ELKHORN IS EARNING

Good Profits—Final Payment in December

PROCEEDS FROM THE ORE

Paid Purchase Price and Development. Mining Notes

The final payment on account of the Elkhorn bond will be paid on December 1st. The payment will be made out of the proceeds of the ore. Since this property was taken over by James Sutherland and Phil McDonald every installment of the purchase price was paid out of the proceeds of the mine and the cost of development, labor and material was paid from the same source. Few properties in British Columbia have such a flattering record. Usually money and lots of it has to be furnished to place a mine on a paying basis, but the Elkhorn paid from the grass roots. Fourteen men are now employed in the mine. An incline shaft has been sunk a distance of 176 feet and ore is being taken from a drift from the bottom of the shaft The vein averages 12 inches in width, widening often to two feet. The ore is now being shipped to the Greenwood smelter without sorting. The local smelter is giving a reasonable rate and by treating all the ore without without sorting a big saving is made. The average value is about $100 to the ton. The vein is strong at the lower level and it looks as if the Elkhorn would soon join its neighbor, the Providence, as a dividend payer.

A new blacksmith shop, an ore house and shaft house have been built on the property. This fall a horse whim will be placed in the shaft house, but in the spring a modern mining plant will be installed.

MINING FLOAT

Silver has slumped to 60⅝.

The demand is greater than the supply in the copper market.

The Gold Finch in Skylark camp is improving with every shot.

All the mines of the Boundary are gradually increasing the forces.

A brand, new, up to-date blacksmith shop has been built at the Elkhorn.

Development work has been started on the Emma fraction in Summit camp.

Last week Rossland camp shipped 8,760 tons of ore. So far this year the output is 322,114 tons.

In New York yesterday copper was quoted as follows: Lake, $14; electrolytic, $13.75; casting, $13.50.

The Rockefeller family have invested $30,000,000 in the silver-lead mines of the Coeur d'Alenes. They are also seeking investments in Kootenay.

The Rathmullen in Summit camp is again to start under more favorable auspices. This property has been closed down for about three years.

The Homestake gold mine in South Dakota is valued at $50,000,000. An offer of $35,000,000 by the Rothchilds was refused by the management last week.

The cost of mining at the Athelstan is lower than at any other mine in the district, as the ore is soft and easily mined. The glory hole is assuming large dimensions.

The largest nugget of gold ever found in Alaska was recently discovered on the claim of the Pioneer Mining company. It weighed 181 ounces and was valued at $3,276.

The local syndicate who are developing the Ruby near Boundary Falls, are running a tunnel to tap the ore body. They expect to run into shipping ore in a few days when shipments will be made to the Boundary Falls smelter.

H. M. Fuller, who is developing the Gold Bug for a syndicate of Spokane and local people, has four men at work on the property. Some exceedingly rich ore is being extracted, and as a new vein is being opened up the outlook for the Gold Bug is very bright.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Two Men Crushed Under Tons of Falling Rock at Phoenix

In the first accident of its kind in the history of the Granby mines, and the first fatality of any kind for a number of months at Phoenix, two men were instantly killed last Friday night in the Knob hill mine.

The night shift was at work about 400 feet from the portal in the No. 2 tunnel, when without warning a portion of the roof broke away and crushed T. Malloy and James Crabb under tons of rock, death being instantaneous. One man who was in a mine ore car had just jumped out and the car was filled with the falling ore. All the men at once set to work getting out the unfortunates, the remains being taken to the undertakers, and were buried Sunday.

James Crabb was a young man, a native of Denhead, Scotland, where his father still lives. Malloy was an older man, and an Irishman by birth, though little is known of him here. Both had been in the camp but a few months.

At the place where the men were at work several shifts had been employed making safe the overhanging rock, and it was considered safe.

Canada for Canadians

Several loads of fruit have passed through here during the last few days on the way to Greenwood, B. C.—Chesaw News. The American fruit is hauled in wagons a greater distance than Canadian fruit of better quality may be secured. But the Canadian fruit must be hauled over the C. P. R. It is unnecessary to state that fruit hauled over the C. P. R. cannot be laid down in Greenwood as cheaply as fruit hauled by four horse teams an equal distance. The wagon rates are away below the C. P. R. rates. This accounts for the fact that American fruit finds a ready market in Canadian towns.

Special License Void

Chief Justice Hunter of the British Columbia supreme court, sitting at Rossland, decided that a special license does not revive title to mineral lands which had been allowed to lapse and had been relocated by a second party. The Woodbury Mines, a corporation, lost some claims on Woodbury creek by failing to renew its free miners' license. One Poyntze jumped the ground. The Woodbury Mines after several months took out a special license, which it claimed revived its title as against Poyntze. Accordingly it tried to adverse his claim, but was defeated.

