MINES AND SMELTERS

Smelter Men Increasing Capacity to Meet Requirements of the Mines--Big Plant for Snowshoe--Work at Nickle Plate--Providence Mine Shipments.

Although the Greenwood smelters are treating over 1000 tons of ore a day their capacity is not adequate to meet the output of the mines. In fact the mining industry is being retarded by the lack of smelter capacity. This difficulty will be obviated in a short time by the erection of additional furnaces both at the Sunset and B. C. Copper company'f smelters. In the meantime, the B. C. mine would like to make heavier shipments as would also the Snowshoe. The anxiety on the part of mine owners to make heavy shipments makes the smelter superintendent's life not an easy one. He takes pride in making a perfect blend of his ores and so far as Superintendent Goodell is concerned he has the material to do so. The Sunset can furnish more than enough iron to meet the requirements of both the B. C. and Snowshoe ores, but in order to accommodate the mine owners Mr. Goodell has not been treating much Sunset ore. With additional furnaces more Sunset ore could be used, a better blend could be thus secured and smelting done at a lower cost.

In addition to the mines near home, Republic mine owners are hunting for smelters that will treat their ores. The Republic ores are refractory and with the limited smelter capacity, smelter men are not anxious to take large quantities of this ore.

The foundation for the second furnace at the Sunset smelter are nearly complete. The furnace itself is expected in this week and will be installed in less than twenty days. Some delay may be occassioned by non-arrivrl of the additional power plant required. In any event the two furdaces will be running before the end of the year and a third one underway. Heavy shipments are being received at the smelter from the B. C. and Snowshoe mines.

Two carloads of high grade ore were shipped this week from the Providence mine to the Trail smelter. The Providence continues to look well and from present appearences steady shipments can be maintained for an indefinite time.

Anthony J. McMillan, managing director of the Snowshoe Gold & Copper Mines, Limited, who has just left the property after spending a few days there before he leaves for London England, has completed arrangements for the installation of what will be one of the largest hoists yet erected in the Boundary country. It is of 150 horse power capacity, and will be installed over the main 300 foot shaft recently sunk on the Snowshoe, which will be the main working shaft of the mine. The hoist will operated by electric power, which will be furnished by the Cascade Water, Power & Light company, the lines for which are now about ready for operation, extending from Cascade to Phoenix, to supply the mines hereabouts with electrical energy as well as to perform the same office for the Granby smelter at Grand Forks.

Mr. McMillan recently returned from Victoria, and while there he interviewed the government ministers in regard to securing some concessions for the mining industry, and he feels confident that the minister of mines and his colleagues look upon the matter favorably.

The work of extending the pole line of the Cascade Power & Light company to the Granby smelter has been completed. The plant at Cascade is practically in readiness to transmit electricity to Grrnd Forks and the mines at Phoenix, but the transformers for use at Granby amelter have not yet ar.ived. Meantime efforts are being made to obtain transformers from another power company for temporary use. If they can be secured the Granby smelter will have its entire plant of four furnoces in operation within a fortnight. The Cascade power line was built under the direction of W. P. Dickson, electric engineer of Nelson, B. C.

For the first time in several months heavy shipments were resumed from the Granby mines to the company's smelter at Grand Forks, at the rate of 36 cars each 24 hours, or nearly 1100 tons, the third furnace of the smelting works being put in blast today, only two having been running lately, first on account of the shortage of coke, and then because of low water in the north fork of Kettle River.

Yesterday news was received from the B. C. Copper Company's Mother Lode mine in Deadwood camp, to the effect that a shoot of ore with an iron gangue had been met with in one of the upper quarries known locally as the sulphur ore quarries, from the ore having sufficient sulphur in association with iron and silica to facilitate the extraction of its copper values. As an insufficiency of iron in the gangue of the ore is one of the chief drawbacks the local smelters have to contend against yesterday's news was received at the B. C. Copper Company's smelter with much satisfaction, especially as the shoot of "irony" ore was stated to be from four to five feet in thickness. Both the smelters in the neighborhood of Greenwood continue to run at their full treatment capacity. Most of the ore being treated at the B. C. Copper Company's smelter comes from the company's Mother Lode mine, but shipments from the Snowshoe mine are also being received right along. The Montreal & Boston Copper company's smelter puts through ore from the B. C., Snowshoe and Sunset mines. Ocassionally a train of 24 loaded cars passes through Greenwood and Anaconda on its way to the works at Boundary Falls. The ore train goes down to the smelter every day, but it is not always so heavily laden.

