AMONG THE MINES

PROPERTIES CHANGE HANDS.

Louisa and Sultana in Providence Camp. A Big Mining Suit. R. L. Paterson Visits the District—Machinery For the Jewel—Mining Notes.

D. J. McDonald spent several days at the Jewel mine during the week. He is making a careful examination of the property with a view to ascertaining the best kind of plant to purchase. Mr. McDonald is well pleased with the Jewel, and believes it will make a good dividend-paying mine.

A. M. Rice, of Hall, Rice, & Co., has secured from John McIntosh and Hugh McEwan, of Columbia, a bond on the Louisa and Sultana fraction mineral claims in Providence Camp, about one mile east from north end of townsite. This property has had about 40 feet of work done on it, and shows up a large body of very rich ore. The price is in the neighborhood of $35,000. Work is to start in 30 days, and from all appearances the property promises to open up very rich.

A gentleman is on his way from Toronto to complete a deal for the Cuba claim in Camp McKinney. This property lies to the north and corners on the Cariboo, and lies between the Cariboo No. 2 and the Teaser. There are two distinct leads running through it, and from work done it promises to be a winner. Mr. A. M. Rice, of Hall, Rice, & Co., secured an option from P. H. Graham, Camp McKinney. Mr. Hall, who is in Toronto, turned it over to parties there. Mr. Hall intends to remain in Toronto for a few months, and this affords the firm every facility for handling good properties.

A Victoria dispatch says: The argument in the case of the Seattle Mining Co. vs. McCallum, Clark, Hay and others was concluded yesterday before Mr. Justice Martin and judgment was reserved. The case was tried at Nelson, and concerns the Seattle mine, in the Boundary district. The plaintiffs allege that Clark, the owner of the mine, entered into an agreement to sell the mine and organize a company with a capital of $6,000,000, and they ask for specific performance. The defendants contend that there was a first contract about which the plaintiffs made fraudulent statements at the time the second contract was entered into. E. V. Bodwell, Q. C., for plaintiff, and F. Peters, Q. C., for Clark.

Professor Montgomery of Trinity University, president of the Minnehaha Gold Mining and Milling company of Camp McKinney, makes the official announcement that the company has just added to its list of properties three additional Camp McKinney claims. This gives the Minnehaha 7 claims, the same number as is possessed by the Cariboo company. The new properties just secured are the Iron Duke, Sylvan, and Brushwood Boy. The locations formerly held by the company included only the Minnehaha, the Cariboo fractional, the Gold Crown fractional, and the Sinbad fractional. The recently acquired property is valuable, both for the timber which it carries and for the promising veins which have been discovered upon some parts of it. All three of the new claims are full-sized locations. Development work continues on the Minnehaha. The new compressor plant is being taken into the mine, and the stamp mill for the property has been selected.

R. L. Patterson, general manager for Miller & Richards, the well-known type-founders of Toronto, was in Greenwood this week. Mr. Patterson has invested heavily in mining, and his investments have been successful. He made $15,000 out of Cariboo stock in connection with the organization of the new company. He is interested in the Minnehaha, Ecuador, Sailor, and other well-known Camp McKinney properties. Mr. Patterson is also a shareholder in the Idaho company, recently organized in Toronto by J. E. Boss to purchase the Idaho claim in Greenwood Camp. Mr. Patterson was much impressed with the mining outlook in this section, and believes that Boundary Creek will shortly develop into the largest and richest mining district in the West. He was also pleased with the substantial appearance of the city of Greenwood, and was so impressed with its importance as a mining and commercial center that he was anxious that the Manufacturer's Life Association, of which he is a director, should have an opportunity of buying the city debentures. Mr. Patterson left on Thursday for Bossburg, where he will be joined by Mrs. Patterson, who is visiting in Spokane. They return home via the Crow's Nest Railway.

VERNON VISITORS.

Price Ellison, M.P.P., and J. A. McKelvie Visit Greenwood.

Price Ellison, M. P. P., and J. A. McKelvie, editor of the Vernon News, reached Greenwood on Monday last, after having visited Fairview, Camp McKinney, and other points in the southern portion of Mr. Ellison's constituency. They visited Greenwood for the first time, and were considerably surprised at the size and business activity of the city. They were kept busy for some time shaking hands with old Vernonites, who are now residents of the city. Mr. Ellison does not enjoy the confidence of the present provincial government, but he does not seem to get thin over the fact. He is strongly of the opinion that the Semlin government is there for a short time only. Mr. Ellison is anxious that a greater effort should be made towards getting the roads in good repair. He was particularly disappointed because the government did not build the West Fork bridge before high water. He strongly recommended last spring that the bridge should be constructed, but a ferry was built instead. Messrs. Ellison and McKelvie left on Tuesday for Rossland.

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

The Provincial Organizer Visits the Boundary Creek District.

A. M. Lucas, the Conservative organizer for the province, paid Greenwood a visit this week. Mr. Lucas is making a tour of the province, organizing Conservative Associations wherever sufficient Conservatives are found. No association was organized in Boundary Creek district. The Conservatives are very active throughout the province at present. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is anxious to become premier of British Columbia, and is therefor endeavoring to organize the Conservative forces, so that the next provincial election may be run on party lines. It is rumoured that negotiations have been opened for the purchase of two or three provincial papers, that will be used to boom Sir Hibbert for the leadership of the Conservative party in this province.

In the meantime Mr. Lucas is energetically pushing the work of organizing the party. He is travelling with Messrs. Ellison and McKelvie, who left for Rossland on Tuesday.

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW

NO TROUBLE IN KOOTENAY

The Men Who Refused to Work are Orderly.—Some are Leaving the Country.—Special Constables at Ymir.