Postal Regulations

The Dominion postal authorities have issued circulars to postmasters notifying them not to accept matter for points in the Yukon north of White Horse except letters and post cards, newspapers from the office of publication addressed to public libraries, to newspaper offices and to individual subscribers, and transient newspapers until advised of the opening of navigation in the Yukon next year.

Butte on the Bum

Owing to the recent decision of Judge Clancey the Amalgamated Copper company shut down all its mines in Butte and vicinity, throwing over 14,000 men out of employment. Laborers should keep away from Butte as the only thing doing is turning handsprings for free lunches.

ALIEN LABOR LAW

No Infraction of the Act in the Boundary Country

Louis P. Eckstein of Grand Forks was appointed by the minister of justice to take evidence in regard to the alleged infraction of the alien labor act, found that it was unnecessary to hold a session in Greenwood, as George Dougherty, secretary of Greenwood Miners' Union, stated that so far as he knew there had been no complaints regarding contravention of the act in the Boundary, and that everything was running without any trouble. Mr. Eckstein held a meeting at Phoenix, but no one appeared to give evidence.

Great Attraction Coming

No doubt our citizens will be delighted to learn that the Maridor-Goulding company will be at the Auditorium Saturday night, October 31. It is needless to say that the company is an excellent one. Miss B. Goulding, England's famous lady cornetist, who has won glowing press comments in every town she appeared, is one of the special features. The company is booked for a return date at Nelson. The Nelson Daily News of October 23 has this to say of the performance: "The Maridor-Goulding entertainment last night proved to be a delightful novelty. The two little girls, Hazel Raymor and Mildred Basset, were very pleasing in dance and coon songs, Hazel's Egyptian dance being very taking. Miss Goulding, the English cornetist, was the star of the evening, and it is a pity that she did not give a greater number of selections as her exceptionally fine playing of this, the greatest of all wind instruments, was much appreciated. Her military selections which she played in uniform made a special hit. Miss Maridor fainted on the stage during the evening and her performance was very good considering that she has been under the doctor's care for a couple of days."

Highbinders' Society

Greenwood is growing. A Chinese case in the police court now reminds one of Victoria or San Francisco. Tyees, witnesses, prosecutors, interpreters and well salaried counsel play the same tricks that made famous Bret Harte's Ah Sin. There are at least two rival societies in local Chinatown and wherever there are two Chinese societies there is sure to be trouble. Last week they started in to carve each other with butcher knives and let daylight through each other with revolvers. Important witnesses who did not care to give evidence "no savved" English and produced a new brand of Chinese that the intepreter couldn't interprete. Finally one of their number was committed for using a knife and gun.

Senator Sold

Chris Tobiassen, the lucky Swede, is negotiating the sale of his Senator claim in Summit camp to the Granby company for $35,000. The ore is high in iron and is needed for fluxing purposes. Toby, who six years ago couldn't tell a mine from a bale of hay, has done well in the Boundary. Four years ago he sold some mining property in the same camp for $40,000.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and sure to act, always use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by J. L. White and A. F. Thomas Midway.

WEST FORK RAILWAY

FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS

Will Be Made to Construct This Important Road

Mayor Smailes left for the east today for the purpose of interesting capital in the Midway & Vernon railway. He will visit Montreal and New York and his trip may possibly be extended to England. The Dominion bonus for the road will be about $6000 a mile, and this with the provincial aid should encourage capital in the enterprise. This is particulary true when it is considered that the railway will open up one of the most promising mining districts of the province, and at the same time connect the rich Okanagon farming country with the boundless Boundary, thus giving the very best market for Canadian products. By connecting with the C. P. R. at Vernon the road will also afford the shortest route to the coast, and is 24 hours shorter than the circuitous route via Revelstoke.

If satisfactory financial arrangements are made active construction will be commenced in early spring.

Enjoyable Dance

The biggest and best dance ever held in Greenwood was the univeasal opinion of those who attended the annual ball given by Boundary Valley Lodge, I. O. O. F., in the Masonic hall last evening. Over 150 couples were in attendance and all appeared to be thoroughly enjoying themselves. The music furnished by the Greenwood orchestra could not be improved upon. The committee in charge had the hall tastefully decorated, and during the evening made special efforts to make strangers feel at home. In addition to the local pleasure seekers there was a jolly crowd from Boundary Falls, Midway, Mother Lode mine and Phoenix. Supper was served by the ladies of St. Jude's church.