At present the staft of the Nicke Plate mine near Hedley are devoting their attention to installing a 40 stamp mill, a four mile tramway, and a power plant—electricity generated by water power. The company has applied to purchase 1,000 acres of land, including a small lake, above this lake and will dam it to flood the land purchased, for a water reserve. Another dam will be constructed at the flume head and there will be about 2½ miles of flume. The company has acquired a mill site from the Hedley townsite company on the southeast corner of the townsite. Contractors are now cutting ties and grading on the upper end of the tramway. The flume and dam work has been started. The mill site has been surveyed and the engineer is preparing plans incidental to the building of a mill. The power house will be in close proximity to the mill. A 250 foot fall, with a good "head" of water, will be obtained. Nearly $500,000 has been spent on this mine up to date, and they have about 3,000 feet of work to show for it—nearly all tunnels. The average assay is a problem—they have some very high grade ore, with plenty of visible free gold, assays from which are not rare at $2,000. But what the whole body—which is immense—will average is another thing. The Nickel Plate is not by any means the only prospective mine in this camp. The Kingstone, owned by an eastern syndicate and managed by F. M. Wells, has about 100 feet of work done which shows a large body of ore (20 to 40 feet) which averages between $20 and $30 in gold and copper. One might truly state that the above mentioned properties are about the only ones in the camp with any work on them, yet there are many more with just as good surface showings.

Death of Harry Adams

A Well Known Miner Fatally Injured in Le Roi.

Harry C. Adams passed away at the Sisters' hospital yesterday afternoon as a result of injuries received at the Le Roi mine on Wednesday last.

On Friday deceased underwent an operation for the reduction of the compound fracture of his right leg above the knee, the attendant physicians having concluded upon consultation that the operation was essential if Mr. Adams was to have a chance for life, In the course of the operation it was discovered that the injury was even more serious than had been thought at first, and after the ordeal grave doubt was felt as to the ultimate results. The accident had been followed by a severe shock and this was repeated to a considerable extent after the operation. Mr. Adams passed quietly away Saturday morning. Deceased came to Rossland ten months ago from Greenwood, where he had been a shift boss in the Mother Lode mine, then managed by his father-in law, Richard Hntchinson. His mother resides in Spokane. Since coming here deceased worked at the Josie and Le Roi mines, being employed on the timber gang in the latter property at tue time of the accident.

The late Mr. Adams was an ex-member of the Knights of Pythias and was a member in good standing of Boundary Valley lodge No. 38 Independent Order of Oddfellows. The local lodge of the fraternity has taken charge of the remains and will attend to the funeral arrangements after consultation with the relatives of deceased.

As a workman and a citizen the late Mr. Adams was eminently respected. Of retiring disposition he made acquaintances slowly, but those who knew him regarded him as a man in the best sense of the word. He was possessed of superb nerve as was evidenced by the unmurmuring fortitude with which he bore the terrible agony of his injuries.

About a year ago deceased was united in marriage to Miss Moffat, formerly of Rossland, with whom he resided on St. Paul street north.

The remains will be shipped to Spokane for burial on the 10.30 train tomorrow morning.—Rossland Miner.

Harry Adams was well known here where he resided for several years. He was also a brother-in-law of L. A. Smith of Anaconda who with Mrs. Smith went to Rossland on hearing of his death.

The funeral of the late Harry Adams took place at Rossland from the Oddfellows hall. The services of the order were conducted by Brothers A. M. Sanford and T. Long. The pallbearers were Brothers Nichols, Edwards, Croket, Mellor, Sorenson, and Williams.

The remains were escorted to the depot of the Great Northern railway for transference to Spokane, by about 25 members in line.

Thefloral offering was particnlarly effective. The flowers used were sweet peas arranged in the form of the three links of the order, pink, blue and scarlet, while over the centre link was formed a cross in white.

Death of Mr. Tichenor.

