ENERGY NEEDED

A Citizen Points Out That Business

ENERGY AND JUDGEMENT

Needed As Well As Location—Pessimistic But Pertiment.

EDITOR TIMES:

Under the head of Greenwood interest I would like to say when any citizen of Greenwood is away from home he is often introgated and the following dialogue usually occurs.

Where is Greenwood? About 10 miles North of the International Boundary line and 100 miles West of Rossland in what is termed the Boundary country.

Is there any agricultural land in that vicinity? Yes, from five to 10 miles from Greenwood there is a large area of farming land.

How much of a town is Greenwood? There are three banks, three or four mercantile firms which carry a stock of from $20,000 to $60,000. Numerous firms with $5,000 to $10,000 stock. Seventeen hotels, four of them steam heated. Several tailors, blacksmiths, livery barns, drug stores, cigar and fruit stores, butcher shops, etc.

Well! you have quite a town, what does Greenwood depend on principally for business support? Principally mining.

Are the mines close to the town as they are at Rossland? No, the nearest mine is the Sunset which is two and a half miles distant and they range from that distance to 10 and 12 miles in a circle.

How many men are employed in Greenwood other than those employed in the business houses? Less than 100 men.

What effort is being made to draw the trade from those mines and the agricultural country which you say is quite a distance from Greenwood?

Now Mr. Editor it occurs to me that Greenwood is not a mining camp any more than Grand Forks, but is simply a town surrounded by several mining camps and there has been no particular effort made to secure that trade beyond furnishing the mines in a wholesale way. The individual trade is sadly neglected. As a miner said recently, "The merchants of Greenwood complain of people at the mines sending to T. Eaton & Co., for supplies, but it is really less trouble for us to send to T. Eaton & Co., for what we want than to get it in Greenwood during business hours kept by Greenwood merchants. If we should get to town by six p. m. and have several purchases to make, unless we find what we want in the very first store we visit it is soon seven p. m. and we find it necessary to make another trip. We have T. Eaton & Co. catalogues at home, we select just what we want, it comes promptly and seldom fails to give satisfaction."

Now should the V. V. & E. be constructed this summer as we hope it will, those men probably know very little about sending to T. Eaton & Co., but when our stores are closed up they will be forced to buy their supplies from any little store at outside points where the proprietor does not observe office hours.

You may say the clerk who works from seven a. m. to seven p. m. works long enough, which is quite true, but, it seems to me that some kind of arrangements could be made the same as cigar, fruit and drug stores, restaurants and hotels who keep open longer. Again you may say there is an ordinance against keeping business houses open after seven p. m. If that is "a good thing" why not push "a good thing" along and close cigar, fruit, and drug stores, restaurants and hotels at 7 p. m. Compel the trade to come just when we want them and see where we will "get off at."

As a matter of fact Greenwood should be a live town and draw trade from the whole surrounding country, and if it cannot get that trade there is no reason for its existance. The admistration and chamber of commerce seem to be using every effort to get appropriations from the government for public improvements but the merchants are allowing the trade which is right under their noses and which is really necessary for the building up of Greenwood to pass by unnoticed, uncared for. Some arrangement should also be made to keep the post office open until 7:30 p. m. at least.

Greenwood should be metropolitan if it expects to control the trade of the country. It takes all kinds of people to make the world. It also takes all kinds of people to make a city. Other cities recognize this, why not Greenwood and all pull together. I believe a floating population helps the appearance of any town. I predict that it will not be many years if Greenwood pursues her present policy of restriction and inactivity when the business people of the country will be comparing Greenwood and Grand Forks. Grand Forks, with no natural resources close at hand, no mines, no payroll, no commercial club, no nothing but the matchless energy of her people, who do not care where a dollar comes from so they get it, is a thriving little city able to take care of herself. Then they will point to Greenwood completely surrounded with mines, big pay roll, good banking facilities, commercial club to entertain the guests of the city who are good respectable people, and a big policeman with instructions to run anyone out of town who does not come highly recommended; a town which had a good start forced apon them, now, not able to control the trade one mile from town; a town where the dogs will bark at any belated traveller who might appear on the street after seven p. m. The town will be like the broken-down gambler, they will still have the system but "broke like a dog."

This may appear to be rather a pessimistic prediction to some, but I really consider we are now well on our way to that condition, and it only remains to be seen if our citizens are equal to the emergency and will make the almost heroic effort necessary to build up a city and commence by taking care of the trade now in sight which justly belongs to Greenwood.

