INSTANTLY KILLED

Lafayette D. Wilbir Crushed by a Rock

AT THE MOTHER LODE MINE

The Coroner's Verdict Was Accidental Death

Lafayette D. Wilbir was instantly killed at the Mother Lode mine on Sunday morning last. He was a machinist engaged in the machine shop at the time. He and his fellow workmen disregarded the warning from the whistle and remained at work instead of seeking the usual place of safety. A piece of rock weighing about 150 pounds came crashing through the roof of the machine shop and struck Mr. Wilbir on the head, killing him instantly.

Dr. G. M. Foster, coroner, held an inquest Monday; his jury being W. G. Gaunce, foreman; Phil Macdonald, Neil Lamont, George F. Dougherty, W. Wilson and F. M. McLaine.

The evidence given by Carl Holman, the mine superintendent, R. Mantell, Henry Joly and others, demonstrated the strenuous life which the people living at the Mother Lode lead. The offices, shops and residences are near the open quarries, and when any deep blasting takes place all are under orders to go to a place of safety. The warning is a number of whistles, after which sufficient time is given to seek safety before the fuse is ignited. Mr. Holman stated that some were reckless and often disregarding the strict instructions of the company which were printed and posted at prominent places at the mine. This view was confirmed by Mr. Mantell, who stated that when there were only a few working in the machine shop they never failed to seek a place of safety under an unused ore bin when the whistles gave them warning, but as the force increased they became more careless until it became the rule to disregard the warning almost entirely. This careless practice continued until Sunday last when the fatal accident occurred. They all heard the warning whistles but paid no attention to them, with the above result. The evidence of all the others corroborated this and the jury brought in the following verdict:

To Dr. Foster, Coroner:

We, your coroner's jury, appointed to inquire into the cause and circumstances attending the death of Lafayette D. Wilbir at the Mother Lode mine on the morning of November 22nd, instant, beg to report that from the evidence submitted we find that the deceased came to his death by being struck on head by a large piece of ore blown from the glory hole, about 500 or 600 feet distant, with such force as to carry it through the roof and ceiling of the machine shop wherein the deceased was working at the time.

We find that a system of warning whistles has been established, instructing the men to seek places of safety provided for them, whenever a deep hole is to be set of, and allowing ample time for them to do so. We find that the warning whistle was duly blown before the shot in question was set off, but that the deceased failed to comply with the established warning and seek a place of safety, about 40 feet distant.

We do not believe the employing company is in any way responsible for the result.

We are of opinion, however, that some greater precaution should be taken to safeguard the lives of the men who may be sleeping during the times of blasting, either by further protection to the roof and exposed walls of the bunk house or by removal of the said bunk house to a greater distance from the works.

W. G. Gaunce, foreman.

The death of Mr. Wilbir has cast a gloom over the mining community. He was well and favorably known in many mining camps in the province. He settled in Colville, Washington, many years ago and being a competent mechanic he secured a lucrative position with Heinze during the construction of the Trail smelter. Later he was engineer at the Center Star, Rossland, and came to Greenwood to take a position in the Greenwood smelter when opened. He was afterwards transferred to the Mother Lode mine. He was a native of Michigan and about 52 years of age. He leaves a wife and a family of one son and two daughters who reside in Anaconda.

The funeral which took place from the family residence Wednesday afternoon was largely attended. Rev. M. B. McKee conducted the services at the house. The pallbearers were Peter Lover, Leo Pinger, Phil McDonald, Oscar Johnson, Fred Bergheart and Angus Nicholson.

MINING FLOAT

News of the Week in the Boundary and Elsewhere

The Rossland camp shipped 9690 tons of ore last week.

The success of the Elmore oil concentrator at Rossland is now fairly well assured.

The placer mines of Atlin produced $430,000 this season; an increase of $30,000 over that of last year.

During the month ending September 30, Canada exported 10,893,000 pounds of copper valued at $1,024,000.

The Kootenaian says Kaslo is to have a smelter. This is the forty-second that the Kootenaian has promised for that town.

Great excitement still prevails at Poplar Creek. The latest new discovery is the snow; having covered everything.

The ore of the Oro Denoro mine is being gotten out and loaded on the railway dump cars at a cost not exceeding 40 cents a ton.