The mineowners of the Slocan are determined that the men shall accept a reduced rate of wage, the consequence of the early enforcement of the eight-hour law, and the men, who are well organized, are equally determined to hold out for the old rate of wage. All the mines in the vicinity of New Denver have been closed down, and the miners are idle. The New Denver correspondent of the Nelson Tribune writes:—

"The cessation of work applies to the underground work mainly, for several properties are continuing surface development. Many of the men are heading for the Lardo-Duncan country where they will spend the summer prospecting. In the towns, however, one can notice a contraction in business circles, and the merchants are complaining of deteriorating sales. Some of the hotelkeepers in the camp are favoring the closing of their dining rooms so as not to incur the expense of holding up the men. Luckily, however, these advocates are few in number, and the men will find universal good treatment, as in days of yore. It is reported that the mineowners have given warning to the men on their respective staffs refusing to sign the new schedule that they will not get another chance for employment when the wage question is settled. No farmers from Ontario or Manitoba have yet made their appearance to take the place of the men on strike."

A despatch from Ymir states:—

"At midnight—June 2-3—a special train arrived with six men for the Loudon & British Columbia Goldfields, who had been sworn in at Nelson last evening as special constables for the defence of the property and employees of the Ymir mine, owing to a telegram having been sent down by an official of the company here to the effect that their lives and property were in jeopardy, which is a gross exaggeration and entirely uncalledfor. The posse of special constables were met by Capt. Forrester, chief of police here, on arrival, and they (the specials) proceeded up to the mine this morning in the execution of their duties. The leading article in the Tribune of this morning has been read with extreme satisfaction by all the residents in the town and by the miners themselves. In conversation with a prominent member of the Miners' Union he said the action of the Ymir Gold Mines, Limited, in applying for special police protection was quite uncalled for and entirely unwarranted, that no threats whatever had been made, and that the men simply quit work because they had been refused $3.50 for an eight-hour shift, and were now quietly awaiting for the government to step in and arbitrate, and his idea was that pending such arbitration the mineowners should shut down. As far as your representative could discover, everything was going on smoothly; the Miners' Union have their men well in hand, and were quietly waiting the issue of events by the government taking measures for arbitration. The miners of this camp have always been peaceful and lawabiding, and Captain Forrester reported this morning that the town had never been so quiet. Fifteen of the men who quitted work from the Ymir mine took the evening train yesterday for Nelson. The camp is under the most excellent police control, and there are four justices of the peace in the town, and there is no question whatever that law and order can and will be maintained. J. Roderick Robertson, general manager of the London & British Columbia Goldfields, arrived here by the 11:17a.m. train and proceeded up to the Ymir mine. He returned to Nelson on the evening train."

Says a Kaslo correspondent:—

"On today's—June 1st—train, there were 120 passengers, the largest number the train has brought in for some time. They were mostly miners from Whitewater and Sandon who are on their way out of the country. All the mines in the district shut down today, letting out their men: the greater part of them are going to the Cœur d'Alenes, Montana, and Colorado, while some will remain here doing assessment work and waiting for the mines to open up again. A good many of the miners were in favor of accepting the $3 and going back to work, but the majority wanted to fight for their demanded rights, so it was decided to refuse the offer of the mineowners. Kaslo is full of idle miners at present as a result."

J. P. HARLAN IN MANILA.

An Interesting Description of Army Life in the far East.

Mr. C. Æ. Shaw have received a long and interesting letter from Jay P. Harlan who is fighting with the First South Dakota volunteer regiment in Manilla. Mr. Harlan says in part:

It is rather late to wriie a letter after so long a delay; but don't think that I have forgotton you, or any of my friends in Greenwood. Yesterday the thought came stronger than ever about writing you. I am lying around in camp now doing nothing but guard and fatigue duty, and all I can think of is getting back to America. I was telling the boys here of the royal Christmas dinner I partook of under your generous hospitality and our mouths fairly watered when I ran over the menu, and you could not wonder why our minds turn to anything good to eat after seeing some of the army fare we have to put up with at times.

I have just passed through an active campaign, which took all the strength and nerve the strongest of us could put forth, to keep up under. The advance on Mololos was started from Manila on the 25th of March, and we reached and took this place on the 31st of March. In that time we marched about forty miles and fought six different battles and numerous skirmishes. In fact it was nearly a continous fight from beginning to end for us, because there was hardly an hour of the day but what bullets were flying towards us and from us.

Our brigade had the most travelling. Mololos is distant twenty-one miles from Manila but our brigade was sent out on the right flank to drive the Insurrectos into the hills which we did and rejoined the main advance at a town called Polo, on the railroad. The whole advance then kept near this road and advanced most of the way in line of battle. The Insurrectos made their hardest fight at the Marilao river. Here they had an uncommonly strong position. It was here the South Dakota volunteers (my regiment) received their best reputation as a fighting regiment. We made a two mile charge and drove everything before us and to the side of us. We cleared two strong natural positions and two fine trenches. The last big trench was on the bank of the river across from us. We jumped into the river and went across right in front of this trench. But fortunately the enemy had become panic stricken before we reached the river and all but a few left before we crossed. They could not stand the rapid advance we were making and deserted the strongest kind of a position. But before all these trenches were cleared the enemy killed and wounded a good number of our men. The Mauser bullet has a wicked pinge and before we were through I heard many and many of them come near me but fortunately none touched me. In the great din and uproar one pays little attention to bullets. More of our regiment went down with the heat than with bullets. I half fainted before the last trench and sank down. I lay in an exposed and dangerous place for a few minutes. One of the boys of company E. passing me poured water on me and I soon revived and went on in time to help on the last trench. I have been able to always stay at the front. My health has been excellent, I have not missed one hour's duty yet. But I have had all the war I want not because of the fighting but because of the ill treatment one receives from the hands of petty officers and one's own government. I have little respect for the present administeration at Washington. I shall never be as patriotic again, and will be contented to leave well enough alone in future. I made too much of a sacrifice to get to serve my country in the first place and when I think of the chicanery and double dealing and selfishness shown towards the volunteers my soul revolts, at further service for such an administration. The service is too hard for such ungreatful connivers. They have us here and they are trying all manner of ways to hold us here. But I should not complain perhaps. The joy of getting back among my friends again will cause all this feeling of belligerency to vanish. About the first thing I do when I get back to Greenwood will be to walk out to your home and go to your back door and ask for a hand out. For a poor back door hand out is much better than what I get here.