CHICKEN HATCHERY

The old way was too slow for alderman Kirkwood. The idea of keeping a good hen out of business for three weeks just to hatch a dozen chicks did not agree with his progressive ideas. So the alderman devised a patent incubator to be run by hot water, and today has chickens coming by the score. The judicious use of two pails of hot water daily has yielded him nearly two hundred little chickens. A down east wood-chopping frolic, or a Missouri corn husking isn't in it with the time the little fellows had in trying to see who would get out first.

BOARD OF TRADE

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trade.

WORK THAT MUST BE DONE

Secretary's Report in Detail For The Past Year.

The annual meeting of the Greenwood Board of Trade was held in the offices of the president, G. R. Naden, on Wednesday afternoon last. A large number were present and a considerable amount of routine work transacted.

The retiring officers and council were unamiously re-elected for the ensuing year. G. R. Naden, president; R. Smailes, vice-president; W. G. Gaunce, secy-treasurer. Council: Belt, Finucane, Fair, McIntosh, Shaw, McRae, Sperry, McArthur.

The secretary's report was read and adopted upon a very complimentary resolution proposed by Mr. Finucane.

Greenwood, B. C.,
April 2nd, 1902.

TO THE PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE GREENWOOD BOARD OF TRADE.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to present herewith my annual report as secretary of the Greenwood Board of Trade.

Although the past year has not been eventful in the history of the Board still there has been a lot of detail work to attend to, some of which has already borne good fruit and some other of which holds promise for the future. The amount of correspondence with the different departments of the provincial and federal governments regarding roads, general and special appropriations, mail service, appointment of judge, the stocking with fish of Christina Lake and the equipment of a local company of mounted rifles, has entailed considerable work. Everywhere our requests have been met with courtesy and an evident desire to gratify our wishes wherever possible. The provincial government has at length conceded the rights of the Boundary country to larger representation in the legislature and in the near future the Boundary Creek valley under the name of the Greenwood riding will have the high privilege of having a voice on the floors of the provincial legislature.

In June last year an issue of 10,000 copies of an annual report was published. Of these 1,500 were distributed in London, England, 1,500 at the Glasgow exhibition and 3,500 at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo.

During the year our board suffered a severe loss in the removal by death of one of its most active and influential members, the late J. W. H. Smythe.

Although the past year has been somewhat depressed in business circles the membership of the board has been particularly faithful and prompt in payment of quarterly dues and at present the sum total of arreages is $10.

The thanks of the board are due to Mr. W. G. McMynn for a contribution to the treasury, as well as to the City council for $25.00 payment of J. R. Brown's Ottawa expenses re appointment of judge, and $25.00 towards expenses of delegation to the late meeting of the associated Boards of Trade.

A full financial statement is hereto attached showing entire receipts and expenditures for the year, with vouchers for each item.

The present membership of the board numbers 25 persons and firms.

There would appear to be other business houses in the town that ought to be represented.

During the year I have made payments aggregating $27.50 on the obligation due the former secretary, leaving a balance due him at this date of $52.40.

This has been provided for in measure by two zealous members of the board having advanced the same in full to Mr. Gosnell and being credited thereon the amount of their own quarterly dues as they mature.

There was, in consequence of the change made in the year of the Associated Boards, a double charge against the treasury for membership fee in said association during the past year. Today our fees stand paid until March, 1903.

There are no debts of any kind against the Board and a cash balance on hand of $6.92.

Respectfully submitted,
W. G. GAUNCE.
Secretary-Treasurer.

PHOENIX MINSTRALS

A Lively Lot of Coons Make a Warm Time at the Auditorium—For Sweet Charity's Sake.

A bumper house greeted the Phoenix Minstrels in the Auditorium Wednesday last. This troup of Phoenix citizens are making a tour of the Boundary in the interest of the hospital at Phoenix. The show was a little slow in getting under way and it was about 8:45 when the curtain went up and revealed a circle of 16 colored gentlemen with the lofty Judge Williams in the centre and Hemenway and Flood at the ends.

The chorus singing was good and some of the local hits were excellent. Some clever character sketches were introduced and the cake walking was immense. Little Gladys Harvey the clever child artist of Greenwood assisted and made herself if possible a greater favorite than ever. Her singing and dancing were both good and she was recalled several times.

The make up of the coonnesses in the cake-walk revealed the art of the milliner and modiste.

The entertainment was far above the average for amateurs and must have been the result of severe work and training. A handsome sum was netted for the charitable object of the entertainment.