New Grocery

The Galloway brothers, sons of C. Scott Galloway, have decided to go into the grocery business in this city. The boys are practically a home production, they came here while quite small, were educated in the Greenwood school and later at the Victoria and Vancouver high schools. Charles Galloway is now on the coast buying groceries. They will occupy their own store building adjoining the Imperial hotel.

Right You Are

The opinion is general that it will be well for the legislature to avoid tinkering with the mining laws, for the less frequently they are altered the greater security is felt by those investing capital in the industry.—Fort Steele Prospector.

VICTORIES OF PEACE

There have been several Boundary disputes since the war of independence and fortunately they have all been settled without war. This may be accounted for by the fact that in every instance the Americans won and Great Britain lost. Each succeeding arbitration only strengthened the conviction of Canadians that it is impossible for the Americans to raise a contention too absurd or too outrageous for the Britisher to stomach. In addition to the Ashburton steal, the San Juan difficulty, the Oregon and Washington give-away and the more recent Alaska boundary outrage, there have been other difficulties which have been amicably settled because the United States got everything she wanted.

Shortly after the war of 1812 a dispute arose through the ambiguity of the language of the treaty of 1783 defining the Boundary between Canada and United States between the St. Lawrence river and Atlantic ocean. The dispute was referred to the King of Netherlands in 1827. In 1831 he gave his award and it was not satisfactory to Great Britain nor the United States. Maine sent armed men to the disputed territory in 1838 and established forts. It looked for a time as if war would settle the difficulty, but a truce was declared and arrangement made for joint occupancy. Three years later the Ashburton treaty was signed and Maine was lost to Canada. Some of the Democrats in the senate kicked about the award and refused to ratify the treaty, but Daniel Webster, the American commissioner, asked for a secret session of the senate. The doors were closed and Webster produced maps and data to prove beyond a doubt that the British contention was right. He advised the senate to accept what they had because it was far more than the United States was entitled to, and as he naively put it, "the Britishers may wake up and discover these maps and then we will lose everything." Needless to say the senate accepted his advice. The purchase of Louisiana by the United States led to complication as at that time the northern boundary was not defined. By pure bluff the Americans succeeded in getting the Britishers to agree to the 49th parallel as the boundary line from the Great Lakes to the Rocky Mountains, and in 1818 this boundary was fixed by treaty. West of the Rockies the country as far south as the Columbia river was occupied and governed by the Hudson's Bay company. Britain made a weak effort to make the Columbia river the boundary line to the Pacific, but the Americans bluffed again. Instead of sticking to the 49th parallel the Americans raised the cry, "Fifty-four forty or fight." The Americans claimed that 54 degrees 40 minutes north latitude should be the boundary instead of the 49th. This scared the Britishers half to death and they finally agreed to the 49th parallel and the U. S. senate chuckled and magnanimously agreed to this arrangement in 1846. Then a further dispute arose over the boundary line in the gulf of Georgia and Straits of Juan de Fuca. The dispute was referred to the emperor of Germany who of course decided in favor of United States and San Juan islands which should belong to Canada became the property of United States.

In the Venezuelan boundary dispute Grover Cleveland twisted the lion's tail and he did not even grunt. The Alaskan boundary decision is of too recent date and too painful to dwell upon at any length.

The above goes to prove that United States can at any time claim any portion of the Dominion of Canada and can secure the same by peace methods. The victories of peace are apparently one-sided.

Last week the police of New York raided a so-called Young Men's Christian Association, which has been making a display of zeal. They found in the back room a full-fledged saloon. The place was being run by a preacher who recently attained notoriety by transferring his entire flock from the Baptist to the Congregational church because he was opposed to immersion. Verily, New York is a wicked city.

The Kamloops Standard (Conservative) has this to say about J. A. Macdonald, the new Liberal leader: "From a Conservative point of view we are glad to see a decent man as leader of the Liberal party, feeling that he will always give willing assistance to build up his province, instead of using his ability to retard its progress in order to gain some personal advantage, as has been the way in the past."

The friends of J. M. Kellie have decided to protest the election of Thomas Taylor for Revelstoke riding on the grounds of alleged bribery and corruption. John L. Retallack will also protest the election of Hon. R. F. Green for Kaslo riding. With one majority, Houston agin the government and election protests, uneasy must rest the bones of the premier.

The Vancouver Clarion, the official organ of the British Columbia Socialists, has gone to the journalistic boneyard. The cause of its sudden demise was non-support. It will thus be seen that Socialists are no better than Grits and Tories in supporting their papers.

Last Friday at Corning's distillery, Peoria, Illinois, four men were drowned in a whisky vat. Some men are born lucky.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during the all this time no case has ever been reported to all manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as an adult. For sale by J. L. White Greenwood and A. F. Thomas Midway.

