THE CITY COUNCIL.

THE MINUTES ARE MUTILATED

At the Dictation of the Mayor—He Insisted on Moving an Amendment Before the Minutes Were Adopted—The Electric Light System. A City Engineer Appointed.

The regular meeting was held on Monday evening, with the mayor in the chair and all the members present. After the clerk had read the minutes of the previous regular and the special meeting, Mayor Hardy arose and stated that before the minutes were adopted, he wished to amend the resolution awarding the advertising contract to the Boundary Creek Printing and Publishing company. He took action under clause 12 of the Municipal Clauses act, which gives the mayor power to intervene within one month from the time of the adoption of a by-law, resolution or proceeding of council. His amendment was to the effect that the city enter into a contract with the Boundary Creek Printing and Publishing company, conditional upon the company agreeing to charge at the rate of once a week, unless needed more than once a week, and that the company be granted two days in which to decide the matter. The mayor continuing, said that that thing over there, called the editor of the Boundary Creek Times, in his letter to the council, insinuates that the oaths of the people around this board cannot be depended on. He would sooner rely on their word than on the oath of that thing. He would not like to accept tender without entering into an agreement with those gentlemen. He heard also they propose starting a daily. They may charge us for inserting notices in every issue. Another reason the mayor had for doubting this man's veracity, was that he came here and published what suited himself. It has gone this far, that the editor has dictated to his manager. All the other tenders had the name of D. C. Ross to them, and the manager told him more than once that he was compelled to make over to the editor. If the council wished to accept his amendment he would be very glad to have them do so; if not, he would have to veto the resolution.

Alderman Wood thought the agreement had been closed with the Times company, and the number of insertions could be afterwards arranged for. The company would doubtless be instructed how many times an advertisement was to appear.

Alderman Sutherland moved that the amendment suggested by the mayor be adopted as read.

Alderman Galloway regretted very much the spirit displayed in this whole matter. He condemned the action of the mayor in getting up in his place to indulge in personalities.

Mayor Hardy—You must stick to the amendment, Alderman Galloway. Your remarks are personal.

Alderman Galloway—And what were yours?

Mayor Hardy—I gave reasons. I must call you to order. You will have to speak to the amendment.

Alderman Galloway—How would you like if some one at the other end of the table had called you to order. I will speak to the amendment and to this, too. The Boundary Creek Times company has alwaks been fair in their dealings with the council. They always did their work reasonably and satisfactorily and are entitled to more consideration than abuse from the mayor.

Mayor Hardy—You paid more for your printing than any other city in British Columbia.

Alderman Galloway, continuing, said that the manager of the Boundary Creek Times had sent in a letter to the council which gave a very explicit explanation of the whole matter. The mayor's reasons for his course are very slim and trifling. After accepting a tender he wants to pay for one insertion, although inserted twice.

Alderman Cropley seconded the amendment suggested by the mayor and moved by Alderman Sutherland. Alderman Galloway moved that the minutes be adopted as read, but the amendment was carried and the minutes as amended were then adopted on motion of Alderman Sutherland.

Messrs. Pringle & Whiteside, writing on behalf of the Greenwood Water-power company, reported that their engineer had estimated the cost of plant at Boundary Falls as $43,600, and this, together with cost of purchasing power, was a much larger expenditure than was at first estimated by the company. They were not in a position to deal with the council at the prices suggested at a previous meeting.

J. K. Johnson, city clerk of Grand Forks, forwarded a schedule of prices charged there. They ranged from $1 a month for one 16-candle power light to 50 cents a month when 50 similar lights were taken. The plant was credited with $10 a month for each arc light. The prices were low but the plant was paying.

Tenders for excavating government street were received as follows: R. Tolvick, 72 cents per cubic yard; A. McKinnon, 75 cents without city plant and 73 with city plant; Thos. Sullivan, 80 cents, and Geo. Ward, 65 cents. The latter tender was accepted.

The treasurer reported that there was a shortage of $132.90 to meet the interest on last year's loan. The deficit will be taken from the general fund and the amount, $1,500, sent to Montreal. The finance committee was instructed to invest sinking fund, acting under instructions from the city solicitor.

J. W. Nelson was granted the use of cars and rails for excavating the big cut on Silver street. He is to pay two cents per yard, but one cent is to be refunded if he puts the system in proper repair.

Applications for the position of city engineer were received from F. D. Boullett, C. W. H. Sansom, L. E. Comstock and W. Smith. The latter received the appointment. He is a Scotch engineer with good references. His salary will be $10 a day for the first ten days, and $8 a day for any days in excess of ten in each month.

The Columbia telephone, board of health and temporary loan by-laws were advanced a stage.

Alderman Cropley gave notice that at next meeting he would introduce a by-law authorizing the borrowing of $30,000 for improvements.

The council adjourned until Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hoffman will shortly let a contract for sinking a 100-foot shaft on the St. Lawrence, adjoining the Mother Lode. He and his associates intend doing considerable work on this property before organizing a company. When the 100-foot shaft is completed drifts will be run at that level.