Mr. Keffer resident manager of the B. C. Copper Company Ltd. received a message from New York last evening announcing the death of James F. Tichenor the president of the company. Mr. Tichenor had been ill for a considerable time before death came. He and Mr. Underwood were associated in numerous mining enterpris es in al parts of the continent and were principals in the development of the Mother Lode and No. 7 before the organization of the B. C, Copper company. He was about 50 years of age.

Floyd--Derickson.

On Tuesday last at the home of the bride's parents on Silver street, Oscar Floyd, proprietor of the Riverside Dairy, was united in marringe to Miss Sophia Derickson. Rev. Dr. McRae officiated at the interesting ceremony. After the nuptial knot had been tied, a wedding supper was served to the happy couple and intimate friends.

V. V. & E. MAY BUILD

Railway Committee Have Granted Company Permission to Build Spurs and Crossings—Jubilation at Grand Forks—Hon. Mr. Blair's Statement.

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—(Special to the Boundary Creek Times.)—After a struggle which has lasted for months, the Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern Railway company has been granted permission by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council to construct branch lines to Columbia and Grand Forks and to the Granby smelter and to cross Grand Forks and Kettle River railroad. Hon. Mr. Blair, minister of railways, voiced the sentiment of the committee when he declared that the applications must be allowed in the public interest and speaking particularly with reference to the proposed crossing said: "It is quite apparent as far as I have heard and I might say here to gentlemen present that I have heard a great deal about this while I was in the west, recently, and that there is a very strong opinion among the people in the cluster of towns surrounding this railway that the crossing should be allowed. They are convinced that it would lead to a very great development of business for them and naturally having that feeling they do not understand why an ordinary and usual customary thing as a railway crossing should be blocked." The committee were unanimous. A. H. McNeil, K. C., Rossland, and Aulay Morrison, M.P., New Westminster, appeared for applicants. Mayor McCallum of Columbia and Chas. Cummings of Grand Forks were also present. Messrs. Aylsworth and Boland of Toronto opposed the application on behalf of the Grand Forks and Kettle River road, or the Hot Air line.

The news was received with joy at Grand Forks, as the following despatch will show.

Bon fires blazed here and in Columbia tonight in celebration of today's judgement of the railway committee of the privy council, Ottawa, granting the application of the V. V. & E. railway to cross the Kettle Valley Line and the C. P. R. tracks near here, and build a four-mile spur into the Granby smelter, as well as an extension of the main line to Phoenix, Greenwood and Midway B. C.

The night in both cities is being given over to jubilation. The news was announced in the following received shortly before 6 o'clock tonight from Neil McCallum, Mayor of Columbia, one of the Boundary delegates now in the Dominion capital.

"Big fight in committee. Both crossings and spurs allowed."

There is every likelihood that the construction of the spur into the Granby smelter will be commenced within the next few weeks, as Stewart & Co., the contractors, have a considerable portion of their outfit on the ground.

The intetions of J. J. Hill respecting the extension of the road from here to Phoenix, Greenwood and Midway are not known, but the belief prevails that this work will not be undertaken until next spring.

Today's victory of the Great Northern railway means the downfall sooner or later of the monopoly of hauling ore to Boundary smelters, hitherto enjoyed by the C. P. R. As an idea of the magnitude of this traffic, including the transportation of coke, matte, etc., may be gained from the fact that the contribution of the Granby company to the C. P. R. is now at the rate of $600,000 per annum.

Jim Hill's proposed invasion of the Boundary mining camps will tend to stimulate mining operations, and will ultimately result in a sweeping reduction in the transportation charges as regards both ore and coke.

The surveys for the various spurs and extension in this district were completed six months ago.

There are no longer any obstacles in the way of the Great Northern building its proposed line from the boundary to Vancouver, B. C., traversing the Similkameen district, where coal, gold and copper abound. Locating engineers are now at work in the Similkameen.

Blessing the Bell.

Interesting Service at the Roman Catholic Church.

A large congregation attended the interesting seevices in the R. C. Church last Sunday morning when His Lordship Bishop Dontenwill of New Westminister blessed the new bell. In an interesting way His Lordship explained the use of the bell and the reason why the religious ceremony was about to be performed. With oils and incense he carried out the ceremony, a number of members of the congregation standing as sponsors. He then rang the bell and was followed by Rev. Father Bedard and the sponsors who did the same. The choir rendered an interesting programme of sacred music and songs. The Fireman's orchestra played several selections, solos were given by Mrs. Oliver Miss Fisher Mrs. Mathot and H. Walker Harris. Mrs. H. B. McCutcheon presided at the organ.