EDITORIAL OVERFLOW

Premier McBride has troubles enough of his own these days.

This week Chicago is on the hog. Twenty-three hundred sausage makers went on strike Monday.

A policeman in Spokane has the smallpox. This is the first time the Times ever heard of a Spokane policeman catching anything.

A Greenwood Conservative says the only thing the matter with John Houston is that his lungs are out of proportion with his brains.

At last we have the one minute fifty-eight and a half trotter. But we are as far as ever from the one minute fifty-eight and a half sermon.

Monday last the Standard Oil company advanced the wholesale price of all grades of refined oil one cent a gallon. Rockefeller must have endowed another university.

In an interview at Vancouver John Houston stated that he was going back to Nelson, sell out and leave the country. John will go, with the Lynn canal, to the United States.

John Houston has not been taken in the McBride cabinet. That's nothing. Just see how the province has been "taken in" by returning McBride and his gang of boosters to powers.

George Fraser, M. P. P.-elect for Grand Forks riding, is at Victoria telling the premier how it happened in his district, and that Mr. Fraser would make a good commissioner of lands and works.

Colonel Lowry of the New Denver Ledge is starting a paper at Poplar. The colonel has the reputation of having started and buried more newspapers in British Columbia than any other man this far north.

Just fifteen years ago today Lord Sackville West, ambassador to the United States, was dismissed. The cause of West being called home was the awful crime of telling a few English-Americans to vote for Cleveland.

The Dominion house prorogued last Friday. It was the longest session in the history of the Dominion. The general impression at Ottawa is that there will be another session of parliament before the general elections, opening about January 20.

The bye-elections Tuesday for the Ontario legislature broke even. Conservative Sault Ste. Marie went Liberal and Liberal Muskoka went Conservative. This leaves the two parties in just the same position as before: Government 50, Opposition 45.

William R. Hearst is being boomed by the San Francisco Examiner. Chicago American and New York Journal for president on the democratic ticket in 1904. These papers are owned by Hearst. Billy is not a bad fellow, but he needs a little fixing.

The fifteen dollar ton lead bounty bill, which was approved by the commons several weeks ago, received royal assent in the senate Saturday and is now one of the Dominion statutes. Just watch the silver-lead mining camps of British Columbia boom.

Can This Be Thus?

It turns out it was the Spokane grafters who have located the Crow's Nest coal and oil lands that returned John Houston for Nelson. John pledged himself to have these locations granted to the locators, and as the locations have been made mostly on behalf of Spokane people, and probably the Great Northern Railway company, these people poured American gold into Nelson for Houston's election. Five thousand five hundred dollars in American eagles is stated to have come in for distribution on behalf of John, who boasts he is a "practical politician." Though so disrated in the Conservative party that not a telegram of congratulation was sent him from Victoria he appears to be able to go there and hold up Premier McBride and the whole Conservative party to give him a portfolio that he cannot fill with any safety to the interests of the people in view of his statement that he favored giving away the richest assets of the province to his friends. It is high time this sort of practical politician was a back number in British Columbia. The disclosures concerning this affair are discreditable to the Conservative party, and must break up that party ere long.—Kootenay Mail.

Vindication of a Hero

It is with great pleasure, mingled with feelings of bitter indignation and sorrow, that the Post Intelligencer reprints the report of the royal commission which so completely clears the good name of the late Major-General Sir Hector Macdonald.

There had been scarcely less admiration in this country than in Great Britain felt for this gallant officer, who had fought his way up from the ranks to be a major-general and one of the most brilliant and beloved officers of the British army.

The news of his death by his own hand in Paris, and of the charges against his manhood which inspired it, horrified and astounded all those who knew anything of his career. Now we learn that broken in nerves by his campaigning in the Boer war he was driven to kill himself on account of false rumors of a crime so abhorrent to his fine soul that he couldn't even face the inquiry into their truth.

Perhaps never has there occurred a more pitiful tragedy. A brave, loyal, brilliant man, conquering not only his country's enemies but the almost unconquerable lines of caste in the British army; winning his way to almost the highest rank by sheer merit and devotion, gaining and holding the love of his soldiers by his kindliness and care no less than by his fearlessness, he was murdered by a slanderer who charged him with a crime too vile to mention.

Gallant Sir Hector is gone, but his wife and son are living and must endure the agony of the cruel tragedy. His slanderer also lives, and either here or elsewhere will find the punishment that he deserves — Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

He Learned a Great Truth.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley. "Why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for this same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia; and that it is pleasant and safe to take.