Miss Bettie Moffat arrived from Rossland last week to accept the position of stenographer in Messrs. Pringle & Whiteside's office.

CANADIANS AND MINING VENTURES.

THE annual report of the manager of the Brandon and Golden Crown company, which appeared in THE TIMES last week, makes interesting and encouraging reading. It is very satisfactory to know that success can attend the efforts of Canadians exploiting a Canadian property. It was a common saying a few years ago that American money and American enterprise and British capital were required to develop the mineral resources of British Columbia. The Brandon and Golden Crown company was incorporated by Canadians; the greater portion of the stock sold was purchased by Canadians, and to-day the property is on a sure and permanent basis.

The people of the country have not only demonstrated that they can operate properties in their own country but they are assuming the aggressive and are beginning to acquire the very best ventures across the line. It is principally Canadian capital which is purchasing the great Republic mine, and it is quite possible that other American properties will pass under the control of the shrewd easterner.

After all, the mining business requires the experience which brings knowledge. The Americans had secured millions from the mountains of California, Colorado and other states long before the mineral resources of Southern British Columbia were known. They were ready to invest their money in new ventures, while the Canadian investor was timid because mining enterprises were new to him. To use a slang expression, "he has caught on," and will no longer allow his American cousin to gobble all the best things in the mining world.

FAKE DISPATCHES.

THE gifted and versatile newspaper liar is quite active these days. Last week he sent out from Vancouver a graphic description of a pitched battle near the Alaskan boundary line in which several Canadians sacrificed their lives to the vengeance of infuriated Americans, because of the passage of the placer mining exclusion act. The despatch received the proper amount of padding and scare heads from the yellow journals of New York and other cities. The governments of both countries became alarmed. The conservative newspaper proffered advice and then it was discovered that the whole thing was a fake pure and simple.

Coming nearer home, the Rossland Miner showed its great interest in the City of Greenwood by denouncing the Canadian Pacific Railway company's dastardly attempt to ruin the city by starting an opposition town two miles away. The editorial was based on on correspondence received from its Greenwood correspondent. The correspondence was either manufactured in the Rossland office to furnish material for the editorial, or the Greenwood correspondent was drawing on his imagination. The C. P. R. has not started a new town near Greenwood nor does it intend to do so.

The Canadian Pacific Railway company, while it is prepared to assist Greenwood, not because it has any special love for the city, but because the company's interests are promoted by such a course, is no laggard in the faking business. The company was annoyed by the action of the Victoria board of trade in favoring the Corbin charter. In order to nullify the effects of the board's resolution, the C. P. R. wires carried free to every newspaper in Canada, a notice to the effect that the meeting was packed by Corbin's supporters, and the resolution does not represent public opinion in Victoria. The fact is that the meeting was the largest ever held by the board, and that it was public opinion which forced the board to favor the competitive road.

BOUNDARY CREEK LAW ASSOCIATION.

The Lawyers of Greenwood Organize, and Ask for Certain Requirements.

Greenwood has attained sufficient prominence to possess a Bar Association of its own. The legal gentlemen met about a week ago and organized the Boundary Creek Bar Association, with I. H. Hallett as president and A. M. Whiteside as secretary.

A committee was appointed to urge upon the Government the necessity of having a Supreme Court Registry in Greenwood, and of a sittings of a Supreme Court judge here this year, owing to the number of important Supreme Court cases pending. Another committee was appointed to work with the other barristers' associations throughout the Province, with a view to simplifying and modernizing the County Court rules, which are now a relic of dark ages.

MR. BODWELL'S REMARKS.

His Strong Arguments in Favor of the Corbin Charter.

At the recent meeting of the Victoria board of trade, Mr. Bodwell, Q. C., made a strong speech in favor of the Corbin charter. He dealt with some entirely incorrect views editorially expressed in the Colonist. The road as it was projected, said he, started at Northport, in the State of Washington, and went to Cascade City, across the boundary line, crossed the boundary line again at Carson City, and then followed the Kettle river westward into the Boundary Creek district, where it terminated. This assuredly did not bring both termini in the State of Washington, as the Colonist declared.

The paper mentioned had said the road was to be built from Marcus to Republic. This was quite incorrect, or, as Mr. Bodwell said, it was another misstatement of fact, indicating a grievous misapprehension of the subject. There were several mines forming a group at Republic, and if this contemplated Kettle River road were built, it is quite probable that a branch line would be run down to Republic; this did not by any means indicate that the road would be continued to Marcus or Spokane. It was far more to be anticipated that the ores of the Republic camp would find their way to British Columbia for treatment.

They were of such a character that they required to be mixed with the same fluxes as the ores of Boundary Creek camps, and hence if the branch to Republic were built on the completion of this present projected road, it was to be expected that a great part of the Republic ores would be sent to British Columbia for smelting. There was, he would say positively, and with a full knowledge of Mr. Corbin's plans, absolutely no such scheme in view as building a road from Republic to Marcus or anywhere else to take the ores of the Boundary country south—although as he had said, Mr. Corbin did contemplate a branch down Curlew creek to the Republic camp, and the hauling of the Republic ores north for treatment.