This soldering will be a good experience for me in some ways, but in other ways the experience has been more detrimental than useful. I have no one to blame but myself; I can see now where my friends' judgement was better than my own. Still I love adadventure and if I could be more independent I would still be in for adventure, but when handicapped by officers and army discipline I care for no more. When I go to war again it will be on my own account.

RICH CANYON CREEK

BIG LEDGES AND GOOD VALUES

Enormous Possibilities of a New Mining District Tributary to Greenwood—Within 30 Miles of Greenwood by New Road to West Fork.

Ald. Sutherland, Jas. Robinson, and a gang of men are rapidly pushing the wagon road from Boundary Creek to the West Fork country. The road will bring Greenwood thirty miles nearer a district that is only rivalled by Boundary Creek proper. The West Fork country and Canyon Creek will, when the new road is completed, be nearer Greenwood than Rock Creek. Prospectors and others will buy all their supplies here, and make Greenwood their headquarters. So far as the outside world is concerned, Canyon Creek is an unknown territory, but the prospector—who has examined the ground, uncovered the ledges, or cut through the iron caps—and the metallurgist—who has assayed the samples—are all enthusiastic, and confident that the Canyon Creek country will yet astonish the mining world.

Canyon Creek is one of the numerous tributaries of Kettle River. It empties into the main river about 35 miles above Rock Creek, and runs almost parallel for a considerable distance. The mining camp runs back to Cedar Creek, another stream entering into the main river about eight miles below. The area is a considerable one. The formation is quartzite and granite, and the ledges are quartz carrying high gold and copper values. A prospector, who has just returned from the district, gave the following particulars regarding the claims, the work done, and the values of the ores:—

"Among the claims upon which a considerable amount of work has been done is the Robin Hood, a crown granted property owned by J. E. Guttridge. There is a 5-foot ledge of solid ore on the property. Assays average $18, copper values being about 5 per cent. Adjoining the Robin Hood is a claim owned by Madison & Co. It has a large iron capping and a ledge over 500 feet in ore. Assays run from $9 to $30. The Mogud is owned by a Victoria company. There is an 8-foot ledge on this property running $100, and assays as high as $600 have been secured. The development work consists of a 20-foot shaft and numerous open cuts. The Silver Dollar, owned by Petersen, has an immense iron capping fully 600 feet wide. There is a 20-foot tunnel and a 40-foot shaft on this property, also numerous open cuts, all in ore. Assays from this property run from $9 to $150. The Coin, joining the Silver Dollar on the South, has a ledge 20 feet wide between well defined walls. It gives high values in gold and silver. The Highland Mary, and adjacent property, is owned by Robt. Wood and William Miller of Greenwood. The ledge has been uncovered, exposing 8 feet of solid ore and no walls. A quantity of the ore is being brought down to be thoroughly sampled. North of the Silver King is the Hunter group, owned by Sullivan, Waddell, and others. There is here a ledge 40 feet wide. One assessment has been done, and the property looks well. The Mayflower is owned by W. S. Fletcher of Greenwood. Considerable work has been done. Ten feet of ore has been crosscut, and no walls found. The Riverside is also owned by Mr. Fletcher. When the work was started on this property, the vein was only two feet wide, but it widened until now the work is in 11 feet of solid high grade ore. Another group, the Mountain Queen, has been developed to some extent. The group consists of the Chateau, Iron King, Iron Duke, and Mountain Queen. The Iron King is simply a mountain of iron, through which run veins of quartz carrying gold and copper values. The same veins extend through the Iron Duke. This group was recently bonded for a large figure. The May Queen group consists of the May Queen, Jewel, and Golden Crown. The claims are owned by John Simpson and brother of Rossland. Two assessments have been done. There is an 18-foot ledge, and assays as high as 18 per cent copper and $22 in gold have been secured. There is a large showing in the Big Chief owned by John Gray."

The holders of properties are going to do a large amount of development work this year. The camp will also be more thoroughly prospected.

GRAND FORKS CELEBRATION.

Two Days Sports Being Arranged For by a Live Committee.

The committee in charge of the Grand Forks celebration have issued the following circular:—

"There will be a big celebration on Dominion Day. As Canada's natal day this year falls on Saturday, the event will be celebrated on July 1 and 3. The next day—July 4—will draw all the people of the Boundary district to Nelson, Washington. A splendid programme has been arranged for the two days celebration. Over $2,000 will be distributed as prizes for the horseraces and athletic games and sports. There will be a double-hand drilling-contest, for which a first prize of $150 will be offered and a second prize of $50. The horseraces promise to be a very attractive feature. The events will include running races, notably a two hundred yard, three hundred yard, a ¼-mile dash, ½ mile, and races of ⅝-mile. The baseball teams of the Boundary will compete for the handsome silver cup recently offered for competition by Mayor Lloyd A. Manly. Five thousand people are expected here for the two days celebration. A brass band will be in attendance."

REPUBLIC FIRE.

The Business Portion of the Reservation City Destroyed.

Last Saturday the business portion of the town of Republic was destroyed by fire. The buildings destroyed, and their estimated values, follow:—

Spiggle building, $2,200.

Edem's building—butcher shop, Eureka News Co., N. Y. bazaar, Brown's restaurant—$1,500.

Woodhouse & Well's office building, occupied by P. Rothrock, lawyer; F. O. Northrup and Imperial Mining company; E. M. Carr; Grant's carpenter shop; Threlkeld's drug store and hospital; two offices occupied by Lawyer Alexander; tailor shop; $4,500.

J. C. Sear's buildings, occupied by Oak barber shop; McPherson & Beck, lawyers; S. T. Manard, real estate; Munroe Stage company; Union Cafe; $1,000.

H. L. Percy, residence and office building, $4,000.

Harris saloon building, owned by L. H. Mason, $2,000.

Frank Keck, owner of the next building, occupied by Owl saloon, and hall upstairs, $2,500.

A. L. Biegle, owner of the Manila saloon building and Imperial bakery building, $3,000.

Gerald & Buggy, owners and proprietors of the Vienna restaurant building $1,100.

Patsy Riordon, owner of the Butte saloon building, $750.