The noted Nettie L. mine in the Ferguson camp has been shut down, for the first time in six years. Operations will be resumed when the new mill is completed.

Robert Clark, owner of the famous Seattle mine on the north fork of the Kettle river, writes the Times that the report that the Seattle was closed down pending litigation was an error. The title to the Seattle is perfect and there is no litigation whatever.

The Michigan capitalists who recently bonded the Volcanic, have also bonded the Eastern Star in Wellington camp from Fraser Bros. The Eastern Star attracted considerable attention a few years ago because of the big surface showing of high grade copper ore.

The Cariboo mine at Camp McKinney has been shut down. It is understood that the bulk of the ore is now refractory and cannot therefore be treated to advantage in the mill. The Waterloo adjoining the Cariboo is installing a Hendryx plant, and should this prove successful in all probability one will be installed at the Cariboo.

An order in council has been passed by the Dominion government permitting the entry into Canada free of duty of orange mineral, dry white and red leads made from lead produced in Canada. In the refined process the substances mentioned are extracted, and it is felt only proper that Canadian products of this kind should be allowed to come into the country again free.

Provincial Legislature

The provincial legislature was opened yesterday. The speech from the throne referred to the financial condition of the province. Hon. C. E. Pooley was unanimously elected speaker.

Stack Is Completed

The "Union Jack" floated gaily from the big stack at the B. C. Copper company's smelter on Monday. The last brick was laid on Sunday afternoon and a rousing cheer was given by the men who had labored for nearly two months in erecting the big flue. Monday the scaffolding was taken down so that for the next 200 or 300 years it is not likely that a human being will view the town from the top of this pile of brick. The stack is 120 feet high and the inside diameter is 12 feet. There are over 220,000 brick in it. The work reflects the greatest credit on Foreman Peterson and his staff.

OPPOSED TO SOCIALISM

The American Federation of Labor Goes on Record

At the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor just closed at Boston the federation placed itself on record as opposed to Socialism by a vote of 2185 for and 11,282 against.

D. W. Richmond, president of the Railroad Clerks' Association, declared that his organization would withdraw if the federation adopted socialistic ideas.

John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, said he thought it a great mistake if Socialist friends attempted to commit the labor organization to the principles in which they believe. "It would be a sad day indeed," Mr. Mitchell concluded, "if trade unions were made the tail end of a political organization."

Mr. Gompers became very earnest and even bitter in his sratements against Socialism, and was interrupted frequently from the floor. In closing, he said: "I am at variance with your philosophy. You are unsound, socially you are wrong, and industrially you are an impossibility. I have faith in the trade unionist movement because it is the protector of labor today, and if emancipation comes some time it must be through the trades union movement." A great volume of applause followed Mr. Gompers' speech.

Later Gompers was re-elected president over a Socialist, the latter polling only 126 votes.

Police, Police!

As the editor of this family journal was in the midst of an article on the "Downfall of the Provincial Government," a long, lean, hungry individual wended his way into the sanctum, placed on the safe the following gemlet, and then suddenly disappeared:

The snowy season now is here;
The coasters down the streets do ride;
And everyone is full of cheer,
For we owe the snow to McBride.

Wants Stock

At Spokane Robert Mack has brought suit against John Mack and the Athelstan Gold Mining & Copper company asking for an injunction to prevent the transference of 116,666 shares of the company stock to W. J. Morrison. Robert Mack claims the stock belongs to him and that John Mack is holding it in trust and is going to sell it for his own benefit. The case is on a change of venue from King county.

Not True

The report sent from Phoenix to the Nelson News that the Snowshoe mine cannot ship to the limit of its capacity as the smelter is unable to handle its entire output is not in accordance with the facts. The Sunset smelter has handled and is prepared to handle all the ore the Snowshoe mine cares to ship. The small shipment from the Snowshoe mine this week is accounted for by the fact that a C. P. R. engine was derailed on the Snowshoe switch last week and the railway company required several days to restore the engine to the track.