Mr. Corbin's whole purpose in the matter was essentially businesslike, and had the charter been granted last year the road would by this time have been completed and in operation. Tracing the route proposed to be followed, Mr. Bodwell showed that out of a total length of 70 miles, about 30 or 33 miles were in British Columbia. It was Mr. Corbin's plan, he reiterated, to build and operate the road with his own money, as a purely commercial speculation. And therefore he deserved every assistance an encouragement at the hands of British Columbians and all interested in the development of their country.

At present all freights going into the Boundary Creek country had either to be teamed from Marcus or else hauled in wagons from Penticton—a wagon haul in any event. Under such conditions the cost of getting in supplies was necessarily great. As to the resources of the boundary country, they were indeed magnificent. The amount of ore existing there was something enormous. Men well qualified to express an authoritative opinion declared that in a very few years the output of the Boundary Creek country would be more than that of the Kootenay and the Slocan together. And when it was remembered that Kootenay alone produced over a million and a half last year, one might gather a faint idea of the immensity of the Boundary Creek country's resources.

The ore of the Boundary Country is as a general rule low grade—not so valuable as the ore of Kootenay, but in infinitely greater bodies. And in this connection the fact should not be lost sight of that the development of a low grade ore district was infinitely more advantageous to a country generally than that of a high grade ore district. More men had necessarily to be employed, and more money was thus expended for supplies. The miner was everywhere known as a good spender, and his average earning of $800 per year was almost always spent at once. The result was a favorable distribution, a large population, and the prosperity of all business interests.

But the ore of the Boundary Creek country, being low grade, could not possibly be developed as it should be, and in a manner profitable to the claim owners and beneficial to the country, unless cheap transportation was obtained for the introduction of machinery and the bringing in of supplies. Otherwise it was only possible for the highest grade ore propositions to be opened up.

And herein lay the danger to the country of allowing it to be controlled by one railway company. A railway company found a better profit naturally in hauling a limited quantity of freight at a high rate than in hauling large quantities at a low figure, and without the incentive of competition it would assuredly make a rate that would only permit the operation of those mines that could pay good freight rates and still make money out of their ores.

And as to the Boundary Creek country particularly it was certain that if a road did not go in from the south, the Canadian Pacific railway would continue in control. It now had all the passes through the Rocky mountains, and although running rights were accorded other lines through the Crow's Nest pass, the concession was of more value theoretically than actually. The Canadian Pacific railway had last year bought the Columbia & Western charter from Mr. Heinze, so that it could have a secondary main line running through the country from the Crow'i Nest pass. The Grand Trunk railway, the Canadian Pacific railway's national rival, could not build into the country through either the Kicking Horse or the Crow's Nest pass, nor could any other company build in from the coast, for the Canadian Pacific railway would effectually tie up the system at one end.

Kamloops Election Trial.

KAMLOOPS, March 22.—The election petition trial here before Mr. Justice Walkem was resumed at 1 p. m. to-day, but was adjourned until to-morrow, as a witness for the petitioner was absent. Mr. Deane then had a majority of four over Mr. Martin. Mr. Justice Walkem decided that the votes rejected by the returning officer, on account of being marked on back and front, were good, inasmuch as they clearly indicated the intention of the voter, notwithstanding the mark on the back was in direct variance with the rules laid down in the statute. This brought Mr. Deane's majority up to the old mark of four ahead of his opponent. This ends this branch of the case. Next on the programme will be the bribery and corruption cases.

A later dispatch states that judgment, with costs, has been given against Mr. G. B. Martin.

ANOTHER RAILWAY RUMOR.

"The Canadian Pacific is planning to build into the State of Washington. It is planning lines to tap Republic camp, to touch Chelan Falls, to reach Spokane and to extend to the Sound at Seattle and to the Willamette at Portland.

"The American lines have crossed the border and entered the British territorp; the Canadian Pacific is preparing to carry the war into the enemy's country and will fight for the trade of Washington and Oregon.'

The speaker was Martin Markeson, who for two years has been one of the enterprising business men of Sandon, B. C. So impressed is he with the truth of the statements made above that he has sold out his interests at Sandon, given a farewell banquet to his associates, come to Spokane, and yesterday started west to the Chelan country with the intention of engaging in business at some point near the beautiful falls where the waters of the lake flow down to the Columbia.

"I base my statement not on rumor,', continued Mr. Markeson, "but on facts stated to me by high officials of the Canadian Pacific; they realize as do few other people the tremendous power that can be obtained from the neglected Chelan Falls; they see the advantages of tapping Spokane, the chief city of the Inland Empire, and the future great cities of the North Pacific coast. I am given plain assurance that they are now planning to cross the boundary and compete for the trade of Washington.