Dysart & Welch, owners of the Cœur d'Alene saloon building, $1,000.

Republic Mercantile company building, $4,500.

G. M. Sterling, owner of the Montana saloon building, $500.

Whip & Samonious, saloon, $300.

George Umbach, U. S. barber shop building, $250.

McCann, owner of Walter dry goods store building, $1,000.

McCann, owner of N. Y. kitchen and Columbia restaurant building, $500.

The above estimates are made on buildings alone, the loss on goods, merchandise, etc., being left for future consideration. At present writing, it is estimated that the loss will exceed the sum of $200,000.

All the buildings on the east side of Clark avenue, from Sixth street north, including the fine new office building being erected by Woodhouse & Wells, were saved by water being piped by them into that section.

A GOVERNMENT ROW.

A Racy Dispatch Sent Out from Victoria in Regard to Cabinet Ministers.

VICTORIA, June 5.—A violent altercation between ministers Martin and Cotton took place yesterday at a private interview between the members of a Vancouver delegation and the executive respecting Deadman's island, and though the delegation pledged themselves to secrecy as to the proceedings, a story of an unseemly row has leaked out together with other information. As one delegate put it, Martin simply made rag of Cotton, charging him with rank disloyalty to Vancouver, of which Martin proclaimed himself the champion. He freely revealed details of the proceeding of recent cabinet meetings, and, it is said, virtually gave Cotton the lie. Semlin seemed greatly distrassed at Martin's violence and repeatedly begged him to be more temperate, but the atiorney-general took no notice of the premier's remonstrances.

Midway, B. C., May 20th, 1899.

To THE EDITOR,
Boundary Creek Times,
Greenwood, B. C.

Dear Sir:

I have recently learned since my partial recovery from illness of long duration that during the recent visit of Mr. Leonard Norris, assistant commissioner of Land and Works, several land cases in regard to the town of Beaverton or the pre-emption of W. T. Thompson were tried.

I never heard of them!! They were never tried!! simple for the reason that they never existed. Then why? Because the title to Beaverton is perfect.

Who owns Beaverton? The trading men in Greenwood mostly! Bankers, the townsite owners of Greenwood, your leading brokers, assayers, merchants, mining men, and citizens.

Why do they own property in Beaverton? Because they know a good thing when they see it. That is what is building Greenwood city up so fast, and besides they have been on the ground and have seen it themselves.

Beaverton is the terminus of the West Fork branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. there are no other branches in that part of the country.

Why is Beaverton going to be prosperous and a large and thriving centre? Because it is the key to the entire mining district, and running right up to, in fact right into the town, are some of the largest and richest surface showings of mineral on the continent. Ask such experienced men in these matters as Robt. Wood, George Guess, C. Scott Galloway, J. C. Haas, James Sutherland, C. Æ. Shaw, or in fact anyone who has been at Beaverton what he thinks of it?

Yours truly,
W. T. THOMPSON.

THE REPUBLIC FIRE.

PHOENIX-LIKE a new Republic will rise from the ashes of the old—a better and more permanent Republic. From a general point of view, the fire will not hurt Republic but it entailed great hardship on individual business men who lost their all. It is stated that one firm, the Republic trading company lost over $20,000. They began in a small way and by energy and industry succeeded in establishing a large business only to have it wiped out by fire. The fire should teach other cities similarly situated a forcible lesson. Prevention is the main idea in a mining town comprised chiefly of frame buildings. An efficient system of fire protection is an absolute necessity but even with the best protection if a fire once gets headway in the business portion of a city built of wood, the possibility of quenching it, is very remote. It is stated that a defective stovepipe was responsible for the Republic fire. It often happens that those little things that might have been easily rectified are responsible for big conflagrations.

In Greenwood for instance the provisions of the fire protection by-law are not enforced so ragidly as they ought to be.

The best possible safeguard against fire is a due appreciation by everyone of the importance of preventing one. It is characteristic of ordinary human nature to treat with contempt an invisible danger, and the most foolish chances are taken. A fire such as that in Republic would ruin nearly every business man in the city. Many carry insurance it is true, but not sufficient to compensate for a total loss by fire. While prevention is the best remedy, it should be the ambition of every growing city to have plenty of water, good fire apparatus, and an efficient and enthusiastic fire department. All three are possible in Greenwood. The fire laddies are made of the right kind of stuff, and with training would make a good showing.

GREENWOOD'S GROWTH.

GREENWOOD never passed through the exciting though unprofitable experiences connected with a boom. The mines of the district are so directly tributary to the city that its growth and prosperity naturally depended upon the activity displayed in the development of the mineral resources in the immediate vicinity. When mining was dull, business in Greenwood was not active. The extra spurt made by the mines in order to be in a position to ship upon the completion of the railway has had its influence upon business of the city and its growth since the first of the year has been remarkable. Next week the TIMES will publish a conservative estimate of the outlay in buildings since January 1st, 1899. In the Xmas number we had an estimate of the value of the buildings in the city. From figures gathered it will be seen that these values have been more than doubled during the past five months.

Greenwood is so advantageously situated that the only influence that could successfully retard its growth is the failure to develop the mining possibilities of Boundary creek district. As such failure is indeed remote there can scarcely be a doubt that since Boundary creek is to be one of the greatest mining districts in the world, its metropolis Greenwood will be correspondingly important.

The time when Greenwood will take rank among the mining and commercial centres can be hastened by the citizens. All that is required is a unity of purpose and a fixed determination to leave nothing undone that will promote the best interests of the city.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS.

NO BETTER criterion of the wonderful increase in business transacted in Greenwood can be found than the progress of the banks established in the city. When three of the wealthiest and most conservative banking institutions in Canada opened branches here last fall, the knowing ones were not slow in stating that rivalry had overcome their discretion and that there was not sufficient business for three banks in Greenwood. The Victoria Colonist poked fun at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, calling it a giddy thing, and wondered what the English shareholders in the Bank of B. N. A. would think of its enterprising B. C. officials. It turns out that the banks knew more about their business than outsiders and were able to more accurately gauge the bright future of the city. Each bank has been forced to increase its staff to keep pace with the growing business. The Bank of B. N. A. was fortunate in securing commodious quarters at the start, but the other banks have been forced to secure larger offices. The Bank of Commerce has handsome offices in the Naden-Flood block, and next week the Bank of Montreal will move into quarters in the Rendell block that would do no discredit to a city of 10,000 inhabitants. The "giddy young thing" made no mistake in becoming associated with Greenwood, and the conservative Englishman is more than satisfied with his investments in the city. Greenwood is indeed enjoying a growing time.