TOO MUCH FOR WATER

Government Thinks Rate High for Court House

THE RIGHT-OF-WAY DISPUTE

B. C. Copper Company and Lot Owners Cannot Agree on Price

The right of way for the B. C. Copper company was not secured right away. Robert Wood and Mrs. Lulu E. Sutherland, who own the property across which the spur will run, have been paying taxes on the same since the town was incorporated and they believe their lots should be worth to the company the price upon which taxes were paid. The company holds a somewhat different view. Mr. Wood, through his solicitors, McLeod & Brown, and Mrs. Sutherland on her own behalf, notified the council of this difference of opinion and also suggested that no portions of the streets in that vicinity be alienated until their claims were satisfied. As the bylaw granting the company right-of-way across the streets was to be passed on the distinct understanding that the claims of property owners affected should be satisfied by the company, the bylaw will be held in abeyance until the difference of opinion is wiped out. This course was decided upon at the regular meeting of the council held on Monday evening with Acting-Mayor Ross in the chair and Aldermen Bannerman McKenzie and Gulley present.

To pay too much for one's whisky is excusable in the great and glorious west, but to pay too much for water is a disgraceful thing. William Graham McMynn, government agent, gold commissioner, stipendiary magistrate judge of the small debts' court, issuer of mariage licenses, etc., etc., does not believe in paying too much for anything—much less water. So when City Collector Taylor asked him to potlatch $7.50 for one month's use of the pure and unadulterated brand of Adam's ale that percolates through the city pipes and finds its way into the stately building built by a paternal government for the use of Mr. McMynn, his staff of officials and the public generally, Mr. McMynn decided that the state of the provincial finances would not admit of this sum being paid to the city exchequer. He interviewed the council regarding the matter and pointed out that in Rossland where the government building was larger than the one in Greenwood, the city's charge was less than four dollars per month by the meter system. It was suggested to Mr. McMynn that the people of Rossland were easy, that they never drank water there anyway and that he should quote figures from Nelson where the same rules regarding water did not obtain. The government agent promised to do this and the water question will not be settled until next week.

A municipal election will be held on the second Thursday in January. The matter is not very much discussed and the first official intimation came on Monday night when Alderman Bannerman gave notice of an election by-law. Householders desiring to register should do so before the end of December.

A NEW ERA

The paying of a one per cent dividend on December 16 by the Granby Mining company, which has been definitely announced from Montreal, is the beginning of a new era in the history of the big low grade mines of the Boundary. It is now six years since Jay P. Graves began development work on the Knob Hill and Old Ironsides. At that time it was supposed that higher values would be found in the ore and that the dividend paying era would arrive much sooner. Later development demonstrated that there was an unlimited quantity of ore, but that the values were such as to demand new and more economical methods of mining and treatment. Those methods were introduced with marked success. In the Boundary mining and smelting is carried on at a less cost than anywhere else in the world. These innovations took time and delayed the dividend paying stage. It has now arrived and it is sure to be regular.

What is true of the Granby mines is equally true of other big low grade mines in the district. The Mother Lode, the Snowshoe, the Oro Denoro and other big properties will just as surely be dividend payers when the proper time arrives.

Big bodies of low grade ore are not without compensations. More men are employed and wages are just as high if not higher than in higher grade camps. The amount of money distributed is greater and there is a satisfaction in knowing that the permanency of the district has been demonstrated beyond a doubt.

THE BRITISH BATTLE

All England hasn't gone daft over Chamberlain's policy of protection. The Leeds and Yorkshire Mercury, the most influential journal in the Midlands, is not only pointing out the fallacies of the Chamberlain doctrine, but is also urging the Liberals not to lightly reckon the strength of their adversaries. Instead of leaving the battle to callow politicians of the Tory party the Liberals should be found on the battlefield leading the forces. In a recent issue of the Mercury is a striking article in which it is pointed out that a duty on wheat will not help the farmer unless the duty is against the product of the colonies as well as that of foreign countries. Canada in a few years will have as large a surplus of wheat as the United States. Even with such a universal duty the tenant farmer would not be benefited since, the price of land would be sure to increase out of proportion to any advantage that a duty might bring. It would be the same old story. Protection always favors the favored few.