BASE BALL

The base ball season opened at Athletic Park, Monday last, between two picked sides under the Captaincy of Miller and Dill. What the final result might have been cannot be told. Each side claims to have had the other side going when their only bat broke. Heavy batting by Embree, base stealing by Hallett and slow running by White were the features of the event. Of the total of 69 runs made, almost equally divided, most were secured by falling over the home plate just as the catcher dropped the ball entrusted to him. One sensational hit by Dill scored his side a base and better.

Dr. McRae seated on a cream-colored cayuse and with blue overalls on, safely umpired the game behind a wire fence.

JONES SYNDICATE

Work on Riverside Showing Gratifying Results.

PROMISES TO BE A BIG ONE

Ore Ready for Transportation as Soon as Road is Ready.

When the Jones syndicate bought up the Arlington-Burns and Riverside group recently the people of Greenwood believed that they had made a big stroke in acquiring the first-named property, but few knew of the merits of the last named proposition. They knew that an expenditure of between $10,000 and $15,000 had shown the Arlington to be one of the promising properties of the camp, and believed that if the late Mr. Bielenberg had lived its great surface showings and ore exposures would long ere this have been so far developed as to justify the belief that a great mine was to be there added to the list of its next door neighbors the Mother Lode and the Sunset. The present owners however as if satisfied that such was the case are directing their energies to showing up the Riverside group. Within a few weeks a force of seven men under John Johns have made a great change in the appearance of that property, and have already put it in nomination for a prominent place on the list of the big things of the Boundary. Mr. Johns reports the disclosure of a very fine ledge of high grade ore and has over 1000 tons ready for the smelter with the fitness of the wagon road for heavy traffic.

What our own people are so slow to discover however strangers are quick to detect. Recently a correspondent of the Seattle Mimes, the biggest daily on the North Pacific coast, after making a round-up of this section, has this to say of the camp in general, and of these properties in particular.

"American capital and American enterprise are coming in to the Boundary country. No part of British Columbia has grown in the last four years as has this section, increasing in that time from less than 1,000 to more than 6,000 people. Slowly the American people are becoming aware of the possibilities of this part as a mining and smelting center. The Great Northern Railway now building up the Kettle River valley is getting here as fast as possible. Generally we say the Great Northern gets to any place as fast as men and money will do it, but in this instance we say as fast as Grand Forks and the Canadian Pacific will allow. Every conceivable obstacle is thrown in the way of the Great Northern to keep it out of Boundary Creek and Greenwood. Between the Crow's Nest coal fields and the smelting concerns of the Boundary the line of the Great Northern will be so constructed as to grades that it will place the Canadian Pacific at a great disadvantage in hauling coal and coke, and corporations, like men, are jealous things. But Hill is getting here. And with his interest in the country appears to have begotten a greater interest in the American capitalist. For years some New York men have been quietly working away on the Mother Lode mine, just west of town, until now they have one of the biggest mines and one of the

CIVIC HOLIDAY.

Greenwood has always been a great patronizer of outside celebrations. The people of this city have nothing of narrowness in their make-up and whenever occason arises sends hundreds to the sports of other towns. Last year they sent large numbers to Midway on the 24th of May and to Grand Forks on July 1st. There is a feeling in the town that Greenwood should now be willing to play host and that Grand Forks and Midway and Phoenix would be glad to reciprocate in the roll of guest. With that in view steps have been taken to provide a grand celebration event for May 24th. There is no good reason why Greenwood should always continue to concede her neighbors the exclusive right to this or that public holiday. A little selfishness, at least self-interest hurts neither man no community. It is very agreeable to have one's neighbor's concede your generosity but there is a possibility of carrying the generous instinct too far.

Be just before generous is a good policy for individual or people. That does not preclude being generous while being just.

BEHIND TIME.

Greenwood is falling into a very bad habit. Everybody and everything is drifting into the habit of being behind time. Tardiness quickly becomes chronic with individual or community. Entertainments begin a half hour later than advertised. Engagements are not promptly kept. Men appear to think that their neighbor's time is worthless and that he can wait their pleasure. One slow man who keeps a dozen waiting 15 minutes for him, thoughtlessly, needlessly generally, wastes three hours aggregate time. It is not intent to do wrong it is pure thoughtlessness. The prompt man does more work and at a greater ease to himself than the tardy fellow. The man who is always late does not economize even his own time while squandering that of others. In the dispatch of private or public business promptness invariably pays. Churches, entertainments, public meetings like trains ought to be run on schedule time. "On time" is a good motto for man or community and the habit once acquired makes business, as well as social relations more pleasant. If you are tardy in your habits make a change to-day.