"No, they do not intend to begin any extensions in this direction this year; the building of new lines on the other side of the boundary is engaging all their efforts at the present time. But, when these lines are completed, the plan is to cross the border and start down the west side of the Columbia.

"As to the exact route chosen I will not attempt to make predictions, but the route will lead to the great falls of the Chelan, where the Canadian Pacific officials expect to develop a great water power. As I understand it, this is the point where they propose to have smelters erected to handle the ores from Republic and other points on the Colville reserve.

"Then the Canadian Pacific proposes to swing west from Chelan and and touch Seattle and Portland. Spokane will not be left out, either, for the Canadian Pacific realizes the commanding position of this city and has determined to put its track in here, too."

The story of Mr. Markeson is in the direct line of a report that has been quietly circulated in Spokane for several weeks to the effect that the Canadian Pacific is planning to leave its British line near Midway and run by as direct a route as possible to Republic camp and Spokane. The line chosen, according to the popular report, would come into this city from the west, either along the old Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern tracks or along nearly parallel lines.

It is also current report that the Canadian Pacific has become a lively bidder for the franchise held by D. C. Corbin, permitting him to build a line across the Colville reserve.—Spokane Chronicle.

The following resolution was defeated at the recent meeting of the Victoria board of trade by a large majority:

Whereas, in the opinion of this board it is the true policy of Canada to further such measures as will bring about smelting and refining of Canadian ores, within the Dominion, thereby building up Canadian towns, and furnishing markets for Canadian agricultural products and merchandise as well as labor for our own people;

And whereas, this board has already affirmed this principle in connection with the leading smelting industry;

And whereas, the evident object of the proposed Kettle River railway is identical with that of the Red Mountain railway, namely, the carrying of ores out of the country to be smelted in the United States;

And whereas, such exportation of ores leads to a corresponding importation of merchandise, as is shown by the trade returns of Kootenay;

And whereas, the necessity for safeguarding Canadian interests in respect to smelting is emphasised by the recent formation of a smelter trust in the United States with a capital of $65,000,000.

And whereas, the Canadian Pacific railway is now constructing a line of railway from Robson to Penticton, bounding all points proposed to be reached by the proposed Kettle River railway;

And whereas, the Dominion government has reserved the right to regulate and control freight rates and tolls on all Canadian Pacific lines, leased, owned or controlled south of the main line in British Columbia, which power precludes all possibility of excessive rates;

Therefore, be it resolved that this board is of opinion that parliament should not sanction the construction of any railway from the United States into the southern section of British Columbia until our interior towns and smelting and refining centers have been firmly established and brought into close relation with the Canadian agricultural and commercial centers.

C. E. MALLETTE - - - AT SAWMILL OFFICE.

A ROSSLAND MINING ENGINEER

Gives His Impressions of the Boundary Creek Country and the Similkameen.

J. L. Parker, M. E., has returned from an extended visit through the Kettle River valley and the country to the west thereof. Mr. Parker went as far west as Keremeos in the Similkameen valley. This valley, he says, is a very pleasant one, possessing as it does a temperate climate and where the winter lasts only for three months. It has pastoral, agricultural and mining resources sufficiently developed to determine their full value. The ores are copper-gold, the copper being in the form of sulphides. There is some native copper. There was no snow in the valley when Mr. Parker was there, while at Camp McKinney there was four feet of snow. At Fairview there was no snow and the climate was mild. Mr. Parker stopped at Fairview and inspected the Stemwinder. The shaft is down 175 feet and there are two veins on the property. These veins are 7 feet wide and have been opened for a considerable distance. The management does not consider that the ore will run over $6 or $7 to the ton. With veins of large size, a 100-stamp mill, and a little more development, it seems certain, said Mr. Parker, that this property will undoubtedly yield a large profit. The Oro Fino, to the north of the Stemwinder, has some promising veins of gold ore. The veins are of about the same width as are those of the Stemwinder. A 10 stamp mill is being placed on the property. He says that the Tin Horn, the Stemwinder, the townsite of Fairview, the large hotel at Fairview and 400 acres of coal lands have been placed in one company and incorporated with a capital stock of $1,000,000, divided into 25-cent shares.

Mr. Parker says he found that Camp McKinney was a very lively place. A number of Spokane and Toronto capitalists have gone into the camp and are paying $10,000 to $20,000 and also from 200,000 to 300,000 shares for claims. Most of these companies are actively at work and the result is that there is a great deal of life and bustle there. While at Camp McKinney, Mr. Parker says he heard good reports of the Waterloo. It is considered another Cariboo and is supposed to have the extensions of the veins of the latter. Strikes of free gold are said to be a common occurrence in the Waterloo. Work is progressing on the Minnehaha and other properties with considerable energy and the camp promises in time to be one of considerable importance.

At Rock Creek a 10-stamp mill is being erected on a promising property that is owned by a Wyoming syndicate, headed by Mr. Paterson.