Frank Moberly is a life-long Conservative. He is also an experienced railway engineer, well-known in British Columbia, whose verdict upon any question having to do with railway construction carries convincing weight, not only in this country and the United States, but across the pond. Mr. Moberly has this to say in regard to the national transcontinental railway: "I am a Conservative, but I must say I admire Sir Wilfrid Laurier's transcontinental railway policy, which is the act of a broad-minded and fearless statesman; and I also believe Mr. Sifton has a better grasp of the needs, and of the enormous capabilities of the Northwest than many of his predecessors."

Football this year is not so fatal as in past years. So far only nine were killed. In the game between Washington and Nevada universities at Seattle last Saturday the general rushing and mauling of the spectators was disappointingly mild compared to the scene at the Roxburghe-Goelet wedding in New York two weeks ago.

Did Jay P. Graves know what he was talking about six years ago, or did he talk to get money from the wary investor? It matters little now. Graves got money to develop his mines and the investor will get his dividends. Nothing succeeds like success.

The crippled condition of the finances of the province has called for a cutting down of all expenses by the McBride government. It is stated a cut will be made in the provincial officials' salaries on account of the days getting shorter.

The working classes of India do not need any unions. They are so similar in mind and temperament that they act in concert without organization and establish a short day by refusing to work longer.

Sir Charlie Tupper says the county has more money than it needs. This is bad again. But it will doubtless furnish the Tories with a new campaign cry against the too full pocket book.

Charles Money Schwab has built a church at Pittsburg, Pa., that cost $125,000, and presented it to the Catholic parish. This is one way Schwab has of trying to square himself before he dies.

There is a surplus of $14,500,000 in the Dominion treasury on the operations of the last four months. The receipts were $2,800,000 more than in 1902. This is a very handsome result.

Sunday, smallpox broke out in the Boise, Idaho, penitentiary; but up to the present none of the guards have attempted to catch it.

The unholy glee with which the Vancouver Province proclaimed the result of the bye-election would lead one to believe that the Canadian Pacific Railway company was particularly anxious to see Hon. Charles Wilson, attorney-general, re-elected.

The Victoria board of trade has endorsed Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's fiscal policy for the British empire. Now that Victoria has endorsed Chamberlain, it's all off with the other fellows.

Who is the lucky man with a few thousand Knob Hill or Old Ironsides shares which he purchased for three or four cents and thre w them into the bottom of his trunk?

How would you like to be the premier?

Ain't It the Truth

An exchange truly remarks: "I hain't judging no man by de way he talks. I'ze had a man yell me outer his co'nfield and run me half a mile, an' afterwards present me wid two dozen ears, an' I'ze had a man talk so soft an' sweet dat it brung tears to my eyes, an' den charge me 37 per cent interest on money loaned on de fam'ly sewin' machine."

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both audults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. TO A PARRITCH POT

Every mornin' when suppin' ma parritch,
My hairt fills wi gratitude, sae that feel,
The world's been neglectin' her best benefactor,
The wond'rfu' Scot wha invented oatmeal.

Just look at thae bairns, as they sit roon' the table,
Enjoyin' their parritch an' milk an' oatcake,
They're growin' quite sturdy, an' soon will be able
Their way in this strugglin' world for tae make.

It's food for the brain, an' it's good for the muscle,
It will build up ye'r body baith healthy an' strong,
An' all through the hardest o' life's weary tussle
Frae youth tae auld age it will help yae along.

Yae honor yer poets, inventors, an' statesmen,
Y'er lawyers, an' doctors, an' soldiers sae braw;
But never a word, a' the big brawny Scotchman,
That invented oatmeal, he's the best o' them a'.

Then Scotchmen that's scattered all over creation,
Awake and respond tae ma' fervent appeal,
A monument build him, befittin' the nation,
Tae the wonderfu' Scot wha invented oatmeal.

Englishman's Three Gods

The Englishman is the last man among civilized races to be an artist, a musician, or a poet, but he is the first to be a gentleman. An Englishman thinks coldly, loves coldly and fights coldly, but he gets there just the same. There is always a fascinating smoothness about him, and he worships three gods—his flag, his trade and his top hat.

Her Only Comment

"Here's an account of a woman who committed suicide because her husband had died," said Growells, as he glanced up from his paper. "What do you think of that?" "I think," answered Mrs. G., "that she married the one man in about 1,000,000,000."

