey, United States District Attorney, who has been instructed "to consider whether the facts tend to show a violation of the Federal laws." Mr. Siegel said he would confer with Mr. Caffey immediately.

FRENCH USE CLINKERS TO MAKE CHEAP BLOCKS FOR BUILDING.

An industry that was completely suspended during the war has been resumed in the Brest district of France that has its interest for house-holders as they contemplate the increasing cost of a ton of coal and the proportion of that expensive ton that remains in the form of clinkers. These clinkers are a lamentable waste. The best that can be said for them is that they go to make new land by being dumped along the waste edges of waterways, and by this process the honest house-holders who buy the coal contribute unselfishly and without personal profit, to the growth of the city and the amount of land that is constantly being reclaimed from the sea.

But in Brest the thrifty French have found another use for the clinkers. Their warehouses, stables, garages, and even small dwelling houses are made out of clinkers. The clinkers are crushed, mixed with sand, lime and cement, and moulded into blocks. The blocks are turned out in various sizes and have an advantage over bricks in that they cost less and facilitate quick construction. The builder can cover them with plaster on the interior of the structure or with stucco on the exterior.

One imagines the thrifty citizen in the Brest district saving hs clinkers, after carefully sifting his ashes, in order to build a garage. But as the making of these blocks has grown to quite an industry there is presumably a system for collecting the raw material where ever the burning of coal provides it in sufficient quantities to make it worth while. Another thing that makes the clinker block possible in the Brest district is the fact that the coal produced there carried a large percentage of shale, despite the most careful sorting.

Building blocks made from clinkers, moreover, are not an economy expedient. They came into use in Brest because the humidity of the climate makes an ordinary brick wall drip moisture, and these clinker blocks withstand the humidity much better than almost any other material.

the hotel with a view to determining what would be the best means of enlarging the structure to meet the pressing demands of increasing tourist travel, especially during the summer months. That these architects have not been idle in the interim is proven by the fact that very complete plans for the contemplated improvements have now arrived in the city. Coincident with the arrival of these plans comes Mr. F. L. Hutchinson of Montreal, general superintendent of the C. P. R. hotel system, who is to confer with local C. P. R. officials in regard to the best time to start work on the alterations and the rebuilding of the west wing. While not definitely decided yet, it is expressed that an early start will be made on the work and in that case the demolition of the old west wing may be commenced early in January and an effort made to have the new wing completed in time for to augument the accommodations for the midsummer tourist travel. The Hotel Vancouver now contains a total of nearly 800 rooms, but with the rebuilding of the west wing on a much larger scale, the new plans give the hotel nearly 1,000 rooms, which will mean a large increase in capacity.

Among the interior changes provided for on the plans are the shifting of the main entrance to Granville street and the retention of the present entrance on Georgia street as special doors for women. The present ballroom on the ground floor of the Granville street frontage will be done away with and the space absorbed into a much larger rotunda to obviate much of the congestion which now exists when ocean liners or large excursion trains arrive. A new and larger ballroom is to be provided for on the second floor of the west wing and larger dining room space also planned in that section on the ground floor of the rebuilt wing. Many other improvements that will make the Hotel Vancouver one of the greatest hotels on the continent are also included in the plans.

PLANS $2,500 FLOWER GARDEN

The Kiwanis club has offered to spend about $2,500 on a Kiwanis rose garden in Stanley Park, provided the park board will turn over to the club for that purpose the use of about half an acre of rough and uncleared vacant land in the park just west of the pipeline road. The park board has deferred action on the proposal pending the submission of further details, but has given the scheme favorable consideration, as the garden is intended to demonstrate the possibilities of the Kiwanis club programme for extonded rose culture to make a "city beautiful."

MINING.

BUNYAN MINE

After a long course of preparation engineered by Captain E. J. Fader, manager of the Silver Ores Incorporated, of New York City, the match was applied to four leads connecting with a charge of several tons of 60 per cent. dynamite deeply embedded in the face of Bunyan Mountain; a wait of twelve and a half minutes to the second elapsed when a loud explosion occurred and huge volumes of smoke rose from the mountain side, followed by a downpour of rock richly impregnated with ore.

An examination of the work after the explosion went to prove that Captain Fader's plans had come out beyond expectation, the face of the mountain for over 100 feet longtitudinally and 30 or more in width with a horizontal depth of over 30 feet had been loosened, in fact broken up into lumps of ore of one man size the total approximating easily 10,000 tons, the walls on either side showing good ore, while only the top of shale falls a little below good value.

The Bunyan Mine, where this development took place, is located seven miles from the post office of Wilmer. It has been bonded by New York capitalists with Captain E. J. Fader as the manager of the property. It has an elevation of approximately 1,500 feet above the level of Windermere Lake, on whose shores is the railway.

for separate tenders on the various units of the market plant. The principal unit will, of course, be the main market building, while others will be the chill-room, stables, cattle corral and a shelter for autos. In the erection of the new market building it is planned to use considerable of the material in the old Front street present building, especially the framework and roof trusses. In the removal of these and their transfer to the new building, it may be necessary to hold one or even two of the usual weekly markets in the open air, but it will be made one of the conditions of the contract that this interval must be cut down to the shortest possible time

The council plans to spend about $40,000 on the new market buildings during the remainder of this year, and make further additions as needed next spring and summer.