At Midway the people anticipate the erection of a smelter and are building their hopes on that proposed event. Mr. Parker says he cannot see why a smelter should not be erected at that point.

There is intense activity in railway construction between Greenwood and Midway, and it is anticipated that the grading will be finished in about three months.

At Greenwood Mr. Parker visited several of the mines in that vicinity and was astonished at the splendid reserves of ore to be found there. At the Stemwinder and Brooklyn fine shaft houses have been erected and shafts are being sunk under the superintendence of Frank Robbins. The ore in these properties, which are owned by Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, is chalcopyrite. Some portions of the ore are, of course, better than others, but the average seems to be of a high grade, and the veins of sufficient size to ultimately make great mines out of both these properties. Mr. Parker says he walked through the tunnel in the Old Ironsides for a distance of between 300 and 400 feet and also went through the other workings. There is a million tons of ore in sight. The management alleges that this ore body averages $22 to the ton. This would make the ore body worth $22,000,000. If the ore averages anywhere near what the management claims, it will make the mine yield many dividends for the stockholders.

I did not visit the Knob Hill workings, as I intended to, but passed over the surface and saw some dumps with plenty of ore in that vicinity.

J. Edwards Leckie, M. E., has received instructions to begin work on the R Bell in Summit Camp. A force of men, in charge of W. George, is pumping out the shaft preparatory to sinking.

G. W. C. Hodge, superintendent of the Vernon and Nelson Telephone Co., returned from Nelson Tuesday. He will remain here for some time to superintend the installation of the local system.

THE FINAL PAYMENT.

The Money Paid Over for the Sailor in Camp M'Kinney.

The mining industry sometimes deals justly with the hardy prospector. Chas. Ditz, who washed the gravel of Rock Creek in the early sixties searching for the yellow metal, and lived on Kettle River since that time, was one of the principals in a monetary transaction, which took place in Greenwood on Tuesday. There were present Geo. R. Naden, Thos. McDonnell, R. M. McEntire, H. T. Ceperley, Nels. Laplante, and Mr. Ditz. To the latter was made the final payment on the Sailor, and the others secured their shares of the proceeds of the sale of the Sailor to Toronto people. Everybody appeared satisfied. Mr. Ditz received $15,000, and the Greenwood syndicate about $40,000. Mr. Naden has received instructions to push the sale of lots in M'Kinney. The Eastern syndicate intend expending considerable money on the townsite.

New Capital and Management for the Elkhorn Brewery.

Greenwood is fast securing metropolitan advantages. The latest innovation in sight is a large brewery with picnic grounds, dancing pavilion, and all the other requisites appertaining to such an establishment. The organizer of the enterprise is Capt. E. Von Hartmann, who arrived in the city from Vancouver a few days ago. He was for several years in charge of a large commissary department in connection with the German Army. The Captain has been a resident of Vancouver for several years. Shortly after reaching here, he secured from Messrs. Portmann & Hurtinger an option on the Elkhorn Brewery Company's plant and buildings for $15,000. He at once proceeded to reorganize the concern. The new company will be known as the Greenwood City Brewing Company. The capital is $25,000, divided into 2,500 ten dollar shares. The captain placed 1,250 shares on the local market, as he is anxious that business men of the city should participate in the profits. Mr. Bielenburg has interested himself in the concern, and in a few hours succeeded in securing $6,000. The balance of the 1,250 will likely be taken locally. Mr. Hartinger, who is an A-1 brewer, will retain his interest in the establishment, and will have charge of the brewing. As soon as the company is organized, Capt. Von Hartmann, the manager, will establish bowling alleys, picnic grounds, dancing pavilions, etc. Elkhorn hill will be beautified, and changed into a park. No liquor will be sold on the grounds. Capt. Von Hartmann is confident that the enterprise will prove a profitable one. He guarantees 25 per cent profits at first, and believes these will be increased as the business extends. He is anxious that local hotel men should become shareholders, so that they may participate in the general profits arising from the sale of beer at the grounds.

A Helena, Mont.) dispatch says: The trouble between the Boston and Montana company of Butte, and the Montana Ore Purchasing company took a new turn to-day in the supreme court, which fined the Ore Purchasing company $500 and Arthur P. Heinze, secretary of that corporation, $250 for contempt of court. The officers of the Ore Purchasing company were cited to appear to show cause why they should not be punished for failing to regard the injunction of the district court of Silver Bow county, restraining them from working the leased portion of the Rarus mine, under the Pennsylvania Lode's lines. The Boston and Montana company claimed that the Ore Purchasing comyany sub leased the property to men in their employ when the injunction was issued, believing that by so doing they would escape the consequences of operating the property and that the new leasers, whose lease was fictitious, had since then removed $3,000 worth of ore daily. The supreme court was satisfied that the Ore Purchasing company had but sought to escape the injunction, and declared the officers of the company to be in contempt of court. In severe words the chief justice reprimanded them and ordered them to pay their fines at once or be committed to the Lewis and Clarke county jail. They paid, and the new leasers have ceased work in the disputed ground. F. Aug. Heinze was included in the order to appear, but as he is sick in Butte, the supreme court will take up his case later

WANTED

Rathmullen Group.