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth St., Harriburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by J. L White and A. F. Thomas Midway.

LOCAL EXTRACT

Many strangers were in the city this week.

A. A. Crowston has returned from a trip to the coast.

Men's Clothing at Cost—The Hunter-Kendrick Co., limited.

Who said Hunter Kendrick's were selling off their men's clothing?

Jim Grier is now the chief push of Lowry's new paper, the Poplar Nugget.

Judge Leamy returned from a visit to Vancouver and New Westminster.

E. W. Monk of the Hamilton Powder company was over from Nelson this week.

William A. McKay and James McLean of Camp McKinney were visitors this week.

N. C. Kydd and D. M. Kydd of Simcoe, Ontario, are visiting Greenwood this week.

The public schools of Grand Forks have been closed owing to an outbreak of scarlet fever.

Yesterday was American thanksgiving. It was also the opening day of the provincial house.

Greenwood merchants are making preparations for the Christmas and New Year holiday trade.

Oyster cocktail season is now in full blast, and the lone oyster is working overtime in Greenwood barrooms.

Richard Vroman, who has been visiting New York for the past seven months, returned to Greenwood last Monday.

Ralph Pittock, brother of Charles Pittock, arrived in Greenwood Wednesday from San Diego and will remain all winter.

Billy Green and party, who have been hunting in the Similkameen the past month, returned to town Tuesday with ten deer and some small game.

Sandy Stewart, druggist at Eholt, was in Greenwood Friday having the splints removed from his shoulder that was dislocated three weeks ago.

David McLaren, son of Greenwood's former chief of police, arrived in town Tuesday from the coast to accept a position in J. L. White's drug store.

Mr. S. Klaws is due in Greenwood in a little less than a month. As Santa is a great reader the merchant who advertises his Christmas novelties will catch his trade.

Thomas Hardy has secured a license for his new hotel at Coleman, having beaten the townsite company in its attempt to prevent him from selling liquor on property purchased from it.

Methodist church. J. D. P. Knox pastor. The usual preaching services will be conducted at 11 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. by the pastor. Class meeting at 10.20 a. m. Sunday school at 2.30 p. m.

The Greenwood Liberal association meets in the board of trade rooms, Naden-Flood block, tonight. A full attendance is requested as it is the annual meeting and officers will be elected.

Word has been received from Mickey Elderman, who left Greenwood last spring to make his fortune in Spokane, that he lost an eye last week from blood poisoning and is now in the hospital.

The associated boards of trade meet in Rossland next Wednesday. The Greenwood delegates in attendance will be J. P. Myers-Gray, George R. Naden and Duncan Ross. A long list of subjects has already been put upon the order paper by the local boards.

John Prescott, an employee of the B. C. Copper company, had his eye seriously injured by a hot blast last week. William McIntominy, who was working at the Providence mine, met with a similar accident, a piece of steel penetrating the eye. Both are recovering slowly.

The Cosgrove orchestra will be at the Auditorium next Wednesday night, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. This musical organization is one of the best traveling today. After the concert a dance will be given, the Cosgrove orchestra of seven pieces furnishing the music.

H. T. Pemberton, general manager of the Montreal & Boston Copper company, is now on his way back from Montreal where he consulted with the directors of the company. They decided to keep two furnaces in operation during the winter and install a third furnace in early spring.

G. C. McLaughlin, who threw the Terrible Swede last week, has returned to Greenwood, and will remain all winter. Jack O'Neil of Eholt, who won the jumping contests here on Miners' Union day, wants a go with Mac. So does Chris Mack of Phoenix. McLaughlin is arranging several matches and intends to have them pulled off in Greenwood. He has opened up training quarters here and to pass away the time, it is understood, will train a limited number of pupils to become future McLaughlins or McLeods.

Blake Wilson of P. Burns & Co., Nelson, spent the week in the city.

There will be a number of marriages blown in, in Greenwood, shortly.

H. S. Stoolfire, a Spokane attorney, was looking over the boundless Boundary this week.

Even the elements showed their contempt for the McBride administration, for on the opening day of the provincial house it rained

The family of the late L. H. Wilbir desire through the Times to thank all those whose aid and sympathy were so generously extended in their sad bereavement.