THE MINISTMRIAL FIGHT.

WHILE the highly entertaining dispatches sent out from Victoria relative to the trouble between fighting "Joe" Martin and F. C. Cotton should be largely discounted there is a strong probability that there is some fire with so much smoke. The government is a peculiar organization. The strength of the Turner party lay in the weakness of the opposition. The Turner government was defeated not by a party but by the dissatisfied people. The Semlin government was patched up simply to meet the exiegencies of the hour. Mr. Martin and Mr. Cotton are both ambitious. Both are clever. The one is fearless and the other is astute. They both realize that age and incapacity will force Mr. Semlin to retire from the premiership and are fighting for the position. It is quite possible that while they are fighting each other, the position may go to some one else. In the meantime they are furnishing plenty of amusement to those watching current events in the province.

EIGHT PAGE PAPER.

SINCE the publishers of the TIMES began the issue of a twice-a-week papers, many prominent advertisers objected to the limited space at their disposal. We endeavored to please everyone but the advertising patronage has increased to such an extent that we find it necessary to enlarge the paper to an eight page. This can only be done by abandoning the Wednesday's issue. The change meets the views of the majority of our patrons. The eight pages will give more space for advertising and also for reading matter. With the advent of a railway and telegraphic communications, a daily paper will be a necessity if Greenwood continues growing as rapidly as at present. Until a daily is possible we will bublish an eight page paper, the largest weekly published in the interior of British Columbia.

THE mining and commercial association has extended an invitation to the members of the Canadian mining institute to visit Boundary creek during their visit to the west. It is hoped that the invitation will be accepted. To visit the mines of B. C. without seeing the mines in Boundary Creek would be like seeing Hamlet played with Hamlet left out.

THE Grand Forks tinhorns are coming to Greenwood and the Greenwood tinhorns went to Grand Forks. Twere better to bear those ills we have than fly to others we wot not of. This we do know that they were not improved by their sojourn in the gateway city.

IT is reported that Eholt creek is being polluted by saw dust from McPherson's mill. Those complaining state that there is no excuse for the pollution of the stream as the sawdust could be burnt. Those guilty of dumping of sawdust into a stream are liable to a heavy fine.

A SMELTER brought the Eastern Township's bank across the continent to Grand Forks. The mines of Boundary creek brought three strong banks to Greenwood. One miner creates more business than three smelter men.

BY hard work the celebration committee can make Dominion Day celebration the biggest and most successful event which ever took place in the Boundary creek district.

HAD the government built the West Fork bridge instead of tinkering with a ferry, money would have been saved and the big mining district would not be retarded.

GREENWOOD is no gateway city. It is a commercial and mining centre.

GREENWOOD AND DISTRICT.

A. H. Sperry returned from Spokane this week.

James Addison of Grand Forks was in the city last week.

The big compressor at the Winnipeg is now in running order.

W. F. Honey and family left on Wednesday for Grand Forks, N. D. Mr. Honey expects to return in about a month.

H. Warrington, a prominent mining engineer, with headquarters at Republic, spent several days in the district this week. Mr. Warrington is impressed with the great possibilities of the district and expects to return here at an early date.

It is stated that during his recent visit C. K. Milbourne, of the Cascade Power Company, was investigating the practicability of having the Boundary Creek mines supplied with electricity generated at Cascade. Mr. Milbourne was accompanied by his engineer.

Mrs. H. E. Foreman cordially invites all the children of Greenwood to Barrett's hall on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when they will be instructed in physical culture free of charge. Mrs. Foreman also invites ladies to her free lectures on physical culture on Friday afternoon at 3:30.

J. Edwards Leckie and Harry Needham left for Rossland by the Dewdney trail last week. Their friends were somewhat anxious regarding their safety as the trail was reported to be in a fearful condition. They arrived safely in Rossland, however, having found the trail easier than they anticipated. They report no snow excepting on the other side of Sophie mountain.

Word has been received from Montreal that the Montreal Boundary Creek Mining Company have purchased a large plant from the James Cooper Manufacturing Company for the Sunset mine. The plant is a duplicate of that ordered for the B. C. It includes two 80-horse power boilers, a 10 drill compressor, pumps and all other equipments. There will also be an electric light plant. The plant will be one of the largest in the Boundary Creek country. The work on the Sunset is being vigorously prosecuted. Sinking is being continued. Drifting in from shaft No. 2 will shortly be started to crosscut the ore body at the north end. The foundations for the big buildings necessary to house the plant will be commenced shortly. The flotation of the Montreal Boundary Creek company has been most successful, placing ample funds at the disposal of the company to develop the property upon a scale commensurate with its enormous possibilities.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Has a Short Session on Monday Evening Last. The Debentures.

The regular meeting of the city council was held on Monday evening with the mayor in the chair, and Alderman Cropley, Cameron and Wood present.

Rendell & Co. informed the council that the building in the alley used as a fire hall raised their rate of insurance. The council decided to remove the building to the city's lots. Copper street ratepayers asked for a sidewalk between the Imperial and Waterland's hotels. The matter was deferred until debentures are sold.

Several accounts were reported by the financial committee and ordered paid.

A rate bylaw and a bylaw authorizing the widening of Silver street were read a first and second time.

Alderman Cameron gave notice that at the next meeting he would introduce a waterworks bylaw, also a plumber's bylaw.

F. J. Finucane, manager of the Bank of Montreal, reported that he had received a code message from W. L. Hogg offering to buy new issue of debentures. The A. B. C. code was used and could not be translated as he had mislaid his A. B. C. code book. The council adjourned until the offer for debentures could be placed before them.