There were a couple of days during last week that were quiet in stock circles, but the other days were exceedingly lively, and this made the week as a whole about up to the average. One feature of the week was the large orders received for several of the stocks of the leading companies, and the large number of the shares of some of the cheaper grades of stocks that were sold. In point of numbers Rathmullens easily led the procession, and conservative estimates are that 200,000 shares changed hands. That is, in some instances, the same block of stock changed hands several times, and were counted in order to make up the 200,000 shares. On Tuesday two firms of brokers received orders for 75,000 shares each. These could not be entirely filled, and by last night about all the available shares for sale were cleaned up in this market. Insiders are purchasing the shares and then there are some who bought expecting to make a quick turn. These shares advanced from 3½ to 4½ cents during the week. It is understood that a market is to be made for these shares in both Toronto and Montreal.—Rossland Miner.

A Railway Strike.

Early on Thursday, says a dispatch from Bonner's Ferry, the employees of the Kootenay Valley railway began began to arrive there, and for the first time was it realized that a strike was on. The strike started on Thursday morning at Camp Touhey, which is located near the British line. About fifty persons, who were employed at this camp, left their work, armed with clubs, axe and pick handles, and guns, and compelled every gang of men to quit work and join the gang of strikers. No time was given the men to go to the camp and get their coats and blankets. At one camp they were refused food, and they at once proceeded to demolish it. A mass meeting was held by the strikers, when a committee was appointed to arrange for lodging and food. Officers were also appointed to attempt to arrive at an agreement with the employers. They demand a raise from $1.75 to $2.50, and agree to pay $4 per week for board, and 50 cents per month hospital fees. It is reported that a poll tax was exacted from each one, which also added to precipitate affairs.

The people of British Columbia want the Kettle River Valley to be built into the Boundary country, and will have their wish carried if they will do as Manitoba did and pay no attention to the howling of the members of the C. P. R. ring. The building of 300 miles of Northern Pacific track in Manitoba has been helpful to that province, because it has given the people there the benefit of competition. Therefore, the construction of the Kettle River Valley railway will be of help to the residents of Southern British Columbia, and it must be given a charter.—Rossland Miner.

THE V. V. & E. SUBSIDY.

The act repealing unearned subsidies to railways was passed by the large majority of 20 to 13. The attorney-general's remarks, dealing with the V. V. & E., will be read with interest. He said in part:

"As to section 3 of this bill, the late government had purported to enter into certain contracts with Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann with reference to the construction of a line of road from Penticton to Boundary Creek; from Penticton to Point Roberts, 200 miles; and from an ocean port in British Columbia to Teslin lake, 400 miles. As a matter of fact, no such contracts had been entered into. There had been what purported to be contracts, but they were voided by the insertion of a condition that they should be of no effect unless in the one case a subsidy 'satisfactory to Mackenzie & Mann,' and in the other case of $6,000 a mile, should be obtained from the Dominion government. As the statutes contained no authority whatever for the making of such conditional contracts the bargain had been void from the beginning. The matter had certainly been understood by Mackenzie & Mann, while the late government could hardly help understand with such a clause staring it in the face. The real reason for the existence of these bogus and meaningless contracts was that there had been an election pending and capital was required to enter into the contest. These contracts had resulted, and upon them the ex-leader of the government and the ex-attorney-general had made most unfair and misleading statements, assuring the voters that contracts had been made that were a guarantee of the construction of the railways at a very early date. These gentlemen could not but know at the time that their statements were not based on fact and were only intended to delude the electors so as to secure restoration to power."

Mr. Speaker suggested to the attorney-general that he was travelling beyond the scope of the discussion.