In the evening a similar service was held at Phoenix where Bishop Dontenwill blessed the bell for the Roman Catholic edifice at that place.

Grand Master's Visit.

Boundary Valley Lodge I. O. O. F. was visited on Thursday evening by A. Graham of Victoria, the Grand Master for the province. There was a large attendence of members and visitors. After the initation of a candidate, the Grand Master delivered an eloquent address in which he expressed his pleasure at growth and prosperity of the order in general and Boundary Valley Lodge in particular. A pleasant social evening was afterwards spent.

Grand Master Grahm visits Snow Shoe Lodge, Phoenix, this (Friday) evening.

Deserved Promotion.

H. Allenberg of Spokane, well known here, has returned from New York where he received well deserved promotion. He has been made general manager of the whole Northwest for the Equitable Life Assurance Company of New York. His territory includes Washington, B. C., Alaska, and Alberta. He will have charge of the Seattle office as well as that in Spokane. Mr. Allenberg's promotion will please his numerous friends in the Boundary.

On Friday evening of next week the Socialists will hold the first of a series of regular weekly meetings. Rev. Ralph W. Trotter, of Columbia, has consented to give an address to start the ball rolling. Socialism has made great headway in British Columbia during the past year. There are now strong socialist locals in all the towns and cities of the province. J. H. Hawthornwaite, M.P.P. of Nanaimo, lately joined the Socialist party, and if an election proceeds the next meeting of the legislature. will run on the Socialist ticket. If no election occurs before the legislature meets he will have the distinction of being the first Socialist who ever occupied a seat in the house.

THE LAST STRUGGLE.

The decision of the Railway committee of the Privy Council to allow the V. V. & E. to build spurs and cross the C. P. R. and Kettle Valley lines, is gratifying to all those who believe that no one railway corporation should have a monoply of the carrying trade and that there should be free trade in railways. The decisive action of the committee should end the struggle that for a considerable time retarded railway construction in this district.

It is difficult to understand why the Boundary country should have been singled out for the introduction and perpetuation of a railway policy unique in the history of Canada or that of the country to the South of us. Other sections of the country have been encouraged in their efforts to secure not only one but several railways, but the Boundary was forced to wait for the Iron Horse until the Canadian Pacific Railway company graciously gave its consent and even after that corporation got a strong grip on the district, it appeared almost impossible to secure farther railway construction, although a rival company was strenuously endeavouring to come into the district.

As early as 1896, the Boundary country was considered a promising field for the railway builder and F. Auguste Heinze secured a charter and a land grant to build into this country. But nothing was done in the shape of railway building. Charters were hawked about, the lobbies of the legislatures both at Victoria and Ottawa were haunted by charter mongers and railway solicitors but no actual construction was undertaken. In 1898, D. C. Corbin made application for a charter to build from Marcus, Wash., to Greenwood, B. C. Mr. Corbin was the pioneer railway builder of the Kootenay and was the chief factor in opening up the mines of that district.

The people of the Boundary felt that Mr. Corbin was a genuine railway builder and they rendered him every assistance in his efforts to secure a charter. But when he went to Ottawa he found that the full strength of the C. P. R. forces were directed against him. The arguments used against the Corbin charter were remarkable. The C. P. R. contended that no American road should be allowed into the district and that in any case Corbin had an easier route than the C. P. R., that he could build a cheaper road, give cheaper rates and that consequently the C. P. R. could not compete with him. The Corbin bill passed the railway committee but was defeated in the house. Mr. Corbin renewed his application next year but he found that he was going to be opposed again, so he withdrew in disgust and made no further efforts to secure a charter.