ROSSLAND MINING MAN.

He Visits Several of the Mines in the Boundary Creek District.

T. E. Plewman, a Rossland mining engineer, recently spent 10 days examining properties in the Boundary Creek district. To the Rossland Miner he gave the following impressions of the properties visited:—

"The Winnipeg, Oro Denoro, and Rathmullen are all engaged in surface work at present, pending the installation of machinery. The hoisting and six-drill compressor plant of the Winnipeg is nearly completed, and will be running in a few days, when work will be resumed in the drift at the 300-foot level, and a crosscut will also be run to tap the second ledge of the property. The Winnipeg has the deepest shaft in the Boundary Creek country, and from 800 to 900 feet of drifting has been done at the various levels, exposing large bodies of shipping ore. Men are now engaged in grading the C. P. R. switch to the Winnipeg, and as soon as the railway is running shipments will commence.

"The Brandon & Golden Crown is looking well, and sinking is now in progress from the 150-foot to the 200-foot level.

"The Knob Hill crosscut tunnel is now in a distance of 560 feet, giving a vertical depth of over 200 feet. This tunnel crosses the lead diagonally, and is in ore almost the whole way. Drifting is now in progress along what is supposed to be the hanging wall of the vein, and an upraise has been made to the surface, giving ventilation to the mine.

"Work is being energetically pushed on the Ben Hur, one of the Rathmullen group, and some nice copper ore is being found.

"Development work on the B. C. is confined to drifting on the various levels, and sinking will not be resumed till the large hoisting and compressor plant is installed. The B. C. ore dump is the prettiest I have ever seen, besides being of high grade, and lots of ore is being taken out in the course of development work.

"The Oro Denoro has one of the largest and finest surface showings in the country, and looks as if it had the makings of a great mine.

"The Humming Bird has a small vein comparatively, but it is all clean ore of good shipping grade.

"Altogether the outlook for the whole country is full of promise, and the Boundary Creek country has a great future before it."

THE CELLAR . . .

SINKS, Garbage Boxes and Cesspools need attention now. Sometimes sickness in the summer months is due to lack of disinfectants. Be on the safe side—use CREOLIN now.

CREOLIN is a prompt, reliable and safe disinfectant. It is not poisonous, and that is one of the reasons why it is in such demand. Death through carbolic acid is frequent.

IN addition to its use as a general disinfectant, Creolin is an agreeable deodorizer for the sick room, an effective home remedy for burns, cuts and other hurts; and a useful application in treating skin blemishes and parasitic diseases of animals.

THREE table spoonfuls of Creolin mixed with a gallon of water makes a good disinfectant

RELIGION AND MINING STOCKS.

One A. E. St. de Dalmas has arranged a wonderful combination in the shape of a union of religion and mining stocks. In a leaflet circulated in Rossland Mr. de St. Dalmas volunteer's the information that was engaged for seven and half years in business before he entered the ministry after which he was for 16 years a Christian pastor in Ontario. The greater need of Christian workers in British Columbia finally induced him to come to this province and he is going to establish a self-supporting mission, wholly supporting himself by agencies in connection with several of the best and safests gold mining companies in British Columbia. The circular continues: "Any remuneration received for Christion work I at once hand over for the mission building—to the treasurer—and hope to see the building erected free from debt. Being in the centre of the gold mines and receiving information direct, I am now in a position to receive orders from any who desire to make safe investments, and put them into some of the most profitable and safest mines in the country."

The Rossland Miner very properly comments adversely on this intermixture of religion and the brokerage business and suggests that he is simply placing his sign over the very door of the temple. The Miner does not doubt that he purposes doing all that he says he will do or that he might accomplish some direct good. But the indirect evil which would be occasioned by the church entering into competition with the world for the brokerage business to be obtained in the Kootenays would far more than counterbalance any benefit from his work. Besides, what limit would be set to this species of church operation. Other men less conscientious than Mr. de St. Dalmas might, by observing his success, adopt the same plan without the same purity of motives or honesty of intention. The spiritual guides of the people should be very careful how they lend their endorsation to schemes of this character. The church will best discharge her mission to mankind by depending on the free and grateful contributions of the people."

THE BOUNDARY CREEK TIMES

COPPER ST. - - GREENWOOD, B. C.

TIME FOR A HALT.

The time has assuredly come for Dominion legislation to impose reasonable safeguarding conditions. requiring at least sufficient proof of due qualification in open court, upon the naturalization of foreign settlers in this province. There is not the slightest doubt that by swearing, practically unchecked, under the rough-and-ready system, large numbers of Orientals—Chinese and Japanese—are now acquiring rights of citizenship after altogether inadequate residence and settlement in the province. These Orientals have recently been, and are being, naturalized by hundreds, although many of them are undoubtedly but recent incomers, amongst whom not a few are in reality migrants, who make from and for Japan before and after our fishery seasons.

This hasty and wholesale naturalization, without scrutiny, of Orientals of a low grade, and this for material reasons only, is rapidly approaching, if it have not already reached, the dimensions of a public scandal. Yet Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues seem as usual regardless of the just claims in the matter of the ordinary British citizenship of this province.

Mr. McInnes alone among our British Columbia members of parliament on the government side, seem to be active in assertion of the claims for reasonable protection in this matter of the interests of the masses of our white laboring population, and he, unfortunately, allows his zeal to outrun his discretion, by asking rather too much, which affords the Dominion government a ready way of escape from action in the case. Under existing circumstances the ordinary white labor of our province stands at grave risk of being swamped in the early future by a vast immigration of sweated labor from the Orient, which is already steadily displacing the Canadian worker in many employments in this province.

Meanwhile, the fact that this cheap Mongolian labor is becoming abundantly available is, in particular, being freely advertised in England as an inducement for outside capital to enter the province. Thus, the prospectus of a recently organized and already floated hydraulic gold mining company in Cariboo, having an authorized capital of no less than £350,000, we refer to the Cariboo Consolidated, Limited—recently stated, as a special inducement to investors, that Chinese and Japanese labor would be available on terms of a dollar to a dollar and a half a day less than the remuneration of the white worker. Our province can doubtless absorb and assimilate a limited number of Oriental settlers, sans displacement of white labor, but the bounds imposed by this limitation are rapidly being passed, and it is time to "cry a halt."