A RIVAL

We entertain the belief that the construction of the Canadian Northern railway will not do for Victoria what what that city is fain to believe it will. Victorians are exultant in the hope that the building of the gr at north country road will make of the capital a great commercial city. We wish Victoria the very best of good-luck and prosperity but we cannot see in the building to the coast at Bute Inlet of another trans-continental railway, any prophecy of the future up-building thereby of Victoria's commercial importance. We see therein rather a menace to both Vancouver and Victoria. Ferries at any time are unfavorable for great traffic and the passage of a dangerous strip of water once the sea coast has been reached will be a deterrent to trade.

We opine that a city will spring up at the terminus of the railway that will control not only the trade of the great interior along the line, but which will be an active competitor for the growing northern trade for which both Vancouver and Victoria are at present struggling.

Railways are not particularly generous corporations and if a city can possibly be built at Bute Inlet or thereabouts that will be to the Canadian Northern what Vancouver is to the Canadian Pacific there would appear to be no good reason why the trade of land and water should not combine at that point.

These observations are mere speculation on an event some distance in the future however and to the knowing ones may appear invalid.

BOUNDARY SMELTING.

Three years ago there was not a producing mine in the Boundary Country. Today in the vicinity of Greenwood there is one furnace reducing 450 tons of ore daily, another of equal capacity ready to operate within a few days, snd still another equally large almost ready. Within 3 miles of town these 3 furnaces will be smelting 1300 to 1500 tons of ore taken from the mines within 3 miles in another direction. Then at the Granby, 4 furnaces of 1000 tons daily nominal capacity, are reducing the ores taken from the great Granby quarries less than 4 miles away. A daily production and reduction of nearly 2500 tons of copper-gold ores implies unprecedented progress for the Boundary Country where 3 years ago there was scarce a ton of o re on the dumps.

CHURCH CONCERT

A Very Pleasant Entertainment in the Methodist Church, Monday Evening.

The concert in the Methodist church Monday evening afforded an exhibition of the right kind of fellowship between sister communities. The Mother Lode people at considerable inconvenience to themselves, assisted local talent in giving an entertainment of much varied character. The Mother Lode choir rendered several choruses with good effect.

Little Master McKinnon made a hit in his recitation and was loudly applauded. The Misses Hagerman were well received in a very sweet duet. The whistling and imitation sketches by Mr. Dansen were encored amid thunderous applause. Songs by Messrs. Fee, Burt and Johns were an agreeable feature of the program and merited the reception accorded them. Too much thanks cannot be given R. Hutchins for his interest in making the affair a success. Recitations by Miss Greenwood and Mr. Collins also of the Mother Lode party were well rendered. Little Marguerite Reese was happy in her story "the captain who had lost his arms." The local talent assisting were the church choir and Miss Minkler whose well-trained voice always pleases. Her rendition of "Marguerite" and "Comin thro the Rye" added to the reputation she already enjoys. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to all who took part.

BORROWED HIS INSTRUMENTS

While Dr. Oppenheimer was absent from his office, in attendance at the entertainment in the Auditorium on Wednesday evening last, some one entered his office borrowed some valuable instruments and a bottle of chloroform. The instruments were found on the road to the Mother Lode mine, yesterday. Who took them and for what purpose is now agitating the Doctor and the police.

best smelters to be found.

A few months ago a number of Chicago people put a plant up on the Lake claim two miles east of town, and settled down to steady development. Following them came Detroit capitalists, and they seized upon the Ruby, two miles south of town, and are opening up a very promising property.

A few weeks ago J. P. Flood of this city returned from the East, bringing with him more American people. The result is that another important deal has just been consumated, in the purchase of the Arlington-Burns group just west of town and the Riverside group of claims near Rock Creek by Stephen H. Jones, and associate capitalists of Duluth, Minn. The Arlington-Burns group lies just south of the Mother Lode and Sunset properties in Deadwood Camp. The Mother Lode is shipping 400 tons daily to their own smelter at Greenwood, and the Sunset people are in position to do the same. Their smelter will be ready for operation the first week of April. The ore of Deadwood Camp is copper-gold and self-fluxing, making the properties, although low grade, very desirable. This is manifest when it is stated that for every ton nominal capacity of the smelter, nearly two tons of ore are smelted, and at the lowest rate of any known smelter.

The Riverside group embraces three claims, on the main Kettle River. The projected railway through the West Fork country will run near the property, bringing its output within twenty miles of two smelters.

The work done on this property has resulted in proving a good body of high grade gold-silver ore. Assays from the property have run all the way from $13 to $160 per ton. A carload shipped to the Granby smelter returned $31, and another car to the Greenwood smelter $41 per ton."