Hon. Mr. Martin insisted that he was referring to matters which were within the statutes and it was necessary to refer to these matters to make the object and scope of the bill now before the house understood. Continuing, he said that of course the members of the house were much more familiar than he with the discussions which had taken place in the house and at Ottawa and on the public platforms regarding these railways, but he was tolerably familiar with the V. V. & E., under which charter it is supposed Mackenzie & Mann proposed to construct the line to Penticton and from there to Boundary Creek. There was undoubtedly a feeling among the people of that district that they would like to see a railroad constructed along that course, and no doubt there was a necessity for opening up the Fraser valley lying to the south of the Fraser river, and any railway that would serve to bring the coast cities into closer relations with the Kootenay towns would bewelcomed, but unfortunately the matter had not been dealt with exactly in that spirit. A great deal of discussion had taken place at Ottawa regarding the building of the line from Robson to Penticton, and also in regard to building that towards the coast. There had been a contest at Ottawa between Mr. Heinze and the V. V. & E. people, and it became evident to everyone that that contest was not one in which the welfare of the people of this province cut any particular figure, but was entirely a question between two promoters, or rather between two rival sets of promoters, as to who could get something out of the charters. It was announced that these two parties having railway charters which had cost them nothing except a few hundred dollars in fees, had come to an agreement by which the spoils were to be divided; but one of them frankly announced that he had been unable to come to an agreement because he had not received sufficient of the spoils. That is a matter against which the present government had uniformly fought when in opposition, and was a matter which had been much discussed in the late election, and the principle upon which the arguments were based was that no man should be allowed to make money out of the simple promotion of railways without investing any money, but that whatever was done in railway promoting should be done by substantial capitalists. Mr. Martin said he had a great deal of experience with people who have held railway charters, and it had invariably been his experience, and the experience of the people of Canada, that the system of granting a bonus to a company of men without capital had resulted in the railway being held back and not built as soon as it otherwise would have been and in the public money being diverted into the pockets of men who had done nothing. That is the kind of thing that must stop, that ought to be stopped. No money which is given by this house should be used in that way, and that state of things has given rise to the idea, and it is a growing one in the Dominion, that the State should build, own and manage its own railroads, even though the railroad be run at a loss, for legislation can be brought to bear to bring it in the interests of the people and not allow it to be run against the interests of and, to use a common expression, for the purpose of "cinching" the people it is supposed to benefit.

NOTES.

The Dominion Government has decided to construct a telegraph line to connect the Yukon territory with British Columbia.

The output of gold from the Klondyke and British Columbia has raised Canada to the fifth place in the list of gold-producing countries. While the United States shows a greatly increased output for '98, it is second to the Transvaal, South Africa. The five leading gold-producing countries for '98, according to figures recently published, are:—Transvaal, $73,476,600; United States, $64,300,000; Australia, $61,480,763; Russia, $25,136,994; Canada, $14,190,000.

C. G. Dixon, the present general freight and passenger agent of the S. F. & N., who was appointed to that position from that of general agent of the Great Northern, is, according to rumor, to be sent across the river to a city office over which he will preside with the title of assistant general freight agent of the Great Northern, having jurisdiction over freight matters on a considerable portion of the main line as well as over those on the S. F. & N. He is especially valuable to the road for his knowledge of the ore transportation business into which the Great Northern has gone so extensively since it prohibited the Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. handling any ores from the Kootenay.—Spokesman Review.

NELSON MERCHANTS

Not Opposed to the Building of the Kettle River Valley Railway.

Whatever reasons may be advanced by interested parties against the construction of the Kettle River Valley railway into Boundary Creek, it cannot truthfully be said that the wholesale merchants of Nelson are either opposed to the construction of the road or afraid of any change which its construction may make with respect to the trade of Boundary Creek.

During the past few months there has developed a considerable trade between the wholesale merchants of Nelson and the retail dealers of Boundary Creek. As a result every freight train on the Nelson and Fort Sheppard which pulls out of Nelson has a carload of mixed merchandise consigned from Nelson to Boundary points and the general opinion is that it is a trade which will continue to grow.

As matters stand at present Spokane is as active a competitor of Nelson's for the trade of the Boundary Creek points as it can ever be. All the goods which are sold in Nelson for Boundary Creek have to be routed via Bossburg or Marcus. To reach these points at present the wholesale merchants have no advantage whatever over their rivals in Spokane, and if trading through Bossburg and Marcus at present, the merchants of Spokane cannot successfully compete with the merchants of Nelson for the trade of Boundary Creek, they will be as much unable to compete when Nelson and Spokane each have all rail connection with Boundary points.

There was not one wholesale merchant interviewed by the Tribune representative to-day who did not readily admit, that from the standpoint of the local trader in Boundary Creek, there was every advantage to be expected from the construction of the Kettle River Valley railway, and there was not a wholesale merchant in Nelson who was willing to say, that from the standpoint of a wholesale trader doing business in Nelson with Boundary Creek, there was any prospect of damage to the legitimate trade of Nelson wholesale houses. There is no practical difference between the railway rates on goods laid down from the east in either Spokane or Nelson. The merchants, therefore, are upon equal terms, and in the price quoted to the jobber will be the only difference. The merchants who are willing to handle the trade upon a reasonable margin, will secure it, and the only effect of the building of the road will be that the people of Boundary Creek will have it in their power to prevent being cinched.

The wholesale merchants who hold that the building of the Kettle River Valley road will be a distinct advantage to the wholesale trade of Nelson, cite the obvious fact that the building of the Kettle River Valley road will give them railway competition to Boundary Creek which will not be shared by the Spokane merchants. Should the promoters of the Kettle River Valley railway be prevented from building their road, Nelson will have to depend wholly upon the Canadian Pacific railway. Not only will it be in the power of the Canadian Pacific to fix what rates it pleases, but it could distribute goods for Boundary Creek from any point along its line which pleased it best. The Canadian Pacific would have it in its power to to make a large wholesale point of Nelson, or it would fix the wholesale point somewhere else. It is the complete surrendering of themselves to the Canadian Pacific railway which some of the wholesale merchants do not like.—Nelson Tribune.