The very least that should be done is, therefore, to reduce the present encouragement afforded to Mongol incomers by the easy granting of all the privileges of British citizenship at almost the shortest notice, and on condition only of a little hard swearing, and that if altogether unchecked.—Vancouver News-Advertiser.

LACK OF INTEREST.

The following from the Rossland Miner shows that the business men of Rossland not far behind those of Greenwood in the small amount of interest they take in public affairs:

If the board of trade of Rossland would direct its energies in some reasonably intelligent manner and not in the fitful, hysterical fashion which seems to characterize it, some benefit might accrue to the town from its existence. At the present time Rossland is badly in need of public buildings and it is now that a vigorous effort, properly directed, might result in the Dominion government putting such a subsidy in the estimates as would meet our present requirements. Nothing, however, in this direction has been done beyond a brief request made, by wire, to the member for the district to use his influence with the government and a commission very negligently given to some prominent citizens, whose business happened to call them to Ottawa, to lend their support.

There has been no earnestness in the representations made from here—no insistance such as is absolutely essential to obtain favors from a government. And now instead of pressing for what is so urgently needed, and pressing at the most critical time, the board flies off on another scent and sends out a feverish message to the boards of trade in the district asking for co-operation in a demand for a separate reprssentative for the Kootenays in the Dominion house.

We are at a loss to see what is to be gained by this demand. On the face of it, too, the message bears the stamp of entire ignorance of the situation. The redistribution bill now before parliament is intended simply to correct the injustice which was created by the Conservative gerrymander of 1882, and does not increase the representation in the house. It only applies, too, to some of the counties in Ontario and Quebec.

British Columbia cannot obtain increased representation until the new census has been taken, when, there is no doubt the province will be fairly treated and the Kootenays will obtain at least one member to themselves. Until that time arrives, however, such action as that taken by the Board of Trade on Wednesday night is utterly useless.

It is possible, of course, although highly improbable, that the intention of the Board was to induce the government to so re-arrange the representation of the province as it now exists that the Kootenays would obtain a member at the expense of some other constituency, which may have larger representation than it is entitled to. This would argue a simplicity which is worse than ignorance. The only instance of this kind in the province is Victoria, which is certainly over represented. When the general redistribution is made Victoria, of course, will lose one of her members; but to urge for such a re-arrangement at the present time would make us rediculous.

The Board of Trade has some good capable business men among its members and if they exerted some of their energy and ability in the right direction no doubt they would accomplish something.

THE SENATE.

There are now twenty-six Liberal members in the senate, and when the late Senator Boulton's place is filled the number will be twenty-seven. The full number of the senate is eighty-one. It is, therefore, very clear that if the present government remains in power much longer the senate majority will be Liberal, without the exercise of the power vested in the Governor-General to appoint six new senators, when the interests of the country seem to demand it. We submit that it is not desirable for the senate to become and be recognized as a partisan body, but we greatly fear that the tendency is in that direction. Indeed, such a result is almost inevitable under our political system, it matters not what party is in power. Rightly or wrongly makes no difference; the Liberals believe the senate, as at present constituted, is strongly partisan against them, and if they ever have a chance to alter its political complexion we may depend upon it that the partisan spirit will not be eliminated. Hence, as under any circumstances political partisanship is likely to find expression in the upper chamber, the people of Canada ought to consider if some change in the manner of filling vacancies in that body cannot be devised with advantage.

Speaking the other day in parliament Sir Charles Tupper said that if the senate should throw out a bill which the government of the day regarded as of prime importance, the remedy of dissolution was always available, and that the senate would never go contrary to the opinion of the people expressed at the polls. If this is the object of the senate, to compel an appeal to the people, the danger of its becoming a partisan body is increased. We confess never to have been enamored with the idea that any body of legislators in Canada who are beyond the reach of the people. Comparisons between the House of Lords and the Canadian Senate are quite useless. The House of Lords is a survival from the earliest days of British parliamentary government. British institutions have grown up with the House of Lords, forming an integral part of them. It is a unique body. Its existence proves nothing except that it is not a menace to British institutions, which it could not very well be, because it is identified to an extraordinary degree with British interests. No appointive body in Canada can possibly fill such a position as the House of Lords in the United Kingdom. Hence any references to the latter are of little use in determining the value of the senate. To believe that a change is necessary, and to devise a new method of filling vacancies are very different things. We think a majority of the people of Canada favor a change, and that the Conservative party will make a mistake to set itself against it on principle, whatever attitude it may take on the details of the proposed amendment. The votes of the legislatures of three of the Eastern provinces have been in favor of an alteration of the B. N. A. act in this regard, and we venture to say that Manitoba and British Columbia would vote in the same way if the single issue could be presented to them, without being mixed up with any other question. We think, therefore, that the Conservative party would act wisely to approach the question of senate reform from a critical, rather than a distinctly hostile attitude. Much of the success of that party hitherto has been in the ability of its leaders to keep in touch with the movement of public opinion.—Colonist.

RENDELL & CO., GREENWOOD

GREENWOOD AND DISTRICT.

J. C. Haas has returned from a business trip to Spokane.

J. P. Flood has taken charge of the Camp McKinney Hotel.

G.W. Shatford, a Fairview and Camp McKinney merchant, was in the city this week.

Rev. B. H. Balderston will preach in Rendell's Hall on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Clement Vascher, who has charge of the Okanagan mine at Penticton, was in Greenwood this week.

John A. Coryell, surveyed the townsite of Phoenix last week. The Old Ironsides Company are building several cottages for the men.

The Grand Forks Miner is the authority for the statement that the majority of the tinhorns ordered out of Grand Forks came to Greenwood.

The main line of the Columbia Telephone Company has reached Grand Forks from Bossburg. A local exchange is being installed at Grand Forks.

An effort is being made to organize a lacrosse team in the city. There are several oldtime players in the city. If possible a match will be played during the Dominion Day celebration.