Then the enterprise popularly and properly known as the Hot Air line appeared in the scene. Some of those interested in the Grand Forks townsite secured a charter to build from Grand Forks to Carson from the B. C. legislature and to build from Carson to Republic from the U. S. government. The spectacular career of the Hot Air line is well known. The company has a railway on its hands but no traffic. But it played no unimportant part in frustrating a legitimate railway enterprise. The Great Northern having purchased the V. V. & E. charter began the construction of a railway from Marcus westward through the Kettle River valley. By means of injunctions and other actions in the courts and by protests to the railway committee at Ottawa the construction of the V. V. & E. was delayed. The Canadian Pacific Railway company, too, protested against the V. V. & E. crossing its lines. The decision of the railway committee should end the fight and leave the Great Northern free to continue its road to the coast. Mr. Hill has expressed his willingness to build without land grant or subsidy and it looks as if he had met with so much opposition because he wished to pursue such an unusual course. It too dangerous a precedent to establish in this country. That the most successful railway builder on the continent should abandon subsidies sounds the death knell of the subsidy hunter and charter monger. No longer can adventurers make money by selling public wealth granted them by the parliaments of the country.

We take it that the last kick was made at Ottawa on Tuesday and that in the near future that active railway construction will be commenced.

THE WEST FORK ROAD.

The chief commissioner has spoken. Killeen is coming--next spring. After a season of tribulation and doubt those interested in the West Fork can pass the weary winter with the one grain of comfort that the road and Killeen will come in the early spring. One of those who has been making the chief commissioner's life miserable during the glorious road building weather with which this country has been blessed has been more fortunate than his compatriots and has been honored by a reply from the distinguished gentleman who is at the head of the Lands and Works department. This answer is given in the Times so that all persons who have had the impertinence to write the C. C. may govern themselves accordingly. The chief commissioner says: "Replying to your letter of the 7th inst., I may say with reference to the further construction work on the West Fork road, that I have seen Mr. Killeen and it is my intention to put in all necessary bridges this winter and complete the road in the early spring."

There is food for congratulation in the C. C.'s proclamation. Let us first congratulate him upon having seen Mr. Killeen. The people of the West Fork were promised a view of the able superintendent at intervals of two weeks during the last six months, but he came not. It is well that Mr. Wells has been able to see him. Mr. Wells' intention is a good one—he is a gentleman of good intentions. Let us hope that this good intention may not meet the fate of similar good intetion of which the same distinguished gentleman was possessed. Then just think, the people of the West Fork are going to enjoy the luxury of bridges and the road is to be completed in early spring. The C. C. is now so enthusiastic about completing the West Fork Road that no time is going to be wasted. Early spring is not considered quite to best time for roadmaking but what's the odds, the road is going to be built.

It is presumed that since the chief commissioner intends completing the road in early spring, he will endeavor to check the epidemic of road making which is prevalent in other parts of East Yale district. He will remember that the sum of $27,250 was voted for this district on the distinct understanding that the West Fork road would be built out of this appropriation. It would be well to call a halt so that there will be funds to complete the West Fork road in early spring.

Anyway the road is going to be built and Killeen is coming. Who can doubt it, since the chief commissioner has said so!

Increasing Output.

Considerable new work is being started at the Coal Creek Mines with a view to increasing the output says the Fernie Free Press. Two new tunnels are being run, one on each side of the gulch. The one on the north side is nearly a mile below the present workings and will be connected by track with the tripple; men are already at work on the grade. It is the intention of the company to tap the seam at several points along the grade and the cars will probably be handled by a small locomotive similar to the ones now used on the coke ovens. There is also a rumor that the company intend building a much larger tipple to be equipped with all the modern improvements to meet the increased output.

Fire! Fire! W. A. Chappelle, better known as "Old Cap," will act as Chimney Sweep, clean and set up your stoves leave word at Pioneer Hotel or O. I. C. New and 2nd hand store.

Last week a little daughter came to the home, in Anaconda, B. C. of C. Jensen, one of the engineers at the B. C. Copper company's smelter. On Friday a daughter was added to the family of J. A. McKinnon, hoist engineer at the Mother Lode mine, and a and a few days earlier, George Terhune, also employed at the Mothe Lode, welcomed his firstborn, a son. Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Terhune are daughters of Mrs. Hutshens, whose husband was superintendent of the Mother Lode for between two and three years.

Jack McSwain, a miner from Phoenix, was badly injured last night in the Le Roi mine while working in what is known as the Mulligan raise, a raise running up from the 600 to the 500. While working in this raise with a couple of other men, the bar of a machine became loose and fell upon McSwain. The bar of the machine is thought to have struck McSwain in the head and face. What caused the accident is not known. McSwain was conveyed to the hospital and Dr. Campbell sent for. He found the injuries to consist of a fractured head and a badly damaged face. McSwain is single and has been a member of the Phoenix Miners' Union. He came from Phoenix about two months ago and has worked ever since at the Le Roi. It is not certain whether McSwain will live or not, although the doctors have hopes of his recovery.—Rossland Miner.