Santa Claus will not forget the school children at Boundary Falls this year. He will be present at a Christmas tree entertainment which will be given in Smith's hall, Boundary Falls on Christmas eve. An excellent program is being arranged and a large crowd is expected to see the children get their Christmas boxes.

Tom Peickart, who is interested in several claims on Poplar creek, received a box per express from those diggings last Monday. Tom thought the box contained the monthly clean-up of "nuggets" from his claims; but on opening it the only thing in sight was a common clay brick worth about a quarter of a cent. Tom murmured, "A joke is a joke; but this is no joke," as he handed over $1.50 for express charges.

Standard Fraction

Work is progressing on the Standard Fraction on Wallace mountain, west fork of Kettle river. This property, which is the eastern extension of the Rambler, is owned by J. W Nelson and W. Rambo of Greenwood. At present they are running a tunnel on the lead. Yesterday Mr. Nelson received assay returns from an average sample, which went $60.44 in silver. The vein is 18 inches wide.

Winnipeg Shuts Down

The Winnipeg mine was closed down last week. Financial difficulties were the cause. It is understood that the Bank of Montreal, Rossland, undertook to collect an old account against the mine and as funds were not available to meet this indebtedness and continue operations, work had to be suspended. It is understood arrangements are being made to pay the men.

A Musical Treat

The ladies of the Roman Catholic Church are making arrangements for the appearance here at an early date of the celebrated Schobert Symphony club and lady quartet of Chicago. This is one of the very best companies on the road and has received the highest praise wherever they appeared. The date of their appearance here will be announced later. The Daily News of Denver has this to say regarding the company: "It is rarely, indeed, that Denver is favored with such vocal execution and instrumental as well. When it is said that the work of the quartet is beyond criticism and the other performances the work of professionals, the truth is told. It was a rare privilege, thoroughly appreciated by the audience, to listen to the wonderful voices of the quartet in their harmonious blending and surprising range, and there was not a number on the program but secured an encore."

CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Entertainment at the Auditorium Last Night a Success

Yesterday afternoon and evening the annual bazaar and sale of work, etc., in aid of the general fund of St. Jude's was held in the Auditorium. There was a fair attendance and the day was successful.

The children appeared both afternoon and evening in various dances, and were most artistically dressed. Indeed we think that three or four of the costumes would be very hard to beat. Their performance seemed to give a great deal of pleasure and they were most enthusiastically received.

Light refreshments were served by the ladies during the day. The refreshments were looked after by Mrs. Elkins; the children's stall by Mrs. C. E. Shaw; the candy and flowers of Mrs. McMynn, and the general stall by Mrs. Robert Wood, president of the ladies' guild, and others.

A very laughable comedy in three acts, entitled "A Family Affair," was performed during the evening, which was greatly appreciated by the audience. Too much praise cannot be tendered to F. McLaine for his excellent stage managing, and the pains he took in making it so great a success.

The dilemma in which Dan Gillespie (Mr. Burnside) was placed when suddenly called upon to provide himself with a wife and child upon the visit of his guardian, Deacon Smith (C. Jannion) to whom he had hitherto represented himself, for pecuniary reasons, as a Benedict, was excellently portrayed, as was also the amusing but decidedly embarrassing assistance he received from the other members of his establishment, to maintain whom he had resorted to the device of representing himself to Deacon Smith as a married man. Their willingness to help him was so great that one and all were anxious to personate the wife and to forage for offspring.

Miss Martin and Miss Schon as respectively the housekeeper and Sally the cook; very ably sustained their parts, and the fun waxed fast and furious when the gardener, Jobson (Mr. Nutter) with Hibernian zeal, but little discretion, purloined a baby of Ethiopian origin. The part of Deacon Smith was played by one "to the manner born," and was a very artistic piece of acting, as indeed was that of Jobson who caused frequent roars of laughter. Nor can we omit to mention the part of Louisiana (Mr. O'Brien) the negro mother of the abstracted baby and her efforts to rescue her child from the various children provided.

We do not think it is an exaggeration to say that those who were present witnessed one of the best dramatic performances yet seen in Greenwood.

A good deal of credit is due to all the workers who helped to make the event so successful both in the afternoon and throughout the evening.