Smelter Combine.

A dispatch from Pittsburg states that one of the most gigantic combinations yet attempted by commercial organizations in the United States has been completed. It is a consolidation of all the smelters and refineries of precious metals in the United States. The final move was the purchase of the works of the Pennsylvania Lead company of Pittsburg and the Pennsylvania Smelting company's works at Salt Lake, Utah. The price paid is not made known. The capitalization of the new combine will be $46,000,000. Officers will be elected on April 1. It is understood that that Ex-Governor Grant of Colorado will be president, and Barton Sewell of Chicago is mentioned for vice-president.

The deal just closed has been under negotiation for several months. The names of the firms in the combine follow: The Omaha and Grant Smelting company, with works at Omaha, Denver and Durango, Colo.: the Consolidated Smelting and Refining company of Kansas City, with works at Kansas City, Leadville, Colo., and El Paso, Tex.; the United States Smelting and Refining company of Chicago, with works at Chicago, Pueblo, Colo., Helena and Great Falls, Mont.; the Aurora Smelting and Refining company, with works at Aurora, Ill.; the Pueblo Smelting and Refining company, with works at Pueblo, Colo.; the Philadelphia Smelting and Refining company, with works at Pueblo, Colo.; the Globe Smelting and Refining company, with works at Denver, Colo.; the Germania Smelting and Refining company, with works at Salt Lake City; the Bi-Metallic Smelting company, with works at Leadville, Colo.; the Pennsylvania Smelting company of Salt Lake City, and the Pennsylvania Lead company of Pittsburg.

The Brooklyn Route.

The efforts of the C. P. R. to deliver sreight into the Boundary country via Brooklyn, are a fake—pure and simple. As stated in the Record last week, the contractor, Mr. Koch, or any other man, was not likely to haul merchandise that 35 or 40 miles very long for 75 cents per hundred, and the Record was right. The citation of one case is sufficient. T. E. Mahaffy received a shipment from Winnipeg last Monday, that came via Brooklyn (though ordered via Bossburg) and Mr. Koch charged two cents per pound for hauling from Brooklyn. It is unnecessary to add that Mr. Mahaffy was and is much incensed at this. It seems that the Greenwood merchants finally agreed to pay two cents, although the first rate from Greenwood was quoted at one and a half cents. Wonder how they will feel when they receive a few consignments with say a three cent road freight rate attached? The C. P. R. is fast making enemies by this plan of delivering metchandise to freighters, who can hold merchants up for any figure they see fit. As stated in the Record, if they want business, there is but one way to secure it, and that is to quote a through rate to destination, guarantee the rate and control the freighting outfits themselves.—Cascade Record.

Prospectors Should Be Encouraged.

Upon the vocation of the prospector the prosperity of the mining industry must primarily depend. It is a pursuit of large expectations and small rewards and is maintained chiefly by the activity of the organ of hope that constantly enlivens the imagination of the prospector with visionary bonansas of high degree. In proportion to their numbers few professional prospectors ever realize their hopes and attain wealth, although dozens of paying properties may have been discovered by them. To the man who is proud of his attainments the discovery of a vein that subsequently, and in other hands, becomes a paying mine, brings a great deal of satisfaction. His abilities are demonstrated, even if he realizes small profit from the investment of time and effort. Any law that will tend to discourage prospecting for minerals by destroying the vocation of the prospector will seriously cripple the mining industry. The legislation proposed by the Field bill helps the pick and shovel prospector in that it shuts out the "paper" prospector, making work on a claim absolutely necessary for the holding thereof, and thus preventing the wholesale staking now so commonly practiced. Every prospector should have a perfect right to prospect upon any piece of ground not being actually prospected or developed by another. The mining industry as such can be encouraged in no better way than to give full scope and a free field to the hardy prospector, and legislation should at all times tend to lighten his burdens.—Miner and Electrician.

Misleading the Public.

Two of the greatest papers in Canada have been duped by some unscrupulous person interested in the town of Grand Forks. The Toronto Globe publishes a long article descriptive of the many advantages alleged to be possessed by the sad, sad city by the Kettle river. The Vancouver Province being still more enterprising than its modest contemporary, adorns the same article with a large photo-engraving, under which is placed the title "The City of Grand Forks, B. C." The illustration might be taken for a bird's-eye view of Minneapolis, but not for a view of Grand Forks. The article and the illustration is a barefaced attempt to mislead the public. The following paragraph gives a fairly good idea of the wonderful imagination of the writer:

"Greenwood camp is probably the principal mining center in the Boundary. Many people confound the camp with the City of Greenwood, but most of the claims are on the Grand Forks watershed. Now, whereas the actual distance to Greedwood City is somewhat shorter than to the latter point at present, when the railroad is completed the advantage will be in favor of Grand Forks, for a branch line will be built following along the summit which will connect with the main line well on the Grand Forks slope. It is just as well to mention this to correct any erroneous idea which may prevail.