NEWS FROM FAIRVIEW

Post Office Robbed Day Previous to Big Fire—Clerk has Confessed—Several Hundred Dollars Taken---Postmaster Love's Sad Plight.

Following last week's desestrous fire, with its record of two dead and two now lingering with little hope of recovery, Fairview has had another sensation. Information received today from Camp McKinney is to the effect that on Tuesday, twentyfirst instant, the day before the fire, cash to the amount of about seven hundred dollars was stolen from the Fairview post office, located in the store of John Love, druggist. The matter was placed in the hands of the provincial police and W.H. Dorman, of Vancouver, inspector of post offices for British Columbia, was advised of the occurence. The fact that the money had been stolen was not made public pending the result of efforts to discover the thief. Mear while suspicion fell upon a man named McClusky, who was in Mr. Love's employ as a clerk. Upon the arrival of Inspector Dorman he closely questioned McClusky, who eventually weakened and finally confessed not to the robbery of the post office money but to other criminal acts including the forgery of a bank deposit receipt for four hundred which had been entrusted to him but never deposited. He has since returned this money. McClusky is now in gaol and there is strong feeling against him as some connect him with the recent fire.

Before entering Love's service McClusky was employed for a while in the general merchandise store of Shatford and company, also at Fairview. He is described as an ex-preacher and is stated to have occasionally conducted religious meetings at Fairview, at which he preached to those present.

It will be remembered that Mr. Love was injured while rescuing Miss Hunt, the housekeeper, from the hotel fire last week. It is now reported that worry about the loss of money and the the excitement over the fire have together so affected him that he has become insane. It is hoped, though, that the loss of his reason is but temporary.

Doctors Schon, Morris and White are still at Fairview attending to the sufferers from the late fire. Miss Hunt is in a critical condion and no hope is entertained for her recovery.

Mr. Birch is injured more seriously than was at first supposed. He is being removed to the Vernon hospital.

Mrs. Mathias is slowly recovering.

The properties of the new Fairview Corporation have been closed and the miners have all left there for Greenwood.

Pioneer Burned to Death.

William Edwards Meats Death in Cabin at McKinney.

CAMP MCKINNEY, Oct. 29.—Special to the Boundary Creek Times).—The cabin of William Edwards, situate in a portion of the camp suggestively known as Whiskey Hill, was burned this morning and it is feared that Edwards perished in the flames. The fire got too strong a hold for rescue to be possible even if it were certain that Edwards was still in it. Besides, it is generally understood that there is dynamite on the premises, so there wae no disposition to get close to it in case of an explosion.

Edward, who among other picturesque sobriquets has that of Red Dog Bill, was one of the old-timers of this camp, his connection with it dating from about eighteen hundred and eighty-seven. He long held several mineral claims here, and last month received the proceeds of a sale of one interest. Since then he has been enjoying himself in characteristic fashion. He was an old Cariboo placer miner, and some highly interesting stories are told of some of his eccentric doings years ago on those diggings.

There is still a chance that he is out in the hills, but the general opinion is that he has perished is the flames, for although enquiries have been made all over the camp, no tidings of his having gone out can be obtained.

Later—The charred body of Edwards has since been found in the ruins. Coroner Foster of Greenwood after having a report from Constable Venner decided an inquest was unnecessary.

Alfred Knepper wss arrested at Camp McKinney by Provincial Constable R. B. Venner, on a warrant issued at the instance of Sub-Collector of Customs G. F. Rose, of Cascade City, charging him with having evaded the Customp regulations in not having paid duty on a horse and saddle he broeght across the boundary line from Colville and sold in the province. Accused was taken to Grand Forks and there appeared before two justices of the peace. Mr. Rose testified that he had received from accused a written undertaking to remit to him amount of duty, but this he failed to do, consequently action was taken to bring him to account. Upon accused pleading guilty the magistrate took a lenient view of the case and inflicted the minimum fine of $50.00 and costs