BRIEFLETS.

Mr Duncan Ross, Editor of the Times, reports that he will return to Greenwood early in May.

A party of C. P. R. officials visited Greenwood during the last week. They were reticent about the future plans of the road.

Mrs Olivers song "Angels ever bright and fair," was a treat to the worshippers in the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening.

Easter services in all the churches were largely attended and were interesting. A feature of service in all the churches was the music.

We regret to learn that Mr Whitbeck the popular manager of the hardware department of the Hunter-Kendrick company will leave for Boise early in May, where a good position awaits him.

The Bank of B. N. A. whose report in last weeks issue was so flattering to the management of that institution has moved its local branch into its elegant new quarters in the Mellor Block.

Rev. D. H. Reid of the Congregational Church in Phoenix, will preach in the Greenwood Methodist Church next Sunday morning and evening. Rev. J. D. P. Knox, goes to Phoenix to take Mr. Reid's work.

The sale and New England Dinner in the Clarendon Hotel block by the Presbyterian ladies on Saturday evening last was well patronized by the public. The financial results were very gratifying to the management.

Mr. Moffatt of the World, Rossland, who is just returning from a prolonged visit on the Coast and in the south favored the Times office with a very pleasant visit Thursday last.

Mr R. L. Patterson representing the firm of Miller and Richard of Toronto was in town this week. His firm represents in Canada The Scotch Type Founders of Edinburgh, the largest institution of its kind in the world. Mr. Patterson is also Director of the Manufacters Life Insurance company which holds a block of City Debentures.

NOVEL WARFARE

Strange Story of an African Expedition.

DYNAMITING A CROCODILE

Participants Not Unknown in Greenwood.

The local friends of the gentlemen named in the following story which we clip from the London Daily Mail of March 12th inst., will doubtless be interested in their African adventures.

"Two bronzed travellers, Messrs. Harrison and Barchard, have just arrived in London after ten months spent tight away from civilization in the shooting of elephants, rhinoceri, girraffes, and hippopotami in Africa.

Raging lions prowled around their encampment at night, "rhinos" started up in front of them here and there as they pushed on with their force of black carriers, and alligators gazed at them from rivers and pools. One night a lion was driven off with firebrands hastily snatched up, but only after he had fastened his teeth into the flesh of a calf belonging to the party.

"We started from the coast at the end of April," said Mr. Harrison, "and pushed out into the interior of Angola, south-west Africa.

"One day the blacks brought us three lion cubs- fine young things about a month old. They were skipping about and-fortunately the mother was not present. These lions I have brought to England with me. I shall sell them if any body wants them, as one can scarcely carry such things about as drawing-room pets.

"One evening near dusk I was hunting for small buck, and was not thinking of any thing else when I suddenly heard a great scuffling just in front of me I looked up expecting to see zebras or something of the kind, but to my astonishment there stood two enormous rhinoceri.

"I had only a gun of small caliber, with soft-nosed bullets inside for shooting small buck. I was afraid that to their tough hides this would be only an irritant. However, I took the chance and fired-it was to good an opportunity to be thrown away. They both fled, but but the one I hit only went about half a mile before be died.

"In shooting elephants I had but little trouble. I put the bullet right through the lung and it was done. One I chased from eleven o'clock in the forenoon and shot him at dusk.

"As evidence that there are lots of game in the Anglo interior I may say that one black hunter shot forty-one elephants while we were out there.

"Perhaps the most curious experience I had was the dynamiting of a crocodile. We put one charge of dynamite into the pool and it surprised him. He dashed round and round on hearing the the explosion, going up and down like a porpoise. Then he retired to a muddy depth and cogitated. We could see the bubbles from his nostrils coming up all in one place, so knew he was staying still. Then we put in another charge and that killed him.

FANCY DRESS BALL

The Greenwood Fire Company is working hard to make a grand success of their great fancy dress ball to be given in the Auditorium on the 14th inst. The Cosgrove Merry Makers will be in Greenwood on Saturday the 12th inst and the fire laddies here embraced the opportunity to secure the services of their excellent band of musicians for the occasion. The Fire Company expects to be assisted by a committee of ladies, prominent in social circles, in making this evening the grand event of the season.

MOTHER LODE ENTERTAINMENT

The Methodist Church Choir assisted The Mother Lode people in giving an entertainment at the mine this Friday evening. It is a great pleasure to be able to reciprocate with the Mother Lode people in work of this character. The editor of the Times was unable to accept an invitation to deliver an address on the occasion, but he appreciates the courtesy extended and trusts to be able to talk to the boys at some future date.