Mr. D. C. Corbin intends building the telegraph line to Greenwood immediately. The work will be rushed, so that Greenwood may hope to have two telegraph systems here in a very short time.

The Miner's Hotel will be opened on Saturday next. This new hotel is a neat two-storey structure on Copper street below Deadwood. It contains over 20 bedrooms and large commodious bar, office, and diningroom downstairs. The proprietor—Walter Waterland—is a successful hotel man, who is sure to make the Miner's Hotel one of the best in the city.

E. M. Aldrich, of Rossland, was in the city this week. He has gone to the Oro Denoro to erect the mining plant recently purchased for the property.

Joseph P. Keane, manager of the Cariboo mine, and Miss Mabel Dell were recently married at Benvoulin, Rev. G. A. Wilson of Vernon officiating.

TheVernon & Nelson Telephone company will have connection with the Inland company at Cascade in a few days. A better service is then confidently expected.

H. H. Schallenberger has returned from Spokane. He intends working the properties of the Greenwood-Crescent Gold-mining company in Skylark Camp.

W. J. Goepel, inspector of government offices, was in the city this week, after having visited all the offices in the district. He found everything in good order.

W. F. Travis, a Nelson architect, was in the city this week. He is preparing plans for a large block which W. S. Fletcher intends erecting on his lots at the corner of Copper and Deadwood streets.

D. A. Cameron, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is expected back from Penticton today, where he went to meet Mrs. Cameron, who is coming from the East to reside in Greenwood.

J. M. R. Fairbairn, P. L. S., of Kaslo, has joined Sidney M. Johnson in this city. They will carry on the business of surveyors and civil engineers under the firm name of Johnson & Fairbairn.

The West Fork ferry has been carried down the river and is piled up near the mouth of James creek. The government were urged to build the bridge during low water, but the ferry was built instead. It is impossible to build the bridge now as the river is a raging torrent.

H. C. Stillingfleet of Vernon is in the city.

L. A. Manly, mayor of Grand Forks was in the city on Wednesday.

A. C. Shepard and Dr. Gordon of Cascade were visitors to the city this week.

Mr. Hayward has been appointed customs collector at Midway. His position in the Grand Forks office has been accepted by ex-Postmaster Petrie.

The Columbia Stage Company has bought the International Flyer, an opposition line. Stages and 38 horses are included in the transfer.

Fred Brown, of the Columbia hotel, is now recovering from Bright's disease. Mr. Brown was at one time one of the proprietors of the Harrison Hot Springs hotel.

J. B. Donald, one of the contractors for the Columbia Telephone line, was in the city this week. He reports that the line is built beyond Niagara, and will be here in about two weeks.

Professional dealers of black jack appeared before Police-Magistrate Hallett on Wednesday, and were fined $50 and costs. A number took warning, and left the same day for Grand Forks.

W. F. Tye, chief engineer of the Columbia & Western Railway, has awarded the contract for all the posts needed for fencing the right-of-way where required between Cascade and Midway. E. Hildebrandt secured this contract, and will have associated with him G. L. Woodard. The contract calls for 20,000 cedar posts, eight and a half feet long and not less than five inches in diameter, to be delivered on the right-of-way. The contractors will camp at a point a few miles above Gladstone, in the McRae Creek valley, where there is plenty of timber suitable for the purpose. They expect to occupy a month's time in completing the contract.

Clive Pringle is away on a business trip to Rossland.

E. Spragget of Grand Forks was a visitor in the metropolis on Saturday.

C. A. R. Lambly the gold commissioner paid Greenwood a flying visit this week.

Jno. R. Reavis, the editor and proprietor of the Republic Miner was in the city this week. Mr. Reavis was one of the few fortunate residents of Republic who escaped loss by fire.

A. N. Pelly has returned to Greenwood after an absence of two years. He was here with Leslie Hill and secured some mining interests. During his absence Mr. Pelly made a hard trip to Dawson via the Edmonton route.

Ralph Smailes manager for Rendell & Co., Mrs. Smailes and family left by Thursday's stage for Penticton. They are going to the coast where Mrs. Smailes and the children will spend the summer. Mr. Smailes expects to return in three weeks.

R. E. Gosnell formerly provincial librarian has arrived in Greenwood to engage in business here. He represents a wealthy syndicate who is anxious to invest in Boundary creek mining properties. Mr. Gosnell will also transact a general mining and insurance business.

The main part of the 1000-foot bridge over Kettle river at Cascade is now all on end, and good progress is being made. The three sets of piles washed out of the spans will not seriously delay the work, as Superintendent Stewart states that if need be the piles can be driven and the entire false work to be used for the present for the two 150-foot spans can be put in after the track layers get in sight, some two or three miles up the long Christina lake grade.

L. S. Moulton-Barrett left on Friday for the Golden Eagle mine on the North Fork.

W. Anderson who is connected with the Cascade Power company was in the city this week.

There will be a meeting of all interested in the formation of an athletic association on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Barrett's Hall.

The rails are now laid to a point about two miles west of Porcupine creek or about 26 miles from Cascade. From that point there is clear sailing to Gladstone.

Goupil & Holden, signwriters, painters, paperhangers, etc., etc., etc.

TRACKED TO PULLMAN.

A Freighter Arrested for Running Away With Mortgaged Horses.

J. W. Haskins, a venerable freighter, left this week for the other side, taking with him several teams of horses. Haskins was freighting between Bossburg and Greenwood last winter. He got into financial difficulties, and his teams were seized by the sheriff. Ald. Cropley came to his rescue, and paid the indebtedness, taking a mortgage on the stock as security. Haskins did a general teaming business around the city for a few weeks. It was then discovered that he had suddenly left the city, without paying the amount due Mr. Cropley. He has been followed to Colfax, Washington, and it is quite possible that the horses may yet be recovered.

The sequel to the above appears in the Spokesman-Review of Wednesday. Mr. McNeil—Mr. Cropley's partner—tracked the fugitive to Pullman, Wash. He secured the services of the sheriff, who arrested Haskins and the horses. They are there awaiting the settlement of the case.
